OWEN SOUND

Not many women in Canada have the distinction of being the mother of five sons in khaki, but such is true of Mrs. W. M. Sewel, of 1096 1st Avenue West whose husband was accidently killed in an elevator accident at Markdale a few years ago. Two of the sons are in France, two with the 168th Battalion, London Ont., and one with the Medical Corps in Toronto. In addition to the above Mrs. Sewel has a son-in-law with the Grey Battalion at Camp Borden. Mrs. Sewel is naturally proud of the service which her sons are rendering for their King and country in the great world struggle,

As yet no arrangements have been made for the presentation of colors to the 147th Battalion. Warden Cordingley has received a letter from Lt. Col. McFarland stating that it would be impossible for him to have the battalion moved from Camp Borden to Owen Sound for the event. The warden has been advisdd by the manufacturers that the colors will not be competed until the 15th of August at the very earliest date of presentation and the form which it will take will depend entirely on circumstances.

Mr. George Leach, lessee of the Conelly House, died at seven o'clock Sunday morning after being confined to his bed for about eight days nervous trouble. The deceased, though always able to go round and to attend to business up to the above time, had been ailing with kidney and heart complaint for some years, but thought nothing seriously of it. From the day he was taken seriously ill, however, his physician held out very little hope of his recovery, and his family and friends were therefore prepared for the worst.

Mr. T. S. Burgess received a letter from his son, Easton, who is now in the trenches in France. He says things are going fine Louis Morrison is in the same Battalion and has not yet received a scratch He says an orange or a peice of cake tastes fine out there near the firing line.

Hanover

Orville Steinmiller, son of Mr. Justin Steinmiller of Gorrie, formerly of Otter Creek, a few miles south of Walkerton, on being rejected for some physical defect, straightway went to Toronto and took a position in a munition factory in order to do his bit in some way for the flag. His brother, Justin Steinmiller jr., on applying for enlistment was found to be slightly under age for active service, and being determined to help to whip the Kaiser is about to leave for Seaforth to work in a munition factory. These two boys are the only sons of Mr. Justin Steinmiller and have displayed a degree of loyalty found waiting in a large number of older youths who are able and fit to be taken some active part in the present campaign.

A gang of Gypsies—four wagons of 'em in all—were in town last week, and for a brief spell some of their women folks endeavored to secure some easy money by reading the hands of " the boys" around town Unfortunally for the outfit one damsel tried to work the town oop for a shilling. William did not have on his blue coat with the brass buttons, and so did not look like "the strong arm of the law." Consequently when asked to put a quarter in his hand to enable the copper-hued lady to read his palm aright, Mr. Beamish arrested her on the spot. It is against the law of course to tell fortunes, or read hands for profit—though reading cups is still looked upon as an innocent amusement when conducted as a pastime. Constable Beamish gave the Gypsy outfit half an hour to get out of town, and they soon faded away over the hills in the direction of Elmwood.

Rids Poisons From the Blood, Clears Up the Complexion

Sallow Skin, Pimples, Pains and Aches Are Soon Gone When Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Are Used.

The doctor feels your pulse and looks at your tongue, but at the same time he is reading your condition in your face. The sallow complexion tells him that your liver is not doing its work, the pimples tell him that the kidneys are not properly purifying the blood, he realizes that the bowels are constipated and the system overloaded with poisons.

You can apply this test in your own case and may be able to add other symptoms, such as headaches, pains and aches through back and limbs, spells of biliousness and indigestion.

If you have not used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will be surprised to find how quickly they will rid your system of poisonous impurities and thereby remove the cause of pains, aches and skin troubles.

Mrs. F. N. Hall, 103 Queen street, St. John, N.B., writes: "I am glad to say I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with splendid results. I was greatly troubled with constipation and pimples on the face. I tried other remedies and used liquid arsenic three times a day for a year to get rid of the pimples but received no benefit. I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and it was not very long before I was completely cured. The pills acted on the bowels, kidneys and liver and cleansed them of all impure matter. I think they cannot be beaten as a means of ridding a person of that tired aching due to weak kidneys, and I would not be without them in the house for any money."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Bruce Battalions.

The historical fact is being recalled that when Bruce men had been called out for soldier service in the past—and they always responded to the call with patriotic readiness—the clash of arms was over before there was any need of their bullets and bayonets. In 1816 our braves were sent to Godeirch to repel the threatened Fenian invasion, but no enemy appeared on that front. Then in 1885 the whole 32nd Bruce Regiment was mobilized in two weeks and in camp at Southampton ready to proceed to take part in quelling the Riel rebellion in the west, but the fighting was over before they got away. Will history now repeat itself again and bring peace by the time the 160th Bruce Overseas Battalion has completed training and fit to take to the trenches? If so it will be a good thing for Bruce, as well as the rest of the world, The London Advertiser says: What's in a superstition? The 168th (Bruce) Battalion, now at London camp opened the doors of its recruiting offices on Dec 21, 1915, the shortest day in the year. It arrived in London on June 21, the longest day of the year. Whether this augurs good or evil it is supplying "something to worry about" for the superstitiously inclined. Both actions have their arguments. The Battalion filled up almost the soonest of any Battalion organized in Canada, and now is considerable over-strength. Time and again it has been complimented on its drilling on manoeuvres, and it has struck favorable camping ground. On the other, it is pointed on that the members have been quarantined for measles for some time. At any rate, there is a standing reward, amount not stated, for any person who can decide the question to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Prohibition Test In Saskatchewan

It is, perhaps, unfair to say that Saskatchewan offers an example of what prohibition can do at its best, says The Toronto Star Weekly. There have been in operation in that Province 23 dispensaries where liquor could be bought for beverage purposes. Recently three of these were closed by popular vote. The other 20 are still in operation. Men who really want drink can procure it.

Nevertheless, the partial prohibition which does exist has produced marvelous results, which perhaps cannot be expressed much more concisely than was done recently in an article in The Moose Jaw Times, which said:

Drunkenness has decreased fully 75 per cent. in Saskatchewan, according to official statements made by magistrates in centres where liquor stores exist. Data furnished the director of prosecutions for the three months of July, August and September for the year 1914, and the same period for this year show an actual decrease of 70.1 per cent. in seven places where liquor stores, established under the Sales of Liquor Act, replaced the hotel bars. These seven places are the larger centres of the Province and liquor can be produced in each of them. Four cities, Saskatoon, North Battleford, Prince Albert, and Swift Current, which were asked for figures, have not yet furnished them. The figures obtained are certified by the magistrates and taken from the records of their courts in the following places:

|---|---|---|---|
| Regina | 249 | 58 | 191 |
| Moose Jaw | 294 | 74 | 220 |
| Melville | 22 | .... | 22 |
| Weyburn | 33 | 13 | 20 |
| Humboldt | 15 | .... | 15 |
| Estevan | 19 | 11 | 8 |
| Rosetown | 4 | .... | 4 |

The decreases as shown by actual figures above are a direct contradiction to charges which have been made public that the new legislation was a failure, that Government officials were not sincere in their efforts to enforce the law, and that conditions had become far worse than they were previous to July 1, 1914. A prominent barrister, when asked for an opinion concerning the operation of the law, He remarked that in the figures submitted, the fact must be well borne in mind that the convictions of 1915 reported as above, were secured from those where there exists a liquor store, a significant of the fact that liquor can be purchased in these places and that it was but natural to expect that convictions would be secured in such places much more easily than in districts where there is no liquor store.

Crime reports all through the Province for five months ending November 30 show a great decrease and magistrates in making their reports state that this is due to the disappearance of the hotel bar, in a great measure.

Police officers' reports and travelling men state that a case of drunkenness is now so conspicuous that every one takes notice where formerly there were many on the streets of the cities and towns that no one took any particular notice.

The Chaplain Writes Mrs. Grey

Last April Private Grey, Oxenden, died from wounds received in action and his widow, last week, received the following comforting letter

No. 10, C. C. Stn.
B. E. Force.
28 June 1916

Dear Mrs. Grey: --

In reply to your letter of 7th inst. I take advantage of a slight lull in this third battle of Ypres to add a few more details about your husband.

On the night of the 27th and 28 th of April his temperature was down, and he was fairly comfortable.

He under went a operation (colotomy) in the afternoon which brought him great relief, and at night when we had our little prayer together, I left him in high hopes. He continued very well until about half past 2 a.m. then suddenly grew worse and passed away shortly after 3 a.m. His death was not only a grief but a disappointment to us. Its swiftness prevented him leaving any message for you and that will always be a regret to you but on the other hand he was mercifully spared pain.

He was a great favourite with us all, sisters and orderlies and everybody, he was so good and brave, always cheerful and uncomplaining.

We carried him the same afternoon, he was borne out of the hospital on the little penal car, wheeled by his comrads, no coffin is used at the front, but instead a plain or blanket is sewn around the body and over all a Union Jack is spread. He was lowered in the grave by six comrads, then we uncovered our heads and I conducted a simple Presbyterian service in which we did not forget you in your sorrow across the sea.

The Grave (no 6356) is marked with a cross so that men may never forget where a gallant soldier sleeps, the cemetery is at Livssenthoek near Abeele Belgium. May God comfort you in your sorrow and help you bear your cross. With sympathy and kind regards

W. J. Baxter.

LLOYD GEORGE says that the end of the war is not far off.

THE dread disease, Infantile Paralysis, has appeared at different points in Ontario.

A large number of families are leaving Durham because the cement plant has been closed.

THE tax rate in Listowel is 32 mills this year There are very few places in Ontario where the rate is not higher.

IT is rumored that Nellie McClung will run for a seat in the Alberta Legislative. She is tired of "Sowing Seeds in Danny."

When a Durham Magistrate had sentenced a drunken man to jail for three months, because he would not tell where he had got the liquor the man soon came to his senses and told.

SOME highwayman marked the Lower School Examination papers this year. In Wiarton 18 wrote and five passed, in Owen Sound 65 wrote and 11 got through. While it is a good idea to keep up the standard yet it looks like the axe has fallen in every direction. It is evident the third form classes in the High Schools this year will be very small. However the Gospel of preparedness is a good one for the Students. But this Gospel demands faithful work throughout the whole year. A death bed repentance will not help the student with the examination paper.

Preparedness League Meeting

The County was fairly well represented at the meeting held in Walkerton on Thursday last. The gathering was called by the President, Judge Klein, as Col. McCrimmon had asked to have a meeting of representative citizens of the County so that he or Col. Williams might discuss the matter of recruiting with them.

The day was one of the hottest of the year, and many citizens had, at great inconvenience to themselves, attended to hear what the military men had to say.

Judge Klein presided, and in opening said that he had made inquiries, but neither of the men who had asked for the meeting had come to town. There was general disappointment, and some very pointed remarks were made by several present as to the calling of the meeting by Col. McCrimmon, and not attending himself, nor yet being courteous enough to send a message as to the non-appearance of either himself or Col. Williams.

Some discussion arose as to future recruiting in Bruce County, but the gentlemen assembled were not disposed to make any definite move until responsible persons, who really knew the situation from the Government standpoint had presented some convincing proof as to the need for further action in Bruce County.

Dr. Biehn, of Chesley, pointed out the lack of leadership in the Dominion regarding the recruiting question, while Mr. Steel, of Paisley, produced some statistics as to the standing of Bruce county, showing that at present it stood in a high position.

A draft of a resolution was read by President Judge Klein as to the position of the league on further recruiting, but on the suggestion of E. R. Sayles and W. D. Cargill it was laid over to the big meeting at Paisley on August 4th. Mr. Brown, of Chesley, and William Hutte, of Kincardine, thought that there was much misunderstanding and misinformation existing in militaiy matters, and that the League would have to be shown in a business like and consistent matter the actual needs of the day. The gathering generally agreed with this view, and the recruiting question was passed over, but not until a resolution of disappointment was passed and ordered to be sent to Col. McCrimmon.

Mayor Lippert moved and Wm. Hunter seconded that Messrs H. M. Lay, W. D. Cargill, Dr. Biehn and E. R. Sayles draft a resolution expressing disappointment, and the following paragraph passed the meeting:

Moved by D. Phelan, seconded by D. A. McDonald,

"That this meeting of representative men of the county of Bruce, assembled at the request of the Bruce Preparedness League, to hear Col. McCrimmon or Col. Williams on the question of recruiting, are deeply disappointed that this gathering representing the county were unable to be enlightened on this matter, owing to the non appearance of either of these gentleman.

"This gathering desires to point out that Bruce County has contributed as requested in men and money, and while still willing to do more, where need is shown, it awaits more responsible leadership in this great matter of Empire service."

The resolution was unanimously carried. Ex-Warden Shoemacher, of Paisley, reported that Paisley would be ready for the big meeting there on August 4th, the second anniversary of the declaration of war. He asked that every section of the county be represented that day at Paisley.

The object of the league were further discussed and enlarged upon. It was pointed out that already some returned wounded soldiers had came back to the county, but because of lack of organization no work was found for these men. Every municipality is urged to see that it has its organization perfected at once. The Bruce Preparedness League is designed for the purpose of uniting the county for service to the Empire in supplying men and money, but also helping men when they return, and also in endeavouring to establish high ideas of citizenship, and developing the county commercially and industrially.

Although the day was hot, and the first part of the meeting somewhat disappointing, when discussion arose as to the further objects of the league, some interesting remarks and suggestions were heard from Warden McNab, O. E Klein, Reeve Ballachey, J. A. Johnston, Mayor Miller, Ex-Mayor Patterson.

The gathering adjourned to meet at Paisley August 4th, when Bruce County through the league, will pledge itself to further Empire service, and addresses will be heard on future work of the League. The League assembles at 1 p. m. and at 2 p. m. the program provided, by Paisley will begin.

Letters of regret were read from Reeve Douglas, of Hepworth, also congratulatory letters were heard from Premier Hearst and N. W. Rowell.

Art is long-especially drawn out through a dozen movie reels.

The Bruce Preparedness League

The following article was overlooked last week.—[ED. ECHO.]

It can scarcely be said that there was a bumper house to hear His Honor Judge Klein upon the above subject in the town hall, Monday evening and yet the judge was neither surprised nor disappointed. So far the meetings have not been well attended. It was a hot night and it was far more comfortable sitting on the verandah, consequently further meetings for this purpose will be held in October. His Honor thinks too, that the press of the County have not boosted this scheme as much as they might and asked The Echo to take note of it. It is just possible that the County papers have not done so, due possibly, to an oversight, which they will be glad to rectify, but the fact remains the papers of the County did their full share towards raising the Bruce 160th.

Mr T. C. Allan stated at the meeting that this month they had paid out of the patriotic fund $848 to the dependents at this point. The government was anxious that the wives would save so that they would have a nest egg for their husbands when they returned from the war.

Sheriff Jermyn considered the scheme the right idea. We should have something for our boys when they return. Judge Klein then dealt with the subject. He said that we must get down to business. We forget that there is a war going on. We told the boys that we would look after them when they were gone and after they come back. At Teeswater, when not one in the audience could be induced to enlist, after the singing of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" fifteen young men gladly offered themselves The best is not too good for the 160th. The purpose of this league is to show that we are not cowards and that we appreciate what the boys are doing for us.

He then enumerated the various objects of the League:

1. Prepare to aid further recruiting.

2 Prepare to employ returned soldiers.

3. Prepare to care for and to honor the wounded and disabled soldiers.

4. Prepare to aid farmers in securing help when sons enlist for the war,

5. Prepare for the end of the war.

1. By campaigning for rigid economy in public and private life,

2 By organizing for immigration in co-operation with Immigration Departments.

3. By urging preferential appointments and situations for returned soldiers and nurses.

6. Prepare for co-operation with Federal, Provincial and County Committees organized to deal with present and after the war problems.

7. Prepare Canadian youth for new social, industrial and economic conditions

1. By promoting a spirit of patriotism and sacrifice for Canada

2. By inculcating high ideals of citizenship.

8. Prepare to aid our countryin adopting methods for increasing national efficiency,

During the evening Miss Tyson read a most entertaining article and Miss Plante and Miss Kilbourne favored the audience with music, Miss H. Parke presided at the piano.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Symon, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Baines, Mrs. Kastner, Mrs Lane and Mrs Miller accompanied the bowlers and were most hospitably entertained by the ladies of Meaford in many ways. The Meaford lawn is a good one, it was their first tourney and 19 rinks were present,

Billion Dollar Crop Expected

After a thorough canvas of various points throughout Western Canada, Dr. McGill of the Dominion Grain Commission, is quoted in Calgary as saying that Alberta would have a crop as good as last year, that the Dominion would have a billion dollar grain crop and that the grain crop of the three prairie provinces would be little it any behind that of last year.

"The Country as a whole never looked better than it does at present" said Dr. McGill. "The weather was made to order as you might say, and lam of the opinion that this year's harvest will be another wonderful one."

Letter From Chas. Dobson

Southampton, July 13th 1916

Dear Mother,—I am well on my way to France now. We left Shorncliffe yesterday, July 12th, and arrived at Southampton, where they ship the troops across, yesterday afternoon, but for some reason or other we did not go across last night but may go to-night. Southampton is a beautiful city and we have been exploring last night and this morning. I saw about 600 German prisoners landing in England this morning and they were hard looking sights. Some with no caps and as dirty as anything. They marched them from the docks up town and the streets were crowded.

Love to all,

Charlie.

Gordon Craig

he done point it out dis mohnin' when Ah was on deck, an' he say it lay nor'east by east, sah. Ah members dat distinctly."

"That will be all, Louis. Now listen to me. I am going to shut this door and lock you in. I'll be on board here for an hour yet, and if you utter so much as a whimper I'll come down there and fill you full of lead."

I closed the door, testing it before turning away, smiling grimly to myself at recollection of those white eyeballs glaring at me through the gloom. Louis was evidently not the stuff of which martyrs are made.

There was a small telltale compass fastened to a beam over the table. I unscrewed this without difficulty and dropped it into my pocket. It would be a dark night with that cloud shutting out the sky, with probably not a shore light visible. Then I climbed the companion stairs to take a survey of the deck. We were slipping through the water at fair rate of speed, leaving a very perceptible wake astern. The open decks glistened with water, although the rainfall was light and intermittent, thunder rumbled in the northward with occasional flashes of lightning. Even as I stood there, staring forward, endeavoring to make out certain objects in the gloom, the overhanging cloud seemed to close in across the western sky, instantly plunging us into night. I heard no movement of men, no voice shouting orders, yet before that last gleam faded I had seen outlined several figures on the bridge. To better assure myself that no watch was upon the after deck I circled the cabin. Supper had not been served, and one of the watches might be piped down at any moment. This would bring one of the mates aft to the cabin.

Driven by the thought, I rapped softly on her door and she came forth instantly, full dressed.

"You are ready?"

"Yes."

"You'll need a waterproof of some kind. It's raining outside. Wait a moment. There will be a coat in some of these state rooms."

I found one, a fisherman's slicker, and wrapped her in it. It was a world too big, but I tightened the belt and turned up the skirts, so she managed to walk.

I led her forward slowly, so that the dapping of the oilskins against the stair rail would not be heard. The steady patter of rain on the deck planks drowned what little noise we made, and as we emerged into the hood a gust of wind drove the moisture into our faces. I could feel my heart thump, yet it was more because of her proximity than any excitement of adventure. So far as I could perceive, peering out into the storm with hand shading my eyes, the way was clear, and, bidding her stoop low, we slipped back along the narrow deck passage into the shadow cast by the boat.

"Now," I said, "step on my knee, and I'll help you over. Don't hurry—only be quiet. That's it. Now just let me lift you. Steady yourself with the tackle."

She peered back at me over the side of the boat, her hair shining with moisture.

"Now are you coming?"

"No; I shall have to remain here and lower the boat. Turn about and face the stern. Now take this knife. Don't drop it. The moment the boat touches the water—an instant before, if possible—cut the rope you have hold on, then hurry forward and cut the other. You understand?"

"I—I think so. I am to cut this first and then the other."

"Yes. Now don't fail. You see, we are launching this boat above the screw. There is bound to be suction. If you cut as I say you will drift off bow on to the course of the vessel and will float free. Otherwise the boat is likely to be swamped. You see what I mean?"

She nodded.

"The quicker you can get to that second rope," I added seriously, "the better your chances."

"But—but what are you going to do?"

"Jump for it as soon as you are fairly afloat. I'll be aboard before you know it. Are you ready?"

She was looking forward, and her hand gripped mine. Her failure to answer and the sudden pressure of fingers was a warning of danger. I glanced back across my shoulder. In front of the cabin stood a man staring aft. His huge bulk even in that darkness told me it was Herman.

I heard his heavy step on the deck as he came slowly forward around the bulge of the cabin. The very manner of his advance told me his uncertainty. Something had occurred to arouse suspicion. He had heard a noise or seen a shadow and was investigating curiously. He came up to the stern rail, standing still, a huge bulk in the gloom, his gaze on the swinging boat. Then, unsatisfied, he leaned forward and began to explore with one hand. Apparently he touched something strange—the edge of her skirt it must have been, for there was a bit of cloth for the lifted fingers. Noiselessly I drew to my feet, planting myself firmly on the wet deck. There was but one means of escape now, and, big as the fellow was, I must accept the chance. Another minute would mean discovery, and his bull voice would roar the length of the ship. He neither saw nor heard me, his whole attention concentrated on the boat. Without warning, putting every ounce of strength into the blow, I struck, landing square on the chin. There was a smothered groan, and he collapsed, buried back boldly, his arms flung up. I heard him thud against the rail, his great form bending to the shock, and now locker, more as an excuse for opening conversation than from any feeling of hunger.

"It must be pretty close to midnight," I said finally. "Are you hungry?"

The shapeless form in the oilskins straightened slightly, and I knew she had turned her face toward me.

"Hungry! Oh, no; I had not thought of that."

"You have been crying?"

"Yes; it is so foolish, but I am so frightened out here in this little boat. The darkness and that awful water has got upon my nerves. You—you mustn't scold me."

"Of course not. I feel the weight myself," I replied kindly. "This experience is almost as new to me as to yourself. You must remember I am no sailor."

Then I described the change in my plans. She listened quietly, asking a question now and then.

"What papers did you find in the desk?"

"Letters mostly, establishing the identity of the captain."

"Who is he—really?"

"Charles Henley—Philip Henley's half brother by a negro mother. Did you ever hear of him?"

"No; I was never told there was such a man."

"I doubt if any one outside those immediately interested ever knew the circumstances. Of course the family kept it a close secret. This is where the man had all the advantage. As soon as the judge died he determined to represent himself as Philip and claim the property.

"As Philip had been absent so long, no one could dispute successfully his claim to be that individual. He possessed ample evidence that he was the son of Judge Henley."

"But surely he would anticipate that my hus—Philip—would hear of his father's death?"

"He took the chance of getting the property into his hands first. As I understand the matter, he possessed no knowledge that the judge was in communication with Philip. He believed the latter had disappeared utterly and would only learn of his inheritance through accident. To prevent this he dispatched a man north to discover him, if possible, and keep him under surveillance. He thought he had every avenue guarded."

"How did you learn all this?"

"From Broussard first. He talked more freely than he intended to do, and later I verified all he said by the letters found."

"Then, strange as it sounds, it is true?"

"Without doubt. Moreover"—and I lowered my voice in sudden embarrassment—"within the last two weeks the captain had received news from his agent in the north which gave him fresh confidence. The man reported that he had found trace of Philip Henley; he told of the life the man was leading and where he lived. I think all this must have been immediately after your separation, as he mentioned no wife. However, he described something even more important."

"You must tell me!" she burst forth as I hesitated. "Don't be afraid to trust me with all you know."

"I am not afraid," I returned stoutly enough, "not in the sense you mean at least, yet it is never easy to be the bearer of evil news."

"Is it evil?"

"Misfortune, certainly. The man reported the death of your husband."

"His death! You are sure? Tell me now what he said; how it happened."

"The report was specific and would seem to be true. He says that Philip Henley, while intoxicated was struck and killed by an automobile. The date given was after you left him. His body was found by the police, but his pockets had been rifled, and there were no marks of identification on his clothes. He was buried unknown, but the informant claimed to have visited the morgue, viewed the body and states positively the dead man was Philip."

"And—and you think—tell me what you believe, Gordon Craig."

"There is but one conclusion to my mind. I have no doubt as to the entire truth of the story. The silence and disappearance of your husband is evidence that he is either dead or in some other way helpless."

"I—I—really I have thought this all the time. But about those others?"

"Vail and Neale, you mean? It seems to me they fit in exactly with the story. Everything had been removed from Philip's pockets and all ordinary means of identification destroyed. There must have been a purpose in this, and it must have been done by a second party, as there is no suggestion of suicide. My theory is this—the body was either found by others before the police arrived or else the automobile party which killed him paused long enough to ascertain the extent of his injuries. In either case his pockets were searched and all contents removed. Do you comprehend what that would mean?"

"I—I think so, but tell me yourself."

"He certainly had papers with him dealing with his inheritance. To a shrewd, criminal mind they would be suggestive. He also undoubtedly had keys to his apartments. Then there would be nothing more needed except a man capable of passing himself off as Philip Henley."

"And Vail was not a lawyer," she asked breathlessly, "nor Neale one of the executors?"

"In my judgment the fellows merely took those names to impose upon me, to help bolster up their story and make it appear probable. They were simply two crooks, willing to take a chance for a pot of money. I happened to be the one selected to pull their chestnuts out of the fire."

I saw her head sink into the support then he went over, whirling through the air.

"What is it?" she asked, her voice barely audible. "What has happened?"

Her voice seemed to recall me instantly, to restore my numbed faculties.

"Why, really I hardly know," I answered, yet stepping back to grip the ropes. "The fellow had hold of your dress, didn't he?"

"Yes. Oh, I was so frightened! And—and then he jerked me horribly."

"That was when I hit him. I must have got the big brute just right. He went overboard."

She looked down into the swirl beneath, clutching the edge of the boat with her hands.

"Is—is he down there—in the water? Do you—you suppose he is drowned?"

"I don't see what else he could be."

"I—I cannot bear to think of it!"

"Now, see here," I said, coming back to my senses. "This is all foolishness and losing us time. I'm not sorry he is out of the way. It was either his life or ours. Have you got the knife?"

"Yes."

"Then get hold of that stern rope. I am going to lower away."

She obeyed me, but it was mechanical, her eyes still fixed upon the water.

"Be quick now," I said sternly, and my hand pressed her shoulder. "Your life depends on your promptness."

I loosened the ropes, permitting them to run slowly through the blocks. There was no creaking, and I rejoiced at the ease with which I sustained the weight as the boat descended. Slowly it sank below into the darkness until it was merely a black, shapeless shadow outlined against the water. I felt the strain on my arms as the swell gripped its keel. Then the stern swung free, and I knew she was scrambling forward, knife in hand, for the other rope. Almost before the boat could swing about the second stay dangled, and all my straining eyes could perceive was a dark, indefinite shadow drifting out of sight astern. Without uttering a sound or wasting a second I dived from the rail.

"It's all right!" I called, loud enough for her to hear. "Throw out an oar on the left and hold her. I'll be there in a minute."

I made it, almost breathless, when I dimly gripped the gunwale and hung on to regain a measure of strength.

"Oh, thank God," she exclaimed, staring at me; "I—I thought you were lost!"

"Don't think of it. The danger is all over. You needn't pull on the oar; just hold it straight out. That will keep the boat's head forward."

"Can you get over the side?"

"In a moment—yes; as soon as I get my breath back. Did you notice any alarm on board the Sea Gull?"

She shaded her eyes with one hand, holding the heavy oar against her body, and looked ahead.

"No; I was not thinking about that—only of your danger and my awful position. I was never so frightened before."

"Can you still see the vessel?"

"Just a shadow against the sky. I—I think she is moving straight ahead."

"Then we have not been missed nor the mate. Doubtless he was going below for his supper. Now lean well over to port—yes, the left—and balance the boat. I am going to climb in."

CHAPTER XVI.

The Open Boat.

WITH a struggle, I made it, rolling over the low gunwale, the water draining from me into a pool at the bottom.

"You are a fine, brave girl," I said sincerely, unable to restrain my admiration.

She dropped her head and began to sob.

"Oh, no, no! I am not," she replied tremblingly. "I am such a coward. You cannot know the terror I have felt."

"Of course. But my being here makes a difference?"

Hotel Assessments

Wiarton, July 24th, 1916.

To the Editor, Canadian Echo.

SIR,—

Kindly allow me space in your paper for a few remarks re A sessment Committee. Well, to begin the Assessment Committee is composed of the following gentlemen—Geo. Kempt, R. E. Crane, A. D. Hurlbut, F. W. Plante, J. McVannell and Mayor Baines. Now, each one of these gentlemen had a voice and a vote at each committee meeting and I solicited their help in every matter, and not one of those gentlemen ever brought in a motion to compromise with the hotels. So, acting on the advice of a number of the leading temperance men, I stated before the assessment committee that I thought it better to let the judge decide the matter. You do not seem satisfied with the judge's decision and try to vent your feeling on the chairman of the Assessment Com.

Now, to show you that the rest of the committte is responsible with me, I went to the clerk, Mr. J. H. Fielding and asked him if we should engage a lawyer and he gave me this answer "We have engaged Robertson, of Walkerton, so you see we worked in harmony together.

You say The Echo was informed that the hotels would have settled with the town on a twenty five per cent reduction, but you did not give the name of your informant. Now, I consider this a mean stab in the dark. If the hotels made such an offer to any member of the council, they should have come before the Assessment Com. and we would have considered the matter, for every man in the council is doing his very best for the interest of the town, and you know we have a hard proposition to deal with, and when we get kicked and punched from every source, it discourages us and makes us feel like quitting, so in future, kindly put a little taffy in your cartridges and it will help us to make the grade and bring grist to your own mill.

Yours

Geo. Kempt.

The Echo has the highest possible respect for Mr Kempt but that gentleman's memory is evidently failing him during the hot weather, and it may get worse in the dog days. The facts are these:

(a) At the preliminary meeting of the Assessment Committee the Mayor told the Committee that he believed that he could get the hotels to compromise on a reduction of 25 per cent. The Clerk understood that the amount mentioned was 20 per cent, he is positive that an amount was mentioned and the Clerk urged a compromise.

(b) At the second Committee Meeting, called to consider what would be done in case the hotels appealed against their assessment, Mr. Kempt said that there had been a meeting of the Temperance Committee and that they were opposed to this reduction, whereupon the Mayor and the other members of the committee decided to allow the judge to settle the matter. These are facts probably Mr Kempt can now recall them. [ED. ECHO]

ALL IN THE BALANCE.

German Writer Admits That Battle Will Be Decisive.

BERLIN, July 24.—Max Osborn in a despatch to the Vossische Zeitung from western headquarters, says:

"We are shaken by burning pain as new streams of German blood are flowing, and we recognize our powerlessness over what cannot be changed.

"After two years of war the Angel of Destruction is passing through the ranks of the German army with a fury and mercilessness as if the deathdance of battles had only just begun.

"Whilst our enemies suffer fearful losses, we do not blind our eyes to the new mourning come to us, nor over the seriousness of the fate of this decisive battle raging on all fronts. We should be unworthy the stupendous task we have to fulfil and the almost incomprehensible sacrifices our heroes make if we were not able to understand the whole fury and burden of these weeks.

"We feel the raging storm of the united power of the enemy. It is now a question of everything for the life or death of our nation. We stand differently now from what we did in August, 1914. Unexampled deeds of fate lie between. But still the concluding point has to be reached and everything is in the balance of death or life.

NOW IN SIXTH MONTH.

Battle for Verdun Now Consists Chiefly of Artillery Duels.

LONDON, July 24.—The great battle of Verdun entered upon its sixth month Saturday, the present operations being marked principally by strong artillery duels on the greater part of the fortress front.

The shelling was especially violent in the sections of Fleury and the Fumin woods. There was little infantry fighting, and in that the French had the advantage.

Not only were further trenches in the Fleury region won and some prisoners taken, according to the midnight communique, but a German attack on a position south of Damloup was repulsed.

The War Office at Berlin reports great activity by the French infantry, it mostly taking the form of hand grenade attacks. Such attacks, Berlin says, were repulsed in the Fleury sector, especially sharp fighting taking place north of Fort Tavannes. The Germans claim a gain of ground south of Damloup. Paris says that heavy fighting has taken place around the ruined chapel of Ste. Fine, while a German attack near Eparges was repulsed.

NEW ADVANCE OF TURKS.

They Have Come Within Thirty Miles of the Suez Canal.

LONDON, July 24.—A new advance of Turkish forces on the Sinai Peninsula to within about 30 miles of the Suez Canal has been reported to the British authorities, who announced Sunday that British cavalry had got in touch with the Turks, and that measures were being taken by the chief command in Egypt to meet the Turkish movement. The official statement says:

"It is reported that Turkish forces have advanced westward from El Arish to some five miles east of Katia (a distance of about 60 miles along the Mediterranean coast), where they are entrenching. Our mounted troops are in contact with the enemy, and the commander-in-chief in Egypt has taken measures to deal with the situation.

"Hostile aircraft made an attack on Suez Saturday, causing a few casualties."

2,500 Turks Were Slain.

LONDON, July 24.—Authentic news has been received in Cairo, Egypt, says Reuter's correspondent there, that serious engagements took place recently near Medina, Arabia, between Aram revolutionists and the Turkish garrison. The garrison made a sortie against the Arabs, who were besieging the town from the southern side. In the fighting that followed the Turks are said to have lost 2,500 men, while the losses of the Arab forces under command of the Grand Sherif of Mecca, leader of the rebels, was 500 men. The Arabs captured a large quantity of arms.

Sherif Abdullah is now bombarding the barracks at Taif, where the Turks are still holding out. The rebels, however, expect that the garrison at Taif will capitulate soon.

Lee's body was recovered. Lee's parents reside at 16 Maitland place, Toronto. He was a manager of the Bank of Ottawa here. Miss Horan's body has not yet been found.

Renowned Canadian Passes Away.

TORONTO, July 24.—One of Canada's most renowned artists, and, in fact, a painter known all over the world, George Edward Bruenech, an associate R. C. A., died Saturday evening at the residence of W. A. Hare, 88 St. Ann's road, with whom he was staying. The late Mr. Bruenech, who was an associate of the Ontario Society of Artists, was born in St. Malo, France, of English parentage, but lived practically all his life in Canada and for some years was a resident of Toronto.

BEYOND THE THIRD LINE

New British Push Results in Five Mile Gain

General Haig's Forces Have Taken Posieres and Have Cut Off High Road From Posieres to Bapaume —Honors of the Day Go to the Australians and British Territorial Troops.

LONDON, July 24.—A report from British Headquarters, timed 2.45 Sunday, reads:

"The battle has been resumed today all along the German front from Pozieres to Guillemont, and reached a stage of intense violence.

"In the neighborhood of Pozieres territorial and Australian troops, attacking from the south-west and south-east respectively, carried the German outer works by assault shortly after midnight. Violent fighting is now taking place in the village, where the Germans are offering a desperate resistance with large numbers of machine guns.

"On other parts of the battle front the fighting is equally intense, and here no definite progress is yet reported. At one time this morning we had recaptured the whole of Longueval, but the enemy once more regained the northern end of the village. Similarly the outskirts of Guillemont already have twice changed hands."

At 8 p.m. Sunday Sir Douglas Haig telegraphed:

"Our troops have made further progress in the neighborhood of Pozieres and have captured a number of prisoners. On the rest of the front, between Pozieres and Guillemont, the battle continues with intense violence."

The British, including Australian troops, by a midnight thrust Saturday night on a front of eight miles between Thiepval and Guillemont, carried the German outer works for a stretch of five miles, penetrated into Pozieres, and, wheeling around the village, have driven a wedge across the Bapaume highroad between Pozieres and Bapaume.

The initiative is still firmly in the hands of the British, and it is theirs to say what the next movement will be.

That the British gains were attended with heavy losses is indicated in reports from the German grand headquarters and correspondents' despatches from the front.

In one place to the right of Pozieres the artillery failed to completely level the wire entanglements erected by the Germans, and the English troops attacking on that front were subjected to a furious machine-gun fire which cost them heavily. Despite this, they succeded in penetrating into Guillemont, and now hold sections of the outskirts. In addition, the British for a time regained complete control of Longueval, where there has been heavy fighting for the last week. Later, the official report states, they were forced to cede ground in the northern part of the village before a strong German counter-attack.

The gain at Pozieres puts the English troops beyond the German third line. They are within five miles of the heights of Martinpuich, crest of the plateau.

The Berlin statement says that the British attacks were met with a heavy fire, and that the advancing troops suffered severely. Berlin concedes no retirement. Great numbers of British took part in the attack, says the grand headquarters, and the casualties were commensurate to the forces engaged. Especially heavy fighting, the statement says, took place west of Pozieres in the Foureaux wood and around Longueval.

Gen. Haig's night despatch, issued hours after the Berlin statement, reports, however, that further progress was made during the day in the Pozieres region. On the front held by the French on both banks of the Somme a heavy artillery fire was directed against the Germans throughout Saturday night and during Sunday. A night attack by the Kaiser's troops south of Soyecourt is reported by the French War Office to have been repulsed.

The Central News Sunday night made the statement, "from authoritative information," that the British and French in their three weeks of offensive have taken prisoners 26,223 Germans, and that 140 heavy guns, 40 bomb-throwers, and several hundred machine guns have been captured.

The gains which marked the opening of the fourth week of the battle have created the best impression in London. Confidence is now felt that the drive is destined to accomplish great things, and that the stage has been passed where the fighting will die away as did that in Champagne last autumn and the Artois movement in the spring of 1915. London believes it recognises the real thing in the Picardy offensive, and that the "push" for the Rhine is well under way.

The fact that General Haig has been able to resume the offensive so soon after the unsuccessful German counter-attacks of last week, in which very strong German forces were brought forward, is regarded as a good augury.

The fighting has been of the fiercest character, the Germans working with their utmost strength to prevent the British from advancing to their third-line positions, but when the last reports left headquarters in France the Australians had firmly established themselves in Pozieres, and are reported to have placed themselves astride the road in the direction of Bapaume, while at Guillemont and Longueval fortunes fluctuated, both places changing hands several times late Sunday night before the proceeding with the utmost violence.

The market value of hay is yet an unknown quantity If hay were a light crop in other places it would have a greater value, but it evidently is a bumper crop throughout Ontario. This week hay sold at $6 per ton. Possibly this paid for the labor in getting it to the buyer, but certainly the price did not pay for anything more, and just now it looks as if this is all the value that there will be to hay. Many farmers will no doubt keep their surplus stock for another year, but those who sell need not look for very high prices.

In most of places the temperance people, have organized to see that prohibition is enforced after Sept. 15, but so far as we are aware no steps in this direction have been taken in this vicinity. It is one thing to have a prohibitory law, it is another thing to enforce it, and it is up to the authorities, and up to those who have asked for the law to see that it is rightly enforced. It is therefore about time that steps should be taken that will make it impossible for blind pigs to operate in this district. The man who is looking forward to this occupation should be convinced that he runs a great chance of being a guest in the county gool.

Mr. James Pike spent a good day this week getting signers to a petition to forward to the Post Master General to have the name of post office here changed back again to its first name of Miller Lake. The people here are satisfied with the location of the post office as it is more central for every one but see no reason why the name should have been changed, it has been Miller Lake for at least 35 years, ever since and even before there was a post office at all, and to change it now was a big mistake. We hope that the mail Department will give us back the old name. There have been a great many changes at Miller Lake, not many of the people that lived here when it was named are here now, but among all the changes of ups and downs we do not want the name changed, but we expect to have the old name back again in the very near future as there never has been such a name as Sadler Corners in the history of the place and to spring it on us all of a sudden without a question about it is something the big majority of the people here do not want,

The Death of Rev. W. B Danard

On Saturday July 29th Rev. W. B. Danard who had been seriously ill for some months passed away to his reward,

He was born in Prince Edward Co. in August 1834. His parents were U. E. Loyalists and he was one of a family of 10 sons and 4 daughters 7 of the sons stil survive and the names of some of them or their descendants are not unknown to fame.

Mr. Danard inherited from his parents many of the sterling qualifications of the pioneer and he manifested these in his tireless energy in his chosen profession in his determination to overcome all obstacles in his path, and in his zeal in his work for the Master. He was ordained in the Toronto conference in 1865 and was stationed in the following places Valiville, Arthur, St. Marys, Caledon, Trafalgar, Welland and Arran. Later he was connected with the Guelph conference and ministered faithfully at Chesley Werdfull,Mildmay and Tobermory.

He then was placed as a missionary at Cape Croker and latterly Saugeen and his work among the Indians was greatly blessed. During his ministry he built at least 4 churches the last being the campers church at Oliphant. In his prime he was a speaker of great ability and force and he delivered the whole gospel message keeping nothing back

He was married in his youth to Sarah Nicholson who was a true help-mate and one who looked well to the ways of her household and upon whom devolved the larger share of training their family of 5 sons and 4 daughters while the father was absent at his field of labour. Mrs. Danard and family lived at Owen Sound where good schools were accessible. In 1903 she died and shortly after the sad event Mr Danard came to Oliphant for the benefit of his health.

Here he busied himself in good works, visiting the sick, relieving the poor and often conducting service in the little church on the hill when the regular pastor was absent and he helped greatly by fatherly counsel the young students who from time to time had this charge, and his Sunday evening Bible study class was largely attended and most helpful to the young.

In 1906 he was married to Elizabeth Eyre of Oliphant who cheered his declining years and who nursed him with untiring devotion during his last tedious illness.

On Sunday a memorial service was held in the campers church and a brief outline of Mr. Danards life and labors was given by Rev. Mr. Daniels of Tara who knew him well in his latter days. The campers association wishing to express their deep respect for Mr. Danard and their appreciation of his good works donated a beatiful floral wreath. There was a short service at the home of Mr Danard on Monday in which the Revs. Hardie, Daniels and Wilson took part and the friends then looked their last upon the form in the casket which death had taken. He looked years younger than in life. The body was taken to Owen Sound and interred in Greenwood cemetry. Among those present there were the oldest son Louis, a brother of the deceased Dr. Danard of New York and a nephew Dr Danard of Owen Sound and many friends.

Of Mr. Danards first family there are left Louis of Kemble, Rev. Charles of Peterboro, Mrs. Couch and Dr. W. of Carmen, Fred of Hamiota, and Mrs. Jhergins and Miss Victoria of Winnipeg.

At Oliphant Mrs. Danard, three daughters and one son will long miss him.

A nephew of the deceased Captian Danard lost his life in the trenches recently and another is captain in the Bruce battalion.

OWEN SOUND

On Saturday morning Mr. John W. Rose was surprised to receive another intimation from the record office at Ottawa saying: "Sincerely regret to inform you that 409182 Pte. Bertram Elmer Rose was taken to No. 1 Field Ambulance, July 8th, with gunshot wound in the thorax, penetrating. Further particulars will be sent later". The message followed a letter received on the same day from Pte. Ross stating that he had recovered and returned to the trenches and he must have received the wound within a few hours after his return. From the dispatch it is easy to infer that the second wound is much more serious than the first.

This section of the country, which has had a remarkable immunity from automobile accidents was shocked on Friday night on learning that a terrible fatality had occured a short distance from the village of Markdale, in which one of the country's best known citizens, was a victim and sorrow brought to several homes. About 4.15 Mr. W. J. McFarland, accompanied by his eldest son, Mr. William L. McFarland, left for their summer home at English Lake, about six miles from the village. At the railway crossing about four and a half miles north of the village, their car was struck by the engine of the north bound C. P. R. way-freight and Mr. W. J. McFarland instantly killed, and his son, who was driving the car was seriously injured, while the latter's neice, Miss Robertson had her hip fractured and was otherwise seriously shaken up. Of the four occupants of the car, only Mr. W. L. McFarland's twelve-year-old daughter escaped. The automobile was demolished The particulars of the accident as given The Times are that in driving the car Mr. W. L. McFarland did not notice that he was on the rail-way track until he saw the locomotive. He then made a desparate attempt to through the automobile around to run alongside of the train. The speed of the on-coming train was such however, that he did not accomplish this in time and the big locomotive crashed into the car, throwing it aside a mass of scrap. The train was brought to a standstill within a few yards, and the train crew went to the assistance of the injured men.

Two fish hatcheries are to be built in the Georgian Bay region by the Game and Fisheries Dept. of Ontario. The location of the hatcheries will be decided very soon and construction may be begun this summer. This is the information brought back from Toronto yesterday by Mr. T. Walden Thomson who while in the city had a talk with one of the prominent officials of the department. The location of hatcheries is now under consideration and Mr. Thomson believes that now would be a good time for a delegation from Owen Sound to press the claims of this town for these two hatcheries. While he incidentally put in a good word for the home he did not have the data at hand that could be used in influencing the officials, It will be remembered that last year a representative of the Dept. looked over the local rivers and bay with a view to the to the location of a hatchery and found it could be located here to advantage. While it would not mean much in the employment of labour the location of a hatchery would be a most interesting point for sight-seers. And as the most important point on the bay for the transhipment of fish, Owen Sound is surely entitled to recognition.

The cutting out of two springs which gave such an excellent supply of water brings to remembrance the fact that Mr. Alfred A. Spencer the late town treasurer strongly urged the sinking of artesian wells for a water supply. The excellence of the water supply at Camp Borden from similar sources also revives the interest artesian wells, Mr. Spencer's idea was to go out to the vicinity of the present springs and sink the wells and use the water power to develop electrically operated pumps to keep a stand pipe pressure on the mains. The almost intolerably warm water that is coming through the mains from the filter beds calls for some change in the system. The water supply is now considerably warmer than bay water and people are going back to springs long since unused to get a decent drink of cold water. The question is well worth the consideration of the commission both as an additional supply and with a view to securing a cooler and more palatable quality.

Police Magistrate A. D. Creasor received the gratifying information by cable message from France on Wednesday that his only son Lieut John Creasor had been awarded the Military Cross. The cable came from Lieut. Creasor himself and gave no particulars apart from the mere announcement of the fact. Doubtless full particulars will be given in a letter which the father expects to receive from his son very shortly.

It is likely that the distinguished honor has been conferred upon Lieut. Creaser for gallant conduct or conspicuous bravery of some thing in connection with the work of scouting in which he is engaged and for which he has on several occasions received favorable mention in press despatches.

Considerable satisfaction is found in the announcement in last issue that Mr. M. R. Duncan became interested in the purchase from the estate of the late John Wright of the oatmeal mill and that with Mr. William Haston who for the past seven years has been the miller will continue business under the name of Duncan, Haston & Company. Mr. Duncan has shown his usual enterprise in linking up with the vigor that has made it a wellknown industry of this section of the country. Mr. Haston has maintained the reputation for the past seven years in the products of the mill particularly in the matter of rolled oats oatmeal and other cereals. In fact the the rolled oats produced by Wrights mill stands almost alone in the first rank in Canadian production which is the best in the world. The new management will no doubt maintain this reputation by a vigorous campaign to make it the favorite breakfast cereal the firm will continue to a chopping and grinding business and have a large share of the custom of the farmers on the west side in Derby and Keppel.

The Advertiser compares the prices of to-day with those of 28 years ago and says: Perhaps the most interesting comparison between now and the present month of July 1888 is found in the market reports for that year. Eggs sold for what was considered a high price twelve cents per dozen, and butter sold at eleven and twelve cents a pound. Flour sold at no more than four dollars and four and a quarter per hundred; and hay at seven and eight dollars a ton. Potatoes were being sold at 60 and 65 cents a bushel. But what is still more appealing to us of the present day is that beef sold on the market on the 25th of July 1888. at $4.50 per quarter, just about one half of the present price. Pork dressed sold at $7 and $7.50 per cwt, which is almost exactly one half of the present price. The prices for grain were for some reason about the same as these commodities are now commanding. Fall wheat went for 82 and 87; Spring wheat at 85 to 87; Oats at 53 to 55; Peas at 60 to 62; and Barley at 48 to 50.

Troutring, Itching Eczema

Mrs. J. B. Horth, Paspebiac, Bonaventure Co., Que., writes:—"Thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment I have been completely cured of that horrible disease eczema. I was held as if in prison from going among other people, for I was ashamed of the raw, flaming sores. Doctors could do nothing for me and I was almost desperate with suffering when I began to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, In one month I was completely cured and think that this was little short of a miracle"

Tara

The death of Mrs. John Shouldice took place on July 10th at her home in the Tw. of Sullivan. Her maiden name was Margaret Jamieson and was a sister of Mrs. Thos. Dolphin Tara. She was aged 62 years last May and 27 years ago was married to Mr. Shouldice. Two sons and two daughters survive along with her husband, mother, three sisters and three brothers.

On Monday of last week a son about 14 years of age of Thos. Patchell's Dobbington while driving a hay rake in the hay field met with a bad accident. The rake caught in a fence rail which scared the horses. The tongue of the rake broke and the boy fell off the seat the teeth of the rake pulling him along. The team ran a considerable distance and finally jumped the fence which released the boy who was badly bruised and cut and had to be kept under morphine.

On Sunday evening the 16th inst, while motoring home from Owen Sound Capt. Langford and party of Port Elgin collided with a cow resulting in the death of the animal. The motorists were going down a steep hill near Elsinor when the cow was seen dashing towards them chased by a dog. The car was stopped but the cow blinded by fury came on and struck the car in the centre of the radiator. The car was a heavy one and the anim was thrown into the air and lighted on its head breaking its neck. The animal belonged to Mr. Stanley Porter.

The results of the lower school examinations were published in the Toronto papers on Sunday. The Tara school made a poor showing not one passing out of thirtee.. However other schools did not make a much better showing the allures being due to the severe marking of the papers.

Walkerton

The Town Hall which has been in the hands of the brick mason, carpenters and painter, lately undergoing some necessary repairing will soon be ready for occupation again, The interior has been freshly decorated and presents a bright and clean appearance. Two new stairways are in process of erection in the rear, which will furnish additional exits from both the main floor and gallery. Altogether the building is much improved in appearance and it has been made absolutely safe, according to the architect's report, through the erection of the heavy buttresses at the sides of the building and the filling in of the walls in the lower storey.

The Guelph Mercury says that Mr. J. D. Ramsay, principal of Hespler Public School, has started work in a munitions factory for the summer. He is working on a lathe, doing his bit making shells. "I cannot go and fight but I can help to make shells", he stated. Mr' Ramsay, who is the father of Mrs. Norman Walford of Walkerton, has been principal of Hespeler public school for over 15 years. He heard that men were scarce and offered his services for the summer months;

At Grand Lodge A. F. & A. M. held at London last week, Andrew F. Johnston of Walkerton landed a high office in Masonry. He was elected District Deputy Grand Master for the newly constituted district of Bruce. Right Worthy Bro, Johnston is a past master of Sangeen Lodge and is well qualified to perform the important duties which will devolve upon him. The new district is composed of twelve lodges, including the towns of this county on the Southampton and Wiarton lines of the G. T. R. and also Clifford, The seven remaining lodges of the old district, including Kincardine are added to some others to form a new North Huron District.

Nothing Can Compare With It

Mr. Fred Adams, New Rose, N. S., writes:—"I have tried many medicines for coughs and colds but never found anything to compare to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. We have had the greatest satisfaction with this medicine for it never fails to relieve a cough and loosen it up."

ORGANIZE for Victory!

ONTARIO

THE THIRD YEAR OF THE WAR calls for the organized co-operation of every citizen of the Province of Ontario. ALL must help to hasten the day of final triumph. For the sake of those who have made the Great Sacrifice, and of those now overseas or in training, every citizen must give the best service possible. No one need feel "out of it" when the great day of Victory comes, but everyone must qualify now by sharing in the sacrifices which the War demands.

Suggestions for Organization

In many Municipalities there are already active patriotic organizations, such as Recruiting, Red Cross, Soldiers' Aid and Patriotic Fund Committees. In such cases, one of these, or, better still, a joint committee of these and the citizens generally, might undertake to co-operate with the Central Committee at Toronto.

Where there is no active representative organization, it is suggested that one be formed at the earliest moment. It should be non-partisan (in the broadest sense), and represent every interest affected by war conditions.

What Organizations Should Do

1. Find more men for Overseas service.
2. Help in keeping our munitions plants working to full capacity.
3. Induce every possible worker, men and women, to serve on the farm and in other essential industries.
4. Find money for the coming WAR LOAN and war funds.
5. In short, assist in the organization of Ontario's resources to meet war conditions and after-war conditions.

THRIFT and ECONOMY, and a careful consideration and preparation for our problems are essential if we would meet the present and future needs. For further suggestions and information you are cordially requested to write at once to ALBERT H. ABBOTT, Ph.D., Secretary, Organization of Resources Committee, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Heart's Action Was Weak And Circulation Poor

He Was Always Tired and Nervous and Had Pains in Feet and Legs—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cured.

The heart is a wonderful worker, plodding away year in and year out, forever pumping the blood through the body. So long as the blood is rich and nourishing it renews its own waste and keeps up a vigorous circulation of the blood through the arteries and veins of the human system.

But when the blood gets thin the nerves are starved, motive power is lacking, the heart's action weakens and the circulation is slow. The hands and feet feel cold, there are cramps and pains in the legs and through the body, digestion fails, you become nervous and irritable and do not rest or sleep well.

This letter will give you some idea how admirably Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is suited to overcome derangements of this nature. It is, above all, a creator of new, rich blood, and with the blood in good condition the nerves are soon restored and bodily organs resume their natural functions.

Mrs. E. A. Hutchings, "Prairie View," Elva, Man., writes: "Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my husband had tried almost every remedy recommended as a tonic. He suffered with cold feet, poor circulation of the blood and was always tired. He had pains in his feet and legs, and could get no rest or sleep at night. After the first box of the Nerve Food we could see an improvement, and now after using it for six months he is an entirely different man. He eats and sleeps well and has no pains in his feet and legs. It has built up his health wonderfully, and we can recommend it as a splendid nerve tonic."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Chesley

There has been no rain of consequence in this locality since the first of July and the pastures are drying up fast. It has been the case of an abnormally wet June and a very dry July. The spring grain will be short on account of the continued dry spell. John Golem of 11th Con delivered harvested his canning peas and had them in his barn on Saturday July 22nd. Several other farmers are also harvesting their canning peas, and fall wheat cutting has become general. The hay crop is the heaviest ever known in this locality and in many instances would have rotted on the ground but for the continued dry weather. J. A. McLean of Lindsay, inspector of the Squires Seed firm, is making his annual rounds this week.

Geo. Elliot who lives on lot 35 con. 3 Elderslie, the old Anderson homestead, has an 8 acre field of fall wheat that he expects will yield 400 bushels. It is almost entirely free of weed seeds. The binder will be at work in this fine field of wheat the latter part of this week.

Our townsman, Jos. Davis, left yesterday for Edmonton to visit his son. This is Mr. Davis's first trip to the great West. Though in his 81st year Mr. Davis is as smart as a man in the prime of life. We wish him a pleasant trip and a safe return.

Rev. W. E. Phillips, rector of Holy Trinity and Grace churches Mrs. Phillips and family left on Tuesday to spend their holidays at points along Georgian Bay and Lake Huron on Rev. Phillips. We wish them a pleasant month's holidays. Rev. H. W. James of Lion's Head will occupy the pulpit of Holy Trinity and Grace churches in Rev. Mr. Phillips absence.

WALKERTON

Mr. Ezra Briggs arrived home Tuesday from a two week's trip to the West. Mr. Briggs has visited the Western Provinces a number of times but on this occasion Briggs took a new route going by G. T. P. He was greatly impressed with the possibilities of the Clay belt of Northern Ontario and believes that Country has a great future ahead of it. Both in Manitoba and Dakota the crop outlook is good. At North Dakota he attended a family reunion of five brothers and one sister at the home of his brother who is very poorly with heart trouble and not expected to live.

The full returns of the recent joint canvass for Patriotic purposes and the Red Cross Fund have been handed into the town papers by the committee and show that $7814.85 was raised here. The list contributors which numbers 660 names, will be published in next week's issue together with the amount each subscribed.

A monster pike, measuring 32 inches and weighing 6 lbs, was landed by Leslie McConnell last week from the Saugeen river on the 10th con. of Brant. Spying the big fish reclining lazily on the riverbed near shore, Leslie captured a fat dinner, by throwing a jagging hook over it and yanking it in. This is the biggest fish landed from the Saugeen this season.

MACPHERSON—REED

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Reed, Queen Street North, on Wednesday when their only daughter Norma Elizabeth became the bride of Mr. Russel M. MacPherson of Hanover elder son of Mrs. Norman MacPherson. The bride who was unattended was given away by her father. She was attired in a traveling suit of Russian Green Silk with Leghorn hat and carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses. She wore a handsome wrist watch the gift of the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. McArthur of Knox church. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Eade of Fort William, sister of the groom. Miss Robina Knight contralto soloist of Rosedale Presbyterian church Toronto sang "Until." After the wedding breakfast toasts to the bride and groom were proposed by Rev. Er. McArthur and Mr. Eade, and ably responded by the groom. Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson left at two o'clock for Muskoka amid showers of good wishes and confetti. Up on their return they will reside in Hanover. Guests were present from Georgetown, Toronto, Fort William and Brantford.

Good Digestion A Source of Health.

When the Stomach is Out of Order the Whole System Suffers.

Indigestion is one of the most distressing maladies afflicting mankind. When the stomach is unable to perform the work nature calls for the result is severe pains after eating, nausea, heartburn, fluttering of the heart, sick headache and often a loathing for food though the sufferer is really half starved. People with poor digestion too frequently try all sorts of experiments to aid the process of digestion, but there is only one way in which the trouble can be actually cured that is through the blood. That is why the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cures even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. They make rich red blood that strengthens the stomach and the nerves thus enabling it to do its work. The process is simple but the result means good appetite and increased health and pleasure in life. In proof of these statements, Mrs. Albert Hall Sonya Ont. says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with wonderful results. For two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion which almost made me a physical wreck. At times my sufferings were so great that was unable to attend to my household duties. I had smothering spells at times and was afraid to lie down to rest. After every meal no matter how sparingly I ate I suffered great distress. I tried several doctors but their medicine was of no avail I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised to cure this trouble and decided to try them I had not been taking them long when I felt somewhat improved. This improvement continued and after taking ten boxes I could eat and digest all kinds of food, and felt better than I had done for years. You may be sure I am very grateful for the wonderful relief these pills have given me. I know they are also a cure for anaemic sufferers as an intimate friend of mine was badly affected with this trouble and after taking several boxes she was entirely cured."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville Ont.

Southampton

The Patriotic service in the Methodist church last Sunday morning was very interesting. The church was very tastefully decorated with flags, bunting and flowers, and there was special music by the choir. Rev. G. Brown gave his experience as a German soldier, which gave one a near view of the German war machine, and Mr C. M. Bowman, after unveiling the honor roll, containing the names of twenty three young men of the church who had enlisted gave a brief address on the war.

Mrs. Kampher, missionary at Assimo, India, gave a very interesting address on conditions in India at the Baptist church last Sunday evening. Where she is located is probably the wettest place on earth, the rainfall exceeding 500 inches in one year, and over 25 inches have fallen in one day. The native women dress alike, and the dress is very modest and cheap, costing between 50 and 60 cents. It is made of five yards of cheap muslin and requires no sewing, buttons or hooks, but is just wrapped around and tucked in.

Bass fishing has not as yet this season been really good, but a few good ones have been landed. Mr. W. Milligan landed a nice one, weighing nearly four pounds, at the river dock last week, and Laddie Scott also got one there about the same weight. Some very good catches have been made down the shore at McNabb's Bay, but the water is shallow, and fly fishing is the only method to meet with success there.

The Cry Of Belgium.

Our sons lie slain upon our gory fields,
Our wives and children, refugees from wrong;
The vaunting foe his sword and fire wields,
How long, O Lord, how long?

No more the happy peasant tills the soil,
No more the boatman sings his native song
The land is filled with strife and furious toil,
How long, O Lord, how long?

"Let me but pass to reach my Gallic goal,"
Though hiding deep deceit, his words were fair,
Indignant Belgium drew the sword. The toil
Lord, make it soon Thy care.

We cried to Britain in our sore distress,"
And swift she rose to aid us and defend;
And still her legions fight for our redress,
Far-flung her sons contend.

Should peace again return, who can restore
Our gallant dead who were so brave and strong?
Exiles come home, but ah, so much the more
Our hearts for lost ones long.

Toil on and fight, true hearted sons and brave
Till God remember us, our ills allay—
Meanwhile, our swords our bleeding fan must save.
We chose the better way.

A deserter from the Grey battalion got one year.

NORTH BAY will probably get the Nickel Refinery. North Bay owes a lot to luck.

When it comes to an official position this man Fred Dane believes that variety is the spice of life.

IT would be glory for a political party to go down to defeat for a great moral issue, but political parties consider it more glory to live.

THE fact that cows in Ontario have decreased this year by 63,000 is worthy of attention. The decrease is due to the shortage of labor.

It looks like cars will be numerous next year, The Overland company are out to sell 10,000 and if the other cars sell this way the buggy will be consigned to the scrap heap.

THERE is a great scarcity of labor in Norway and that government is endeavoring to reduce the young Norwegians to inturn home. The need of men in Europe may be so great after the war that Canada need not expect many immigrants from the Old World.

THE wholesale slaughter of the students who wrote on the Lower School Examinations calls for investigation by the Department of Education. Some one has blundered. If the Department does not come to the rescue then hundreds of students will have their life work changed simply because of these examinations.

IN the whole history of Canada there has been nothing more heart rending than the hundreds of lives lost by the bush fires last week in New Ontario. Life on the open prairie may be suddenly ended by a cyclone, but these have no danger compared with a bush fire. Until it is known how to overcome this danger the lives of pioneers will always be one of peril.

WE do not want to see Bruce County attempt something and then fail. We raised a battalion very quickly, in fact we made a record, but those who are flirting with the idea of another battalion would do well to make thorough enquiries before attempting the work. In the opinion of this paper it cannot be done under our present system, and it would not be wise to try.

The month of June was wet and cold, but the month of July was hot and dry, we can all stand a few hot days, because we expect them, but when it comes to a month of heat, the mercury nearly 100, and no rain it is certainly unusual for this district. It has been great camping weather, great haymaking weather, but poor weather for spring crops. Just what effect it has had upon oats, roots etc. cannot be stated for a few weeks.

In talking to a practical road maker The Echo was informed that since the advent of the auto about twice the original amount of work is required to keep the roads in good condition. The auto has come to stay, every year sees far more cars, and every year the wear and tare to the country roads will be far greater, scores of autos pass over our roads from the most distant points, and all this traffic makes the problem of keeping up the roads a hard one. The license fee charge auto owners by the province should be handed over to the various municipalities according to the number of autos in the municipalities The way this fund is now handled is an injustice.

One thing we have here, and of which we ought not to be deprived, is the best water in the world, but with an intake pipe, extending only a short distance from the shore, we have been compelled to drink something like the Church of Laodicea, neither cold nor hot, until we feel like spewing it out of our mouths. The small matter of extending the intake pipe should engage the attention of the water commissioners, who by doing this work would contribute something towards the pleasure of life in this town. Further we are of the opinion that if the District Medical Health Officer knew that the water that runs through the troughs at the fish hatchery, percolates through the rock down into the bay around the mouth of the intake pipe, he might give a peremptory order to rush the job.

An Unpopular View

AMONG Anglo Saxons there is only one way by which the war can be settled and that is the utter collapse of Germany as a military power. The phrase that we so often hear "we will declare peace in Berlin" means that the Allies will put their feet on the neck of the Central Powers, and they will pay bitterly for their work since August 1914. Nothing short of this will suit the present temper of the Anglo-Saxons.

However, Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale, in a recent issue of the New York Independent, argues very strongly in favor of the war being a draw. He states correctly that the question which we wish to have settled is the question of war itself—the prevention of future wars—and he contends that a draw is the most effective way to reach this end. He argues that the only hope of getting rid of war is to make the people disgusted with war, not only because of its costliness, but because of its futility as a method of settling disputes. If this war "settles something" so that somebody will be satisfied, that somebody will be satisfied with war as an institution. If, on the other hand, the conflict ends in a draw and the people of both sides become convinced that it has accomplished nothing except the destruction of wealth, the accumulation of debt and the slaughter of the very flower of the manhood of Europe, then war itself will be regarded as an accursed institution and there will arise a popular clamor for future safeguards against war.

It will be conceded that this learned professor puts forward a strong argument, but what we want is Germany to suffer just as that nation made others suffer. That nation sowed to the wind and we want her to reap the whirlwind.

"Always," she confessed frankly. "Somehow I can never be afraid with you. But—but what shall we do now?"

"I hardly know what to put you at. Oh, yes! Here is a tin, and you can bail out this water sloshing about in the bottom. That will be valuable service."

"What will you do?"

"Rig up the sail the best I can in the dark. There is breeze enough to give us some headway and ship the rudder."

"Do you know which direction to steer?"

"Not now, but I have a compass in my pocket. A northeast course would be sure to bring us to the coast, and towns are scattered along. I found that out from Broussard yesterday."

God pity us if we ever fell into Henley's clutches again. There was in my mind, now I had leisure to consider, no doubt as to what those on board that vessel would do after they discovered him. They would realize we were somewhat astern, and, in the hope of sighting us at daylight, would cruise back and forth in those immediate waters. Any moment the Sea Gull's sharp prow might loom up out of the black wall. As she carried no lights there would be no warning. It occurred to me that they would be more apt to take a course well in toward shore, anticipating I would endeavor to reach the protection of the coast under cover of darkness. Some one would discover the loss of the tell-tale compass, which would naturally confirm that suspicion. Convinced of this I steered more to the eastward, feeling of the face of the compass again to assure myself of the direction. I brought a tin of biscuit from the you—Lord! but I'll keep you to play with all the way to Honduras. It will be a pleasant voyage, my friend. Here, Masters, you and Peters stand by. Now, you robber, give me those papers.

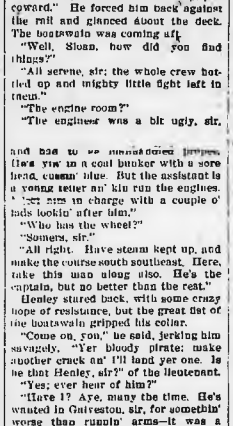
I handed them out, watching closely. Peters stood at my right, one hand on my arm; the other fellow must have been behind me. Henley grasped the envelope, opening the flap to be sure of its contents. The movement caused him to lower the revolver and avert his gaze for just an instant. With one motion I flung Peters aside and slammed a clinched fist into the captain's face.

Masters must have struck me at almost the same instant my fist landed on Henley, for we went down together. His revolver discharging, the dying bullet gouging my left shoulder, burning the flesh like a redhot wire. Yet I grappled him even as we crashed to the deck, but the fellow lay stunned, motionless as a dead man. Everything happened quicker than I can tell it; with such rapidity, indeed, that not a hand touched me. I could barely struggle up on one knee, dazed still by the stroke which had floored me, and glance about, when the bluejackets came tumbling over the rail and leaped at the astounded crew of the Sea Gull. It was a swift, short fight, the assailants having every advantage. I saw the lieutenant, bare handed, dash into the group, striking out left and right, his men at his heels. There was a volley of oaths, a thud of falling bodies, a sharp command and the shrill pipe of a boatswain's whistle. Two men rushed forward, the first disappearing behind the chart house. The second encountered Broussard stepping off the bridge ladder and buried the fellow to the deck with one blow of a sledge hammer fist. Scarcely pausing to see whether he was alive or not, the assailant ran on toward the forecastle.

The whole affair was over in two minutes, the bluejackets circling out like a fan and pressing their enemy into a helpless mass against the rail. For a moment the fight was furious, every man for himself; then the lieutenant drove like a wedge into the bunch, and it was all over.

"On to the bridge there, Contes, and hold up her head," sang out the officer. "Boatswain, take charge of these beauties and run them into the forecastle. Leave two men on guard and take a squint into the engine room. Report to me here."

He glanced toward me. "Say, what is the matter with you—shot? You're white as a sheet of paper, man."



"I got one on the head with a belaying pin from the heft of it. The bullet touched me—here. Lord, how it burns!"

"Who did the shooting?"

"Henley here." And I touched the fellow with my foot. "He fired just as I hit him."

"So that's the man!" he exclaimed. "We've done a good day's work."

Henley stirred as he spoke—at least opened his eyes, staring up into the black and then at the lieutenant's uniform. The sight of the latter perplexed him. "What are you?" he asked vaguely, making an effort to raise his head. "Mutineers?"

"Henley," I said, stepping between them, "the game is up and the best thing you can do now is to keep quiet. This gentleman is Lieutenant Hutton of the revenue cutter Salina, and his men have the crew of the Sea Gull under hatches forward. Give me back those papers."

He had the envelope still clasped in his left hand, and he glanced at it dully and then beyond me toward Hutton. Apparently his brain, yet numbed by the blow, failed to entirely comprehend. The lieutenant, however, was a man of action. With grip on his collar he jerked the wretch to his feet and held him there.

"Hood over those papers to Craig," he ordered shortly, "and be lively about it. I haven't anything to do with that affair, and I don't think you will have much more from now on. You are my prisoner, and you are good for a ten spot at least. Stand up, you coward." He forced him back against the rail and glanced about the deck. The boatswain was coming aft.

"Well, Sloan, how did you find things?"

"All serene, sir; the whole crew battened up and mighty little fight left in them."

"The engine room?"

"The engineer was a bit ugly, sir, and had to be handcuffed proper. He's yiw in a coal bunker with a sore head, cussin' blue. But the assistant is a young setter an' kin run the engines. I set him in charge with a couple o' lads lookin' after him."

"Who has the wheel?"

"Somers, sir."

"All right. Have steam kept up, and make the course south southeast. Here, take this man along also. He's the captain, but no better than the rest."

Henley stirred back, with some crazy hope of resistance, but the great fist of the boatswain gripped his collar.

"Come on, you," he said, jerking him savagely. "Yer bloody pirate; make another crack an' I'll land yer one. Is he that Henley, sir?" of the lieutenant.

"Yes; ever hear of him?"

"Have I? Aye, many the time. He's wanted in Galveston, sir, for somethin' worse than runnin' arms—it was a knifin' job, sir."

"What became of the girl?"

"The steward took her below and locked her in before the fracas started."

We went down the companion stairs together into a deserted cabin. No steward was in evidence, and, finding the captain's stateroom locked, the lieutenant kicked open the door and entered. I turned back, explored the passage and finally dragged Louis out from a dark corner of the pantry.

"Oh, Lor', Mass Craig," he whined. "Ah ain't done nuthin', dead Ah ain't, sah!"

"You locked up the girl."

"Ah just had to, sah. Captain Henley he just ravi-rally skin me alive, sah, if Ah don't. But Ah neber hurt her none."

"Where is she?"

"In No 5, sah; here—here she be, say."

"All right, Louis," and I tossed him into one corner. "Now, Helen; out that table and get some food on it quick. Make coffee, too; don't wait for anything else."

"Yes, sah."

I crossed the cabin and inserted the key. As the door opened she stood there waiting, her hands held out.

"It—it is all over with? You have been successful?"

"Yes, don't worry," and I held her hands fast, looking into her eyes. "There can be no further trouble. Captain Henley and his crew are prisoners. The lieutenant is in Henley's cabin, going through the papers. He wants to have a full report ready when the Sailne comes up. The three of us will breakfast together."

"You must permit me to wash the wound on your head first," she insisted. "The hair is all matted with blood. Please."

She ministered to me with womanly gentleness, parting the matted hair and cleansing the wound with water. While in no way serious it was an ugly bruise and required considerable attention. Sitting there on a stool while she worked, I could hear Louis bustling about in the cabin, but my mind was busy with a thousand matters requiring settlement. At last I refused to be ministered to any longer. As we entered the cabin the lieutenant stood in Henley's door.

"I was looking for you, Craig," he said, coming forward and bowing to my companion. "Here is a newspaper clipping which may be of interest. I found it on the deck."

I read it hastily and in silence handed it to her, watching her face as she read. It was a local item describing the finding of a dead body which could not be identified. The details of the man's appearance as well as the clothes worn were carefully depicted, evidently in hope some one might thus recognize the party. She remained with the bit of paper in her hands for what seemed a long while, while we waited. Then her eyes were slowly lifted to our faces.

"That was Philip Henley," she said soberly.

"Your husband, madam?" asked the lieutenant as I remained silent.

"Yes; legally my husband, although he had driven me from him by dissipation and neglect. I—I cannot tell you the wretched story now."

"Nor do I ask it," he hastened to assure her. "What is it, Mapes?"

A bluejacket stood at the foot of the stairs, one hand lifted in salute.

"The Sailne, sir, is alongside and hailing us. The [illegible] sent me, sir."

"Are you afraid to speak to me?" she asked, pleadingly.

of her hands and knew she was sobbing silently.

"You think my conclusions must be correct?" I could not refrain from asking.

"Yes, even without seeing the letter; but," and she glanced up quickly, "the ring—Philip's ring—we found?"

"I forgot to mention that. Its presence here alone is convincing. It was sent to Charles Henley by his agent, who claimed to have removed it from the finger of the dead man."

"Then every doubt is removed; the one killed was my hus—husband."

There was a long, painful silence, during which I stared out into the dark, mechanically guiding the boat, although every thought centered on her motionless figure. What should I say? How was I to approach her now? Those were long minutes I sat there, speechless, gazing straight ahead, my brain inert, my hand hard on the tiller. Suddenly, with a swift thrill which sent my blood leaping, I felt the soft touch of her fingers.

"Are you afraid to speak to me?" she asked pleadingly. "Surely I have said nothing to anger you."

"No, it is not that," I returned in confusion, not knowing how to express the chaos of my heart-ary. "I am sorry—yes," very clumsily, "but perhaps not as you suppose. It is hard to think of him as dead—killed so suddenly, without opportunity to think or make any preparation. He—he was my husband under the law. That was all. He was no more. I did not believe it ever lovely. My marriage was but the adventure of a romantic girl, but if I once did his subsequent abuse of me, his life of dissipation, obliterated long since every recollection of that love. He is to me scarcely more than a name, my unhappy memory. I told you the truth when I believed him still alive. We were friends then, you and I, and I cannot conceive why his death should sever our friendship."

"Don't," I burst forth impetuously. "You talk of friendship when all my manhood my love is for her bare arm. I glanced up again, into flushed cheeks.

"Craig," exclaimed the lieutenant suddenly, "that must be the fellow off there to port. Here, try the glasses—just where the cloud is lifting a bit."

I recognized her instantly.

"That's the Sea Gull, and, by heavens, they are keeping a sharp lookout on board. See! She is swinging on her heel already; they've sighted us!"

He grasped the glass and stared out through it in silence for several minutes. Then he thrust it into a pocket and settled back out of sight behind the canvas screen.

"You have called the turn," he said quietly, "and the dance is about to begin. Unship your rudder and let it go. Let them think you are wrecked, helpless to escape, and they will be more careless. Now then, loosen your guns and be ready to scale a ship's side in a jiffy, but lie perfectly still until I give the word." He turned his head.

"You understand what you are to do, Craig, you and the lady?"

"I think so. We are to obey Henley's orders and go on board."

"Yes, but do something as soon as you reach the deck to attract attention and get them away from the rail. Try and get the lady as far astern as possible, for there is likely to be some fighting. Are you frightened, miss?"

"No," although her voice trembled from excitement. "You need not worry about me."

"All right, then. I shall not wait for any signal. Now, listen, men; these are my last orders. When I say go get up any way you can and hit the first man you see. Hit hard, but no shooting unless they use firearms. But fight like devils and do it quick. They outnumber us three to one. Marston, you and Simms take the stoke hold and the forecastle. Keep those fellows below down with your revolvers. Shoot if you need to. The rest of you stick close to me. All clear, lads?"

"Aye, aye, sir," returned the muffled voices from beneath the canvas.

I unshipped the rudder, letting it disappear noiselessly beneath the waves, and the boat's head swung slowly around, and we drifted helplessly, the jib flapping. In low monotone, without turning my head, I managed to convey my observations to the motionless officer.

"She's heading straight toward us under low pressure. There are two men on the bridge and a lookout on the bow. Now she's swinging to port to bring up close. There's a group at the rail near the starboard gangway; about ten, I should say. Can you see, Viola?"

"Twelve," she answered quietly, "and three forward. The third man at the rail is the captain, and he has a glass."

"By George, you are right! I recognize the fellow now. Broussard is on the bridge. They expect no trouble, lieutenant, and only have the regular watch on deck. They are getting too close for me to talk any more."

It was quite evident that Henley perceived nothing to arouse suspicion, for with a swing like a hawk the Sea Gull bore down upon us, the engines slowing and then reversed. We were staring up into the faces that looked curiously down at us.

"Hard down!" yelled the captain, motioning with one arm. "Plug her, man! Now, you army hound," he called to me, "catch that rope and make fast."

CHAPTER XVIII.

In Possession.

ONE of the hands flung the coil so that it fell at my feet, and I did as directed, as otherwise we would have been crushed under the vessel. As it drew taut the boat swung in gently against the side of the Sea Gull.

"Now, you thief," he screamed, "it's my turn to play jailer. Come up, both of you."

"Just a moment, Captain Henley," I answered, rising to my feet. "If there is any one to be punished I am the one; this woman had nothing to do with it."

"That's for me to decide," he snarled, and whipped out a revolver. "I know how to handle both of you. Come, jump now, you dog, or you never will move again. Pass the girl up first, and be lively about it. Give them a hand there, Peters, and don't be too easy."

There was no excuse for delay; besides, those lads under the heavy canvas must be nearly smothered. With my arm about her I lifted her up to where Peters could reach down and grasp her hand, and then followed as quickly as possible. Henley had swung down to the deck and stood there, his men grouped about him, the revolver still in his hand. One glance at his face told me he was insane from rage, thinking only of revenge.

"Take the woman below," he snapped, his cruel teeth gleaming. "She'll get her lesson. Here, Louis, don't you hear me? Lock her in, and bring me the key. I'll handle this snivelling thief first. So you couldn't run a boat, hey? Not so easy as it looked, was it, you dog? Thought we'd be gone this morning, didn't you? You'll find I'm not quite as easy as all that. Now you'll take your medicine!"

I still stood motionless, my back to the rail, letting him rave, but watching every movement. I remember the faces about me, fierce, preying faces, of men wild to lay hold upon me at the first word of command. What did Henley mean to do? Kill me or give me over into the hands of those merciless devils? All I could read in his eyes was hatred, exultation, unconsciousness of power.

"Hard luck, Craig—hey?" he began tauntingly. "Played with the wrong man, didn't you. Now I've got the girl just as I want her, and as for

FIRES TAKE 200 LIVES

Ontario Northland Swept by Big Forest Conflagrations.

A Dozen Towns and Villages Have Been Practically Wiped Out by Holocaust Which Has Swept Over the District Between Matheson and Cochrane—Present Fire is Worst in History of North.

COCHRANE, July 31.—Northern Ontario is being swept by the biggest bush fire in its history. South from Cochrane, and as far west as Hearst, on the Transcontinental, the flames have engulfed millions of dollars' worth of timber land, and wiped out at least a dozen towns and villages. According to reliable information 200 settlers have perished.

Three separate fires are sweeping the country. The largest, and the only one concerning which any details are available, commenced at Porquis Junction, on Thursday last. A stiff south-east wind hurtled the flames down the line of the T. and N. O., wiping out everything as far south as Matheson.

Another has been raging east of Cochrane for several days, but the estimated death list of 147 does not include any casualties in that zone. There is no means of communication.

The third is supposed to have started near Hearst and is sweeping the Transcontinental Railway on both sides, but working mainly south-easterly with the wind. Near Hearst there is a big interment camp and hundreds of soldiers. All telegraph lines are down east of Grant on the Transcontinental, and there is no way of ascertaining if any lives have been lost at this point.

An army of between five and six thousand men are fighting the fires. But the best they can hope to do is hold it in check until a heavy rain storm comes. The meteorological office said Sunday night that it had rained a little in Northern Ontario on that day. There is no prospect of heavy rain for some time.

A North Bay despatch says: "Cochrane and Matheson, two small towns in Northern Ontario, are reported to have been wiped out by fire to-day with a loss of at least 100 lives. Many persons were injured."

Special trains with doctors have left North Bay for the north. At least eighty are known to be dead, and it is feared the casualty list may be much larger.

A Cobalt report says: Terrific forest fires are raging all through the north country and the town of Timmins is in serious danger. The telephone operator at Matheson had to leave the office as the fire had worked right up to the building, and it was at the risk of life to remain. A large number of farm buildings around Pearson's Landing were destroyed. Telephone communication north of Swastika is completely cut off. The last word received was from the Matheson operator just as she left the building at which time there was no communication possible with the Porcupine district.

Three of the largest pulp and paper mills in Ontario may have been destroyed in the fire which is sweeping its way through the north country. These include the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company's plant at Iroquois Falls, the Metagami Pulp and Paper Company at Flat Rock Falls and the big plant at Jacksonboro.

The Abitibi is one of the largest plants in the world. Its capacity is 400 tons a day. It is located on the T. and N. O. lines north of Matheson and east of Timmins. The Jacksonboro mills are controlled by a Buffalo firm and are located 35 miles west of Cochrane on the Grand Trunk Pacific. This is three miles west of Flat Rock Falls, where fire is also reported.

A fire which had assumed serious proportions Sunday night was reported to be raging north of the Canadian Pacific lines at Cartier. No details could be secured up to a late hour, but it is understood the flames cover a territory 10 miles wide and are working north in the direction of the Canadian Northern lines. These, however, are about 100 miles distant, so that no fear was expressed in C. N. R. circles, as it was thought there would be slight possibility of their spreading so far.

Throughout the regions surrounding that of the central fire, other fires of lesser degree were reported Sunday. The Canadian Northern station at Foleyet, which is a divisional point, was seriously threatened for a time. A hailstorm which came along at a critical moment extinguished the fire completely. Foleyet is about 150 miles west of Sudbury.

Mining men who came down yesterday from Cobalt and further north say fires have been raging throughout the north country for some time past, but had not assumed threatening proportions until a couple of days ago when they menaced a large section of the country along the line of the T. and N. O.

The intense heat had dried out the brush and timber to a dangerous extent and made it splendid fuel, while the "slash" everywhere through the bush accentuated the danger.

Settlers all along the line were expecting the fire to go almost in any direction and were taking what precautions they could. Sunday at Porquois Junction, the point where the trains switch into the Porcupine division, the T. and N. O. had an engine standing ready to take out refugees as soon as the fire reached there, while at Matheson the same precautions had been observed by the Government railway officials.

Baby-Killers Out Again.

COPENHAGEN, July 31.—Fishermen from the Island of Gotland, report having sighted ten zeppelins over the Baltic, steering in a northerly direction.

EXPLOSION KILLS MANY.

Millions of Dollars Lost When Munitions Blow Up.

NEW YORK, July 31.—An unknown number of dead and injured, thirty-five to seventy million dollars in property loss, five states shaken, and millions of persons within a radius of a hundred miles frightened to distraction is the partial total of the damage wrought by the explosion of war materials in Jersey City early Sunday morning.

While only one body has been recovered, the toll is believed to have been considerable. In the excitement following the explosion little or no effort was made by anyone to take a census of those known to have been in the vicinity.

The disaster was by far the worst of its kind that has ever taken place in the country.

Black Tom Island, an area of reclaimed land, which projects into New York Bay from the Jersey shore, immediately behind the Statue of Liberty, was the scene of the explosion.

Six Lehigh Valley piers and the National Storage Warehousing Company, comprising twenty-four 24-storey brick buildings, about a hundred feet deep, were the principal sufferers.

Between twenty-five million and thirty million dollars' worth of property belonging to these two companies were hurled into the air by the series of explosions. Thirteen storage warehouses and their entire contents were blown up, 85 loaded freight cars were burned, a dozen barges and their contents burned or blown up, and probably three tugboats sunk.

The New Jersey Central Railroad pier, half a mile from the source of the explosion, also was damaged considerably. Three tugboats, with an aggregate crew of about 24 men are listed as missing. These boats are the Geneva, a Lehigh Valley boat, and the Bridgeton and Ithaca, Jersey Central boats.

When last seen, the little vessels were bravely forcing their way into the blazing barges, in an effort to remove them. Then occurred the big explosion. It is feared they were torn to pieces and lost with their valiant crews.

The cause of the earth-shaking catastrophe was the explosion of hundreds of tons of high explosives on the "explosive pier" of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

This fire, as nearly as can be established from eye-witnesses, began either in a freight car on the "explosive pier," or on a barge moored to the pier, about ten minutes after midnight.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad, in an official statement, lays the blame on a barge owned by an independent towing company, which, against orders, had moored to the pier. The railroad charges the fire began on this barge.

NEW ADVANCE MADE.

British and French Have Gained on Somme Front.

LONDON, July 31.—After an artillery bombardment so terrific that the advanced sections of the Germans' third line were swept away, the British and French Sunday morning smashed forward in a tremendous assault on a front of eight miles. From east of Delwood to the Somme the blow was struck, and whole systems of trenches, the work of months, were carried.

Great losses were inflicted on the Germans. More than 500 prisoners were found in the shattered ditches and dugouts.

The most pronounced gains were made by the British. These troops smashed forward beyond the Waterlot farm, Trones wood, and the Maltzorn farm, formerly mere outposts of the British front, breaking well beyond the frontiers of the German third line and establishing themselves in strong positions.

On the British right, the French, attacking simultaneously on a front from a height north-east of Hardecourt to the river, carried a German trench system on a front for a distance at one point of half a mile, seized a foothold in Maurepas, and conquered a wood and powerfully-fortified quarry north of Hem.

Street fighting is now going on in Maurepas, a village stronghold, which has withstood until the present, all assaults.

Sunday's victory puts the Franco-British allies in a position to strike a powerful blow at Combles, the strong German point of support between Bapaume and Peronne. It also marks a further advance of the wedge which is being driven into the Kaiser's front between these two key positions of the 100-mile Noyon salient.

The British are continuing their "nibbling" tactics on other sections of the front stretching down to the sea. Canadian infantry took a "bite" out of the German trenches south of Ypres during Saturday night, while Irish troops carried out a successful raid in the Loos salient.

Another Bomb Outrage.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 31.—Three bombs exploded beneath the floor of the Menace Publishing plant at Aurora, Mo., at 4.15 o'clock Saturday morning, slightly damaging the publishing company's plant, and set fire to a mass of copies of The Menace, an anti-Catholic publication, just off the press. The flames were soon extinguished.

Chinaman Killed, Another Injured.

TORONTO, July 31.—Chin Lapp, 1079 College street, is dead, and Hop Chang, 804 College street, now lies in the Western Hospital in a serious condition, as a result of jumping off Carlton car No. 1088 at Shaw street, about midnight Saturday. The body of Chin Lapp was taken to the morgue, where an inquest will be held.

It was the highest price ever paid at this point but no one knows where prices will yet go to, the reason of this, the dealer said, was due to the fact that delivery has been small lately, eggs sold at 25 cents, as well as butter at the same price.

Former Wiarton Boys Doing Their Bit In The Canadian Club Of New York.

The hearts of Canadians wherever found were stirred by Canada's ready declaration to do her part when this mighty struggle began of "Arms against Arbitration" Nowhere was this more evidenced than in the Canadian Club or New York, where the desire for participation at once put the question "What can we do to help?"

At the first meeting voluntary offerings enabled them to send $1,000.00 to Ottawa as a contribution to The Canadian Patriotic Fund. Since, another $1,000.00 check has been contributed to this fund; and again to response to the inquiry, "What can we do to help? Where is there a real need we can care for here?" Ottawa responded, "Provide against the suffering and want among the dependent ones on your side of the line left behind by those enlisting in the Canadian Regiments, as these are outside of our jurisdiction." This work throughout the entire State of New York is now being done "What more can we do to help?" was again asked when Surgeon-General (Sterling Ryerson, found er of the Canadian Red Cross Society, addressed the Canadian Club of New York last February. He replied, "Motor ambulances are needed." As a result, seven ambulances marked "Gift of the Canadian Club of New York to the Canadian Red Cross Society" are now at the front.

We have just received the Canaian Club of New York 1915-16 Year Book and special mention of members Mr. F. N. Pond and others who still boast of being Wiarton Boys. Their friends here are glad thus to hear from these sons of Wiarton and their efforts at doing their bit through the Canadian Club of New York. We shall watch for further evidences of activities gratifying to their Wiarton friends.

Interesting Letter

Received from Mrs. Masters from Captain, the Rev. C. K. Masters now attached to the 58 th. Belguim Batt. 9th Brigade.

You will see that I have come safely through the day's work of yesterday and it was surely a glorious day. I had four battalion parades and a machine gun section. When you remember that a battalion is over 1000 men and a Brigade machine gun section about 250 you will understand what I had to tackle. I got up at six and had breakfast. I started at 7.30 (for the first appointment. Service was to start at 8.30 but when I got there I found my congregation waiting for me so I got started a little ahead of time. A large Cinema hall, but only about half could get inside, so the rest formed under the window nearest me. It was a Scottish battalion Ralph Connor's Own, from Winnipeg, having both brass band and pipes. (I told you that Ralph Connor, Rev. Mr. Gordon, is away on leave) The bandmaster had already chosen the hymns so all was ready. We started with "Through the light of Doubt and Sorrow" then "The King of Love" and closed with "Lead Kindly Light" I spoke to them on the Good Shepherd. You can imagine the scene, the place jammed full, the rows of men outside, and all joining earnestly and heartily in the service. It lasted about forty minutes then off they marched to the skirl of the pipes, and I went on to the next service with my own particular battalion the 58th. Another Cinema but congregation all ready, so we started at 9.30. Hymns were "Stand up for Jesus", and "O God Our Help" Here the singing was led by a piano as the battalion had only brought the bugle band. Again a great service. The next service was at 10 30 at the battalion camp parade grounds. This battalion is very strong and no building could hold them, so the Colonel formed them up on the parade grounds, put the drum out in front with a packing box for me to stand on, and the band beside me and so I conducted the service. This time we had "Onward Christian Soldiers" "Fight the Good Fight" and "O God Our Help' I had just time to hurry over to the next service scheduled to begin at 11.15. Another big battalion, so we held the service also in the open air This time I had them draw up in three sides of a square. I stood in the opening with the band behind me We were just starting when the Machine Gun Section came marching up and formed up behind the battalion. I think this was a little the best service of the lot. The hymns were "Holy, Holy, Holy" "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and

With His Own Battalion

"When I Survey" It was a bright and very hot day and I was in a steam heat the whole time. You can imagine how I felt when the last service was over I had had to shout my loudest for well over three hours, and I was pretty well wilted at the end of it. But it was a great day, and I experienced a great glow of satisfaction that all had had a chance to worship God on this day. Probably some of them will be in the trenches before another Sunday, and there are some who will never have another chance to take part in a service. Well I came back then to our Chaplain's hut, the abode of love had a wash and got ready for dinner. Had a rest in the afternoon then I went off to the battalion camp and had a chat with the officers, and stayed to dinner with them. The Colonel is very nice he has been a lay-reader for years to Archdeacon MacKenzie in Brantford. After the meal was over I came back and went to church, for the luxury of hearing someone else preach. The service was held in a Cinema Theatre and was taken by Rev. Mr Stratford of Montreal. He gave us a very able sermon "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus" He came over to the hut with me after service. McNamara arrived back from a day in the trenches. Father Tompkins came in from his day's round and we sat and chatted till about 10 o'clock. When I went to bed there was a heavy bombardment going on. The flares were making everything light as day, and the continual roar of the guns shook the building. It is quieter to-day.

I suppose before this reaches you, you will have read that General Mercer has been found. He and Gen. Williams were in the front line on an inspecting tour when the great German attack began. Both were wounded early in the attack, Gen. Mercer in the head and leg. He was able to walk and after getting his wounds bandaged he started back for head-quarters. The Germans over-ran our line so quickly that Gen Williams was captured, Gen Mercer overtaken by a party of the enemy, refused to surrender, and made a fight for it but was shot right through the head. He was stripped of all signs of his rank and buried right there. He never would have been found only that a German shell opened up the grave again A boot with a spur on it sticking out of the ground attracted attention and our General was found and we at least had the satisfaction of showing a brave leader, the honor that was his due.

I have given you quite a lengthy epistle this time.

A Timely Warning

The Peninsula has never had a calamity approaching that of New Ontario, but a few years ago we had bush fires, which swept the country from the Saubie to Tobermory destroying thousands of dollars worth of timber. The danger this year from bush fires is great. There was a most luxuriant growth of grass, which, on account of the hot weather, has all dried up, this with the refuse from lumbering would make the Peninsula another powder magazine should a match be applied. The residents cannot be too careful. These fires are generally the result of carelessness and this is a year when far more than ordinary precaution should be taken. Start no fires at all.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Chesley

For the first part of this week there was only one preacher in our town, just one to look after our souls; four doctors to attend to our bodies, no lawyer to get us into trouble or out of trouble, one editor to keep us informed on local happenings; two druggists to supply dope for our lesser ailments; several teachers to impart to us book knowledge, well, it looks as though that takes in all the professional class who live by using their brains but are not in the great list of wealth producers.

The Dominion Government is erecting a huge observation tower on a high hill on James Kemp's farm on the first concession of Carrick. The structure is to be 75 ft. high and can be seen for miles around. Enormous quantities of lumber are being used in its construction. The tower is being built for the purpose of taking observations to correct former maps and surveys. Mr. Kemp's hill is said to be the highest point of land in the southern part of Bruce.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mickle are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reed at their cottage at Oliphant.

Henry McKindless is a wellknown farmer of the 3rd con, Eld. And it is a dandy fine farm too. Well off lot 9 con. 3 this year there were taken ten large loads of hay from two acres. That gives the hay peunant to Henry. He did not give us the particulars of this yield; it was told us by the man who helped to haul in the hay and can be verified if necessary by affidavit. This has Robert Miller's crop beaten by one load. Next

Hanover

The sad news was passed around town on Monday that Mr. William Martin of Bentinck township was dying at the Toronto General Hospital. The Post last week reported his critical operation. Relatives here on receiving the sad tidings motored to the city and reached his bed side before he passed away early the next morning. Deceased was 61 years of age. The late Mr. Martin was a man of sterling integrity and was highly esteemed wherever he was known. He was born at the old homestead on lot 5, con. 2, S. D. R., Bentinck, where his mother still resides at the age of 85 years. Thirty eight years ago he married Miss Rebecca Tyreman who survives him with two children viz:—(Mrs John Porter) of Swinton Park and Wesley at home. One son Willie has gone before. After their marriage they moved to to their present property on lot 8, con. 2, Bentinck. Deceased had been ailing for the past six years and an operation was the only hope of saving his life. Unfortunately he succumbed in spite of the best medical skill.

He was 46 years of age and leaves a wife having been married about 4 years. Deceased grew up in Hanover and was well and favorably known by the older generation of Hanoverians. He left town for the United States about 25 years ago.

OWEN SOUND

The citizens of Owen Sound will be pleased to learn that the town water is now perfectly free from all germs of an infectious nature and that it is safe to use it without boiling. About two weeks ago Superintendent Pratt sent down three samples of water to the Provincial Laboratory for analysis and on Monday the bottles came back labelled 'O. K.' The samples were taken from the sources of supply with respect to which the local health authorities had entertained some doubts, and the report of the Provincial Laboratory makes it quite clear that the water from the springs as well as from the reservoirs is in first class condition. The report simply goes to confirm the opinion which many entertained all along that the quality of the water was never at any time of such a nature as to warrant the assumption that it was unsafe to drink it without boiling. However, the Acting Medical Officer of Health did right in warning the citizens against taking unnecessary risks.

C. E. Williams, of Lions Head, a young man of 21 summers, appeared in the Police Court Wednesday morning to prove his claim to the five gallon keg of whiskey which was shipped to Lions Head in his name and which Inspector Beckett seized at the Canadian express office here while in transit.

Williams swore that he ordered the liquor for his own personal use and that he instructed the shipper to forward the keg enclosed in a box or other outward receptacle so as to make carriage more secure. His reason for ordering five gallons was because he knew Provincial Prohibition would be coming into force on the 16th of September, and that he was desirous of having some liquor to drink when he went fishing or hunting, as was his custom at this season of the year. On being questioned by Inspector Beckett he said his father was the keeper of a temperance hotel at Lions Head and that he had been charged with selling liquor illegally.

The magistrate, taking into consideration the fact that the liquor was shipped to Lions Head apparently under disguise and in a round about way, ordered it to be confiscated and Williams thereupon left the court room in a somewhat sorrowful mood.

Tara

The barn of Mr. Albert Kearns 4 miles south of Desboro was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night of last week with practically all its contents including several tons of hay implements and stock. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr Kearns had just returned from Desboro and had put his horse and buggy away and gone to the house. A few moments later he looked back to find the barn in flames. He had used no matches or lights of any kind at the stable and is at a complete loss to understand how the fire started. There was $2000 insurance on the building and contents. Several outhouses, including a fine implement shed were also burned.

Miss Kathleen McCallum B. A. of Shakespeare, has been engaged as second teacher of the Continuation School at a salary of $800.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt Colwell and family of Detroit motored to Tara on Tuesday and will spend a few days here and in Owen Sound with relatives.

Walkerton

Rev. Thos. Wilson left on Tuesday for Philadelphia where he will supply the pulpit, in a city church during August. The invitation came to Mr Wilson, some time ago through an American gentleman who heard him preach at Hamilton one time. Mr Wilson hopes that the change of surroundings will prove quite as restful as a quiet holiday. Mrs Wilson will join him about the 18th inst. The work here will be taken during the pastor's vacation by Rev. D. Robertson of the London Presbytery.

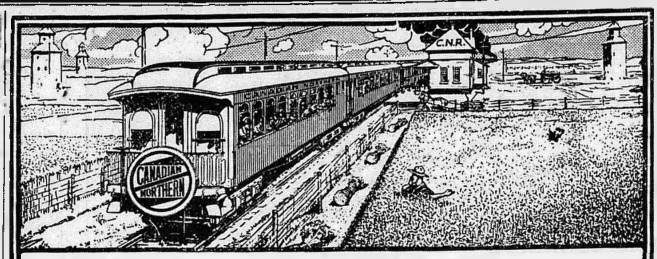
A presentation of a wrist-watch and a purse of $25.00 was made to Private Francis Waechter of the 160th (Bruce) Battalion, formerly of Wingefolder & Kruger's staff here, at the home of his parents, Mr and Mrs John G. Waechter, near Formosa, on Thursday evening last by a number of relatives and friends.

With flour considerably lower than it was a year ago, the people of Walkerton were hardly prepared for any such sensation as the bakers of the town sprung here Monday when they suddenly boosted the price of bread from 6c to 7c per loaf. As the cost of flour is supposed to regulate the price of bread, the bakers can't very logically show why the same sized loaf should cost more in Walkerton to-day than it did a year ago, as the price of flour is much lower now than then, and the excuse for the raise consequently of a much less warranted variety. The move seems a rather abitrary one on the part of the bakers, but as they control the situation the people will no doubt have to take it in the wishbone if they want to stay with the bread-wagon.

Mr Solomon Hardy of Culross, who passed away at Bruce County Hospital on Friday, showed remarkable physical stamina for a man of his years. Mr Hardy, who is in his 73rd year, had a leg amputated a year or so ago on account of the deceased condition of the limb. Recently it became necessary to amputate his other leg also. Mr Hardy partially recovered from the effects of the operation and was able to return to his home. He took a turn for the worse last week and was brought back to the Hospital Friday morning. On Friday night he passed away. Mr Hardy was a well-known and well-to-do farmer of the Teeswater neighborhood.

It is reported that Major Moffat with a party of recruiting officers will visit Walkerton and start a campaign for another 150 men to take the places of those who have been drafted to the artillery and the Army Medical Corps. If the required 150 are secured it is said the Bruce Battalion will be allowed to go to the front as a separate unit.

Walkerton's annual Fall Fair was nearly put out of business for this year by the dismal discovery made by the directors that the soldiers who were quartered in the exhibition grounds had done away with the tables in the palace, and had burned up the hog-pens for fuel, besides laying a destructive hand on many of the cattle and horse stalls. It was a sight for sore eyes and judging by the amount of lumber consumed the soldiers certainly kept "The Home Fires Burning" during their sojourn on the grounds.



Lieut. Loggie Foster, Lieut McKay and Lieut. Little of the 160th (Bruce) Battalion were all promoted at London on Friday to the rank of Captains. Adjutant Roy Whitehead of Walkerton has passed as a Captain at the military school and will be accorded the rank.

Back Was Lame and Ached; Could Do Very Little Work

Suffered Much From Kidney Disease for Years, but Cure Came With the Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Doctors had tried to cure this man but failed to get at the cause of trouble, probably because they relied on medicines which act on the kidneys only. The strong feature about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is their combined action on liver, kidneys and bowels. In many of these cases the disease is so complicated that ordinary kidney medicines fail to be of much benefit. Under such conditions Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills usually touch the spot and effect a cure.

Had they been only moderately successful Dr. Chase would never have selected them for world-wide distribution. As it was, the demand for these pills resulted naturally from their superior merit, and there was nothing else to do but supply them in large quantities.

Mr. Simeon Shieloff, Birchbrook Orchards, Birchbank, B.C., writes: "For several years I suffered greatly from kidney disease. I was weak and could do very little work. My back was lame and ached and I suffered much from headaches. Tried doctors and obtained no relief. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended by a friend, and after taking four boxes I think I can say that I am cured, for I feel as well as I ever did."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. Harry Anderson, J. P., who writes: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mr. Simeon Shieloff and believe his statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."

Southampton

Another of our old esteemed residents passed away on Monday in the person of Mr. James Brown. He was in his 69th year, and had active and about until a few weeks ago. Interment took place in Southampton cemetery on Wednesday, July 26th, the funeral services being conducted at the family residence under the auspices of the Sons of Scotland, of which the deceased had been long a member. Mr. Brown was born near Ottawa at that time as By-Town and in 1865 came with his father's family and settled on the B. Line Amabel the north gravel road at that time being an Indian trail, and Southampton known as Saugeen. They came by train to Prescott, then by boat to Sarnia and the tug "Bonnie Maggie" brought them on to Southampton.

Our town people learned with deep regret the first of this week that two of our fine young men who recently went to the front were killed in action on July 17th and the deepest sympathy is felt for those bereaved. They were Francis E. Tuckfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tuckfield, and Oscar D. Vernon, whose parents reside in England. Also in the same report is recorded the name of another victim of the great war, Ralph C. Geddes of Port Elgin who was well-known and popular here.

Mrs. J. C Mohn and Miss Gertrude Thompson of Toronto are visiting for a couple of weeks with their brother Mr. J. A. Thompson.

Adrift in Lake Huron 23 Hours in Launch

Timely Rescue by Officers and Crew of Str. Manitoba—Party of 7 Were 36 Hrs. Without Food—Engine Gave Out.

Owen Sound Advertisea.

The C. P. R. S S. Manitoba on her downward trip on Lake Huron on Monday of this week, performed a gallant deed in picking up a drifting launch, with seven men aboard, men who had not partaken of food for over 36 hours, and had been drifting all over the lake.

Messers Bellene and Mosher and five others of Johnwood, a lumber town on Drnmmond Island, set out on Sunday morning on board their launcd the "Idler" to carry a telegram to Detour, Mich., for the Johnwood Lumber Compauy Here they stayed during the afternoon to watch a baseball match. At 7.30 in the evening they felt Detour and after about one half an hour's run, just as they could see a faint line of Detour Point astern their engine gave out. At this position they could have anchored but thought this unnecessary as they were sureof being able to start their engine again. However the engine kicked against going and in a short time the boat was at a depth of water where it was impossible to secure anchorage. They drifted all night and saw a dim outline of Drummond Island Monday was in part another drift The men tried to hoist a sail amidship but had no substantial supports to keep the sail up, so had to put it down again.

About noon on Monday several steamers were sighted from the "Idler" and distress signals were given but were apparently not seen as no help came their way. Again they put up sail, in the bow this time, and were able to keep from drifting farther out of their course About this time they lost a buoy and their oar and one of their men swam out and secured them again. About 5.30 in the evening they sighted another steamer and after showing signals of distress they perceived these to be noted. It proved to be the Manitoba, and when close to each other the "Idler" threw a tow-line, which did not stand the strain of the weight. A tow-line thrown by the Manitoba also parted. After about one and a half hours' work they were secured by a strong new line of the Manitoba. While being towed the steering gear on the Idler broke, but the men got it fixed before too many dips were taken. It was the intention of the Manitoba to leave the men at the lee of the largest of the Duck Islands. However at this time it grew very dusky and dirty, a high sea was running and they were unable to approach. Four of the crew of the Idler later went on board the Manitoba and received food for the first time in 36 hours. The others were also enjoyed at securing food.

They had been drifting without power and without a place to anchor for nearly 23 hours. When the Manitoba sighted Flower Pot Island, the "Idler" and two of her men were assisted to land with thankful hearts the other five coming on to Owen Sound. Here they wired home and secured financial aid to take them back again. In conversation with the Advertiser, early yesterday morning, the men were very sincere in their declarations of good wishes to the officers of the C P. R. S. S. Manitoba, who, they claimed, had used them in a first class manner and had taken every precaution for their good welfare from the time they were first sighted, adrift on the lake. They left for home again by the Manitoba last night.

Don't Borrow Your Neighbor's Paper

AWFUL RESULTS MAY FOLLOW IF YOU DO

Bugle Editor Prints a Tale That Should Make Some Persons Pause and Consider.

(From the Brownsville Bugle)

There are still quite a few important persons in Brownville and vicinity who are not reading the Bugle, or who if they are reading it, are doing so at the expense of some one else. If such be the case, let them take warning from the following distressful tale which we have clipped from the editorial laments of a brother editor. There's a moral to the tale which the reader will discover in due time. Read on:

We once knew a man who was too stingy to take the newspaper in his home to read and always sent over to borrow his neighbor's paper.

One evening he sent his son over to borrow the paper and while the son was on the way he ran into a large stand of hemp and in a few minutes his face looked like a summer squash.

Hearing the agonized cries of the son the father ran to his assistance and in doing so ran into a barbed wire fence, cutting out a handful of flesh from his abdominal and raising a $1 pair of trousers.

The old cow took advantage of the hole in the fence got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the stingy man's wife ran out of the house, upsetting a four-gallon churn full of cream into a basket of kittens drowning the whole flock. She slipped on the cream and fell downstairs breaking her leg and a $19 set of false teeth. The baby left alone crawled through the spilled cream into the parlor and ruined a $10 carpet. During the excitement the daughter eloped with the hired man, taking the family savings with them.

The moral is that every man should be a subscriber to his home newspaper.

A Day In The Scout's Camp

The writer had the pleasure of spending a very interesting day with the Boy Scouts in Camp at Four Mile Point. We did not arrive in time for the reveille blown by the bugles at 5.30. Camp was in order when we got there, but the order of procedure is Reveille 5.30 a. m., there are no lazy bones every eye pops open "turn out" is then sounded on the scout-masters whistle, orders of the day are read, guard mounted, the flag is raised and saluted. Everyone has a dip in the Bay then breakfast is disposed of, camp is tidied up. It was at this point we arrived and found everything in good order, blankets all nicely folded and kits put away. Each patrol, there are three, has a tent, and each boy takes pride in having his belongings just so.

How They Live

We inspected the commissary which was well supplied, each one has his own plate, cup, knife and fork placed on a long table, the Quartermaster gives out the supplies and orders the menu of the day. The boys said the reason he was getting so fat was because had the key of the refrigerator Two cooks and an assistant are appointed each day. The camp fire is in the open and as we passed we noticed a boy diligently stirring something in a black pot. It turned out later to be coffee which was sampled and pronounced excellent. Dinner call is blown on the bugle and every boy hurries to line up and answer to roll call, then the scoutmasters whistle sounds, the line turns facing the dining tent and soon everything in sight on the tables is rapidly disappearing. After no one has any complaints to make each man washes his own dishes in the bay, fire is doused and guard for the afternoon mounted. This being

Sunday at Camp

Sunday no drill is being done but we are told that on other days scouting and map drawing of the camp and surrounding country and physical drill is gone through. In the afternoon a huge watermelon made its appearance and in almost the twinkling of an eye disappeared only the rind being left to show that we really had seen one. Towards evening the boys went in swimming, some of them are water rats, others are just learning, they have a punt and a couple of rafts from which they dive and do all sorts of antics. After about twenty minutes or so the whistle sounds and the word to "come out" is quickly obeyed, At eight o'clock line is formed the flag is saluted and hauled down, camp is put in readiness for the night, stories, songs and fun go round. At 9 bugle sounds at 9.30 "lights out" when quietness prevails. Everything is conducted in an orderly way and no scout thinks of disobeying any of the Scoutmasters rulings. What

The Scout Master

"August" says is enough. Mr Miller has an immense amount of tact in dealing with "his boys." When any question of order or discipline comes up every boy is allowed his say and pass his own judgment, the best boy in the camp will be given an hours "extra fatigue" for any misdemeanor just as well as the bad only there are no bad boys. The boys are planning a Review Day on Friday afternoon, when all friends are invited. They need more equipment for their camp so make make a point to be there and put your hand well down in your pocket but don't keep it there. This is an organization which ought to recommend itself to the parents of every boy from 12 to 14 years. How much better it is to have our boys engaged in Scout Work than loafing around street corners learning to smoke cigarettes and worse. Perhaps it is not generally known that Mr A. Miller the Scoutmaster is one of the eight commissioned Scoutmasters in Canada. As dusk began to fall the visitors left camp with many regrets that we could not be a scout ourselves and stay with the boys. However we were escorted to the outposts and sent home with waving of hands and invitations to come again.—Con.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building, blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is good, at any age and prepares it keep your blood rich, the lungs healthy and avoid sickness. At any drug store.

THE BLESSING OF A HEALTHY BODY

Has Not Had An Hour's Sickness Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. MARRIOTT

78 Lees Ave., Ottawa, Ont., August 9th, 1915.

"I think it my duty to tell you what "Fruit-a-tives" has done for me. Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of "Fruit-a-tives", I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 3½ years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using "Fruit-a-tives", and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain".

hope centers about another term. Surely you understand. I am a man sorely tempted and dare not yield to temptation."

She drew her hand away from my clasp, yet the very movement seemed to express regret.

"And we are to be friends no longer? Is that your meaning?"

"You must answer that question." I replied gravely, "for it is beyond my power to decide."

Her head was again uplifted, and I knew she was endeavoring to see my face through the gloom.

"I am a woman," she said, "and we like to pretend to misunderstand, but I am not going to yield to that inclination. I do understand and will answer frankly. We can never be friends as we were before."

My heart sank, and I felt a choke in my voice difficult to overcome.

"I was afraid it would be so."

"Yes," and both her hands were upon mine, "in our position we cannot afford to play at cross purposes. You have been loyal to me even when every inducement was offered elsewhere. I permitted myself to come south with you, knowing your purpose to be an illegal one. I placed myself in a false position. In doing this I was actuated by two purposes. One was to save this property which had been willed to my husband by his father. Do you guess the other?"

"No," I said, impressed by the earnestness with which she was speaking. "You will tell me?"

"I mean to; the time has come when I should. It was that I might save you from a crime. You had been kind to me, sympathetic. I—I liked you very much, and I knew you did not understand; that you were being misled. I could not determine then where the fraud was, but I knew there was fraud and that you would eventually become its victim."

"You cared that much for me?"

"Yes," she confessed frankly, "I did. I would never have told you so under ordinary conditions. But I can now, here, where we are—alone together in this boat." She paused, as though endeavoring to choose the proper words. "We both realize the changed relations between us."

I drew a quick, startled breath.

"That—that I love you!" the exclamation left my lips before I was aware.

"Yes," she said calmly, "I could not help that. At first I never deemed such a result of our friendship possible. I was Philip Healey's wife, and I gave this possible danger scarcely a thought. Indeed, it did not seem a danger. While it is true he was husband in name only, yet I was wife forever. That is my religion. Now the conditions are all changed, instantly changed, by his death—"

"You believe, then, he is dead?"

"I am sure of it as though I had seen his body. I feel it to be true. Do you understand how my position, of the fact we can no longer remain friends?"

"Yes," I burst forth, "because you deny, here I have grown to feel beyond you, I—I love you—"

"Have I said so?"

I could hear his voice up above shouting orders. There was a rush of feet, and a rope's end fell within reach. The head bobbed over the rail again, and a moment later I had helped her up a swaying boarding ladder and felt the solid deck under my feet. The intense darkness puzzled me, not a gleam of light showing anywhere. Suddenly a hand touched my arm.

"This way, sir. Help the lady aft. The deck is clear."

"What kind of a boat is this?" she whispered.

"I'm sure I don't know. Not big enough for a passenger liner."

We were at the head of the companion stairs and descended carefully, clinging to the rail. The officer, groping in the darkness, opened a door at the bottom and hurried us into the lighted cabin. Facing us, one hand resting on the table, stood a short, sturdy man in uniform. He began questioning.

"Who are you? How did you come to be adrift in these waters? Answer up, sir. You're no fisherman."

"We escaped from a vessel last evening, sir."

"What do you mean by escaped—run away?"

"Yes, sir." And I stepped aside so he could see her more clearly. "We were being held as prisoners."

His eyes dashed to her face, rested an instant, and then his cap was in his hand.

"This is the revenue cutter Saline, which I have the honor to command. Mr. Smith, assist the lady to a chair and have the steward bring a glass of wine. Now, sir, are you ready to answer?"

"I am. We were prisoners on board the Sea Gull. It is a long story, involving a will, in which the master of that vessel was interested. We escaped in a small boat last evening and have been floating about since."

"The Sea Gull? Do you remember the name, Mr. Smith?"

"No, sir. Perhaps a description"—

"A schooner rigged steam yacht," I explained briefly, "clearing from New Orleans for Santiago. She is en route to Spanish Honduras, with munitions of war."

"Exactly, under command of a man named Henley. Smith, this sounds too good to be true."

He walked across the cabin twice, thinking, not even glancing up as he passed us. Suddenly he stopped, facing me.

"Where did he get you two?"

"In a bayou off the Alabama coast."

"And you got away last evening—how?"

He walked back and forth as I received the events swiftly. I hardly think he asked so much as a single

"No, not in words. That was not necessary, but I understand."

"Do you, indeed?"

I stared toward her, puzzled, bewildered, yet conscious that the hot blood was surging through my veins.

"You cannot mean the other?" I questioned. "That—that you love me?"

"And why not? Am I so different from other women?"

I held the tiller still with one hand, but the other arm was free, and I reached out and drew her toward me. There was no resistance, no effort to break away. I could see her face uplifted, the wide open eyes.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Revenue Cutter.

IT could not have been long, not to exceed a moment or two, when a sudden leaping of the boat brought us back to a realization of our position. As soon as I had regained control of the craft I reached out again and touched her hand.

"This is all so strange, so unexpected, I can scarcely comprehend what has occurred."

"Strange, yes, in the way it has happened," she coincided. "But we cannot afford to dwell upon that now. We are in peril. Do you really know where we are—for what you are steering?"

"It is largely a guess. There is nothing to give me guidance except as I unscrew the face of this compass and feel the needle."

"Then we may still be within view from the deck of the Sea Gull at daybreak?"

"Yes. That will depend entirely upon luck."

"Why, look there!" she exclaimed quickly. "See—to the right! Merciful heavens! It is a ship!"

It was hard to determine the nature of the vessel, the sides looming close above us, but it was not the Sea Gull. I was certain of that from the height of the rail and the outline of a square foresail showing dimly against the sky. I called out:

"Ahoy there! Take us aboard!"

I shouted twice before a head popped over the rail and stared down in apparent amazement.

"Hullo, the boat! Who are you? What do you want?"

"Small boat adrift; two passengers. Throw us a rope!"

"All right! Stand by!"

question, his eyes upon my face and then upon the face of the girl.

"A rather strange tale," he commented when I had concluded. "And perhaps the whole is not told. However, that is none of my affair. Now, I think I can forestall your request. We were ordered out of Pensacola two days ago to intercept this boat the which you two were prisoners. We haven't even sighted the vessel, and if we did would be perfectly helpless as she is of much more force than we are. Only some streak of wonderfully good luck would ever enable us to capture her. I half believe you are the good luck, if you do what I suggest."

"What?" I asked. "I will be willing. Would you need Mrs. Henley also?"

"Yes," and he turned to the officer. "It is not a very complicated plan, but we will try it. I don't think Henley will leave these waters without an effort to recover his boat and prisoners. He will want those papers and revenge on Craig here. He has no warning that we are after him. I believe the fellow will cruise about in the same neighborhood until daylight. All we have to do is lay a trap—the boat's the trap."

"You mean conceal a squad of men in the bottom and send it adrift again?"

"Exactly; lower the mast, as though Craig here had been unable to step it, or, better still, heave it overboard. The loss of weight will give room for another man. Then cover the lads over with the canvas. They will never suspect the ruse on the Sea Gull or study it out through glasses. They'll simply recognize their boat and steer for it."

"The fighting odds will be pretty heavy, sir," said Smith soberly.

"We must trust to surprise and get the crew below fastened down before an alarm is sounded on board. A dozen armed men ought to clear the decks. How do you look at the affair, Craig? Will the plan work?"

"I am not sure I understand exactly what is proposed, sir."

"My thought is that this man Henley will be sufficiently anxious to get hold of you two again and regain those papers, so that he will steam about slowly all night, hoping to get sight of the missing boat at daylight. He has no means of knowing that the revenue officers are after him. If he sights us at daybreak he'll make a run and show us a clean pair of heels. He'd be hull down in five hours, for this is a slow old tub. Now, what I propose is this," and the captain counted off the points on his fingers. "There is about an hour of darkness left—sufficient to enable me to run this cutter in behind Cosmos Island safely out of sight. In the meanwhile we'll dismantle that small boat a bit, slip a dozen good men under the canvas and turn her adrift."

"And you wish me to go also?"

"Yes; if you will."

"And Mrs. Henley?"

"That would be the only way to allay suspicion on the Sea Gull."

I hesitated, half turning so as to look at her.

"You wish to say yes?" she asked quietly. "You believe the plan will succeed?"

"It sounds feasible."

She glanced toward the waiting captain and then back into my face.

"Then I will go, of course," she said smilingly. "Let us not discuss it any more."

The captain stepped forward, bowing, bare headed.

"Most bravely spoken," he said soberly. "I owe you a debt, madam. Mr. Smith, have the boat prepared at once to carry out my idea."

"To leave the impression that an incompetent seaman had been in charge of it through the night, sir?"

"Exactly. The mast overboard and the canvas stowed badly."

"Yes, sir; a big sheet."

"Bunch it so as to leave all the space possible; leave the jib set; it will help conceal the men. Send Lieutenant Hutton here."

"He will have command of the party?"

"Yes; let him pick his own men and then report to me; arm them with a revolver apiece. Be lively about it."

* * * * * * * *

The dawn broke gray and desolate. I sat at the tiller, grasping one of her hands in mine and staring anxiously about the broadening circle. The boat in which we rode, while buoyant enough, still bore the outward appearance of a wreck, the broken stump of a mast barely showing sufficiently high to support the flapping jib, and the new canvas of the mainsail completely concealing everything forward. The men were lying low, so completely hidden as to be invisible even to us, but the lieutenant sat upright, with head above the mass of sail, and was scanning the sea with glasses.

"Hadn't seen you before," he said to me. "Dark when we came over the side, you know. Bad morning."

"The fog is lifting. What is that black mass out there?"

"Cosmos Island." And he turned his lenses the other way. "The next ten minutes will give us a clear view."

I looked at her, noting how tired her eyes appeared in the gray light, although they smiled courageously.

"You are so tired"—

"No more than you, I am sure. Why, I have done nothing except to stay awake. You have had all the work and worry. It will not be long now."

"No; we shall know in a few minutes if the Sea Gull is standing by hunting us. If she shows up, you must do exactly as I say. You promise that?"

"Of course," and the clasp of her hand tightened. "You have no reason to doubt me."

The lieutenant's eyes were on the widening sea line and I bent down and

We followed the two on deck, and after one glance about I led her around the bulge of the cabin to the narrow deck space astern. The boat in which we had escaped had been hoisted into its davits, and we halted in its shadow. I could perceive the whiteness of the hatched deck and the group of officers on the bridge. The captain, facing us, lowered his glass.

"What have you to report, Mr. Hutton?"

"The vessel is in our possession, sir, and the crew under guard below."

"Any injuries?"

"None serious, sir."

"And the captain—Henley—did you get him?"

"He's with the others."

"Better put the fellow in irons, Hutton. There are some serious charges against him, you know."

"What is to be our course, sir?"

"Pensacola. Don't wait for us."

"Aye, aye, sir. Shall I hold Craig and the lady?"

"Not on this case. We have all the evidence needed. If you take their addresses that will be all that is necessary. Pleasant voyage!"

He waved his hand and then, perceiving us as he turned away from the rail, lifted his cap in salute.

"It is all over now, dear," I whispered.

"Yes, but—but I do not feel as though I could ever touch that money."

"You will have no choice. The courts will decide that."

"I know what I would like to do with some of it."

"What?"

"Buy this—this boat."

"In memory?"

"Of course. You loved me then."

"And now and always. Do you know what is the first thing I shall do when we make Pensacola?"

"No."

I clasped the straying hand and drew her to me, looking down into her eyes.

"Telegraph my father I am coming home."

"Is that all?"

"And that I shall bring a wife with me. Right here I end my career as a soldier of fortune."

Under the protecting shadow of the boat our lips met.

Your Weekly Newspaper

Perhaps you haven't been thinking much about it—just taking for granted that $1.00 a year is a right price for The Echo year after year, let other things cost what they may. But you are a reasonable being, and so can see that the price of a weekly newspaper should no more remain "fixed" year after year than the price of such common things as

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| beefsteak | wheat | motor cars |
| sugar | eggs | lumber |
| coal | potatoes | horses |
| boots | clover seed | land |

Can you think of any other commodity except newspaper and their like whose price has remained unchanged and unchanging year after year? Why, then, should your newspaper's price remain forever the same—the same, for example, as when you could buy a cord of wood for $1.50

a bushel of wheat for 50cents a common fowl for 25 cents a dozen eggs for 10 cents a poubd of butter for 12 cents
a cow for $25

The war has brought to a crisis a condition of things which has vexed publishers for years; the selling-price of their newspaper.—It has sent price of paper, ink, type and supplies skyward. It is costing us many more dollars a week now to produce The Echo than before the out break of war. Where do we get off at?—in the slang language of to day. The answer is: we must get more for The Echo. And so on and after Sept. 15th the subscription price of The Echo will be $1.50.

You are reasonable, and so we count on you to meet the necessities of the situation cheerfully. Three cents a week for your local newspaper—it is worth the price, is it not?

Less than the price of a "smoke"

Only five people attended a meeting called by the Mayor for Monday evening in response to a request from the Bruce Preparedness League. Women as well as men were invited to attend, because the proposition is to organize the women of Bruce to encourage recruiting and to dissuade other women from discouraging enlistment. The meeting was asked to appoint a delegate to attend a meeting in London Thursday, to effect an organization for military district No. 1. Mr. J. J. Hunter was selected and he was instructed to ascertain that similar acti vities prevailed in places that had not already done so well as Bruce before consenting to any particular commitment.

Report Exaggerated.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—Taken as a whole, the reports wired in by crop representatives of the Manitoba Government go far to relieve anxiety about rust and heat damage. Centre and Northern Manitoba have escaped damage entirely, and should harvest not less than a good average crop. Even in several of the southern districts known to be affected by black rust it is claimed that there will be a return of 12 to 15 bushels and more.

J. D. Baskerville, right on the international boundary, says that where he looked for a 30-bushel crop he now cuts down to half that, and does not expect his district to average as much, this being one of the worst sections in the Red River valley, right across from North Dakota. It is doubtful whether the crop in this rich valley between Morris and the boundary will average over ten bushels.

"An aviatik was brought down and wrecked in a combat with a British machine on Wednesday near Salmania."

Sakharoff's Troops Nearer Lemberg.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 7.—General Sakharoff's troops continue to advance south of Brody and toward Lemberg. Petrograd reports the capture of 1,200 Austro-Germans in a "hot attack" on the line of the Sereth and Graberki Rivers. All attempts of the Teutons to assume a counter-offensive in this region have proven futile.

RUSSIANS MEET CHECK

Slight Halt Occurs in Drive in Volhynia.

Gen. von Linsingen Delivers a Big Counter Blow Within Twelve Hours of News That von Hindenburg is Given Command of Eastern Battle Line—Teutons Starting to Fight for Lives.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—For the first time since the initiation of General Brusiloff's offensive on June 3 the Russians have suffered a slight check. Friday night's Petrograd War Office statement admits that the Muscovite forces attacking the great Volhynian railway centre, Kovel, from the west were driven from the village of Rudka-Nirvankaia, nineteen miles from Kovel, and compelled to retire between 400 and 600 yards to the east.

This first successful counter-blow by Gen. von Linsingen came within less than twelve hours after an official bulletin from Berlin had given the news that Field Marshal von Hindenburg had been placed in supreme command of the entire battle line in the east. The Teuton success is believed to usher in a huge counter-offensive with a view to saving the four cities now seriously menaced by the Russians: Kovel and Vladimir-Volhynski in Volhynia, Lemberg, capital of Galicia, and Stanislau, in the south-eastern part of the Crown land.

Rudka-Nirvankaia is a small town situated on the Stavok River, a tributary of the Stokhod. The battle which resulted in the Russian withdrawal raged throughout the night. It was at this point, between the Kovel-Sarny and Kovel-Rovno railways, that the Russians stood nearest to Kovel after crossing the Stokhod. The Teutons attacked the town from three sides, "delivering continuous counter-attacks," in the words of the Petrograd statement.

A violent battle is raging south of Brody, on the Rivers Sereth and Graberki, where the Russians are trying to break through toward Lemberg. Petrograd asserts officially that General Sakharoff, who is in command of the Russian army operating on this front, took 1,300 prisoners. "Gen. Sakharoff is engaged in hot fighting," the Russian announcement says.

Friday's Austrian official statement gives no deails of the latest fighting, merely saying that the Russians were repulsed near Zaloseo.

A Vienna despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says:

"The announcement that the German field marshal von Hindenburg had been appointed commander of the Eastern front brought no joy in Austria-Hungary. Three Budapest papers were suppressed, owing to adverse criticisms of the appointment.

"It is stated here that the new Commander-in-Chief has already ordered the recall of a number of Austrian generals, who will be replaced by Germans. It is added that Austria, in acceding to the appointment, made the stipulation that von Hindenburg should appoint a number of Austrian officers to his staff, but it is learned that only one such appointment will be made."

Quick Pneumonia Cure.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 7.—Treatment of pneumonia cases that should end the sickness within from four to six days was described Thursday before the annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association by Dr. C. V. Fulham of Frankfort, Ind. He told of the observation of a large number of such cases in which osteopathy was used, in practically all of which cures were effected in five days. "Pneumonia treatment is mismanaged if it continues longer than six days," Dr. Fulham said.

Auxiliary Held Up.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 7.—The Dutch steamship Gallia arrived at St. John's Friday, four days out of New York, with a cargo of gasoline. She was held up by the belief that she is the mother ship with a supply of gasoline for the German submarine Deutschland, now on her way across the Atlantic from Baltimore. Her only necessity for calling at St. John's was an alleged shortage of water.

Bulgars and Roumanians Clash.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—An attempt by Bulgarian soldiers to seize an island in the Roumanian waters of the Danube River close to the town of Guirgevo has caused a sensation there, according to reports received by Bucharest newspapers. Roumanian frontier guards discovered the Bulgarians and raised an alarm. After a lively exchange of fire the Bulgarians fled.

Belgian Bank Director Deported

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Director of the Belgian National Bank at Antwerp has been deported by the German authorities, said a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from The Hague Friday, "because of his refusal to pay them 400,000,000 francs in exchange for a mere paper receipt."

KING RENEWS PLEDGE.

Message to Allied Rulers Marks Anniversary of War.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—King George sent the following message to the sovereigns and heads of the allied States, dated Aug. 3, midnight:

"On this day, the second anniversary of the commencement of the great conflict in which my country and her gallant allies are engaged, I desire to convey to you my steadfast resolution to prosecute the war until our united efforts have attained the objects for which we in common have taken up arms.

"I feel assured that you are in accord with me in the determination that the sacrifices which our valiant troops have so nobly made shall not have been offered in vain, and that the liberties for which they are fighting shall be fully guaranteed and secured.

"GEORGE R. I."

Simultaneously the King sent a message to the King of the Belgians as follows:

"On this, the second anniversary of the day my country took up arms to resist the violation of the neutrality of Belgium, I desire to assure your Majesty of my confidence that the united efforts of the Allies will liberate Belgium from the oppression of her aggressors and restore her to the full enjoyment of national and economic independence.

"I also desire to convey to your Majesty my deep sympathy in the grievous trials to which Belgium has been so unjustly subjected, and which she has borne with such admirable fortitude.

"GEORGE R. I."

The King also sent a message to General Smuts expressing his appreciation of the skill and courage with which the operations in East Africa had been conducted.

GOVERNOR OF MANITOBA.

Sir James Aikins Secures Coveted Post in Western Province.

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Lieut.-Col. Sir James Albert Manning Aikins has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. He succeeds Sir Douglas Colin Cameron, whose term of office expired some time ago.

Sir James Aikins was born in Peel County in 1851, educated at Toronto University, and was admitted to the bar. From 1879 until 1896 he was counsel for the Justice Department; in 1880 he was one of the Royal Commissioners to investigate and report upon the administration of justice in the North-West Territories, and in 1900 was appointed counsel for the Manitoba Government. He has been solicitor for the Canadian Pacific Railway in Winnipeg, and for many large corporations and banks, loan companies, etc., in Western Canada, and is also a director of many of them. He was elected for the Federal constituency of Brandon in 1911, but withdrew from Dominion politics last year, when the Manitoba Provincial elections were held. In becoming Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba Sir James holds a position which was once filled by his father, Hon. James Cox Aikins, in 1882.

TAX ON ALIEN BONDS.

Canada Will Penalize Investments in Foreign Securities.

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—In view of the large purchases made in Canada of Anglo-French and other Government bonds issued in the United States and the serious effect which the continuation of such purchases will have upon the exchange situation between Canada and the United States, it is now regarded here as certain that at the next session legislation will be introduced imposing special income taxation upon all non-Canadian securities held by Canadians.

The effect of such legislation, which will be along lines somewhat similar to that in force in England, and enacted for the same purpose, will cause the liquidation of the securities specially taxed. This liquidation will tend to benefit the exchange situation and preserve the Canadian market for purely Canadian issues. There is abundance of money in the United States to take up all these securities, the proceeds of which have been expended in the United States.

Italy Terminates Treaty.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 7.—A despatch to The Handelsblad from Berlin says Italy has given notice to Germany of the termination of the German-Italian commercial treaty of 1891, which would have expired at the end of 1917.

A despatch from Paris quoted The Petit Parisien as saying it understood that Italy had denounced the commercial treaty with Germany, thereby leaving the way clear for a declaration of hostilities between Italy and Germany. The newspaper said also that the existence of the treaty was the only reason which had prevented Germany from declaring war on Italy.

Brussels Refuses to Pay Fine.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The city of Brussels has refused to pay the fine of 5,000,000 marks imposed by the Germans in consequence of the demonstration which took place in the Belgian capital on July 21, the national fete day, says a despatch from The Hague to the Exchange Telegraph Company. A serious crisis is expected.

Acting Burgomaster Lemonnier, the despatch adds, has sent a letter to Gen. von Bissing, the German Governor of Belgium, flatly declining to pay the fine. He says it was imposed on the public because of its patriotic sentiment, and therefore is illegal and inadmissible.

On Friday evening the back kitchen of the residence of Mr E. G. Cross was badly injured by fire. Capt. Tyson was passing and heard an explosion and going to the rear of the building saw that it was on fire, and then he soon gave the alarm The brigade was quickly on the spot as it was before 7 o'clock, and the water pressure being excellent the fire was soon put out. How it originated is a mystery, but evidently it started from the attic, possibly from the electric wiring. There had not been any fire in the stove, and a coal oil stove only had been used at 6 o'clock and it was not near where the fire started. Mr Cross was on his way to Lions Head and was informed at Adamsville of the fire and immediately returned home.

There was a police court case last week which caused considerable comment. A threasher reshipped from this point to the manufacturers reached the destination minus pump and belts. The company complained to the Grand Trunk and that institution put its detectives at work. The result was certain people appeared before the Police Magistrate. The taking of the pump appeared to be deliberate theft, the taking of the belt was evidently an error in judgment. However the magistrate imposed a fine all round, and as this was deemed excessive he handed the evidence to the Crown Attorney for his decision.

OLIPHANT

The annual Regatta was held on Aug. 11th and though the day was perfect a small crowd gathered at the dock. The notice given was brief which largely accounted for the small attendance. However those present heartly enjoyed the different contests and viewed humorously the usual duckings and collisions The famale war-canoe race was quite thrilling as was also the little girls tub race. Altogether the Regatta was worth a much greater attendance and very much credit is due the committee who arranged and carried out the program.

Review Day Scout's Camp

When Review Day was planned we did not know Friday would be Civic holiday, but luck was with us. Shortly after dinner the visitors began to arrive and, of course, first thing they wanted to inspect the camp and see for themselves that things were just as had been reported in last week's ECHO, that the writer had not been drawing on the imagination. Then the newly acquired fast going steam yacht was looked over. this was not mentioned last week because at that time it was only an ordinary punt. The first item of interest was "Changing the Guard" officered by the littlest scout, and woe betide the unwary who tried to cross the line. From that time on the afternoon was full of interest. The Scouts lined up and matched over to the grounds in front of Mr. Flarity's house, which he had very kindly given permission to use for their exercises, the crowd asking each other "What are they going to do now?' trailed after and climbed up on the fence to miss as little as possible. If you want to know about the exercises, ask the boys or the Scoutmaster One thing which called for considerable attention was a sort of double leap frog, when one boy was right side up the other was not.

Then came skirmishing in open or extended formation, through a pasture field, behind rocks and stumps, and lying flat in the long grass, it was difficult to see them. There was one visitor, a private in the 160th, and he likely knew as much as any other member of the battalion but he had to put his best foot forward to keep up with the boys in the exercises. When it came to skirmishing he said, "We have never had that." The march part was splendid, they marched so steadily, with staves at the slope passing the saluting base. There was signalling with and without flags;

It was serious, business every boy put his whole soul into the work. We thought, perhaps, we might speciaily mention the boy who showed up best in the work of the afternoon, but it can't be done. H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught could not have picked him out.

An excellent supper was served by the ladies and done full justice to, Mr. MacAulay will give you the recipe for the Irish stew or was it haggis. I only saw the empty kettle. At 8 o'clock the ceremony of 'lowering the flag" was given, the Scouts lined up and saluted, the rope was loosened and the flag came gracefully down for the last time this season to the blaze of bugle and the rattle of drum. Then the Scoutmaster called for three cheers for those who had helped to give them such a good time, this was done with a three times three and a tiger, and all thought it the very nicest thank you' they could have received. Saturday morning camp was broken up and the Scouts marched home.

Mr. Miller thinks he would like to have the district camp here next year. Well, if "August" wants it just see that bunch of boys get it for him.

An Explanation

Last week a Grand Trunk detective came to town and arrested a man upon a charge of forgery. He had his preliminary hearing, and the case has been passed on to the next court of competent jurisdiction at Walkerton. In the meantime he is out on bail. The whole affair is not quite as bad as it appeared at the preliminary hearing, but the bold and ugly fact of forgery is there. THE ECHO had fully determined to publish the whole case, and for a number of reasons. We believe that the publication of individuals connected with crime prevents crime. Further, as a newspaper we owe it to the public to give the news. And, further, we have got tired of hearing that if it is an individual in town nothing is said about it, but if he belongs to the country it will be published. The country people tell us these things, we do not think that there is any truth in them, we try to be impartial, but it has got on our nerves all the same. We know that many who know of the case will look in this issue for its publication. We wish them to understand that we were not influenced very easily, but at the last moment, a direct appeal, on account of aged and sick parents, from whom it is wanted to keep the news, caused us to take this course, and we, consider this explanation due to ourselves.

THE ECHO

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

As already stated the subscription price of THE ECHO will advance to $1.50 per year on Sept 15th. The rate has always been $1.50, but $1.00 in advance was accepted. Indeed the rate was seldom more than $1.00 if arrearage extended over a number of years. There are a large number in arrears in the west and in other places, and as we have stated if they want to settle at $1.00 per year they must do so before the above date. We have given ample notice, and trust that no one will ask for something that cannot be granted.

Concerning the rate itself, viz $1.50, or 3 cents per week, we have scarcely met a person who does not regard it as reasonable. With labor, living and everything that enters into the cost of production up there is nothing else to do but go up also. We are living in an entirely different world than when local papers were started. We might just add, too, that since we made our first announcement the price of paper has gone up higher, and the situation so far as paper is concerned, is becoming alarming. We do not get the additional 50c, the other fellow gets it all, and if we can hold him down to that we will be lucky.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Walkerton

Although Carrick didn't make much of a hit in recruiting for the Bruce Battalion yet there seems to be some good fighting ability going to waste in that township. Evidence of this leaked out when Mr. Wm. H. Rehkoff informed Magistrate Tolton at Walkerton that he was afraid of his neighbor John W. Becker and had the latter up for using indecent and abusive language towards him There appears to have been bad blood between the two for some time and according to the story Becker went over to Rehoff's home on Friday last and wanted to pull off a scrap. He accused Rehkoff of saying things about him and threw down the ultimatum for a fight by handing him a line of talk that was far more emphatic than complimentary. Rehkoff couldn't be induced to raise the mailed fist, and Becker departed without getting the ringside jabs and punches. His oratorical stems however were resented strongly by his opponent who sought balm for his wounded feeling in the mill of justice at Walkerton. Becker however didn't wait for the day or trial but on being served with the papers that disclosed to him that ee was pulled journeyed to Walkerton on Saturday and cashed up for the performance by pleading guilty and settling a line of $1.00 and costs or a total assessment of $6.80 for the offence.

Mr. Geo. D. McKay has accepted the big position offered him as the chief recruiting officer for Military District No. 1 and on Sept. 1st will jump into harness and attempt to raise the 7000 men which this division is short in the matter of recruiting. It seems that according to population this division was assessed to raise 36,300 men but to date has only come across with 29,300 leaving the above balance which Mr. McKay has been assigned to raise from the eleven counties of Bruce, Huron, Lambton, Essex, Kent Elgin, Middlesex, Oxford, Perth, Waterloo and Wellington. Mr. McKay's headquarters will be at London and his staff of assistance will include a returned officer from the front as a recruiting agent for each county. Of the new force Bruce is asked to raise 700 and a campaign to enlist this number will be launched in Walkerton on Sept. 1st and the entire County will be combed over for men.

Mr. Wm. Sutter who has been in North Dakota and Wisconsin for the past eight years arrived Monday on an extended visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sutter. He reports the crops in the Western States as being practically burnt up and nowhere along his trip East has he found conditions as good as in Ontario.

An Anxious Time For all Parents

Children Often Seem to Pine Away and Ordinary Medicine Does Not Help Them.

The health of children between the ages of twelve and eighteen years particularly in the case of girls is a source of serious worry to nearly every mother. The growth and development takes so much of their strength that in many cases they actually seem to be going into decline. The appetite is fickle, brightness gives way to depression there are headaches, fits of dizziness palpitation of the heart at the least exertion, and sometimes fainting. The blood has become thin and watery and the sufferer must have something that will bring the blood back to its normal condition. At the first sign of any medicine except Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their whole mission is to make new rich blood which reaches every part of the body bringing back health and strength to tired nerves. Miss Helena Taylor West Toronto says: "Two years ago I was so badly run down with anaemia that some of my friends did not believe I would get better. I could not go upstairs without stopping to rest suffered from headaches, loss of appetite and for two months of the time was confined to the house. I was under the care of a doctor but the medicine I took did not help me in the least. A friend advised me mother to give me Dr. Williams Pink Pills and although I did not expect they would help me after the doctors' medicine had failed I thought they might be worth trying. After taking two boxes there was such a marked change for the better that people asked me if I had changed doctors and I readily told them medicine that was helping me. I continued taking the pills until I had used eight boxes when my health was fully restored and I have since enjoyed the best of health. I hope my experience may be the means of convincing some sickly person that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can restore them to health."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail—post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville Ont.

Southampton

A memorial service was held in St. Paul's Anglican church for two of our soldier boys who have made the supreme sacrifice, Frances Tuckfield and Oscar Vernon. The church was very tastfully decorated with flags and flowers and there was special music Rev. J. C. Parke's remarks were impressive and befitting the occasion.

Loftus Sparling a pioneer resident of Burgoyne but recently residing in Chicago died last week in his 90th year and the remains were interred in Port Elgin cemetery last Monday. Mr. R. H. Wickett of Chicago and his daughter and son accompanied the remains home.

Twenty-five years with one firm is a record that few of us reach out that is the length of time Mr. Jacob Bechtel has been with the Knechtel Furniture Co. with whom he severed connections last week Mr. Bechtel has not yet decided as to future activities but his many friends in town where he has been so long an esteemed resident are hopeful that he will continue to reside here.

Tara

There was a big crowd at the Garden Party on Monday evening held on the lawn of Mr. Isaac Morrow Lake Arran under the auspices of St. Stephen's Church. The evening was fine and after a good supper was served a short programme of speeches, songs and recitations was rendered. The baseball match between Allenford and Port Elgin proved a strong attraction Allenford being the victors. The proceeds at the gate and booth amounted to about $125 00.

Mr. Harvey Griffin youngest son of Mrs John Griffin of Toronto and formerly of the 4th Con. Arran has resigned his position of Principal of the Shallow Lake school to which position he had just recently been appointed and has enlisted with the Army Service Corps. He ex- to sail overseas in three weeks.

OWEN SOUND

Two Owen Sound young men Stewart Douglass son of Mr. T. W. Douglass and James Armstrong son of Mr. A. F. Armstrong, had a thrilling escape from drowning yesterday when their sailing dingy capsized in the bay yesterday afternoon They were rescued by the motor boat of Messers J. W. and Alex Thompson after they were in the water for half an hour and when they were almost completely exhausted.

The boys were caught in the squall which struck the bay about three o'clock They were about a mile out from Paynters Bay and had the sail tied so that when the squall came up the little boat went over without warning. They managed to hang on but time and again the waves turned the boat completely over and threw them off. Had they not been good swimmers they would not have been able to stay with the craft,

The 147th Battalion will not be brought to Owen Sound for the presentation of colors according to a letter which Mayo Little received from Warden Cordingley. The Warden wrote that the officials have decided to make the presentation at Camp Borden and that the date will probably be Tuesday the 22nd of August. There will be a ceremony of some kind in connection with the presentation and in this Mayor Little has been asked to take part.

While the announcement will no doubt be a disappointment to many who would have liked to see the members of the Battalion in full force once more and the matter might have been adjusted differently the County Council probably did the best they could to arrange the presentation here. That they were not successful is to be regretted but it cannot be helped.

While in swimming yesterday afternoon at Big Bay Miss Ruth Marron gave the members of the picnic party she was with rather an alarm. While out some distance she suddenly became too weak to swim but some of the party threw her a life preserver which she was able to grasp. Fortunately she is none the worse of her experience,

The shortage of farm labor though keenly felt in some parts of the country has not interfered to any appreciable extent with harvesting operations in other parts. Mr. R. Ramage of the township of Holland, who has 400 acres of land under cultivation was asked by a Sun representative to what extent the lack of farm help had effected harvesting operations in his section, Mr. Ramage said that so far as he personally was concerned the labor situation had made practically no difference to him as he was able to get all his hay and fall wheat off with the help of his sons. He admitted however that farmers having to depend on hired help found themselves up against it but they managed to get through by helping one another out in turns. The fine weather he said had very largely counteracted the shortage of labor as they had more time for taking off the hay crop. Had unfavorable weather conditions prevailed it would have been impossible to save much of the crop with the help that was available.

The town bakers on Monday put up the price of bread to 14 cents for a large loaf and seven cents for a small loaf. The recent rise in the price of flour is given as a reason for the one cent increase in the price of bread. Wheat also is going up. In Chicago on Wednesday the price advanced eleven cents and the report states that the market closed strong. The local bakers resolved to put up the price bread only when they saw that flour was going up in the outside markets.

Chesley

Next June it will be 27 years since section foreman Sutcliffe entered the service of the G. T. R. He will then have attained the age of 65 and will receive his pension and will retire from active service Mr. Sutcliffe has rendered faithful service to the G. T. R, and is well worthy of the retiring allowance, We doubt if he has had two weeks' holidays since he started to keep the track on this section of the G. T. R. in good shape, and if he and Mrs. Sutcliffe are alive and well next June they should go on a prolonged second honeymoon trip.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Ewart, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wright and Reeve Brown united to Oliphant for Civic holiday and had a big time as the guests of Mayor and Mrs. Halliday. They were taken out in C. J.'s and J. W. Reid's launches to the fishing waters but were not rewarded by a large catch. However Reeve Brown landed a perch of a perch and is quite proud of his skill as a fisherman.

Rev. Robt. Atkinson who left Chesley about 3 years ago and has been in Haverhill Mass. since leaving here occupied the pulpit of Geneva church last Sunday and members of his former congregation and scores of friends in other churches were delighted to meet Mr. Atkinson again.

George Vogt the genial sawmiller of Adamsville in Albemarle Tp. is the oldest member of the 160th Bruce Battalion. He was recruiting officer last winter in East Albemarle and when he approached young men of military age and asked them to enlist they said: "Why don't you enlist yourself," to which George replied: "I am 63 years old but am prepared to do my duty to my adopted country." George was born in Saxony, Germany and is not ashmed of it but he doesn't want to be called a Prussian. Like most Saxons who were the forbearers of so many of the English people in the early history of Great Britian he is fair complexioned and blue-eyed. Besides he is throughly patriotic and is anxious to see Prussian Militarism as represented by Hohenzollern Bill put out of business for all time to come. George plays an E flat cornet in that wonderful musical organization known as the Bruce Battalion Band. George expects to visit friends in the old Saxon home after he has marched at the head of the Bruce Battalion under Lt.-Col. Weir into Berlin.

He—My dear, where did this awful big spider come from?

She—James, you have been drinking those horrid cocktails again. That's my new spring hat.—Princeton Tiger.

Forced to Leave School, Had St. Vitus' Dance

Astonishing Cure of This Nervous Trouble Effected by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Here is a case where life-long gratitude will be felt for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As a school girl and in later life Dr. Chase's Nerve Food came to the rescue when the nerves gave out. Now a healthy, robust woman happily gives the credit to this great food cure for restoring her to health and strength.

Miss Sadie M. White, 38 Waterloo street, Fredericton, N. B., writes:—

"When ten years of age a friend of mine had St. Vitus' Dance and she had to leave school and go under a doctor's care. Instead of benefiting by the treatment she appeared to get worse. Her tonsils and tongue became so swollen than she could scarcely take any nourishment. For two weeks she was this way and then took convulsions and nearly choked to death. She was ordered to the hospital, but soon got worse again. I recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to her and she used nine boxes, steadily growing better. Three years later a severe fright brought on the nervous trouble again, and she suffered everything a human being could endure. Her mother bought a dozen boxes of the Nerve Food, and with this treatment she was fully restored. I wish you could see her now, a strong, healthy, robust woman with two lovely babies. She still uses the Nerve Food when she feels out of sorts, but has had no return of the old nervous trouble."

For weak, puny, nervous children there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood, restore the starved nerves and start them on the way to health. When they fail to get proper nourishment from the food they eat, this food cure presents the necessary ingredients in condensed and easily assimilated form, and strength and vigor is restored. 50 cents a box, 5 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

Bruce to Raise 700 More Recruits

(Bruce Herald)

At the big convention in London on Wednesday of last week it was decided that 7000 more recruits were raised in Military District No. 1, and of this Bruce was apportioned to supply 700 men. About 250 mail delegates were present from the district, and 100 lady delegates from the Women's Emergency Corps. Of these, Mrs. (Judge) Klein, Walkerton, was the only woman present from Bruce, while in male talent the county was represented by a quintette composed of Geo. D. McKay and Judge Klein, of Walkerton, J. J. Hunter, of Kincardine, Geo. H. Mooney, of Ripley, and S. C. Cooper, of Lions Head Although Col. Williams, Chief Recruiting Officer for Canada, Col. Shannon, Commanding Officer of this district, and other big guns were present, yet during the two hours show down of talk, the Bruce phrase-jugglers had handed out the best suggestions and gave birth to the resolution that went into the Government asking them among other things to bear all the expense of recruiting the new force in this district. At the big demonstration in Paisley the following Friday when the speeches were splendid and the crowd small, the decision of the London Convention was endorsed and the raising of the noble seven hundred first sprung on the County. After listening to the greatest recruiting speech of the day by Major Moffat, who showed that Bruce should easily raise 700 more men, as certain municipalities in the county had hardly been touched in the last campaign, the crowd was treated to the real fireworks by Mr. John Rowland, who slapped about him regardless of the heads he was hitting or the political complexion of the wigs he was knocking on the green. Although some M. P.'s were drawing big government pay and should be doing a little for their money in the recruiting line, yet they were seldom seen appealing for volunteers in this crisis. They could get to every barn raising in their riding, but rarely to a recruiting platform. If they strained themselves half as hard getting soldiers for the King as votes for themselves they would be wonders as Kultur and Kaiser killers. Speeches were also delivered by Col. Williams, Col. Belcher, Judge Klein, Warden McNab, W. D. Cargill, M. P. P., Wm. McDonald, M. P. P., R. E. Truax, M. P., and others. The 160th Brass Band, which was present, blew many patriotic airs and filled the gathering with the martial spirit. Thus was launched the latest call for recruits in Bruce.

ABOUT the last thing on earth to go up in an age of high prices is salaries. Wages go up, a man says he will not work unless he gets a certain sum, and if it is not given him at one place he can get it at another, but the man on a salary sees the price of everything he has to purchase go up, and yet he has to plod along at the same old figure. It is not a square deal.

Dear Sir,—We, your fellow citizens who enlisted in the Tara Platoon of the 160th O. S. Battalion C. E. F. desire to express our high appreciation of your unfailing courtesy toward us, and of your personal interest in us while stationed at Tara.

If our efforts in recruiting were attended with success, not a little of it must be attributed to your genial manner and efficient service, your sincere patriotism, so contagious that few could escape it caught us all. Your intense zeal and sacrifice for the cause of civilization and liberty is a standing rebuke to the slacker and an inspiration to the soldier.

Besides your contributions in common with others, you gave much of your valuable time and the free use of your office in the interests of recruiting.

In recognition of what you have done for our common cause, please accept this address and Masonic ring as tokens of our esteem and appreciation.

Rev. J. T. Stapleton made an official visit to the Cape last week and presided at a meeting of the quarterly official board of the Methodist Church. He was accompanied by Mrs. Stapleton and children. They remained for the garden party here.

While cutting hay on the farm of Wm. Howe at Purple Valley Pte. Peter Martin, of this place received a ghastly cut from a scythe in the hands of a companion. The calf of his leg was cut to the bone. He was driven at once to Wiarton where Dr. Fisher dressed the wound. Peter did not like the idea of going to hospital at London so next day he hired a livery rig and in spite of the ghastly cut in his leg drove back home to Cape Croker on the following day. Dr. Fisher accompanied by Corporal Greig came up in an auto and took him down again and intend having him sent down to the camp hospital at London.

The members and adherents of the Methodist church held a very successful garden party in Johnston's grove on Thursday of last week. Quite early in the afternoon people were seen coming from every direction bearing well filled baskets. The afternoon and evening were spent kicking foot-ball and listening to the music furnished by two brass bands. When music is wanted the boys from Cape Croker can certainly "deliver the goods" The best of good feeling and fellowship was displayed throughout. Father Cadot and all his people with their brass band came over and joined with their Methodist brethren in having a good time. Some of the visitors from outside points were Rev. J. T. Stapleton wife and family, Mr and Mrs Eph Scott of Centreville, Mrs David Scott of Spry and Miss Susan Scott of Calgary and her nephew from Calgary. Supper was served from four until six. The visitors left after dark well pleased with the treatment they received at the hands of their Indian brethren. We expect to see them back again in the near future.

THE PRICE OF YOUR LOCAL NEWSPAPER

The cost of living has nearly doubled during the last 15 years. Almost everything in common use has risen in price. Yet your weekly newspaper has remained a dollar a year without varation.

The Printer and Publisher has not escaped having to pay the higher cost of living and publishing. He pays what others pay for the necessities of life.

Even before war broke out, the old dollar rate was known to be unprofitable. It cost at least $1.50 to produce a good weekly newspaper—this when it has a good circulation, and when the circulations are small, the $1.50 rate is scarcely enough.

But the war has made the old dollar rate quite impossible. Paper price has jumped alarmingly. Ink price has doubled, trebled, quadrupled. Many colored inks are quite off the market. Type is terrible high. And so we could go on reciting the dismal tale of higher publishing costs.

What we want to do is to let you see for yourself that in the face of these things, only one thing is left open to us—it is to raise the price of The Canadian Echo to $1.50 a year.

Your weekly newspaper is rendering this community a service no city daily can. No daily will give space to local news and affairs as The Canadian Echo does. No city daily publishes the advertising of local merchants. If you had to depend solely of a city daily for local news, you would cry out for your local weekly.

On and after Sept. 15 the new rate of $1.50 will go into effect. We ask you and all the good people of Wiarton and country and neighborhood to fall in with the new rate—just because it is an honest price and because your are fair-minded.

—Upon the occasion of the 13th anniversary of their marriage Mr and Mrs. Foreman, of Mount Clemens who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, entertained a number of their friends to dinner in the Pacific Saturday evening.

The many friends of Mrs Hoover will sympathize with her in the death of her mother near Hepworth quite recently. In referring to the death last week The Hepworth Progress said: The death occurred at her home, on Sunday, of Mrs Cramm widow of the late James Cramm, due to an attack of pneumonio. Her maiden name was Susanna Bulger. Deceased was born in Ireland and when first married settled in the township of Sullivan, then moving near Hepworth. She was affiliated with the Park Head Methodist church. Her father was an English church clergyman. She is survived by four daughters: Mrs. M. Hoover of Wiarton, Mrs. J. Duncan of Dobbinton, Mrs Thompson of North Keppel, and Letitia at home; also four sons, Joseph at Mar, David at Allenford, Robert at Vancouver and John at home. The funeral which was held Saturday from the family residence in Arnabel was largely attended, the service being conducted by Rev. F. Crowle. Interment was made in Zion cemetery.

Lucknow Boy a General.

It was reported in city papers last week that Victor Odlum, son of Prof. Odlum, of Vancouver, who spent part of his boyhood days in Lucknow, has been promoted to the rank of Brigade General in the Canadian army in France. He went to the front as second in command of the 7th. Vancouver Battalion, and has seen a great deal of service in the trenches. Lieut. Col, Hark McHarg was in command of the 7th, but was killed in action about a year ago, Major Odlum being with him when he received the wound from which he died. Majot Odlum was then put in command of the battalion, and because of his valuablo services in that capacity, he is now made a brigadier-general. He served as private in the South African war. A brother was killed in Africa and another in France.

The NURSE'S STORY

BY ADELE BLENEAU

Copyright, 1915, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

PROLOGUE.

"I got my copy in the hospitals and camps of France and England," says Adele Bleneau (Mrs. Walter Horton Schoellkopf of Buffalo), the author of "The Nurse's Story." In the relation of a delightful romance there are introduced thrilling incidents of the great war in Europe. It is plain that the author has been on the battlefield, right close to the firing line.

She started for Europe at the outbreak of hostilities. After telling of the rush of soldiers from England and France she grips the reader with her intimacy of the conditions as they exist in the great European conflagration.

Her descriptions of the field hospitals, of the wounded soldiers of the different warring countries as they are brought in, of exciting motor rides from one battlefield to another, all go to hold the interest throughout. The author had influential friends in the armies abroad who helped her gather the material for her story,

It is no exaggeration to state that no novel of the war yet written gives a better idea of actual conditions at the front than "The Nurse's Story."

CHAPTER I.

Come at Once.

ONE May evening after sunset father, mademoiselle and I were having supper out of doors under a great magnolia tree when a motorcar came racing up the drive. Major Howell, our neighbor, who owned one of the most beautiful places in Louisiana, drove the car himself and was obviously much excited. He explained immediately that a party of guests from the north was staying with him, and among them was a celebrated surgeon, who had suddenly been taken ill. By rare good fortune father was at home, so that a moment later the two men disappeared down the drive. It is strange how, for no apparent reason, certain scenes remain vividly in the memory, and I distinctly recall the feeling of expectancy with which I watched my father's departure.

Twenty minutes later, for the place was only a mile away, the car came dashing back, and the driver handed me a hastily scrawled note from father asking me to bring his operating case and come immediately. Without losing a moment and hastily gathering up the instruments, I was off. As we sped up the drive father came running down the broad stone steps to meet me. Taking both my hands in his, he said gravely:

"Adele, my patient, Dr. Curtis, is a very distinguished surgeon. His loss would be a great one to humanity. He has an attack of acute appendicitis and must be operated on at once. Do you feel equal to helping me?"

Perhaps I felt father's reputation was at stake; perhaps there was no time for an attack of nerves. In any event I said to him in a tone which must have carried conviction:

"Don't be afraid, father, I'll try not to fail you."

As we entered Dr. Curtis' room a moment later he called out, "Doctor, it has just occurred to me that you must have at your house an operating room"—

"I have, of course," father interrupted, divining his thoughts, "but, Dr. Curtis, you know as well as I how dangerous it is to move a patient under such circumstances."

"Oh, yes, I know all about that," he broke in, with an attempt at a laugh. "But I am the patient in this case, and I prefer to take my chances in an antiseptic operating room, even though I have to be shaken up a bit to get there."

Seeing no approving response in father's face, Dr. Curtis went on with the rare smile which many people say is half his assets, "Unless you mind the nuisance of an impromptu guest for the next week or two, I insist on going to your house."

Time was too valuable to waste in an argument, and Dr. Curtis was soon ready for the very short journey to La Bas. In exactly forty-five minutes from the time Major Howell first came up the drive, Dr. Curtis was on the operating table. At his own request father gave him the new method of anesthesia—scopolamine.

The operation was a simple one, with only slight adhesions and no complications and was, as such things go, speedily over.

The next day two nurses came up from New Orleans. Except for changing the dressings and a perfunctory taking of temperature there was very little for them to do.

At Dr. Curtis' request I passed many hours of the day in his room. He seemingly never tired of hearing my "Cajun" stories, as the peasant tales of Louisiana are called, and laughed at my little anecdotes of how Jean Baptiste would say: "Voisin, you see my sow, push him home slow for me, yes."

On other days we read French or German. He found constant amusement in my south German accent, for that was the kind mademoiselle had taught me.

Dr. Curtis' wife and family were not until his convalescence notified of his operation. But a sister—a gaunt, severe looking but kindly woman—had come a few days after his illness. However, we had seen very little of her, as she had taken on herself the task of hurriedly converting the blacks to a higher state of civilization.

Dr. Curtis had not been curious as to who or what we were, but his sister was the type that knows the genealogy of all the people in her particular circle and soon evinced a desire to add to her knowledge the history of the whole country round about, beginning, of course, with ourselves. She had asked often rather veiled questions as to how we, especially father, happened to be living in such an out of the way place. Evidently not being satisfied with the replies, she said quite frankly to him one day:

"Dr. Bleneau, how is it that I find a man of your superior attainments buried alive in a place like this?"

Father hesitated a moment and then, suddenly remembering an urgent engagement, smilingly excused himself, saying that mademoiselle, who had been not only his governess and nine, but was a distant relative as well, would gladly tell her the family history. Mademoiselle, like many older persons, lived largely in the past and was delighted to relive it all again. I had never heard her begin, as it were, from the beginning, so I settled myself to listen with almost as great eagerness as did Miss Curtis. Mademoiselle began:

"Dr. Bleneau's father was an officer in the army of Napoleon III. He entered the service against the wishes of his entire family, who were the staunchest of royalists. By way of explanation and to give it circulation, his mother told her dearest friend, in confidence, of course, that the wiles and smiles of a woman were the cause of his 'disloyalty.'

"The 'woman' was one of the lovely ladies in waiting of the thrice lovely Empress Eugenie herself, and for her the young officer sacrificed family, position and friends. He fought brilliantly on many fields and received his honor and promotion, but when the war was over and the emperor's cause lost he found himself with little else than the devotion of the woman for whom he had sacrificed so much. But he always felt this devotion ample reward, and well he might," she mused, "considering the happiness of their after lives. They were married at once, and he took up with characteristic energy the study of medicine at L'Ecole de Medecine, in Paris. His family, refusing to be reconciled to his marriage, led them to come to Louisiana. The young wife had brought him an unusually large dot for those days, and as they both loved the country, it ended about that they bought this plantation.

"The young people were happy here, but not even their absorbing affection could entirely safeguard their paradise from sorrow, for their first two children died soon after birth, and when a third was expected our Dr. Bleneau's father, whether from sentiment or a superstitious dread of a third loss, determined that the next child should be born at home, for France to them was still home.

"It was there, in the Yonne district, that their son was born. A year later we came back to Louisiana. When the boy was old enough for school he was sent to France, where he proved himself not only a brilliant pupil, but the possessor of many innate noble qualities. His father had elaborate plans for his future, but at twenty-two, a few days after finishing his studies, the boy startled his family by marrying a beautiful Creole, the daughter of a well known French banker of New Orleans. They had met on a steamer when he was returning from France from his last vacation, and she, being young and romantic, and he young and ardent, they eloped a few days after his graduation and were married by special license in London. They had known there would be great obstacles to their marriage, for her family were of Huguenot stock, and his devout Roman Catholics. And indeed neither her father nor any of her people ever forgave her.

"The young people came home to Louisiana, where they were welcomed by his family with the warmest affection. But the father, with new world ideas, insisted that his son take up some profession, and after due consideration the young man decided to pursue in his turn the profession of medicine.

"To this end the young couple returned to Paris. A year later in an apartment overlooking the park in the Boulevard St. Germain Adele was born. But in giving Adele life the young mother gave for it with her own." Here mademoiselle burried on, and I knew the tears were very near. "It is the regret of my life and Adele's that she never knew her beautiful mother, but in looking at Adele I am often startled, the resemblance is so strong. She has the same limpid brown eyes, and masses of waving coppery hair and the peculiar jasmine-like whiteness of skin, but her mouth is more sensitive, pr"—mademoiselle stopped short and looked at Miss Curtis in a peculiar way for an instant.

Miss Curtis, nodding her head, after a moment, said meaningly: "I quite understand, my dear. Go on."

"Dr. Bleneau was beside himself with grief at his young wife's death. She was the absorbing passion of his life, and I believe she is as much a real presence to him today as she was on the day she died so many years ago. In these circumstances he was, of course, unable to settle down to the monotonous life here and cleverly realized that his only salvation lay in work. Even several years later, when his course was finished, he was still in no condition mentally or physically to take up the grind here, and when he was urged by a former schoolmate to join an exploring expedition in Africa for the French government he did so and continued that kind of work for many years.

"However, unless he were in the wilds of Tibet or on the heights of the Andes, Christmas time always found him with us. Both his parents were secretly very proud of their brilliant, daring son. Adele had always worshiped him. Life for her between his visits was a gray expanse of waiting.

"Two years ago the health of Adele's grandfather began to fail, and, realizing his approaching end, he sent for his son. He came at once. Dr. Bleneau had been planning a trip to India and into Afghanistan with the Duke of —— but he immediately canceled all his arrangements and devoted himself to making the last days of his father as peaceful as possible." After a pause she added: "And that is how Dr. Bleneau came to live with us. Since then he has carried on, with Adele's constant assistance, the large charity work among the blacks for which his father had been so beloved.

"It was natural in our seclusion that our lives should center around the work done by the men of the house. During the years when other girls learned golf, tennis, dancing and such things Adele has been measuring out medicines, taking temperatures and acting generally as office nurse to her grandfather and later to her father.

"I can well understand your surprise at finding here in the lonely woods of Louisiana a man of such wide culture and varied experience as Dr. Bleneau." There was a little silence, and then mademoiselle smiled sadly and said, with a sigh, "That is our history."

Without a word Miss Curtis came over and kissed me, and as she did so I felt two hot tears on my cheek.

One day, nearly three weeks after the operation, I was delighted to find Dr. Curtis in the drawing room. He slowly rose as I came in and, seeing my look of astonishment, said laughingly:

"As a matter of fact, my dear, I might have been down a day or two earlier, only I didn't half try. I was having an ideal rest, lying there in your pretty, fresh chintzed room, looking out on the broad Mississippi and thoroughly enjoying the company of yourself and your father—you especially, Bleneau," and he turned to father, laughing, "you who have lived more stories than most people could invent."

A few days later, as I put my hand out to open the door of father's office, I heard my name and, without thinking, paused to listen. Dr. Curtis was speaking:

"Bleneau, old man, whether you realize it or not, you are decidedly selfish to keep that charming girl buried alive here." He paused, and then, as father did not answer, went on: "I don't believe you appreciate what a jewel the girl is. In my whole experience, which is a pretty wide one, I have never known a girl with more real culture than Adele, and physically—why, man alive, she's a beauty!"

At this I suddenly became conscious of the fact that I was listening to a conversation not intended for my ears. With the blood burning my cheeks I turned away for a moment or two to regain my self possession, then I knocked and entered. Father came at once to me and took me gently in his arms. He looked down into my eyes for a moment before he spoke:

"Adele, dear, Dr. Curtis has been telling me that I am a selfish brute to keep you buried alive in this out of the way place and has asked me to let you go north with them for a visit."

"But, father"— I interrupted.

"My dear, I have felt what he says for a long time, but partly because I have been distrait, occupied partly too, because I have not cared to face it, I have put the thing off, hoping always that we would soon visit France together, and so we shall in the autumn. I will come for you, and we'll go on that long cherished journey. But now I should be far more unhappy to have you stay than I should be, dear, to have you go." Here he broke off and more in his usual tone added, "The main thing is for you and mademoiselle to be packed and ready to leave with Dr. Curtis and his sister on Saturday."

So I went to New York and enjoyed it as only a young girl from the country can enjoy her first sight of a big fascinating city. Nothing was left undone that could give me pleasure, and I shall never forget those days. But the visit was a short one. I had been there scarcely two weeks when Dr. Curtis called me into his office. I went to him, a little anxious at the gravity of his tone and still more anxious when he put me in his big easy chair and took my hands tenderly in his.

"If you were not a brave girl," he said, "I should scarcely know how to tell you, Adele, but tell you I must, dear. Your father is very ill with fever, and you must go to him at once."

The rest of the day I spent in wondering why I had ever left him. This was in July, 1914, and on my way from New York to New Orleans Germany declared war on France. I had hoped that father might not hear of it, but this, I suppose, was too much to expect, and I reached his side only to find that his whole heart and soul were bound up in the hope of being well again, that he might volunteer for field work in the service of his beloved country. During the weeks that followed, both in his delirious and lucid moments, his constant cry was that he might be permitted to help France, and, for all my anxiety, the terror of his burning love for his country fired my blood. In the end his poor fever racked soul went to join the fighting men of older generations—I cannot write of it even now.

My grandmother had died some years before, and I had never known my mother's family. All her near relatives had been dead many years, and so my father's death left me practically alone in the world and as purposeless as a rudderless ship.

After his death I sat day after day in a kind of torpor, bereft of power to think or act. It was my first deep sorrow, and it found me unprepared and defenseless.

Then one night I was sitting alone in his study, for mademoiselle had gone to bed, going over again in a kind of helpless self torture the thousand little kindnesses and tricks of personality that made my father so dear to me. I buried my face in my hands for a moment, and as I did so my father spoke to me. I heard his words as clearly as though he stood beside me.

"Although you are only a woman," he said, "and cannot fight with the brave men who are giving their lives for France, there is still something you can do."

I sat silent for a long time, filled with awe and yet with a kind of comfort, puzzling over what he meant. Then after a time I understood, and I went to bed that night happier than I had been since his death, for at last I had a purpose.

The next day I wrote to Dr. Curtis, who had gone out among the first Americans to establish a hospital near the fighting line. It was a poor little letter, but I knew it carried an appeal that would bring me my desire.

The letter must have caught one of the few fast boats crossing at that time, for within two weeks I received a cable from Dr. Curtis telling me that he could not have me with him, but that, as a nurse and a Frenchwoman, I should have a place in one of the military hospitals.

The cable ended with the words, "Come at once; you are needed." So it was that I in my turn set out in search of the unknown, to do my part in the great struggle that is still, as I write, staggering humanity and in which I found so much tragedy and so much happiness.

BIG GAP CUT IN THE LINE

French Penetrated German Line to Depth of Half a Mile.

Anzacs Also Share in Honors by Smashing Through the Enemy's Lines West of Pozieres and Gaining 300 to 400 Yards—One Thousand Prisoners and Thirty Machine Guns Taken Near Clery.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Gen. Haig's Anzac corps again won the honors of the day in a continuation of the strong Anglo-French forward movement on the 15-mile front from Thiepval to the Somme. These veteran troops smashed through the enemy lines west of Pozieres during the night, penetrating the German trenches for 300 to 400 yards in an advance which their commander-in-chief describes as "important." The British also approached closer to the Martinpuich ridge by an advance across the plateau north-west of Bazentin le Petit, while General Foch's French troops shoved their lines further up the river highlands around Buscourt and Clery, and are now nearing the summit of the chain of hills designated on military maps as Ridge No. 109.

The French advance Sunday was registered after a series of violent counter-attacks against the positions conquered in Saturday's sharp blow had been repulsed. The Germans were active throughout the night, their efforts to win back the lost ground reaching a climax in a powerful assault, delivered from the direction of Combles, on the positions held by the French in the outskirts of Maurepas. This attack, like the others, failed. The Teutons were no more successful in attacks against the British south-east of Guillemont, while north of Pozieres a contemplated blow was forestalled by a British aeroplane, which reported the concentration of large forces behind the Mouquet farm, enabling the British artillery to take these battalions under a heavy fire and putting them to flight.

On the Verdun front the French report some progress south-east of Fleury, as well as the repulse of German attacks both in this sector and south of Avocourt wood, on the opposite bank of the Meuse.

In their drive Saturday, the French carried the entire German third line for four miles north of the Somme, smashing forward for gains in some points almost a mile in depth. They seized a foothold in the outskirts of Maurepas and penetrated into the western edges of Clery, besides capturing the entire stretch of high road between those points. More than 1,000 prisoners had been captured at midnight, and thirty machine guns brought in.

The attack, by far the most powerful in weeks, was launched in the early afternoon after a night and morning of patrol and infantry preparation. The full force of General Foch's blow fell on the four-mile front, between Hardecourt and Buscourt, which the French are slowly pushing forward to flank the important town of Combles.

The ground was a criss-cross of trenches, supported by a tremendously strong field work. With great devotion and spirit the French troops leaped from their trenches and advanced to the attack. The field work had been taken under a severe artillery fire and was greatly damaged, but from its defences the Germans carried on a heavy fire, while whole lines of ditches spouted machine-gun bullets. Advancing behind an artillery curtain, which was lifted from trench to trench as the attack progressed, the French line swept forward along the entire four miles of front. The field work was carried in a brilliant charge, in which the French soldiers clambered over the log barricades, swept aside the shell-cut strands of barbed wire and jumped down among the Germans.

Late in the evening after the French advance had finally come to a halt, the Germans launched a furious counter-attack along the Maurepas-Clery highroad. The French positions had been quickly organized, however, and machine guns posted. Under a storm of fire the Germans fell back.

Prior to the attack there had been strong fighting in which both armies attacked with great fury. The Germans, according to an official announcement of the War Office at Paris, were able to gain no ground. An especially severe attack was directed by the Germans against La Maisonette, which stands on a dominating height south of the river. The French fire broke up the assault.

Officials of the War Department explained the order as being intended to carry out fully the objects of the national mobilization, as ordered by President Wilson, and further to give the guardsmen experience under semi-war conditions.

ITALIANS IN TOLMINO.

Cadorna's Forces Have Occupied Suburbs of Important Town.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A Central News despatch from Rome quotes the Idea Nazionale to the effect that the Italians have occupied the outermost suburbs of Tolmino.

Ushering in the second phase of General Cadorna's great drive on the Isonzo, aimed at clearing the heights east and south-east of Gorizia of the defenders and pushing through to Trieste, and ultimately Laibach, the heaviest guns at the disposal of the Italian chief showered torrents of shells upon the coveted heights during the past two days. The bombardment was met by an equally strong fire from the Austrian heavy artillery.

Confronted by a stiffening resistance, punctuated with determined Austrian counter-attacks, the Italian offensive on the Isonzo front has lost much of its headway. Progress is reported, however, by the War Office at Rome, the advance on the Carso plateau having been pushed three-fifths of a mile beyond Oppachiasella, whose capture was announced Saturday.

To the south near Monfalcone two heights have been carried, while east of Gorizia an advance is reported. The Italian drive has netted more than 16,000 prisoners since its inception. In the same period Vienna reports the capture of 5,000 Italians.

"On the Gorizia area," says the official report from Rome, "the enemy, reinforced, continued to resist on the hills east of the town, supported by heavy artillery and fire from Nalnsizza plateau."

Monte San Michele, complete possession of which is vital to a further advance by the Italians, is still partly held by the defenders, and intent upon reducing this strong position the Italians battered it with their big shells.

Fully recovered from the shock of the blow that netted the Italians Gorizia, the Austrians are rushing fresh reserves and new artillery to the Isonzo front to check the advance of Cadorna's troops. Thousands of men have been observed, according to Rome, strengthening the defence of the Austrians along the Vipaccio line. Violent battles still rage on the Carso plateau.

Rome further reports officially the crossing of the Vallone and the capture of the western slopes of Mont Nablogem and the summit of Ornihrid height, as well as the occupation of Opachiazella, 270 Austrians being made prisoners. These successes were scored on the western part of the front. A position on Monte Tofano also was taken.

Around Tolmino, to the north of Gorizia, a bitter battle is in progress. Rome despatches predict the early fall of the stronghold.

DEUTSCHLAND SUNK?

French Cruiser Reports Destruction of Big German Submersible.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 14.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland was sunk by a British patrol boat on the morning of August 8, according to a statement made here by an orderly of Captain Liqué, commanding the French armored cruiser Admiral Aube, which put into port Saturday.

Captain Liqué Saturday night refused to confirm or deny the report.

The orderly said that the cruiser received a wireless message from a British patrol boat in the Atlantic last Tuesday, saying she had sunk the German merchant submarine that morning.

The French armored cruiser Admiral Aube came into this port Saturday with supplies and coal exhausted. She dropped anchor near the Austrian steamship Licia, tied up here since the beginning of the war.

It is reported that Captain Liqué has been keeping his cruiser near this port for the last two weeks, awaiting for the German submarine Bremen.

United States naval officers and customs officials boarded the cruiser. Under international law, she is entitled to supplies in limited quantities.

The Aube is the first entente warship to seek supplies in an American port.

DRIVING BACK TURKS.

British Army in Egypt is Still in Pursuit of Enemy at Suez.

LONDON, Aug 14.—British forces in Egypt are still driving back the Turks who were defeated in the recent battle east of the Suez Canal. The following announcement in regard to this campaign was given out here Sunday:

"Our cavalry is still in pursuit of the Turkish rearguard, and yesterday evening had driven back the Turks to a position east of Birsh-El-Manca. Although no materials or stores were found at Bir-El-Abd, there were large heaps of ashes in the vicinity of the abandoned Turkish position."

Projectiles Fell in Red Cross Zone.

SALONICA, Aug. 14.—The following statement Sunday was issued by the French commander-in-chief: "German aeroplanes four times bombarded the outskirts of Vertskopu. West the projectiles fell in the Red Cross zone. On the front there were some skirmishes and the usual cannonading, except in the region of Lake Doiran, where the artillery fire was heavy."

Anglo-Italian Agreement.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Premier Boselli and Walter Runciman will confer at Turin Tuesday. Great importance is attached to the meeting. The Anglo-Italian economic agreement is expected to be ratified and signed.

The late Hon. J. J. Foy left an estate valued at $135,000.

TEUTONS RETREATING

Russians Are Smashing Through on a Wide Front.

General Brussiloff's Armies Are Converging on Lemberg and Halicz and Brzezany Are Within Range of Russian Guns—Four Important Towns Have Been Taken—Nearly 85,000 Officers and Men Captured.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The semi-circle formed by the Russian army chain in Galicia from the region south of Brody to the area south of Stanislau has been drawn an average of 10 miles closer to Lemberg during the last 24 hours. Swiftly rolling up the armies of the Austrian throne heir in the direction of the Galician capital, the main goal of General Brussiloff's drive in the south, the Muscovite forces drove the Teuton defenders from the greater part of their positions on the four great streams which formed the main natural obstacles on the road to Lemberg from the south-east: the Sereth, Stripa, Koropiec, and Zlota Lipa. Though fighting desperate rearguard actions, the Austro-German troops are rapidly retreating on the whole front from the head waters of the Sereth down to the eastern and southern approaches of Halicz, the withdrawal having become necessary with the fall of Stanislau last Thursday.

As a result of Saturday's and Sunday's fighting the two southern "gates" of Lemberg, Halicz and Brzezany are now in the range of the Russian artillery and their fall is near.

Four important towns fell to the Russians during the last 24 hours. The possession of each serves to tighten their grip on Lemberg. They are: Ezerna (Jezierna), between the Strips and Sereth Rivers, 63 miles south-east of Lemberg; Podgaicy (Podhajce), on the Koropiec, 30 miles to the north-east of Stanislau, and only 15 miles south of Brzezany. From Podgaicy a trunk railway runs north-west through Brzezany directly to Lemberg, which is 61 miles away as the crow flies. Hodysonka, west of the Zlota Lipa, ten miles north of Halicz, Maryampol, on the Dniester, 10 miles to the south-east of Halicz.

This Halicz is being encircled and the Teuton lines here, menaced since the fall of Stanislau, have become untenable.

In the north, just south of the headwaters of the Sereth the Russian army, under Gen. Sakharoff, has reached Oleuv (Olejow). Here the Czar's forces are only 53 miles from Lemberg, but the drive on the Galician capital is directed from the south, with Brody as the pivatol point of the giant swing.

The huge semi-circle right end rests on the lines in the Sereth Valley, the centre is pushing ahead against Brezozany, and the left threatens Halicz. These two latter points taken, the road to Lemberg is practically clear, and the Russians are in a position to take the last lap of their drive along three railways, with the Transversal railway, Tarnopol-Strij, serving excellently as a supply line.

Sunday night's Russian War Office statement enumerates captures of prisoners in the Galician fighting, giving a total of nearly 85,000 officers and men. These captures, 27,534 alone were made by the armies of Generals Sakharoff (south of Brody) and Letchitsky (Buczacz and Stanislau fronts), within the last thirteen days. The balance is made up of prisoners taken by General Teberbatchef (middle Sereth front), from June 5 up to date—1,263 officers and 55,158 men.

General Letchitsky's forces captured 12 officers and 1,000 men in the last 24 hours on the Dystritza River.

In the Carpathians where a week ago the fortunes of battle showed inclinations to favor the Teutons, the Russian advance being temporarily checked, the Archduke Karl Franz Joseph's right wing is now retreating before a renewed Russian offensive. Attempts by the Teutons to wrest the initiative from the Muscovites and prevent the gradual separation from the Austro-German northern armies, failed, according to Sunday night's Petrograd report.

EMMANUEL PRAISES TROOPS

Italy, Rejoicing, Clasps Gorizia to Her Bosom, Says King.

ROME, Aug. 14.—King Victor Emmanuel has addressed the following proclamation to the army:

"But a short time has elapsed since you interposed an insurmountable barrier to powerful enemy forces attempting to invade the rich Italian plains from the Trentino.

"To-day you have conquered strongly fortified enemy positions. It is through your bravery that Italy, rejoicing, clasps Gorizia to her bosom. This particularly is an important step on the glorious march leading to the fulfilment of our national aspirations.

"Soldiers of Italy, you will achieve the victory which already looms on the horizon. Let the memory of your brothers gloriously fallen be an example, and encourage you in your struggle against the secular enemy of the race.

"I am proud to be your chief, and thank you in the name of the fatherland, which looks upon you with admiration, love, and gratitude."

Independence of Poland.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A despatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam says that in a few days the central empires will issue a proclamation declaring the independence of Poland.

It is proposed to call on the Poles to form a national army for the defence of their country.

The Steamer Soo City with an excursion party bound for Point Aux Baril was in the harbor Sunday asking the Arlington for something to eat. They left Meaford 12 o' clock Saturday evening intending to spend Sunday at their destination, but the sea was so rough they were forced to go into Cape Croker Sunday morning at 5 o'clock and as fifty passengers was too many for the Cape to handle they came on to Wiarton where their wants were supplied and then returned home.

While working on Mr. Ben Howis farm, Purple Valley, last week an Indian Soldier had the misfortune to strike another Indian Soldier on the leg with a scythe by the name of Peter Martin and cut an artery as the muscles of the leg. The injured soldier was brought to town and his wound carefully attended to, and it is reported that he is now doing nicely. It is doubtful, however, if he will ever be able to rejoin the Bruce 160th and it is most unfortunate the accident has happened.

And now it is flour, the main stay of life that takes a race with the hog and see which can soar the highest. On Monday wheat was quoted at $1.65 per bushel and flour at $8.20 by the car load. It is expected that Manitoba wheat will yet go to $2 per bushel and flour about $10. What is doing it all. Well, it is said that there is a shortage in Europe supply of wheat this year of 200,000,000 bushels. When the war broke out a great many laid in large supplies of flour as they thought it would go up, but flour remained very reasonable. Now, however, the sky high flight has begun. Oats will probably be high this year as they are a poor crop, so the Scotchmen will find their porridge a luxury.

Market Prices—Hogs sold Monday at $11.75 thus smaking another record and just where the pig will jump to in his upward flight is hard to predict. The whole thing is not due to a scarcity as there are 4000 more hogs offered in the Toronto market than during the corresponding week last year. Pork is now a luxury, people like luxuries and pay any price for them. Eggs have taken the toboggan slide and are 22 cents while butter sold at 23 cents.

Mr. W. Barrett, mathematical teacher in the High School, for the past three years, has resigned and the Board are advertising for a successor. The resignation of a teacher, towards the close of the vacation is never any good for the school. It is not a reflection upon the teacher but it is one upon the system which tolerates it. If the staff are satisfactory they should be re-engaged in June for the following year, and for the whole year at that. If they are not disposed to sign a contract after this manner the Board should consider their resignations in and advertise for successors. It is of the utmost importance that the schools should be protected. Mr. Barrett was a good teacher and we hope that a successor equally as efficient will be found.

Serious Affair At Hepworth

William Case, Hepworth, was sent down to Walkerton by Magistrate Miller to be tried at the next court of competent jurisdiction because of interfering with Abe Tenant, mail carrier, while in the performance of his duties. The evidence of Abe Tenant, corroborated practically in every detail by Bert Fitter, a youth of 14, was as follows: On Saturday evening last Tenant was sitting in his buggy waiting for the train from the south, on which he placed the Wiarton mail and from which he received the south mail. He swore that Wm. Case, Charlie Murray and John Mahan were sitting on some timber near the platform, one of them was throwing crushed stones at him. He told them to stop and they stopped about 20 minutes when they began again. He saw it was dangerous to sit there so he took the mail bag to go into the station As he got out of the buggy he claims Case came up and struck him twice. There was then a roll over, the mail bag was lost for a time, Tenant went and got Constable McKenzie who arrested Case, and who saw the mail bag on the ground and gave it to McGregor to give to the mail clerk on the train. Subsequently Tennant appeared on the scene and took charge of the mail.

No defence was put in atall and the Magistrate committed the young gentleman.

Interfering with a mail carrier while in the performance of his duties is a serious matter. A few years ago three Constables stopped the Lions Head stage a few minutes to search for booze and each of them was fined $32. Tennant has the most discolored face seen in this town for a long time, and unless Case, who is an athletic strong young man, can show good reason why he should strike a man of Tennant's age there will not be much sympathy for him no matter what his final sentence may be. If a jury could see that face one minute it would be evidence enough that a young man needed to be given a lesson. Case was allowed bail, and the other two men were let off on suspended sentence.

New Industry In Sight

The Feldspar and Clay Products Limited, Wiarton, is the name of a new company which was recently incorporated with an authorized capital of $1.500.000. This has been the outcome of negotiations carried on for the purchase of the cement plant. The engineer of this company was in town over the week end, and in conversation with the Echo, he informed us that they had purchased the plant and everything owned by the Crown Portland Cement Company,

It is the intention of this new company to manufacture potash the importation of which has been shu off by the war. Before the warpotash sold in the United States from $40 to $100 per ton, to day it sells for $460 per ton and twice that amount can be obtained for it. He claims that already they have orders for 50 tons per day, so if 50 is multiplied by $460 it will be seen that the gross earnings of this new plant will be $23.000 per day and when this is again multiplied by 300 days per year you have a pretty big sum, more than is handled by an ordinary concern, even by a newspaper after it has raised the rates to $1.50 per year.

The company will get their raw material near Parry Sound, where they have purchased 500 acres containing feldspar. This has been analyzed and goes 13.5 per cent of potash. The highest analysis is 16 per cent while rock yielding 1 per cent has been worked to a good profit.

This company hope to get to work soon and when they get started will require 150 men. When told that it might be difficult now to obtain so much labor he replied that it would not be difficult because they would pay the wages. The machinery for the plant is ready to ship, and in fact he told the Echo some of it is on the way already. The stockholders of the company live in New York, Buffalo, Los Angeles, Washington, Toronto and Berlin.

This is a big proposition and should it materialize it would be a big thing for the town, and the town would give this company all the consideration in its power. In the meantime we await their coming with pleasure and our pleasure shall be unbounded when we see them at work employing 150 hands.

Churchill Tells How Navy Was Ready For War

Mr. Winston Churchill in his third article in the Sunday Pictorial, speaks of Great Britain as "The Great Amphibian." He shows how the Grand Fleet was ready on August 4

"It was eleven o'clock at night—12 by German time—when the ultimatum expired" writes Mr. Churchill. "The windows of the Admiralty were thrown wide open in the warm night air. Under the roof from which Nelson had received his orders were gathered a small group of admirals and captains and a cluster of clerks, pencil in hand waiting.

"Along the Mall, from the direction of the Palace, the sound of an immense concourse singing "God Save the King" floated in; and on this dense wave there broke the chimes of Big Ben; and, as the first stroke of the hour boomed out, a rustle of movement swept across the room.

Commence

"The war telegram, which means 'Commence hostilities' was flashed to the ships and establishments under the White ensign all over the world

"Aye! Commence hostilities at once against Germany; urge them; persevere in them; concentrate upon them; repent not of them: pursue them to the very end."

These were the steps preceding that historic act on August 4.

"On the afternoon of July 26, 1914, orders were issued to prevent the ships of the First Fleet from dispersing, as they would otherwise have done at daylight on the 27th, or to recall such as had started. At midnight the ships of the Second Fleet were ordered to remain at their home ports in close proximity to their balance crews. On the 27th all naval aircraft moved to the vulnerable points on the East Coast, the second fleet was completed, an informal 'stand by' telegram was sent to the admirals abroad, and far away on the China Station the battleship Triumph began to mobilize.

"During the 27th and 28th, the protecting flotillas along the East Coast were raised to full strength. On the night of the 29th, the whole of the first fleet with its auxiliary cruiser squadrons and flotillas, passed the Straits of Dover and gained their war station in northern waters.

"That same day the official 'warning telegram' of approaching danger was issued. On the 30th the 'Precautionary Period' began; the naval harbors were cleared, and a modified examination service instituted. On the 31st the immediate Reserve mobilized and various Reserve Cruiser squadrons came into being.

"On August 1, shortly before midnight the general mobilization of the Navy was ordered, and the Third Fleet began to come on to a war basis. This step was approved by the Cabinet on Sunday, the 2nd and regularized by Royal Proclamation on the next day. All reservists had however, responded to the Admiralty summons; and on August 3, when the ultimatum was sent requiring Germany to evacuate Belgium, the whole process by which the naval power of Britian is placed in readiness for war, was completed in all respects.

"At the great War Council held on the afternoon of August 4, attended by the principal naval and military personages as well as the cabinet ministers directly concerned, the Admiralty were able to agree to the immediate despatch of the whole regular army, not four but six divisions, if necessary, to the continent; to undertake their transportation and the security of the island in their absence. This considerable undertaking has been made good by the Royal Navy.

Once More

Once more now in the march of the centuries, Old England was to stand forth in battle against the mightiest thrones and dominations. Once more in defence of liberties of Europe and the common right must she enter upon the voyage of great toil and hazard across waters uncharted towards coasts unknown, guided only by the stars. Once more the far-off line of storm-beaten ships was to stand between the Continental Tyrant and the dominion of the world."

Walkerton

While in Toronto last week Mayor Lippert interviewed the Ontario Hydro Commission in connection with the bringing of hydro light and power to Walkerton, and as a result of the conference Mr. Vaines a hydro official will visit Walkerton some time this week or next and will meet the Street Lighting Committee of the Town Council which is composed of Councillors McCarter, Arscott and Lett, are to talk over the situation and discuss the practicability and cost of the scheme

Walkerton's tax rate is likely to be 28 in 1 this year which is the lowest for many years and no less than 4 mills lower than last year which was the high water mark in Walkerton. The decline in taxation here is due to the consolidation of the debentures last year, and had it not been for the extra war expense incurred this year the rate would have sunk to about 26 mills. As the the people when they go up to pay their annual contribution into the municipal coffers will realize and appreciate the extent of the drop the old Council will not get the usual fervent cussing that goes with a high tax rate.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kilmer, of Toronto, ormerly of Walkerton, sailed from New York on Saturday for England to see their son Lieut. Charles, (Chap) Kilmer whose leg was terribly injured by an enemy bomb exploding at his feet while leading his men in an attack at the front and thus necessitating the limb being amputated below the knee. Mr. and Mrs. Kilmer were accompanied on the trip by their daughter Marjory.

Judge Klein is spending a few weeks vacation at the sanitarium in Battle Creek, Mich.

Mr. David Roberston who has been visiting in the West for the past month is expected home this Friday.

Southampton

Mr. M. S. McAulay has just received a letter from his son, Pat, from the trenches in France, dated July 20th. He had heard that Abbie Fenton was wounded; and he was feeling bad about the death of two chums Francis Tuckfield and Oscar Vernon who were in the same company with them Harold Marshall is in the same company with him and so far has escaped any injury.

Mr. Alf Broad motored up from Dundas last week and his brother Hilson accompanied him. They are guests of their brother Mr. H. D. Broad.

Mr. Orvill Morgan has sold the standing crop on his homestead in the Peace River District and is back in the old home town. He is thinking of enlisting and doing his bit for his King and Country.

A jolly fishing party from town put in five good days at the delightful quarter on Tamaine Island. They went up on Saturday on the Silver Hl in charge of Capt. Don McAulay and returned the following Tuesday. They named themselves the International Fishing Club and their purpose is to have a similar camp each summer. Those in the party were Messrs H. O. and C. M. Bell, Fred Koepke and Roy Robertson of Southampton; Chas. G. Muss South Bend Ind; Hubert Chisholm Oakville; Rich Vanstone and John McLean Wingham; Dr. Veitch (Hon) R. Brown California; and Geo. McKay (piper) Toronto Messrs Ray Hagle, Jos Harrison, H. H. Bowman and Lieut. D. D. McLeod were visitors. They also had fraternal visits from Commodore McLeod with the Yatch Josephine and Captain Hasseler with the Francis IV. They caught some 250 bass and for fear friends might be skeptical about this they have photos to corroborate the size of their catch and of course with such credentials we just had to hand them the medal. Well they had a real good time and among other things raffled off a box of candy and raised $1.50 towards the memorial window for the late Lieut. Lloue Tranter to be placed in St. Paul's church.

OWEN SOUND

Last Tuesday morning a telegram brought the sad news to town that Lieut. Augustus Wilberforce McKnight youngest son of Mr. Robert McKnight of Owen Sound was killed in action. The death Lieut. McKnight is particularly distressing in view of the fact that he had just recovered from a severe wound and had only just returned to the front. During his convalescence from his first wound he was able to visit his father's home here on furlough and it was shortly after his return to the fighting front that he lost his life in the service of the Empire.

Rev. R. J. MacAlpine, of Buffalo, formerly minister of Knox Church, Owen Sound, and Mrs MacAlpine and two sons arrived Wednesday night to spend a short time here. They are accompanied by Mr. Stewart M. P., of Hamilton, who is Mrs. McAlpine's father. The party is staying at the Seldon House.

Mrs. Fred Johnston, a daughter of Mr J. Miller, Second Ave East, has had a terrible ordeal on the Northern Ontario fires. She was living in Cochrane and narrowly escaped death with merely the clothing she was wearing At the present time she is staying in the railway station at Cochrane, which is the only building with the exception of the round house that is left standing. The station is crowded with homeless people and the constant cry of the babies is heart rending. Mr Miller has been much worried over his daughter, having heard no news of her since the fires broke out until this letter. She is the wife of Mr Fred Johnstone an Owen Sound boy, formerly a lumber inspector in the employ of the Rowland Lumber Co, here Mr Johnston is now the baggage agent at Cochrane station. Tents and food will have to be sent immediately as the people are absolutely destitute.

A Necessity In The House.

Most of the common ills of life arise from a torpid, sluggish condition of the Liver, Kidneys or Bowels, and because they act on each of these organs in a direct and specific way, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills overcome serious and painful diseases over which ordinary medicines have no control.

Chesley

Mrs. D D. Stewart of Qu Appelle Sask is siting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Carter, and sister, Miss E. J. Coheen.

A patriotic picnic under the auspices of the liberals of Amabel and Arran was held on the farm of Ben Elder an old Sulf Head boy, on Friday last week. Chesley Lake occupies some 500 acres and lies about three miles N. W. of Allenford. There is splendid boating on the lake and in addition to numerous rowboats, the chug! chug! of a motor boat can be heard on this inland water. Chesley Lake got its name from a member of the party who under Geo. Gould, afterwards county clerk surveyed the township of Amabel in 1853 Whether this Mr. Chesley after whom the Lake was named was any relation of the clerk in the post office dept. at Ottawa after whom this town was named is something we don't know. This is the third year that the picnic has been held and the attendance was about the same as on the previous occasions. An amusing feature of the afternoon proceedings was a baseball match between girl teams from Elsinore and Hall's Corners. They know the game perfectly and put up a sample of ball much better than many a young men's club. They have the regulation running shoes, use a league bat and ball, have natty white skirts and can bat, catch and run like professionals. The Elsinore girls won by 10 runs. The programme with David Craig, Reeve of Amabel, as chairman, consisted of recitations by Harry Stevens, a song by Miss Broadfoot and short addresses by J. B. Campbell of Chesley, Reeve Case of Elderslie, C. E Scott of Tara, Rev. Matheson of Allenford and Wm. McDonald M.P. P. The ladies put up an excellent supper.

The big furniture firm of Krug Bros. & Co. inaugrated its thirtieth anniversary of starting business in Chesley by paying weekly. It was quite a surprise to the large number of employes last Saturday when they found the pay envelope came around twice as often as before. This will enable the men to pay cash for their goods and will also benefit the Merchants Tae chair factory falls into line next Saturday and it is to be hoped all the other factories will follow the lead of Krug Bros. & Co. The big furniture firm is to be congratulated on starting this progressive weekly pay movement.

It is 12 years since Mr. and Mrs Frank Parr and family moved from Hampton near Bowmanville to Chesley, and they have been among Chesley's best citizens. Mrs. Parr will be much missed in the Ladies' Aid Society of Geneva church in which she took an interest for many years Mr. Parr is a traveller for lodge regalia supply houses and finding Toronto a more suitable centre for his work he decided to move to that city. They left for their new home yesterday and the Enterprise wishes them a long life and much happiness in their new location.

At Burgoyne on Tuesday evg. a garden party under the auspices of the Red Cross society realized $200 at the gate and $80 at the booth. The ladies put up an excellent supper and a splendid program was carried out with ex-Warden M Jackson in the chair.

Could Not Sleep.

Miss Gertrude Pratt Wolsley St. Barrie writes: "I was very much run down and could not sleep either day or night and my arms and legs ached so that life was very miserable. After using six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel well and strong again."

Tara

On Thursday evening last according to notice given the men who have enlisted from the Township of Arran for service in the war, were each presented with a five dollar gold piece, after the reading of a suitable address read by Mr. H. T. Potts Clerk of the Township. The meeting was held at Arkwright and was held in the open air. The night was suitable and a large crowd was present. The Reeve of Arran, Mr. J. W. Sinclair, presided and in a short address told of the object of the gathering. He invited a number to take seats on the platform. Addresses were made by Rev. O. L. Ockley Ackwright; Wm. McDonald M. P. P. Chesley; C. E. Start, H. A. VanDusen, Rev. J. S. Johnson and J. E. Grant Tara Songs were rendered by Miss Davis and Mr Grant. After the speaking was over God Save The King was sung and the ladies then served a nice lunch of sandwiches, cake, and pie.

Word was received here on Tuesday from the President of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association that Tara Lacrosse Club are the juvenile champions of the district. Owen Sound being thrown out on account of playing three men in last Thursday's game without certificates Tara now enters the semi-finals and will probably play St. Marys in the next round in home and home games. This next game should draw a big crowd. The date of the game will be advertised as soon as word is received from the association and will likely be next week.

Baby's Great Danger During Hot Weather

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond all aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in homes where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Skeletons From Griffiths Those Of White Men.

Griffith's Island Remains Not Indians but may be that of the Fothergill Party.

Owen Sound Sun

When the discovery of the remains of several human beings on Griffith's Island became known recently the logical explanation seemed to be that the remains were those of Indians. On further examination however new facts developed and it may be possible that more mystery lies back of this skeleton "find" than was at first supposed.

Mr. H. G. Tucker has made quite a study of phrenology and on examining the skulls he is thoroughly convinced that the skulls are not those of Indians but of white men. Mr. Tucker saw only three skulls and his theory of the matter leads us back to a mysterious disappearance that occurred thirty or forty years ago over which the whole country was aroused This was the White Cloud Island mystery A Captain Charles Fothergill of Derby owned a sawmill on White Cloud Island and in the fall of 1868 he started for that island in a sail boat with the intention of paying the wages of his mill hands with some $2,000 in cash which he had received from the sale of a farm. The weather was good and he had induced a number of his friends to make the voyage with him. These were George Brown, Postmaster of Owen Sound, John Robinson, a gentleman from the Southern States and Charles Kennedy, an invalid sailor. The sail boat left Owen Sound and that was the last that was ever seen of the party. The boat was seen to pass Big Bay with another sail boat following close behind and it is afterwards believed that this second boat contained outlaws in pursuit of the party. At that time there was a notorious outlaw named Townshend who lived near Big Bay and who afterwards was killed in a brawl in Mexico where he had gone and established a saloon and gambling den. To reach White Cloud Island a boat would pass right by this south west corner of Griffiths Island where the skeletons were unearthed, and if it is true that the Fothergill party were the victims of foul play at the hands of Townshead, the most convenient place for the concealment of his crime would be this very point. Mr. Tucker thinks this is a more probable explanation and his statement that the skulls are those of white men will no doubt be confirmed when the matter is more thoroughly looked into.

"How old are you?"

"Eighteen."

"You will surprise people."

Hail Does Damage In The West.

Mr. J. H. Busch, Manor, Sask, formerly of Port Elgin tells of the damage done by hail in the West. The Manor Advocate, among other things says:

We like to live well and by doing so we are obliged to pay dearly for it.

For our cereal foods we now pay 33 1-3 per cent more than before the war began, that puts wheat at about $27 per bus. and the manufacturer of those wheat food stuffs buy the wheat at less than $1 per bus.

But what might they cost after the business concerns find out that most places have been visited by severe hail and wind storms.

Saskatoon district is a complete wreck, especially at Vonda, barns and granaries were blown to pieces, and also causing some lives to be lost and quite a number of horses and cattle were killed by the shattered buildings.

On July the 17th a storm destroyed over 10,000 acres from Pierson by Melita and on to Boissevain, Man.

We got a severe storm at Manor, which I am sending you a clipping of, taken from the Manor Advocate.

With kind regards to all my Port Elgin friends.

"The worst hailstorm in a decade passed through this district shortly after six o'clock on Wednesday evening, causing widespread damage to standing crops and buildings. Two showers of gigantic hailstones accompanied by a wind of almost cyclonic force, laid waste a strip of territory varying from four to twenty miles in width and extending from Arcola on the west through Carlyle, northeast of Glen Adelaide southeast of town and towards Cantal. Owing to the telephone lines being broken by the storm, the full extent of the territory covered by the storm cannot be learned, but in this district it is gathered that at least fifteen thousand acres of what promised to be a bumper crop will have to be plowed under while twice that territory will show a loss from twenty five to sixty per cent"—Manor Advocate

To Fight Church Union

A letter has just been received from Vancouver by Rev. J. W. MacNamara, secretary of the Committee for the Preservation and Continuance of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. It deals with "the possible danger of our Scriptural and historic Church being blotted out in a merger without a creed and without spiritual freedom or democratic government," owing to the action so hastily taken by the General Assembly at Winnipeg and in spite of the pledge made at a former Assembly, This action the letter states, has aroused a large body of the western people and it has been decided to hold a meeting on August 17, in the First Presbyterian Church Vancouver. The main object will be to issue a statement which will result in definite action at mass meetings to be held in various parts of the Province. The letter is signed by Rev. R. G. MacBeth, M. A., chairman of the local committee for the Continuance of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and by fourteen other members of the committee Toronto News.

Girl a Nervous Wreck At Eleven Years of Age

Was Tired Out, Pale and Sallow—Would Tremble Till the Bed Would Shake—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cured Her.

In the schools of to-day there is found an alarming proportion of weak, nervous children who have little chance of developing into healthy, useful men and women. Nature requires the assistance of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to help them over a trying period and set them on their feet.

There would be fewer wearing phases if the nerves were invigorated, less irritation in the school and home, more robust health and a greater pleasure in the school tasks.

This letter bears a cheering message to parents whose children are weak, puny and nervous. It shows you what may be expected from the use of this great restorative.

Mrs. Stephen Hartman, Italy Cross, Lunenburg Co., N.S., writes:

"My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and seemed all tired out. She had no appetite, was lifeless and drowsy, and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed and have somebody with her all the time. She was afraid of everything, would get excited and tremble till the bed would shake. As she seemed to be getting worse under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After she had used about four boxes improvement was noticeable, and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew week by week. She used ten boxes altogether, and they cured her. She got fat and rosy, and went to school every day with an ambition that she never seemed to have before. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone, for it was indeed wonderful what it did for her."

Try These Unusual Egg Receipes. You'll Like 'Em.

At this season of the year the provident housewife will make use of eggs on every possible occasion. Frequently, owing to their food value, they may be admirably substituted for the more expensive meat course for the home luncheon or supper, with a material saving on the butcher's bill and greater variety in the daily diet.

When a recipe calls for hard boiled eggs be sure that they are cooked sufficiently long to pass through the "tough state"—say for twenty or twenty-five minutes; then place them immediately in cold water, and when cold the shells may be easily removed and the eggs cut in halves or slices without the whites or yokes breaking.

"Coddled eggs" (as prepared in the various hospitals) is probably the simplest method of cooking them, and, prepared in this way, they are most highly recommended for children. Have the water actively boiling in a saucepan, place the eggs carefully in the water, cover the pan, remove from the fire and allow them to stand for seven minutes. Cooked in this way the white is of a soft, jelly-like consistency and the yoke, while cooked, is neither hard nor watery.

As examples of preparing eggs in novel and attractive forms, the following tested recipes are suggested:

Bread and Parsley Omelet

Soak six tablespoonfuls of grated bread crumbs in six tablespoonfuls of cold milk for ten minutes and season with a half teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth of a saltspoonful of paprika. Separate the whites and yokes of three eggs and beat until light. Add the crumbs and milk to the yolks with two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley and fold in the stiffly whipped egg whites. Heat in an omelet pan two tablespoonfuls of butter, turn in the omelet mixture and cook over a moderate heat until well risen. Loosen the sides of the omelet from the pan with a cake turner, turn over into a neat half-circle, brown for a couple of minutes on the under side, and serve inverted on a hot platter. Garnish with crisp cress and slices of broiled tomatoes.

Savory Baked Eggs

For these the delightfully quaint little brown glazed baking dishes are required, and those of individual size are especially attractive. For plain baked eggs, a little bacon or butter fat should be melted in each dish, the eggs carefully broken into them, a sprinkling of pepper and salt added, and after covering the tops with bits of butter, place the dishes in a hot oven until the whites are set, which will generally take from three to five minutes. This method of cooking eggs may be the means of using up any bits of savory left overs that the housekeeper may have on hand, as minced meat, poultry or cooked vegetables may be sprinkled over the bottom and sides of the dishes before the eggs are added; fried buttered bread crumbs may be dusted over the top, or grated cheese and the addition of two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup or gravy (chicken giblet gravy is particularly good) to each dish will lend still greater variety.

Eggs in Aspic

This is very highly recommended for the Sunday and night supper or for luncheon on a sultry summer day. Heat half pint of water with one gill of tarragon vinegar and add a bit of stick cinnamon, six whole cloves, a bay leaf, one chopped carrot, two slices of onion, four peppercorns, and half a teaspoonful of salt. Simmer the ingredients for ten minutes and add half a cupful of cider vinegar, a quarter of a teaspoonful of sugar and half an ounce of instant powdered gelatine. Remove from the fire as soon as the gelatine and sugar are dissolved and strain through cheesecloth. Allow the mixture to cool, pour to the depth of one inch into a square mold that has been rinsed with ice water and stand on the ice to harden; when the jelly is firm arrange upon it sliced hard boiled eggs, feathery parsley, sliced stuffed olives and capers; cover with a little more of the jelly and again allow it to harden. Continue adding layers of the ingredients and jelly until the mould is filled being careful that each is firm before the next is added. Allow it to stand on the ice for at least twelve hours, and when ready to serve unmould, cut in slices, and lay on crisp heart lettuce leaves, garnish each slice with a rosette of thick mayonnaise dressing pressed through a pastry tube.

Eggs a la Fspagnol

Boil three eggs for twenty minutes, cool in cold water, shell and chop not too fine. Prepare a rich cream sauce by melting in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, then blend in two tablespoonfuls of flour, and very gradually add one cupful and a half of milk. Stir constantly until the sauce thickens and boils, and add half a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of finely minced pimentos, one large cupful grated cheese and the eggs. Cook until the cheese is melted, and serve on rounds of hot crisp toast.

Pickled Eggs

A very good dish for a picnic supper or luncheon is prepared as follows: Place in an agateware saucepan, one pint of vinegar and add half a teaspoonful of whole cloves, one blade of mace, one broken stick of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of allspice half a teaspoonful of salt, and a saltspoonful of pepper. Simmer the spices and vinegar for ten minutes. Boil four or five eggs for twenty minutes, cool in cold water and remove the shells. Place the eggs in a fruit jar and pour the boiling hot vinegar over them. The eggs should stand in the hot vinegar for at least thirty-six hours before using; if one or two sliced beets are cooked with the vinegar it will impart a delicate pink color to the eggs. Eggs prepared by this method are very desirable for salads or sandwiches.

Tomato Eggs With Asparagus Tips

Beat the whites and yolks separately of four eggs and add to the yolks half a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of celery salt and four tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup. Then fold in the whites of the eggs and turn into a frying pan in which has been melted two tablespoonfuls of butter. Have the heat very moderate and stir constantly with a fork. When the eggs begin to thicken stir in one cupful of cooked asparagus tips and continue to stir until the whole is a light creamy mass. Heap in the centre of a chop platter and surround with a border of crisp slices of cooked bacon.

Fried Eggs With Ragout of Mushrooms

This is an especially delectable dish and is very easy to prepare. Skin half a pound of fresh mushrooms, and if they are very large cut them into slices. Chop one small green onion and half a bunch of parsley very fine. Melt one scant ounce of butter in a saucepan, add the parsley and onion, with half a teaspoonful of vinegar, a few grains each of sugar and grated nutmeg, the mushrooms and pepper and salt to taste. Cook over a moderate heat for ten minutes, stir in one egg yolk that has been lightly beaten with half a tablespoonful cold water and spread the ragout on slices of crisp buttered toast. Lay a neatly fried and trimmed egg on each toast slice and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Owen Sound has advanced the wages of the town employees to $2.25 per day.

It must be a standard hotel after Sept. 15th just what the standard is we do not know.

It will cost 37 mills on the dollar to live in Durham this year, life in Ontario towns has now become a luxury.

It is supposed that coal will be high next winter, but that does not bother us very much just now—we can do without it this hot weather.

Since the recent raise in the price of flour the bakers in Durham, Owen Sound and Walkerton have raised the price of bread to 7 cents per loaf.

The Progress reports that there were no less than 10 church services in Hepworth on a recent Sabbath. It really looks like it is a hopeless case.

NO doubt Dewart knows that the return of the Jews to Palestine is supposed to precede the end of the world, but the election of Grit in Toronto, although not prophesied in Sacred Writ, is a much surer sign that we are living in the last days.

The Finance Committee, of Kincardine, have recommended a rate of taxation of 63 mills. Living in Kincardine is a luxury, it is only the rich and the great can stand the strain. It is no wounder the people look to that town for members of Parliament. However, the council has struck a reasonable rate.

WHILE we have societies galore yet we have no Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals If reports are true a society of this nature is needed. At all events it is alleged that there have been a few cases lately where mans humanity to the dumb animals has been wanting.

The Labor Gazette, Ottawa, figures out that the high cost of living has dropped by a decimal. The man who wrote this stuff and nonsence should take his weeks wages and buy a bag of flour, a bushel of potatoes, a few pounds of lard or bacon, a dozen of lemons, a few packages of butter and then he will see where he is getting off at. The cost of living dropping, it is going up and like—the old cow bids fair to jump over the moon.

There is something wrong with the paper when seventy-five per cent. of the pupils fail on it, says Dr. E. A. Thompson principal of the Hamilton collegiate, in criticism of the algebra paper of the Normal School Entrance Examinations. Yes, there is something wrong this year. It would appear that from the Entrance Examinations up that there was a will defined, cold blooded plan to "flunk." Teachers have become too plentiful again. A few years ago there was a great scarcity, permits were granted by the wholesale, and if this wholesale slaughter is allowed to go on it will be permits again very quickly.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

THIS COLUMN will contain from week to week some timely hints on how to avoid sickness and maintain good health. It is realized that since this newspaper visits many hundreds of homes and is read by thousands of readers every week, no better means could be taken by the Provincial Board of getting news relating to public health before the people of the Province.

WASTE OF HUMAN LIFE

The waste of human life is incalculable. At the present time about one-fifth of all the babies born die before they reach the age of one year. About one-third of all deaths are deaths of small children. In a properly regulated community there should be no deaths among babies. One-half the adult deaths are due to consumption, pneumonia, and colds. The best health authorities are of the opinion that all deaths due to bacteria and to other than accidents (carelessness) can be prevented.

The Provincial Board of Health wants the people to know something of the things it is doing for them. For instance, a young married woman writing from Saskatchewan, where she went to live a few years ago, says: "After I got home my husband and I both had diphtheria. We had the doctor, and he gave the children (five in all) antitoxin, and we ourselves had it and soon got well; but the antitoxin cost us $30.00." That big outlay won't occur in Ontario, because the Provincial Board supplies diphtheria antitoxin to doctors, hospitals, and every one requiring it, absolutely free of charge, including the postage. Not only this, but Pasteur treatment for rabies, smallpox vaccine, anti-meningitis serum, tetanus antitoxin, and typhoid vaccine are supplied free to the public.

SAVING THE SOLDIERS

The Board since the war began has supplied all the typhoid vaccine (some 300,000 doses) used by the Canadian troops. The value of this service to our soldiers will be appreciated when it is known that while over 8,000 men died of typhoid fever during the Boer War—that is 700 more than were killed or died from wounds there have been so far 452 cases of the fever in inoculated men with 24 deaths, a mortality of five per cent.; among those inoculated twice there have been 215 cases with 16 deaths, or six per cent.; while in those not inoculated there have been 117 cases, with a death-rate of 20.6 per cent. Thus it will be seen that inoculation reduces the death-rate to one-quarter of what it is in the uninoculated, whilst the risk of contracting the disease is about 1-14 of what it is in those not protected. The discovery has, it is said, already saved the British forces a whole army corps. More than a million British troops are in France. Up to the middle of January only 1,250 cases of typhoid fever had occurred. Last summer the Niagara Camp, where the water supply is taken from the river carrying the diluted sewage of Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and other towns, and where about 22,000 men were trained, was carried on without a single case of typhoid fever arising in the camp.

THE CASE OF TYPHOID MARY

Eight years ago seven small outbreaks of typhoid fever at various places in the neighborhood of New York city were traced to a cook who was found to be a chronic typhoid carrier—that is, a person who, while apparently quite well, was cultivating typhoid germs in her bowels and infecting other people with them. This woman, who became known as Typhoid Mary, was detained in a hospital several years by the New York City Department of Health, but was finally discharged on her promise not to engage again in the preparation of food. She disappeared from notice for some time, but last January, when twenty-five cases of typhoid fever occurred at a hospital in New York, suspicion pointed to a cook who turned out to be Typhoid Mary.

The Ontario Health Officers' Association will meet on May 30th and 31st in Convocation Hall, University of Toronto. The program, which has been sent out, is perhaps the best yet placed before the Association, and will include addresses by Dr. W. H. Park, head of the Public Health Laboratories of New York City, who will lecture upon Diphtheria, Captain Ruggles George will detail some of his experiences at the front. Mr. Charles Hatton of Milwaukee, who will describe the new system of sewage treatment by aeration, and Major W. D. S. Sharpe, of Brampton, [illegible] from actual experience of sanitary conditions in Serbia. There will be practical and snappy discussions upon various public health problems.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the cod-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a nutritious food and a building-tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

The NURSE'S STORY

BY ADELE BLENEAU

Copyright, 1915, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER II.

Captain Frazer.

THE boat was crowded and there were many interesting persons on board—at least, interesting to me, as, for the most part, they were people with a mission. Some were on diplomatic errands, others were crossing because of contracts arising out of the war. There were also many nurses and doctors, but far the greater number of the men were reservists, both of the ranks and officers, hurrying to rejoin their colors.

Every morning at 10 o'clock a Dr. T., who was taking out a full hospital corps and equipment, gave lectures to his staff. As soon as I heard this I explained to him my situation and my desire to fit myself to be of better use, and he cordially invited me to attend the lectures.

Miss Curtis had placed me in the care of a charming American woman who had lived for twenty years in England, but in spite of a very calm trip, she managed somehow to be sick most of the way over, and I saw very little of her.

Naturally I was in no mood for forming new acquaintances, so that these talks each morning helped me greatly to banish the past and to keep my mind fixed on the future.

I spent the afternoons reading or dozing in my chair, lulled by the glinting sunlit waves and the soft swish of the water against the steamer's sides.

Dr. T. and his wife were unfailingly kind and often sat with me for hours. One day we were together on deck when a tall athletic young man passed.

"That's an Indian officer," said the doctor, as he strode by.

"Who is it?" asked his wife.

"Oh, I don't know which particular one he is," he replied, smiling. "It's just the type; I would know it anywhere—tall, lean, bronzed, good looking, a certain unconscious air of command, and a military bearing!"

"He does look an Englishman, but I am not prepared to grant all the rest," she replied.

The subject dropped, and a day or so passed with no further allusion to it. And then late one afternoon as we were walking we met this same Englishman again.

"Oh, by the way," Mrs. T. said, speaking to her husband, "you were right, dear. He is an English officer—Captain Ian Frazer—coming home from India. He was out of the harbor from Yokohama when war was declared and had to come on this way."

"You seem to know his history pretty thoroughly," he laughed.

"Oh—Celeste, of course!" and turning to me she said:

"My maid is a perfect ferret. I sometimes think as a maid she's a waste of good timber—that the secret service should have."

"Oh, they are all like that!" the doctor said. "Most of the gossip of a ship comes first and last through such sources." After a moment's reflection he exclaimed: "Oh, that's the chap they were telling me about in the smoking room this morning! He has just been on duty at the Khyber pass"—

"Khyber pass!" That was the last outpost of civilization that father and his party would have passed through before going into Afghanistan. Poor father! He had to give up that long dreamed of trip to come to us.

He had told me so many stories of that picturesque spot I began to be keenly interested in the conversation. "You know, Myrtlew," the doctor said—I was always so glad to hear him use her quaint name—"the Khyber Pass Rifles is one of the crack regiments of India, and its officers are chosen from the unmarried fellows of all the Indian army. It takes courage and initiative plus to make good there, and it is considered a great honor to be given that post. It was of that regiment that the present crown prince of Germany, when in India several years ago, wished to be made honorable colonel."

"And was he?" I asked quickly.

"No. I believe Sir George Ruse Keppel was elected."

"Why, I wonder, was he not given it?" asked his wife.

"Well, my dear, you will have to ask Captain Frazer. I am sure he could tell you. It does not follow that he will. Still, you could ask," he added good humoredly.

"Nonsense!" she laughed, and stopped suddenly, as at that moment we met the man of whom we had been speaking.

I was interested in seeing him after hearing the story, especially in thinking that it would have been his men who would have picketed the pass for them had father gone there. I looked at him. He was all Dr. T. had said, only his big violet blue eyes were soft, even wistful. How could he be the daring soldier they had described. I wondered, when suddenly I noticed the firm chin, the determined mouth. After all, the government that had chosen him for the lonely and dangerous duty at Khyber pass had doubtless chosen well, for with his evident strength of body and will—his eyes indicated humanity, understanding, sympathy—qualities essential to a leader of men.

It was not until two days before the voyage ended that I made his acquaintance and then under very peculiar and unpleasant circumstances. I was sitting in my steamer chair rather late, in fact, very late—it was nearly midnight. There was little light on deck—the windows were painted a deep green for fear of attacks from one of the enemy's cruisers—and the deck was deserted except for myself and two men, who appeared to be strangers to each other.

One of these I noticed idly seemed to be frightfully nervous. He kept pacing up and down with the short, jerky tread of a man under intense strain. The other man I observed because of the striking contrast. He was a tall, soldierly looking man of that particular type and figure which, I was to learn later, belongs to no other nation than England. He moved with an easy grace that betokened assurance and bore an unmistakable air of command. After he had passed once or twice I suddenly recognized him—it was Captain Frazer.

The two men were moving up and down on my side of the deck, so that when the Englishman was at the turn nearest the bow the other was at the stern end of the deck, while I was between them.

I was speculating idly on the past lives and future destinies of two such contrasting types when the smaller man reached the turn and, instead of facing me again, suddenly flung one arm into the air, gave a half stifled cry and then sprang to the rail.

Perhaps my experience in nursing helped me to understand, for his gesture and cry brought me to my feet, and when an instant later he began rather clumsily to climb the rail I found myself, without stopping to think, racing down the deck toward him. Behind me I heard the Englishman call out and then his feet steps overtaking me, but there was no time to pause, and I raced on, nearer and nearer to the unhappy man, who now stood trembling on the summit of the rail, clinging to the stanchion.

Just as I reached him he released his hold and swayed outward, but I was in time to fling my arms round his legs, and, though his weight almost pulled me over the rail, I managed to retain my hold for an instant. The next moment brought the Englishman to my side, and he, clutching the man's clothes in a vise-like grip, dragged him back to safety.

He lay on the deck between us, where the Englishman had dropped him. A moment later he sat up and begged us piteously not to tell of what had happened. We promised on condition that he would see the ship's doctor immediately. This he consented to do, and together we helped him, white faced and trembling, below.

I was rather shaken by this revelation of misery, and after thanking the Englishman for his presence of mind, and being congratulated by him in turn, I went at once to my cabin.

Next morning Captain Frazer told me the man's story. He was an Austrian nobleman who had had an unfortunate love affair in the United States and had determined to return to his native land. Then the war had come, and with it knowledge of the misfortunes of his own country and, more particularly, of his own family. Hardly knowing what he did, the man had taken the steamer, without realizing until after the boat sailed that he must inevitably be interned when he reached England. This last misfortune had temporarily unbalanced his reason, and the scene on the deck in which I had assisted was the result. Captain Frazer assured me that he was much calmer now, and that the doctor felt certain he would not repeat his attempt of the night before.

His story finished, he bowed courteously and left me. I did not see him again until we had landed at Liverpool.

While we sat waiting for the examiner I heard Captain Frazer, not far away, speak a few words to his valet—a man who looked as if he might be pronunciously ill, but who today was so beaming with happiness that he seemed rejuvenated.

At something he said Captain Frazer laughed and replied, "Oh, you are generally right, Shipman," in a tone of such friendliness that I felt he must be an old family servant. Then Captain Frazer turned around suddenly, came over to me and said pleasantly:

"Can I do anything for you?"

"No; thanks," I answered warmly, for I was sincerely grateful for this little friendliness. We felt rather alone and lonely, mademoiselle and I. He paused a second, and said:

"Goodby! Perhaps we shall meet again. The world is small.' I think it must have been Adam who said that," he added, with a subtle twinkle lighting up his eyes.

I replied, smiling, "Anyway, Cain knew better."

He laughed, lifted his hat and was gone.

My eyes were still following him when I heard a voice say: "Goodby, milord! Goodby, milady!" I turned and saw the old valet, bareheaded, bowing and smiling in reply to a friendly nod from a lady in a waiting limousine. He seemed suddenly to remember himself and as he did spoke with a little chuckle to a maid standing near:

"I said to my gentleman last night as he was dressing, 'I look to see your mother at the dock tomorrow, sir.' 'Nousense, Shipman,' he said. But I saw all the same that he was hoping it himself. It's been four years since we went out to India. Four years is a long while, especially in war times," he added soberly.

We had brought over with us, by Dr. Curtis' advice, numerous trunks containing all kinds of things necessary for a field hospital, so our stay at the customs was rather long. Shipman insisted on remaining and closing the last trunk. "It's the captain's orders, miss." And Shipman had served too long with a soldier to allow anything to swerve him.

We left the station at 9 o'clock and rode down to London in the lovely misty sunshine, going through the soft rolling hills, wet with dew and overhung with violet shadows. I found myself drawn with a peculiar indescribable affection for this emerald world. Had my ancestors been English I might have explained the pull at my heartstrings in that way; but being French I gave it up and abandoned myself to watching the hills, the black faced sheep and the picturesque cottages until we reached London.

Some one has said, "After all, since life is a figment of the brain, built up notions of things are far more impressive often than the actuality." London to the initiated means a rainfire of names, a swirl of memories, vast reputations, history, poetry, noble ideals, recollections of great deeds.

We were leaving for Paris the next morning, so mademoiselle and I spent the afternoon buying various articles that Dr. T. had suggested, as his report from France was that most hospital supplies were failing. We returned to our hotel late and tired, but mademoiselle insisted we go down to dine. I think she thought I needed the change. But it wasn't a gay experience. The dining room was almost deserted. There were not more than a half dozen tables occupied.

Sitting next to us was a party of four—a mother, father and son, the fourth being a young English girl who, I felt instinctively, was not of the same family. She was tall and sleuder, with a lovely white and pink coloring, such as I had never seen before. It made her appear to me as unreal as Undine and as beautiful. Masses of shining blond hair framed her face. She fascinated me, and unconsciously my eyes turned again and again to that table. The young man was a soldier. I was beginning already to know the type. Tall, clean cut, he looked the scion of a long race.

Their conversation had the familiarity of a devoted family and was uninteresting to the outsider. We soon knew that the younger soldier was going on the morrow to the front and that the lovely girl was his fiancee. The others talked a good deal, but the young girl said little. It was as if she did not trust herself. Her great wide blue eyes were scarcely ever, even for a moment, taken from the young officer. Once I heard her say something about "the great danger," at which the young man leaned toward her, and there was in his voice a note I had never heard. He spoke with deep conviction. I shall never forget his words:

"You must remember, dear, individuals cannot count. We are writing a new page of history. Future generations cannot be allowed to read of the decline of the British empire and attribute it to us. We live our little lives and die, and to some are given the chance of proving themselves men, and to others no chance comes. Whatever our individual faults, virtues or qualities may be, it matters not, but when we are up against big things we must forget individuals and act as one great British unit, united and fearless. Some will live, and many will die, but count not the loss. It is better far to go out with honor than survive with shame."

As he was speaking I watched the faces of his hearers. There came into the eyes of his mother an expression almost exalted—it even flickered in the great, soft eyes of the girl, but only a moment, and then there fell over them a heavy, dull curtain of pain. Her expression hurt me, and I looked away, for I had a premonition of happiness foredoomed to sorrow—that this hopeless expression had come to stay.

The mother probably felt just as deeply, but she had—fortitude—a mask that was never raised. Only the eyes of God, I was to learn, are permitted to see naked an Englishwoman's soul.

SLAVS TAKE BAIBURT

Swift Advance Is Made Against Turks in Caucasus.

Grand Duke Nicholas' Forces Have Not Only Captured Important City, but Have Occupied a Whole Line of Turkish Villages—Turks Are Resisting Desperately Near Mochan but Without Success.

LONDON, July 17.—The official statement from Petrograd regarding the fighting on the Caucasus front announces swift advance by the Russian troops and headlong retreat by the Turks in a number of sectors. The capture on Saturday night of the important city of Baiburt is announced together with the occupation of a whole line of Turkish villages. South-west of Mochan the Turks are showing desperate resistance, but the fighting is in favor of the Russians.

In the region of Izzindjan 18 Turkish officers and 1,000 Askaris, with a machine gun, were taken. A Cossack detachment also cut off and captured 20 officers and 282 Askaris and a machine gun, as well as regimental records, stores, and ammunition. On the upper Tchoruk important progress was made, and the Russians are consolidating the captured positions.

South-west of Mush the Russians dislodged the Turks from all their strongly fortified positions. A Turkish division, recently arrived from Tbrace, abandoned its tents and retreated, partly towards the Eastern Euphrates and partly in the direction of Diarbekr.

The official report says:

"Black Sea: During the last cruise one of our torpedo boats sank 26 sailing boats.

"Caucasus: On the night of the 16th our brave Caucasian army carried by assault Baibart, which is an important strategic point of communication. In many sectors the Turks fell back in haste, destroying their depots. In this region and in the basin of the upper Tchoruk we made a further considerable advance and consolidated the Turkish positions which we had captured.

"Thus during the recent days our valiant army, with its well known pluck and courage, gained a series of battles in the regions of Baibart, Mamakhatun, and Mush."

Russians Force Teutons to Retreat.

PETROGRAD, July 17.—In Volhynia the Russians in the region of Ostroff and Goubine have put down heavy Teutonic attacks, launched in mass formation, and forced the Teutons to retreat to avoid the danger of being outflanked, according to the Russian official communication issued Sunday evening. Upwards of 3,000 men were captured in the fighting. The official statement says:

"In Volhynia, in the region southeast of Svinitsky (in the vicinity of Lutsk), the enemy in mass formation took the offensive at several places. By energetic counter-attacks we repulsed them and continue to develop our success.

"On many sectors in the region of Ostroff and Goubine we overthrew the enemy despite his stubborn resistance, and he retreated hastily, owing to the danger of being outflanked. One of our regiments captured here one heavy and one light battery. We also took numerous cannon which had been installed in fortified positions.

WEDGE IN ENEMY LINE

Russians Endeavoring to Widen Breach at Toboly.

Capture of Cherwische Farm and Village of Toboly on the Western Bank of the Stokhod River Gives Big Advantage to Russian Forces —Hard Fighting in Carpathian Passes.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Both Petrograd and Berlin in Sunday's official statements regarding the eastern front claim successes in the fighting that has been raging without pause for the last 24 hours on the Stokhod sector between Rudka and Cherwische, about 40 miles north-east of Kovel. The Russian War Office reports the capture of the Cherwische farm and of the village of Toboly, three miles to the west and on the western bank of the Stokhod. This village was officially reported in Russian hands in Saturday's Petrograd statement, but since has changed hands several times. "It finally remained in our possession, says Sunday's report, adding that six officers and 600 men were made prisoners.

Berlin, on the other hand, reports a successful Teuton counter-attack in this region and the capture of six officers and 367 men. The German War Office statement adds that the "combat still continues," and indirectly admits Russian progress by referring to Russian troops "which pushed forward on the western bank," though it is asserted that Muscovite attacks here were repulsed.

By the capture of Toboly the Russians have driven a three-mile deep wedge into Gen. von Linsingen's front on this line, and are now endeavoring to widen the breanch.

Indirect admission that the town of Jablonica, east of the Carpathian pass of the same name, has been retaken by the Teutons since its capture by the Russians several days ago, is contained in Sunday's Petrograd report, which says that the Teutons were "driven back to Jablonica and Voronika (Woroniejka), three miles to th esouth-east."

A slight Russian advance is claimed by Petrograd 29 miles to the east, on the River Bialy-Czeremosz, near the town of Dolhopole.

Berlin reports the capture by German troops of the Kreta Heights, south of Zabie, in the foothills of the Carpathians, and the repulse of Russian counter-attacks at Magura Height, to the south-east.

Russian troops were driven from advanced trenches east of Kizelin, in Volhynia, south-east of Kovel, according to the German statement.

A battle rages on the north-eastern slope of the Czerna-Rora ridge, where the Russians are trying to break through to open their road to the Hungarian plains. Their attacks from east of Tartar, or Jablonica Pass, temporarily abandoned because of the stubborn Teuton resistance, the Muscovites now are trying to force the pass by swooping down upon the defenders from the north. Vienna Sunday night asserted that "strong attacks" broke down under the Teuton barrier fire. The Austrian War Office also claims the repulse of a Russian attack south of Horozonka, where the Russians are endeavoring to pierce Count von Bothmer's front east of Halics.

DEMANDS EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

President Wilson Sends a Note to Railroad Executives.

WASHINGTON Aug. 21.—President Wilson indirectly served notice on the railroad executives Sunday that he had no intention of yielding in his demand for an eight-hour day as a means of settling the threatened strike. He also made clear his position on arbitration. He said:

"What I am proposing does not weaken or discredit the principle of arbitration. It strengthens it, rather.

"It proposes that nothing be conceded except the eight-hour day, to which the whole economic movement of the time seems to point, and the immediate creation of an agency for determining all arbitrable elements in this case in the light, not of predictions nor forecasts, but of established and ascertained facts."

The direct effect of this strategic move from the White House was somewhat bewildering to the railway executives. They have heard from leaders of the brotherhoods and Congressional sources that as a last resort the President will appeal to Congress for temporary Federal receiverships.

Lloyd George Says All is Well.

CRICCIETH, Wales, Aug. 21.—In a speech Saturday night to his fellow townsmen here, David Lloyd George, Minister of War, said:

"I am satisfied with the way things are going. I feel for the first time in two years that the nippers are gripping, and before long we will shear them crack. Then we will be able to extract the kernel.

"I say at once that we shall see that there will not be another war in our day. The British people have made greater sacrifices than we ever thought possible. Three years ago nobody dreamed that Great Britain would pour millions of young manhood into the battlefront. The vigor of our demand must be according to the measure of our sacrifices."

Jumped Into Niagara and to Death.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 20. —Edward McQuade, who resides in Bridge street, employed by McRae and Campaigne, contractors, committed suicide early Sunday afternoon by jumping from the lower steel arch bridge into the Niagara River. He made the jump from the north side of the American portion of the bridge. McQuade left his coat and hat on the bridge. These articles of clothing established the identity of the suicide.

Guardships Were Armed Trawlers.

BRITISH PENETRATE SINAI.

Two British Columns Have Gone 60 Miles Into the Interior.

LONDON, July 17.—Two British column have just completed successful operations on the Sinai Peninsula, where Turkish and Arabian bands have been making raids along the Suez Canal. The columns, operating from Tor and Abu Zeeneima, on the Sinai shore of the Gulf of Eues, penetrated 60 miles into the desert and hostile country.

"Prisoners and live stock were captured," says a War Office statement. "Despite opposition and sniping the British suffered no casualties."

The official report says:

"The commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean expeditionary force, telegraphing Saturday, reports that two columns operating from Tor and Abu Zeeneima, on the Sinai shore of the Gulf of Sues, have returned to their bases after successful raids on the enemy posts in the peninsula.

"Sixty miles of difficult country were traversed, prisoners were taken and live stock was secured. Despite opposition and considerable sniping no casualties were sustained by either of the columns."

FIGHTING IN BALKANS.

Enemy Trying to Anticipate the Big Allied Advance.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Reports received here from Salonica show that the general engagement which began on Friday is continuing with intensity over an extended front, running from Florina, near Monastir, to the River Struma. This represents an irregular line measuring upwards of 150 miles.

Gen. Sarrail is directing the united operations of the Allies, with Gen. Cordonnier commanding the French troops. The operations have been long expected as a part of the coordinated offensive of the Allies on all fronts. Its opening follows the arrival of General Cordonnier after extended conferences with officials here.

The advices received in Paris indicate that the Germans and Bulgarians are seeking to anticipate the movement by taking the offensive on the left, where the Serbians had established up to within 25 miles of Monastir, holding Florina as an observation post. Their orders were not to attempt to retain Florina if they were attacked. The Serbian War Office says the Bulgarians were repulsed and thrown back on their old positions, but that later the Serbians, following their instructions, evacuated Florina. Thereupon the town and the station of Florina were occupied by the Bulgarians.

The Serbians retired slowly, and later delivered a heavy counter-attack against a large Bulgarian force which was debouching from Florina toward Banica. Fighting continues in this region.

In the centre French and British forces near Lake Doiran followed an intense bombardment with infantry attacks, in which the British contingent occupied the strategic point of Doldzeli. Further east the French right rushed a series of small villages in much the same manner as the French right carried the villages on the Somme front.

Reports in general show a condition of affairs along the whole line which is regarded here as satisfactory for the Allies. There is every indication that the preliminary operations are extending rapidly.

LIGHT CRUISERS SUNK.

Nottingham and Falmouth Come to Grief on Scouting Expedition.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Two British light cruisers, the Nottingham and Falmouth, were sunk on Saturday in the North Sea by German submarines while the vessels were searching for the German high seas fleet, said to comprise fifteen warships, including large cruisers. One German submarine was destroyed by the British. Both vessels was rammed and possibly sunk, according to the Admiralty statement, which follows:

"Reports from our lookout squadrons and other units showed that there was considerable activity on the part of the enemy in the North Sea Saturday, the 19th.

"The German high seas fleet came out, but learning from their scouts that the British forces were in considerable strength, the enemy avoided an engagement and returned to port.

"In searching for the enemy we lost two cruisers by submarine attack—H.M.S. Nottingham, Captain C.B. Miller, and H.M.S. Falmouth, Captain John Edwards.

"All the officers of the former were saved, but 38 of the crew are missing. All the officers and men of the Falmouth are saved, but one leading stoker, Norman Fry, died of injuries.

"An enemy submarine was destroyed and another was rammed and possibly sunk.

"There is no truth in the German statement that a British destroyer was sunk and a British battleship damaged."

ALBANIA IN REVOLT.

Inhabitants Have Organized Bands Against the Austrians.

ROME, Aug. 21.—Information from Albania is to the effect that the whole country is in a state of revolt. Taking advantage of the weakness of the Austrian garrisons the Albanians have formed numerous bands, which overrun the country, robbing and killing and laying waste.

The Austrian garrisons are in a critical condition, all communication being broken, and help by sea being difficult on account of the watch kept by the allied fleets in the Adriatic. Sanguinary fighting is continually taking place between Austrians and Albanians. The Austrian commander in Albania has asked for reinforcements.

The situation is equally grave in Montenegro.

Rowboat Upset by Steamer.

SARNIA, Aug. 20. — Rowing across the lower end of Lake Huron just above the mouth of the river here on Sunday morning, three Detroit young men named Albert Falkner, James Shankland, and John Wilson, had a narrow escape from death when their boat was run down by an up-bound steamer. The men had just rowed out of the path of a boat coming into the river and did not notice the other boat until it was too late to get out of the way. The steamer stopped as soon as possible and put out a lifeboat, which picked up Wilson and Falkner, who were swimming feebly. Shouts from shoreward drew their attention, and there they found Shankland, who was a good swimmer. Wilsons' home is in Strathroy, but he is working in Detroit. The boat was totally destroyed.

Will Withdraw Troops from Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—President Wilson has taken the first steps towards withdrawing General Pershing's expeditionary force from Mexico. High army officials predicted Saturday that all American troops would be out of Mexico by September 15th.

ATTACKS ARE REPULSED

German Counter-Offensive Fails of Results.

Sunday Sees Terrific Assaults on the New British Front West of Delville Wood — General Foch's Troops Resume Their Drive and Capture a Strongly Fortified Wood Near Guillemont.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Both on the Somme and before Verdun fighting of the most desperate character continued Sunday, marking the fourth day of the renewed struggle in the former theatre and the second day of terrific clashes in the new Meuse action.

In both regions the day for the most part was marked by heavy German counter-attacks. According to late reports from the British and French War Offices these were uniformly unsuccessful.

A slight lull during the late hours of Saturday and through Saturday night in Picardy was broken Sunday by a series of terrific attacks on the new British front west of the Delville wood. The Germans swept forward in their first assault just about the noon hour, and succeeded in breaking into the newly-consolidated British trenches. They were immediately taken under a heavy fire and beset by infantry attacks with the result that they were driven from the positions.

Meanwhile, to the south, the British and French, in hard-fought actions, scored local successes on short fronts. The British pushed forward for some distance north of Bazentin-le-Petit, further increasing the menace to Martinpuich, which is now under the continuous fire of their guns.

Gen. Foch's French troops also were busy. Quickly recuperating in the short respite granted them following their stupendous efforts of the previous two days, they resumed Sunday afternoon their campaign to isolate Guillemont. Their success was marked by the capture of a strongly-fortified wood between that village and Maurepas, together with a great quantity of war material which it contained.

The German artillery fire is increasing in intensity all along the front between the Ancre and the Somme and the British positions, especially, are under almost continuous bombardments. From all indications the Germans have greatly strengthened this army by new batteries, and are replying in almost even ratio to the British.

A War Office statement from there Sunday brought out the fact that the great effort of the French and British on Friday was launched with fully 200,000 men, more than 16,000 men to each mile of the front of attack—a soldier to every yard. The statement, covering the comparative lull of Saturday afternoon and Sunday night, had little to report on the present fighting, making mention only of the repulse of isolated British attacks.

At Verdun the battle reached a high pitch of fury during Sunday night, with both armies alternately launching great attacks on the shell-swept Thiaumont-Fleury front. Berlin admits that the French "penetrated" Fleury. The French War Office had already reported the complete capture of the town and Sunday announced the repulse of terrific attacks directed against it by the German Crown Prince. Neither side gained on the rest of this front, although thousands of men met in continuous hand-to-hand clashes throughout the hours of darkness.

TO ATTACK VIA GREECE?

Teutons Will Violate Neutrality of Constantine's Country.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—That it is the intention of Bulgaria to launch a general attack against the Entente armies on Greek soil is the information conveyed to Premier Zaimis of Greece by the Bulgarian Minister at Athens, M. Pessoff, according to a Central News despatch from the Greek capital.

Another despatch received by way of Copenhagen quotes the official Bulgarian newspaper as saying that Bulgaria expects the same treatment at the hands of Greece as that accorded the Entente.

"Our troops must fight on Greek soil, taking the offensive now, in order to forestall Serrail," the newspaper adds.

Bulgarian troops have occupied considerable sections of Greek territory for months without serious protest from Athens, and the opinion is expressed that Greece has a secret agreement with Germany whereby the invasion will be tolerated in return for the Greek occupation of Southern Albania, the latter of which was announced at Athens some months ago.

In order to allay fear among the Greek populace, however, Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria, is reported in a Central News despatch from Sofia to have advised the Sobranje, the Bulgarian Parliament, that the Bulgarian advance is being made in order to ensure beneficial and a stronger line. He expressed the Government's hope that it would not cause fresh complications.

Found Dead in Chair.

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—Sitting in a chair in a room at 167½ Richmond street west, a man whose identity is unknown was found dead Sunday morning. The discovery was made by Henry LaBeau, who keeps the rooming house. Le Beau told the police that the dead man had been rooming there for about a week, but that he never volunteered any information regarding himself. Nothing was found in the dead man's effects which gave any clue to his identity beyond a Prudential insurance policy, numbered 39,573,317, which was made out to Mrs. Susan J. May, and dated November 8th, 1915. The body was removed to the City Morgue.

The long dry spell has made a big difference at the creamery, in fact that institution has suffered a reduction in its output to the extent of 3000 pounds. This being general it is no wonder that the price of butter is soaring and creamery butter is now quoted wholesale at 31½ to 32 cents.

Newspaper publishers are up against a real problem. Either more revenue must be found or costs of production curtailed. The problem is as acute for the town and village weekly as for the Metropolitan daily. Just now the weekly publishers fancy an increase of subscription price from one dollar per year to one dollar and a half will meet their case. In many instances the resulting increase in revenue will not more than cover the actual rise in the publisher's personal expenditures, leaving nothing to cover the many and serious advances in paper, ink, metal and wages.—Simcoe Reformer.

Last Thursday evening the steamer Soo City ran a moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Young Ladies Red Cross Society. The excursion was a great success and two things contributed towards this result. The day was exceedingly warm and the people wanted to enjoy the cool breezes on the bay, and then the Young Ladies Red Cross Society have made a success of everything they have undertaken. Tickets were freely bought and over 300 were on board. The Wiarton's Citizens band was there and it is not too much to say that the band is getting into most excellent form and promises to be the best band in the history of the town. It is worthy of notice that the great majority on an excursion now belong to the fair sex, the men are either at the front or in training.

On Tuesday the colors were presented to the Grey battalion at Camp Borden by Warden A. E. Cordingley, Shallow Lake. Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hunter motored to Camp Borden to witness the presentation

In spite of the recent recruiting the harvest excursion to the West last week took quite a number from this point. Of course the number who went was not as large as those of years ago, but when 51 can be got together for this excursion it is something pretty good. Those who went were quite young 17 or 18 being about the average age.

Unless the unexpected happens potatoes will be a poor crop this fall. They will be "small potatoes and few in a hill" The long dry spell has utterly ruined the crop. A farmer, who had one acre planted, informed us that he would scarcely have enough for his own use. At present potatoes are 60 cents per peck, or about one cent each.

The fall fair directors met Saturday and decided to endeavor to secure the Bruce battalion band for the big day at the fair. There is every reason why their request should be granted. This end of the County responded quickly and cheerfully to the call for recruits, and there is no other place where the people are more anxious to see the band than here.

The Listowel Banner says:—The $1.50 subscription rate went into effect on August 1. Since then The Banner has received a number of renewals at the advanced rate, and in no instance whatever since the change went into effect has any customer offered the slightest objection to paying the increased rate We are glad in the confirmation of our belief that our readers would consider the circumstances and recognize the reasonableness of the move.

The summer of 1916 will pass down in history as the hottest one ever known in Canada, at least within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. It was thought the torrid spell would not last much longer than July but the heat of the present month seems just as trying. On Sunday it was 96 degrees in the shade, and on Monday it was as hot as ever, but to-day it looks like cool weather is here at last.

The Market Prices—When the Echo quotes a price we are not sure that it is the highest price that can be obtained. For instance we quote butter this week at 23 cents. It is just possible that if a merchant is out and needs some for his customers that he will pay higher. In fact the produce buyer told us this week that 23 cents is the market price, and that is all he can pay because he has to ship to Toronto and sell there, but one merchant has informed us that he will pay 25 cents, another that he will pay 27 cents. This is all due to the fact that butter is scarce, and there is not sufficient for home consumption. Eggs are quoted at 23 cents, all the merchants are agreed upon this price. We give this explanation because we have been told that our market prices are not reliable. A market price is simply what it can be sold for elsewhere, but a local market price may be much higher. Hogs sold at $11.60. Wheat is quoted at $1.10 per bushel and oats at 55cents. New oats have not begun to come in yet, they are expected to bring about 50 cents.

Killed In Action

Another Wiarton boy has made the supreme sacrifice. On Tuesday Mr. Alex Day received the following dispatch, from Ottawa.

"Deeply regret to inform you that 142033 Pte Acn Day, infantry, officially reported killed in action, August 19th,—Record office

Pte. Day was born in Purple Valley, and died for his country "somewhere in Flanders." Only last Saturday his parents received a letter from him after he had been 10 days in the trenches, and he was feeling well. He went over with the first contingent, but was forced to undergo an operation in England and returned to Canada. Having regained his health he was determined to get to the front and enlisted with the 76th Barry battalion. Mr. Day has another son at the front, and still another in the navy. The residents of Wiarton will have the most profound sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Day, who have shown their loyalty to their country.

The Great White Plague

Last Sunday evening in the town hall after the church services, Rev. J. H. Dyke, Field Secretary of Muskoka Free Hospital, gave a lecture on tuberculosis.

The lecturer showed the slow and deadly nature of the progress of disease in the air cells and in the lung. He emphasized the importance of early diagnosis and pointed out that very many jeopardize their recovery by delaying to seek the remedy in time. He pointed out many methods of prevention which all could practice, showed the good work the Muskoka Free Hospital is doing for poor consumptives of the province. He indicated the situation in Ontario in an interesting and instructive way. In the absence of the Mayor Mr. Allan, postmaster, was chairman. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

The Cape Croker Indian Reserve

A Sketch of Indian Life at the Reserve and Their Different Institutions

"Kiminoodapinigom." This is the Indian way of saying "You are welcome," and to strangers going to the reserve the truthsis immediately shown by the hearty welcome given them by the Indians.

Cape Croker is an ideal spot. Its natural beauty and scenery could not be surpassed. For one who has never visited Cape Croker a great pleasure is yet in store From different points of interest views of the bay may be seen which linger long in one's memory.

The Indians are descendants of the famous Hurons, commonly known as the Objibimay nation. In the time of Jacques Cartier the Hurons had made their home along Lake Huron and the Georgian Bay. About 1854 the present clan came from Brookholm, near Owen Sound, they surrendered their home there, and came to Cape Croker to live.

The Different Chiefs

The chief is elected every three years by the people, and it is the merit of the man that brings to him the high distinction of being "chief". Peter Jones, the father of the present chief, was the first chief in the history of the reserve. He was succeeded by Chief McGregor, who had the honor of holding that position for thirty years. Of course everything did not go his way; the Indians rose against him several times, but the Indian Department would not accept his resignation until a few months before his death. Although, a Roman Catholic himself, Chief McGregor was noted for being extremely just to both Protestant and Roman Catholics, and any talk of bigotry in council was put down with a firm hand while he ruled. Chief McGregor spoke English perfectly, and the Cape had great prosperity under him.

Chief Edward Keesig was next elected. Both of Keesig's sons are soldiers with the 119th Battalion.

Chief Charles Jones is the present ruler. He was re-elected on the 1st of June for his second term. Chief Jones brother, Tom Jones, is the teacher at Little Port Elgin school. Chief Jones' son, John, is Sergeant of the Bruce 160th Battalion.

Pay Masters or Indian Agents

The home for the Pay Master was built about forty years ago, but so far Mr. A. Duncan has been the only "master" who has resided at the Cape.

The first pay-master was Mr. Jermyn, of Wiarton. He was well liked as he took a great interest in their farming.

Mr. McIvor, of McIvor, succeeded Mr. Jermyn, and he in turn was succeeded by Mr. E. Parke, of Wiarton. Mr. A. Duncan went there about five years ago, and resigned his position only last month. Mr. Duncan, while residing at the Cape, had staunch friends on all sides of him. He took such an interest in their farming, and not only in their work but in their sports, that they consider him one of their best friends.

Twice a year, May and October, pay day comes. Each Indian receives fifteen dollars, if under twenty-one years the father receives the money. Upon an Indian either coming of age or being married, he or she, receives twenty-five acres of land. They may buy more from the department if they wish.

Since the war has broken out the men have realized more and more the value of money, and are now banking it, a custom which they never thought of before. The separation allowances are made good use of by the women. It is either banked or spent on necessities, not squandered as it used to be. The wife of a soldier receives $59 a month.

On pay day; which is also a fete day, a dinner and entertainment is given. The money derived is used alternately for the Protestant or Catholic Church. One of the men receives from the government each year two hundred and seventy dollars.

The Churches

The present Catholic Church is the third building in the Cape's history. It is a beautiful structure and cost $6000. The Indians borrowed this money from the Indian Department at Ottawa, and refunded the sum in five years out of their annuity money. The church was built in 1886. An interesting and sad episode in connection with the building of the church was this: The architects after finishing the church, were anxious to get to Wiarton. There was a storm on the bay, but they persuaded John Taylor against his will to take them in his sailboat to Wiarton. Taylor, himself, was the only survivor. He said that due to the waves and the wind the boat capsized, and he was saved by drifting on a spar Taylor lived until 1908. The church is situated on the summit of a hill, and commands a view of the whole countryside and the bay. The Priest's house is very close to the church. The first Priest was Father Artus. He was from France, and had learned the Indian language before coming to the Cape. He was two years at the Cape. Father Cadot, of Montreal, immediately succeeded Father Artus. To attempt to speak of Father Cadot's love for the Indians or theirs for him would be useless, for it seemingly is boundless. Father Cadot is a highly educated man, and can, in fact, speak fluently eight different languages. He is a broad minded man, very intellectual, lovable and always interested in the welfare of his devotees. His house is theirs. This is very interesting to note: the Indians come and go at their own free will and are always showing in some way their great love for him. Father Cadot is also a great recruiting officer. Although it almost broke his heart to see his "boys" enlist for active service, he told them with a cheerful smile that it was the way of honor and the only course for them to follow. Father Cadot is not only looked up to by the Catholics but all those of other denominations who know him reverence him also.

The Methodist Church is situated across from the council hall. It is a very pretty building, fairly large, and is in all ways adaptable to the community. Rev. Bottomhammer was the first minister. He stayed but a short time and was succeeded by Rev. Mr. Glazier. Rev. Mr. Nelson, of the North West, Rev. Rogers, of Stokes Bay, and Rev. Mr Neil, of United States, preached in turn, but each only stayed a short while. Rev. Drew, of England, came immediately on Rev. Neil's departure. Rev. Drew was a soldier of the Boer war and still retains as a memento a bullet in his shoulder. Miss Drew was, while at the Cape, a nurse in the hospital, but had to resign at last on account of poor health. Rev. J. Hilditch, of Dyers Bay, filled Rev. Drew's place, upon his resigning. Rev. Hilditch's sons, William and John, are both members of the Bruce 160th Battalion.

The Hospital

A hospital in any community is a great benefit, and at Cape Croker a well-equipped hospital such as they have is a great advantage. It was built by the Indian Department, Ottawa, for the Indians of Ontario so that they could be taken proper care of; especially is it for contagious diseases where it is necessary to isolate the patients. It has one matron and two student nurses. In the past two years it has been greatly improved, a whole wing being added to the house. In it so far, although they have had some very serious cases, no deaths have occurred. The hospital is large enough to accommodate forty patients. It has a large garden in connection with it, and thus they have their own supplies for the patients.

The Schools

In connection with the Cape are three public schools. In the past twelve years there have been over fifteen pupils who have been successful in obtaining their entrance exam. This goes to show how the Indian intellect is developing. In the case of a child refusing to attend school they are taken charge of by either the Priest or Minister, and are sent respectively to the Spanish or Mansey schools. In the case of truancy they have a system which cannot be excelled. Every morning the truant officer visits each school, takes the names of the truants and if the offence occurs very often the names are put before the council and then sent to the Ottawa Department. The Indian Agent then receives orders to send these children to schools away from their homes.

While other schools have been talking of teaching their children gardening and other useful things, the Cape Croker school has gone ahead and "done" and in no small measure either. Each child is given a section or plot and it is under the supervision of the teacher, and he is responsible for the products. In connection with the school is a penny bank, and thus the youngsters are taught to save.

The Council

On the first Monday of every month the council meets. It is composed of the agent, who presides, the chief and four councillors. The councillors at present are S. Elliott, F. Akiwen, E. Jones and J. Akiwen. Nothing moved is finished unless approved by the department. As soon as answer comes from Ottawa the form becomes law. Elections are held once a year. They take place at the agent's home; the nomination in the morning and the election in the afternoon.

Industry

Upon the surrender of Brookholm the Indians were given 15000 acres of land at the Cape. Of this more than 2000 acres are already under cultivation. The secretary of the Farming Institute of Bruce said: Cape Croker is officially the best land of the whole peninsula for agriculture." They farm better every year, and it has been remarked that as soon as the war is over the Indians intend to devote their minds and strength energetically to that work. They do some fishing and lumbering, but farming is the main occupation.

Sports

The white people have nothing on the Indian when it comes to "sport." He can swim, run, ride, play baseball or dance equal to anyone. In their hall they have an organ, a pool table given by Father Cadot, and a dance hall. Their band is noted the country over. Joe Akewenzie is the present band master, and it is due to him that they have their splendid band. Akiwenzie has five sons with the 160th. No white man ever taught the Indians music, but for the Bruce Battalion Band they have four players and for the buglers three. They have a skating rink for boys and girls. It is a splendid rink 65 by 175 feet. The Indian boys are noted for being nimble on their feet, and are splendid hockey players. They have a fine playground in which baseball, football and other games are played.

Enlisting

Under Father Cadot's excellent spirit of patriotism every able bodied Indian on the Cape has enlisted. Lieut. Patterson trained the men all winter and they proved themselves to be excellent under the drill practice. They are a fine looking body of men in khaki, and will equal any body of white soldiers. They have made great sacrifices, one man for instance, leaving a wife and nine children to show his loyalty. By their unswerving loyalty to the crown they have given up more and answered better on a whole than the white boys. Father Cadot once said in reply to one of the Indians questioning him why an eligible white boy was in civilian clothes, made this both humorous and true answer "He is not intelligent enough."

Found $120 of Booze Joe Goetz Hepworth Fined $300 and Costs.

Joe Goetz must have expected to cross a desert on September 15th because, he laid in a big supply, it was just possible that he would not reach an oasis even in three years, so he provided against this contingency. But License Inspector Reany had suspicions that Joe had more booze on his premises than the law allowed for private consumption so on Tuesday he phoned Constable Ward that he would like him to come down to Hepworth at once, and when he got there the Inspector gave him a warrant to search Joe's butcher shop and residence, and the result was, that while Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard was bare, Rob found the stuff that made Milwaukee famous in every corner. There were bottles in the refrigerator, there was a five gallon keg, not even marked "whisky" nor "for private use", there was a demijohn about half full of rye whiskey, about six cases of porter also a bottle of gin, bottle of Scotch whiskey, port wine, etc. Joe evidently believes that variety is the spice of life, and is not struck upon any particular brand.

The trial came off before Messers Atcheson and Sutherland on Thursday, and the court was packed with farmers who had driven for miles to hear the case. The Magistrates could scarcely think that Joe needed that much for his own use, and fined him $300 and costs.

The Albemarle Telephone Co.

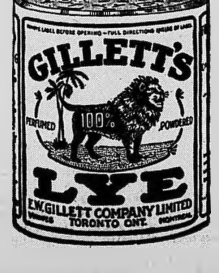
The above is the latest rural telephone company which will have connection with Wiarton. At present there are twenty shareholders, and the number will probably grow. The wires will touch Colpoys, Berford Lake, McIvor and Purple Valley on the start and the service will be extended elsewhere. The very best service will be installed. It is worthy of note that Bell Telephone subscribers can now talk to any spot in Albemarle free of charge. The secretary of this company is Mr. W. C. Hambly, Purple Valley.



"Pop!"

OWEN SOUND

The second annual Citizens' Day was held at Harrison Park last Wednesday afternoon in due form and was proclaimed by all a success. There was a good crowd in attendance and the jitneys and boat certainly had a day of it. The endeavour to make Harrison Park a popular resort for our citizens has borne fruit as proven by Wednesday's event. The crowd began to gather soon after noon most of the family parties bringing lunches and settling down in some shady place until over everywhere on the grounds they could be seen. The sports brought a crowd of one lookers as well as a crowd of participants and with an energetic sports committee in charge, everything went along smoothly. Just a few of the races listed were left out and there wasn't enough time to have the lacrosse match, even if enough men had turned up.

The citizens of Meaford on Monday evening extended an enthusiastic reception to Pte. Fred Whitelaw, who returned from France on Saturday evening, where for the past year he has been with the Motor Transport Corps, leaving Canada with the 23th Battalion. A torchlight procession, headed by the Citizens' Band and the patriotic gun-waggon, appropriately decorated and illuminated, met Pte. Whitelaw as he was conveyed from his home to the town about 8 o'clock. At the Market Square he was presented with addresses from the Town Council, the Daughters of the Empire, and the Women's Institute, to which he replied in suitable terms. In the course of his reply Pte Whitelaw said the opinion in France was that the war will not be over until next spring. He was granted permission to return home on furlough owing to his having received a cable message from Meaford, stating that his wife was seriously ill and not expected to recover.

To-morrow afternoon nearly 100 new telephones on the lines of the newly organized Keppel Telephone Co. will be opened to subscribers on the local exchange. For several months the work of construction has been under way and although handicapped seriously on account of shortage of labour, is now, complete and only a few minor details remain to be adjusted before the new system is opened up.

A large frame barn on the farm of Mr. Levi Atkins, near Meaford, was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday night. The contents included fifty tons of hay and a large number of farm implements.

A well-known Owen Sound girl, Miss Ella Ledlard, leaves on Thursday of this week for Japan to engage in missionary work. Miss Ledlard, who is a daughter of the late James Ledlard, and is the second of the family to go to the far East, her sister, Miss Mary Ledlard, having been engaged in missions in Tokio, Japan for a number of years. For some time Miss Ledlard has been Assistant Superintendent of the Methodist National Training School and will go to Japan in connection with the work carried on by the Methodist Church. On her way to Japan she will spend a few days with her brother, Mr. Herb Ledlard at Seattle, before sailing on the C. P. R. liner "Empress of Asia" from Vancouver on September 7th.

Southampton

Our merchants are paying 28c butter and 25c for eggs.

On Wednesday of last week the good folks in the White School section to the number of about one hundred and fifty held a picnic at Horseshoe Bay for the soldier boys who have been helping with the harvest for the last month. They had a real jolly time with bathing, base, ball; etc., and then sat down to a good lunch the ladies had provided. It will be a nice memory for the soldier boys to carry with them in the trenches.

Mr. John Rushton of North Bruce met with a most serious accident on Tuesday of last week. He fell out of the mow and on his way to the floor struck the grandary. His leg was broken near the thich and he was badly bruised, and it was thought that he was seriously injured internally, but as we go to press the report is that he is getting along fine, and bright hopes are entertained for his speedy recovery, which his many friends will hope may be the case.

Got Rid Of Bronthitis.

Mr. W. H. Walker, Calmar, Alta., writes:—"I am pleased to say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has done much good to myself, wife and children. My eldest girl, 7 years, had bronchitis and the doctor who attended her did not seem to do much good. We got Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for her and she soon got well. We always keep this medicine in the house now ready for use and find that it soon cures coughs and colds.

Pale, Weak Girls

Grow Into Weak Despondent Women—How to Overcome the Trouble.

Healthy Girlhood is the only path to healthy womanhood. The passing from womanhood lays a new tax upon the blood. It is the overtaxing of the blood that makes growing girls suffer from headaches and backaches, from paleness and weakness and weariness, from langour, despondency and constant ill health. Unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood and a life of misery. Nothing but the blood building qualities of Dr. Williams Pink Pills can save a girl when she undertakes the trials and tasks of womanhood. That is the time when nature makes new demands upon the blood supply Dr. Williams Pink Pills actually make new, rich blood to meet these new demands. In this simple scientific way Dr. Williams Pink Pills give growing girls new health and makes their dawning woman hood bright and attractive. Miss A. Sternberg, Haileybury Road, New Liskeard, Ont., says: "I have much reason to be grateful to Dr. Williams Pink Pills as they restored me to health, if, indeed, they did not save my life. In 1914 I began to feel run down, and the doctor who was called in said that mine was a bad case of anaemia. I lost flesh, always felt tired, and I got so nervous that I could scarcely hold a cup to take a drink. My heart would flutter alarmingly. The doctor did not seem able to help me at all and my family and friends all thought that I was in a decline and could not recover. I was in bed for some weeks when an aunt came to see me and urged that I try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. My father got a supply, and by the time I had taken three boxes there was a noticeable improvement, and from that on I steadily progressed toward recovery. I continued using the pills for some time longer, and they restored me to my old time health and strength. I shall never cease to praise this medicine and to urge all weak run down girls to give it a fair trial, as I have proved in my own case their great merit."

You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chesley

The Chesley Public School Board has turned down a request from the Canadian Defence League to petition the Minister of Education to establish cadet training in our public schools. Evidently the Board consider there is enough military training going on in this country.

David McGill of Saskatoon, Sask., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McGill of 2nd con. Elderslie, after an absence of 13 years. He has been an inspector for damages by hail for the past four years and he says the damages by hail will be greater this year than in the last three years. He came through a portion of U. S. on his way home and he says from 30 miles west of Winnipeg North of Dakota the hot weather in july played havoc with the crops making them almost impossible to harvest. Owners of threshing machines are demanding $200 per day. In Saskatchewan where the crops have not been destroyed by hail they are fairly good. Mr. McGill expects to visit here for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Matthew Wilson and son and daughter have arrived home, after spending a week with friends in North Keppel.

Tara

The first Farm Laborers' Excursion to the West this year left here on Saturday Sixteen purchased their tickets from C. R. VanDusen the local C. P. R. Agent. They were—Messers. Ed. Weppler, Louis J. Byers, Harry Ferris, Ed. Tambling, Wilmert Byers, John Hammell, W. W. Harris, Daniel Kobson, A. G. Porteus, T. J. Underwood, H. R. Kearns, W. W. Vance, Arthur Brant, Wm. G. Crawford, Stanley Harron and Dorsey Vance.

The condition of the roads in the rural sections is causing more criticism than has been heard for years. The roads in Arran Township are in a lamentable state and very little has been done this year to improve them. Some grading has been done, but what is mostly needed is gravel. Ruts and pitch-holes are so frequent that outside of the temperature one would imagine he was travelling on a drifted road in the winter. It is really too bad that a fine township like Arran should neglect the important factor of good roads. Arran has not got the proper system of making good roads. Statute Labor should be done away with and road making given over to men who make a business of that work. Derby Tp. abolished Statute Labor several years ago and to-day that township possesses some of the finest roads in the province.

On Sunday the call to the higher life came to Isabella Armstrong Riddel relict of the late Thomas R. Foster, who nine years ago received his call. Mrs Foster was born in Perth in 1830 and the last thirty years of her life were spent in Tara, where the was loved and honored by all. Her life was beautiful and all with whom she came in contact saw Christ reflected in ever-widened and word. Since 1909 Mrs. Foster has lived at the home of her son A. R. Foster, and during those years of failing strength she was faithfully by her son and his family. At the close of the beautiful Sabbath day came the summons the Christ she had served so well. One son and one daughter with their families are left with loving memories. On Wednesday Rev. W. S. Daniels conducted a short service at 1.15 p. m. at the home on Mill Road, and the remains were then taken to Clinton for burial. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Foster, and Mrs. W. W. Field accompanied the remains to Clinton.

For Baby's Tender Skin

A child's skin is tender as well as beautiful and eczema may be caused by chafing of clothing, the use of poor soap, exposure to cold or sudden change of temperature. Probably no treatment for eczema has ever proven so successful as Dr. Chase's Ointment, and this applies particularly to baby eczema. This ointment is delightfully soothing, stops the itching and consequently prevents scratching. Gradually the sores are healed up and the skin is left soft and velvety.

Walkerton

Judgment was given in Walkerton on Monday by Judge Greig against the plaintiff, Enoch Erb, a contractor of Teeswater who brought suit in the County Court here in June last against James McDonald a Culross farmer, for balance claimed to be due Erb for cementing some stables for McDonald. The latter maintained that the work was not satisfactory and paid Erb only $140.00 on his account, leaving a balance due, with interest, of $182.27. After Erb had entered action to recover this amount, McDonald paid $99 into court as settlement in full of claim, which Erb, however refused to accept. Judge Greig, held on Monday that this was sufficient and refused to allow him the difference of some thirty odd dollars which he claimed. Both were saddled with costs in the action, Clark & Moon of Mt. Forest for plaintiff; Robertson and McNab for defendant.

Mr. John A. McKay of Calgary while packing up on Friday to leave for the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McKay at Walkerton, where his wife and two children are now visiting, took suddenly ill with appendicitis, and was rushed on the train to Edmonton, where he was operated on Friday night by his cousin Dr. Donald McKibbon, at the Misericordia Hospital in that city. A late wire states that the operation was a success and that he is on the mend.

Mrs. Wesley Baker of Richmond, Va., sang "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say", in a very acceptable manner in Knox Church Sunday night, and Miss Reddon of Teeswater rendered a solo "Let us Have Peace" very ably in the morning.

Probably no Walkerton lady is more anxious to "do her bit" than Mrs. P. Stevens, one of the town's oldest residents who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. A. S. Royce. She has spent a good deal of her time knitting for the soldiers and in spite of her 85 years is an adept in turning out the kind that are a delight to the soldier's heart. Mrs. Stevens was very agreeably surprised one day this week when she received an acknowledgment from "Somewhere in Belgium" of a pair of socks which she had knitted for the local Daughters of the Empire, and doubly surprised when she discovered that the socks in which she had inclosed a scriptural quotat on, had been received by a Walkerton boy, Signaller Louis W. Dippel, son of Mr. M. G. Dippel.

Fire broke out in the barn of John Gillen, Carrick, on Thursday last at 8 a. m. and completely destroyed the building and contents, including the season's crops a cow, two calves, and two pigs. The loss was fairly covered by insurance $1200 on the building, and $300 on the contents in the Farmers Central Insurance Co. It is not known how the fire started.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It is concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. Try it.

Nerve Shattered Soldiers Treated.

Ontario has again come to the front in a most tangible way in connection with the war. This time it is not with a gift of money but in the equally pratical and necessary way of caring for those who are suffering through the stress of battle. Recognizing that the war has produced special conditions among the disabled soldiers the Canadian Hospitals Commission has arranged with the Ontario Government, through the Department of the Provincial Secretary to establish a military hospital for the treatment of mental and shock cases.

For this purpose the present hospital for mental diseases at Cobourg is to be converted into a military hospital, with a staff and equipment provided by the presnt organization of the Departmect. This means that soldiers from Ontario who are brought back suffering from shock will be received into an institution specially maintained to give them proper treatment. So far as is known, Ontario is the only Province where such an innovation has been attempted, and it is regarded by those who are familiar with the wastage produced by the present war as one of the most needed branches of the medical service.

The Cobourg hospital will be made immediately available by the transfer of some 180 female patients to the new institution at Whitby. Special equipment such as continuous baths, vapor baths electro-therapeutic baths and other apparatus will be installed at Cobourg, while detached buildings will be erected from time to time to provide for an increased accommodation up to 500 patients. The staff will be selected from the most competent in the various institutions of the Province, and should the demand warrant it, part of the new hospital at Whitby can also be used.

In making use of the facilities of the Province for this work the Canadian Hospitals Commission is not divesting itself of any responsibility. The arrangement with the Ontario Government provides for a fixed allowance per day for each patient. In this way a large capital expenditure is avoided on the one hand for the Dominion, and there will be no delay in commencing treatment for those men who are now on their way to Canada or will be immediately sent here.

"What are you reading nowadays?"

"Are you sure that these eggs are fresh?"

"Well, ma'am, I'll tell you about that. The hens that laid 'em don't furnish any guarantee, but they are, just same as when I sell you a can of corn. The label says that corn is inside the can, but you've got to open he can yourself to find out. I wouldn't bet a nickel on it, myself.

Had a Nervous Breakdown, Could Not Sleep or Work

Is Now Cured and Attributes His Recovery to the Use of Dr. Chase's Medicines.

Some splendid results have been reported to us from the combined use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. In complicated cases they work together with great success.

While the Kidney-Liver Pills arouse the action of liver, kidneys and bowels, and so overcome derangements of these organs, the Nerve Food enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves and builds up the system in a general way.

Mr. R. B. Hillman, Purbrook, Muskoka, Ont., writes: "About four years ago I was all run down and could not work, and as to writing a letter, I could not do it on account of my hand shaking so badly. My nerves were unstrung and I was troubled with a nervous breakdown. I could not sleep soundly and would start up so suddenly as to almost jump out of bed. My kidneys were bad, too, and I had awful pains in the back all day. I doctored with our family doctor, but he did not seem to know what I needed. I was recommended to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and could sleep well three nights after starting the use of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I take great pleasure in recommending these medicines, as I have proved that they do all that is claimed for them."

When used together the Nerve Food should be used after each meal and at bed-time, and the Kidney-Liver Pills only as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in healthy condition. Dr. Chase's medicines are for sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Harden Now Talks Of Peace

(Mail & Empire)

Maximilian Harden in the one man in Germany on whom press the public of the allied nations in Europe are at present concentrating their chief attention. He is regarded as the barometer of German sentiment, the herald of coming changes. The subjects which he discussed, it is believed, indicates thoughts uppermost in the German mind. He is now talking of peace, and this fact, accordingly, arouses keen interest. Leading newspapers devote article to an analysis of Harden's personality of his modes of thought, and of his ethical principles. G. A. Borgese, an Italian authority on German political matters, sums up the discussion of the Allied press regarding Harden in the Corriere della Sera of Milan in an article on "The Real Harden." He says:

An International Audience

"Harden enjoys many sympathies outside the great iron ring which surrounds Germany. The articles which he published in his review, Die Zukunft, belong to the few literary productions which in these times can boast of international success. They are really outside and above the fray. Devoured in Germany by hundreds of thousands of readers, they are reproduced with zeal and commented on with benevolence in the newspapers of the allies.

"The English call Harden the 'Germanic Hun,' Paul Louis Hervier the noted French writer, admires him for his impartial courage,' Jean Richepin has gone as far as to dedicate to him in the columns of the Paris newspaper, the Intransigeant an article entitled no less than 'The one I like.'

"Even in Italy Harden has a favorable press, above all since the time about a year ago, when he said things in a way of justification of Italian intervention in the war which must have seemed heresy to the Germans and Austrian public, and which to many Italians, good people, eager for praise, seemed very kind indeed. Since then his praise is looked for and esteemed, and the impression has spread among the nations fighting for the good cause, and among them Italy, that they have an advocate, or at least a 'good judge,' in the enemy's court.

"This man is now being represented as a sage of slow and gentle speech, as a moderator of the delirious pride of his fellow-countrymen almost as a prophet giving warning of coming evils, in a subtle and way, but in one clearly intelligible to these who have ears to hear.

He Fills High Role

"His name is now as much mentioned as that of the Chancellor, of the ministery, of the party leaders and of the Generals of his country, and yet he does not occupy any official position in the Empire. Not the least among the paradoxes that arise from the singular moral and political construction of Germany's Government is the fact that a man without State office and without political responsibility should have obtained such importance in it. A society which, rather inaccurately understood, is regarded among us as the prototype of conservatism and of the spirit of discipline has room for a republican, and almost for a demagogic function, such as that of the writer in question. "Harden at 55 years of age, is no longer a boy who may be accused of using his journalistic activity for the purpose of holding himself to power. Nor is Germany the country most propitious for persons of the type of Olemenceau, men who are polemists and newspapers editors when they are not Cabinet Ministers or Premiers. A wag who had a dubious taste to wish Harend a great political future, wished it to him not in his own country, but in Italy. In the spring of 1915 a Kiel newspaper pretended that it had received from Switzerland a despatch stating that a leading Italian newspaper proposed Harden's name from the Presidency of the future Republic of Italy.

German Journalism

"In Germany journalism is a closed career, or at the most can lead into the world of business. Imagine a powerful nature forcing himself, either by choice or by compulsion, into this kind of activity which, in the Western European countries, is a high road to all career, but in Germany is a road without issue. This very impossibility of leaving it will contribute to exasperate his energies. The concentration and singleness of aim in the efforts he puts forth will give to his words the insistence of an obsession and to his ideas a flaming light more vibrant than that of our political writers, who never find themselves so irremediably specialized and always have or hope to have an outlet in the right direct action.

"The intellectual swordsman of the Harden type, recalling certain spleeny satirists of England in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries is represented in Germany by more numerous examples than is generally known. It had a famous leader in Heine; Guibrasson, the vitriolic inspirer of Simplicissimus, belongs to the family. Maximilian Harden now dominates it by impulse, his constancy, his efficacy.

Secret of Success.

"His success is due in a great measure to the anarchical and ultra-individualist tone with which he says things that are in the mind of the crowds; to the elegant insolence with which he gilds and decorates the most commonplace ideas, making them seem noble and refined to persons already eager to receive them, because they already have them within themselves, although in coarser form. Ask him for fire, for spirit, for elegance, for wickedness. In this merchandise he is extremely rich. Do not ask him for consistency and responsibility of thought. That is not his affair.

It is necessary to know how to read his articles and to understand them. It is necessary above all to have a good memory. Do not imagine for amoment that Harden is any old and convinced teacher of moderation and good sense. Among German instigators of the present great war he has his place of honor. For years and years he railed at the pusilanimity of German foreign policy. He tried to blow into flame the decsiving embers of the Moroccan fire. He circulated satires on the pacifism of the Kaiser. When he attacked and overthrew the Kaiser's circle of friends, upsetting the candidate of Eulenburg for the Chancellorship, it being the culminating moment of that statesman's power, he justified himself for having 'washed so much soiled linen in public' on the plea that he was actuated by a 'supreme political necessity.'

"Was your courtship romantic?"

"A little bit. I met my wife on the seventy-eighth floor of an office building. We took the elevator together. At the fifty-seventh floor we became engaged. At the forty-ninth floor a minister got on. We enlisted him, eventually reaching the ground floor, sent for a license and were married."—Kansas City Journal.

Editorial

October 9th will probably be thanksgiving Day.

An effort will be made to secure more recruits from Grey County.

Wheat dropped 8 1-2c per bushel in the Chicago market when Roumania joined the allies.

A community can not hope to be free from crime until it completely ostracizes people who commit crime.

Roumania is fighting for additional territory and says so. One thing in her favor is that she is no hypocrite.

The box holders of the Gore Bay post office are indignant because the postmistress will not allow them to get their mail on Sunday evening.

Kincardine will stage horse races at their fair this year. It seems that there must be a special attraction, and a horse race is about as good as anything to draw the crowd.

The July payment out of the Patriotic fund for the County of Bruce amounted to $4,700. Mr H. M. Lay, Walkerton, treasurer, sent out the cheques which go to 243 families.

A clear case of mental delusion was evident last week for according to the Bruce Peninsula News the Editor of that journal is laboring under the impression that he is publishing a newspaper.

There is no better reading these days than the letters of Canadian Chaplains to the parents of sons who have fallen on the battlefield. Canada can be proud of the Chaplains she has given to the army.

A neat by town milk dealer is raising the price of milk to 8cents per quart. This is a pretty high figure for a country town, particularly when feed is very plentiful. The sum of 7 cents pays very well, in fact mighty well and the people would do well to follow the example Hamilton set and stop using it.

Never since the Great War began has the outlook been so good as to-day. With Roumania in the struggle, and very likely Greece before long, it should be only a short time until Bulgaria, Turkey and Austria are eliminated from the contest. There will probably be some great battles before two months.

LIONS HEAD

The potatoes are small this year, but they will not be as small as the item in the Bruce Peninsula News last week wanting people to take his paper because it is 50 cents cheaper than The Echo. It is 50cents cheaper, but he forgot to say that The Echo is worth just $1.49 cents more than The News.

The Cheapest Thing In The Modern World

The publisher of an important Canadian daily newspaper has said in his newspaper this:

The newspaper is about the cheapest thing in the modern world for its value. If nothing else were considered save the usefulness of the advertisements and the market prices, to the average home, a dollar spent in newspapers must mean the saving of many dollars in a home.

It is not necessary to argue the value to you of your home newspaper. But we ask this of you: Isn't three cents a week little enough for The Canadian Echo delivered to your home, and which gathers together for you all the news of this community? No city daily can do what The Echo is doing for and in this county and neighborhood. It does not give you with desired fullness the news of Wiarton and the whole district. It does not tell you what local merchants have to offer you Local news and happenings are told only sufficiently in a local newspaper.

The price of The Echo becomes $1.50 on and after Sept 1st. This increase of 50 cents a year is made necessary by rising costs in every direction—paper, ink, type, wages, cost of living and other things.

What we are concerned about is that you value your weekly newspaper to continue as a subscriber at the higher rate. Three brown coppers a week! You cannot say that you cannot afford them They are the price of a postage stamp, half the price of a 'smoke' the money you would give a child to buy candy with, the price of a pair of laces.

BOOST YOUR TOWN

During the summer month of July and August, the members of the Wiarton Citizen band have played once a week in the Park. The Band was organized during the winter months for the purpose of leading the soldiers to church, heading parades for returned soldiers and doing other work for the town of a patriotic nature. The members have willingly given their service, and it is with sincere regret on the part of the citizens that the band concerts have come to an end for this season

The music rendered by the band, has been of such a nature that it reflects great credit on Mr. Merryfield the leader, and others in the organization, and we all hope that the next year, we and our friends will be able to while away a few hours once a week, listening to the strains of music from Wm. Tell, etc. But the point now is that we should in some tangible way show the leader and members our appreciation of their service. They say that they need a new Base Horn, let them give a concert in the town hall,and let us all put our shoulder to the wheel and make it a huge success as it will require about $200. to buy one of these instruments. The band boosts the town, and therefore citizens if you boost your band you boost your town. Watch for developments.

CHAPTER III.

Ominous Signs of War.

I WAS oppressed—this was the beginning of war—I was beginning to see its face, and its face was ominous. Mademoiselle, who knew my every mood, sometimes before I was conscious of it myself, realized the shadow on my spirit and suggested we have coffee upstairs.

Two men, one a soldier in kilts, entered the dining room and stopped at one members' table. As we passed I heard the Scot say to the other man with him, "Father, this is Captain —— of the ——." I did not hear the regiment.

Months after, under conditions which had I known at the moment would have frozen the blood in my veins, I was to learn the name of his regiment and all that it stood for.

The next day we started for Boulogne. We arrived in a pouring rain. Finding we had hours to wait for our train, I decided to look up a Miss Russell, a Canadian, who had for several years been Dr. Curtis' operating and office nurse in New York and had volunteered at the beginning of the war. When I doubtfully asked a porter at the station if he knew where base hospital 14 was he replied hesitatingly, "It's next door." And so it was.

The shed over the tracks had been hurriedly converted into a great receiving hospital. When I asked for Miss Russell the orderly at the door looked at me suspiciously and asked if I had a permit. As I was about to reply in the negative a tall, slender woman with soft, pretty gray eyes, dressed in a straight coat and sailor hat, came toward me. Something in her manner made me feel she could help. She asked, smiling:

He Was Raving About "Suffragettes."

"Is there something I can do for you?"

I explained who I was and my mission.

"Why, certainly you can see Miss Russell. I'll send for her, and, too, I want you to see our hospital. It's crude, but effective. We sometimes handle a thousand men a day. You will be interested, I know."

She waited until Miss Russell came, and after showing me "the store," which she explained was her part of the work, she said goodby. It was Lady Algy Lenox, the head of the hospital, herself. Miss Russell laughed at "her part of the work." "It's all her work," she declared. "Lady Algy hasn't been back to England since the hospital opened, months ago. She is the first one here in the morning and the last one to leave at night. Dozens of times each day she goes through the wards, and she knows the men's names, wounds and histories."

Later the head surgeon told me that in getting the men straight from the battlefield as they did, treating them there and putting them directly on the channel boats undoubtedly saved thousands of lives.

While I was there an ambulance train from the front came in, and the surgeon permitted me to see the men brought in. It consisted of car after car of wounded and dying. The mud was caked on their clothes, in their hair and in their wounds, until, in some instances, they could knock it off in lumps. An aseptic wound did not exist. Many had received first aid, but however they came as they had been picked up, straight from the battlefield.

As I was leaving, Miss Russell came running out and asked if I would go for a moment into a small ward where a German boy was very excited about something, they couldn't make out quite what. I went, to find he was raving about "suffragettes." He had been warned by his mother in a letter that there were suffragettes acting as nurses in the different hospitals, and that when they got the chance they gouged out the wounded prisoners' eyes. He felt sure he had been put in that small room with another German, who happened to be unconscious, for that purpose. He was only a lad, not more than eighteen, from the Polish frontier, simple and ignorant. Happily for his peace, I was able to convince him of the utter absurdity of it all.

Not only all the men in Boulogne were wearing khaki, but women so clad were acting as military chauffeurs. Often I was puzzled to decide whether they were young boys or women. Under the caps and in their smart military coats they looked like fresh faced lads. While waiting for the train I saw one of them change a tire. With no help she did it in just seven minutes. True, it was a demountable rim, but that was good work. It interested me particularly, as even with a chauffeur to help me I had never been able to accomplish it in less than six and a half.

Waiting for the train to pull out, we watched the khaki would about us, for Boulogne was English, not French. Mademoiselle said when the train began moving: "As splendid and dazzling as the uniforms used to be, I find this quiet khaki has a spell all its own. It suggests efficiency and eternal fitness and is the badge of a great conviction and the courage of that conviction."

Our train was a long one, pretty well filled with soldiers, mostly French, except for a sprinkling of English officers. We were many hours en route, as at every station we were sidetracked to allow the troop trains to pass. In our compartment, accompanied by her maid, was a pink, slender, lily-like woman of, say, twenty-eight or thirty, Dresden-like in color. Mademoiselle afterward expressed it exactly in saying, "She had a perfection of hauteur as to manner, so well bred that her voice seemed subtly suggestive of it all."

She was a titled English lady going over to her husband, wounded and in the English military hospital at Calais. When she knew that I was going for the first time to Paris she smiled and said:

"It is rather too bad you are having your first impressions of Paris under such circumstances. Still," she added reflectively, "I am not sure that the cleverest intelligence is not very frequently confused or hypnotized by certain situations and scenes, and weaker ones filled with the wildest forms of illusion. My own first impressions of Paris were confusing, disturbing impressions, which were not at all valid." Her blue eyes wandered off into space, as if seeing it all again, while before my own came visions of Napoleon, the Louvre, gay restaurants, wide boulevards, everywhere artistic perfection, enveloped in a wine-like atmosphere.

We were arriving at Amiens. Just outside our windows we saw a little group of women laughing and chattering. It came to me suddenly how little of anything approaching gaiety I had seen lately. Looking at them, with their adorably rounded chins, serrat lips, dark half almond shaped eyes, the Englishwoman seemed to me to sum up in a few words my train of thought. She said to mademoiselle in French, nodding toward the group, with that little touch of remoteness which a foreign accent lends:

"They may be decadent, as one sometimes hears, but these shapely, piquant, sensitive women, with their eyes showing a subtle awareness of what life has to offer, come to me as a pleasing contrast with the dreary commonplace of the English type. I sometimes think it is the uniformly damp, cold and raw atmosphere that has produced us, an over sober minded race." Mademoiselle was silent, and she continued: "I always have thought of France as a beautiful, brilliant, fragile child, not made for contests and brutal battles. But in this I sadly wronged her, as the world has found France brave, calm, poised, under the fiercest invasion history records."

As we wearily went on I noticed how few trees there were in comparison with England, and I missed the rich green mold which made the English trees so lovely. The houses, too, in the towns seemed narrow and high and crowded together, but now and again I got a glimpse of the Gothic architecture, mazes of slender, graceful, poiseful pinnacles, soft graystone carved into fragile, lacelike designs. And I thought what an inspiration religion must have been in those days to have produced such noble designs.

I had always heard that one finds nowhere else in the world the snap and intensity of emotion and romance that one finds everywhere in French streets. But it was all lacking that night, and, while I could not put into words what constituted the difference between English and French people, I felt it.

In Paris we went to the Ritz, where we found Dr. Curtis waiting for us. It was so good to see him again, and we sat and talked until midnight and after. He explained something of what my life as a nurse would be, though he felt sure I would not actually be stationed for several weeks. There were always delays and formality, especially as there were complications, due to the three different Red Cross societies in France. However, he understood I was to be with the regular military hospital, Les Secours des Blesses. My application had been made by him to that society.

"As nurses go, in England or America, you are," he said, "not at all up to the standard, but in France you will find you are better equipped than most of the French ones, for, you know, only English speaking races have, in our sense of the word, trained nurses."

The next day I was introduced to the surgeon in chief, who had been a friend of father's, an intelligent and agreeable gentleman, who was pleased to find I spoke three languages. He assured me I would be helpful and thanked me for bringing certain equipment. Promising to send me notice in a few days as to when and where I was to go on post, he bade us goodby.

Dr. Curtis had to return at once to his own hospital, which was twenty odd miles away, but before doing so took me to call on Mrs. ——, one of the ladies of the American embassy. She had just returned that day from one of her "tours of relief." We found her not only very kind, but extremely efficient. She seemed to have exact knowledge as to what was needed most and where. This last trip had been to the hospitals near Dunkirk, where she had gone, with lorries following her motor, filled with bathtubs, anaesthetics, rubber gloves and all sorts of hospital supplies. She asked me to write her as I went about the exact conditions I found. "France, you know," she said, "was not meditating war, and that accounts for the sad lack of proper hospital provision for her wounded soldiers." Nobody gave me such helpful advice, advice that was destined to be of such farreaching good in so many ways, as did Mrs. ——.

After our visit we went to the photographer's, and I had some instantaneous pictures made, for an army nurse's photograph must be carried on her card of identification. Dr. Curtis laughed a good deal at them and said the expression of my face indicated there was no crime I would not commit, even to scuttling a ship!

Back at the hotel he bade me goodby, promising he would see me again before I left. He felt sure I would be in Paris some days longer.

The next morning dawned clear and crisp, and it chanced I saw the Seine as bright as a new dollar shimmering against its stone walls. It has been described as a "gay, dashing, quick tempered stream," and I felt it. It seemed "a river on a holiday." In driving over one of the many beautiful, graceful bridges which span it, back through the Tuileries gardens, I thought, "Only the fancy of a monarch could create a realm like this."

When we returned at luncheon time I found a soldier waiting for me. He brought me a letter from the medecin major. I opened it with trembling fingers. It read:

"You are ordered to —— field hospital 18. Report here tomorrow for further instructions."

With difficulty I remained even moderately calm that afternoon, for my chance had come.

My instructions were brief. I was to leave the next day by automobile for my post. It was 250 miles away by the route we had to take, and as we were carrying hospital supplies of various kinds, especially anaesthetics, we were told to go through practically without stopping and were expected to do it in at least eight hours, for our motor was a powerful one.

HOW TO SELECT SEED BEANS.

Get seed from your own crop if possible. If there are no clean pods in your own crop try to secure clean pods from a more fortunate neighbor.

Select in the pod, not after threshing.

Pick pods free from all spots.

Spots on the pods mean that anthracnose, or bacterial blight, may be hidden in the seemingly clean bean.

Thresh selected pods.

Examine your threshed seed carefully and throw out all doubtful looking beans, especially those that are spotted or shriveled.

Rotate. Don't replant old bean ground next year. Clean seed and rotation are the best crop insurance.

If you have to buy your seed make sure that it has been selected by the grower from disease free pods. Examine purchased seed. Do not plant if the threshed seed looks suspicious.

Look ahead. Insure a supply of clean seed for 1917 by selecting seed from clean pods and planting it on clean land in 1916.

KILL WEEVILS AND MOTHS.

A Simple and Inexpensive Destroyer is Carbon Bisulphide.

A stitch in time saves nine, but even the nine may not remedy the damage one would have prevented. Unusually late threshing has left the grain in the stack or shock exposed to the attacks of the grain moth and the weevil this year. Fortunately a rather simple, cheap treatment with carbon bisulphide will destroy all the weevils and moths that infest stored grains. This liquid looks very much like water, but when poured on rags or into shallow pans on the top of grain rapidly forms a gas so much heavier than air that it goes down among the kernels, destroying all weevils and moths.

The temperature, size, shape, and tightness of bins or granaries are important factors. It is not worth while to fumigate when the temperature is below 60 degrees F. More bisulphide is required, and even then unsatisfactory results are obtained.

One pound of liquid for every thirty bushels of grain will be enough if the bin is tight and the temperature above 70 degrees. Another pound should be used for every 200 cubic feet of space above the grain in the bin.

The liquid may be thrown directly on the grain without injury, but better results will be secured by pouring it into shallow pans, scattered over the surface, or if these are not available it may be poured upon old rags or cotton waste. One-half pound or at most not more than a pound should be poured into each pan. The liquid may be poured down through a gas pipe in order to get it near the centre and bottom of very large bins. Plug one end of the pipe with cotton or old rags, push it down through the grain, and then remove the plug by pushing a rod down through the pipe.

The granary or bins should be kept closed as tightly as possible for thirty-six hours, and, if the seed is not to be sowed, for forty-eight hours. The grain will be just as good for feed after treatment as before but if it is to be sowed care should be taken not to use too much bisulphide or to fumigate too long. It is often convenient to apply the liquid Saturday afternoon and fumigate until the next Monday morning.

The gas is very explosive, and no lighted cigars, pipes, lanterns, or matches should be allowed in or near the building until it has been thoroughly aired. The work should always be done in the daytime. Cost may be kept down by securing commercial bisulphide instead of the more expensive chemically pure liquid, often kept by drug stores. Storekeepers will doubtless be glad to order the more economical form if it is not already in stock.

FLEURY IS RECAPTURED

French Gain, Lose and Regain Important Village.

Terrific Battle Raging Incessantly North-east of Verdun Results in the Capture of Most of Fleury and the Entire Thiaumont Work —More Than 400 Germans Have Been Taken.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Thousands of men fought desperately Friday on the one-mile front from Thiaumont to Fleury, with the result that the French are again in complete possession of the Thiaumont work and the greater part of Fleury.

The battle, which has raged without a moment's intermission for more than two days, is still proceeding furiously. The French and Germans are attacking almost incessantly, while the big guns can be heard more than 100 miles away.

The French resistance to this, the latest and one of the greatest of the German efforts to smash into Verdun, is taking the form of terrific counter-attacks. Not only have the Germans been held completely in check by the heroic defence, but the French have made imposing gains of ground on the most powerfully-fortified section of the entire Meuse battlefield.

After a series of almost uninterrupted attacks during Wednesday night and in the forenoon of Thursday on the four-mile front from the Meuse to the woods west of Damloup, the French concentrated all their power in a tremendous thrust on the one-mile Thiaumont-Fleury line. They smashed forward on this point for a distance of about a quarter of a mile through the most powerful field works on the western front. They had counted more than 650 prisoners.

The village of Fleury was attacked from two sides, the north-west and south-east. In previous attacks the French had advanced as far as the ruined railway station against furious resistance. Then after the big guns had been given time to clear a path the infantry again swept forward, this time to complete victory.

All the gains made by the Germans in their attacks of last Tuesday have been swept away. In an attack simultaneous with that on Fleury the French in the Chenois sector drove the Teutons from the trenches they had seized in this wooded region, capturing more prisoners. Berlin previously had admitted the loss of ground recently taken in Laufee forest.

Following the capture of Fleury Thursday afternoon and the Thiaumont work Thursday night, the French were forced to evacuate both positions. They were driven from Thiaumont by the terrific German bombardment, and all strong counter-attacks forced them to cede practically all of Fleury.

Friday, however, they renewed their attack. In the afternoon, charging with the bayonet, French infantry won back the ruined battlements of Thiaumont, while by a furious massed attack across the debris of Fleury they recaptured all but the outskirts of the village.

The French Friday night reported having captured more than 400 unwounded Germans in the course of the day's fighting. The losses on both sides are said to be tremendous. The fighting has taken on a character outstripping in fury any before seen in the war. Dense masses of men are attacking positions defended by machine gun batteries and fortified with field guns, and it is not believed such fighting can continue long without a respite.

Heavy reinforcements are reported being brought up by both sides.

Teutons Lose 600,000 Men in Month

LONDON, Aug. 7.—It is stated by a reliable authority that Germany and Austria since June 4 have lost on both the eastern and western fronts, not including the Italian front, 380,000 officers and men in prisoners, and 370,000 in killed and wounded, representing a permanent loss of 600,000 men.

In addition, they are said to have lost 600 guns and 1,500 machine guns. The German estimate of the British and French losses on the Somme is stated to be a gross exaggeration.

ITALY DECLARES WAR

She Is Now in Direct Conflict With Germany.

Germany's Aid to Austria Forced Italy to Declare Hostilities—Announcement Causes Great Demonstrations in Rome—Baron Sonnino Delivers the Message Through Switzerland.

ROME, Aug. 28.—Italy to-day is at war with Germany.

The declaration of hostilities was made by Italy. Following information that it had reached the Imperial German Government through Switzerland, announcement of the Government's action was made here late Sunday.

The intolerable situation created by the fact that Italy was at war with Germany's ally and the fact that Germany loaned all possible support to that ally, Austria-Hungary, against Italians and their interests, led the Government to its decision. That decision was made public in the following announcement:

"The Italian Government declares in the name of the King that Italy considers herself to be in a state of war with Germany as from August 28, and begs the Swiss Government to convey this information to the Imperial German Government."

The complete cessation of all communication between Italy and Germany brought about by the Austro-Italian war, made it necessary for Italy to convey through Switzerland her declaration of war to Germany.

It is believed here that Roumania, with which nation Italy long has had an entente, will follow the Italian Government in a declaration of war against the Central Empires and their allies.

The Giornale D'Italia, commenting on the declaration of war on Germany, says:

"Public opinion has been long patiently awaiting war against Germany, and is now fully satisfied. The declaration constitutes an act of sincerity and loyalty towards the Allies and a proof of our deep faith in their final victory."

Idea Nationale says: "Italy rejoices over the end of an equivocal and humiliating situation, and is welcoming the opportunity openly to fight the common enemy to the finish."

Following a meeting of the Cabinet the official announcement of a state of war between Italy and Germany was made. A statement, giving the reasons for the action of the Italian Government, also was given out by Baron Sonnino, Minister of Foreign Affairs. It is in the form of a communication to Switzerland, a neutral, and was transmitted through the Italian Minister at Berne. It says:

"The hostile acts of Germany toward Italy have become more frequent. Suffice it to mention the persistent military aid rendered to Austria, and the constant participation of German officers, soldiers, and sailors in the war against Italy.

"Owing to German help Austria-Hungary was enabled to concentrate her maximum efforts against Italy. Germany gave up Italian prisoners who had escaped from Austrian concentration camps into German territory. The Imperial Government instructed the banks to consider Italians as enemies, stopping payments and also stopping pensions due Italian workmen, violating the law openly and revealing systematic hostility.

"This state of things was intolerable, aggravating and wholly to Italy's detriment, the situating resulting from the fact that Italy and Germany are allied to different groups of States at war.

"For these reasons the Italian Government declared in the name of the King that Italy considers herself in a state of war with Germany from August 28, requesting the Swiss Government to inform Germany."

The announcement of war with Germany had the most cheering effect possible on the people. Great crowds formed in the streets immediately the news became public and processions were started in many sections of Rome. Reports from the provincial cities tell of equal rejoicing throughout the nation.

ALBANIA IN REVOLT.

Inhabitants Have Organized Bands Against the Austrians.

ROME, Aug. 21.—Information from Albania is to the effect that the whole country is in a state of revolt. Taking advantage of the weakness of the Austrian garrisons the Albanians have formed numerous bands, which overrun the country, robbing and killing and laying waste.

The Austrian garrisons are in a critical condition, all communication being broken, and help by sea being difficult on account of the watch kept by the allied fleets in the Adriatic. Sanguinary fighting is continually taking place between Austrians and Albanians. The Austrian commander in Albania has asked for reinforcements.

The situation is equally grave in Montenegro.

Fierce Battle in Italian Theatre

ENCIRCLING THIEPVAL

British Are Steadily Gaining in the Somme Sector.

Leipsic Redoubt and Village, of Thiepval, Which Are the Strongest Points in the German Line, Are Being Worn Down—Prussian Guard Has Been Sent to Hold the Positions but Without Success.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The two most powerfully fortified German positions north of the Somme-Thiepval and the Leipsic redoubt—are slowly being won by the British. Despite the utmost efforts of the Teutons to win back their lost ground in these two vital sectors, General Haig's territorial troops not only are repulsing all German attacks, but are steadily increasing their gains. They have won a further 600 yards of trenches along the Thiepval-Courcelotte road and, despite the great concentration of German troops in the neighborhood have further pressed in both east and south-west of Mouquet farm.

The Prussian Guard, proudest corps of the Fatherland, has been sent to the threatened front, but despite their most desperate efforts have been unable to win back any of the important terrain which has been taken in the British advance, according to a report from General Haig.

Attacks were delivered not only in the Thiepval region, but against the British lines west of Guillemont and the French front south of Maurepas. All these attacks were repulsed.

Hand-to-hand fighting of the greatest violence continued throughout Sunday night around the ruins of the Mouquet farm, General Haig reports. On this sector, as well as in the new trenches south of Thiepval, Worcestershire and Wiltshire men hold the British lines. It was these troops who repulsed the Prussian Guard.

Following heavy fighting during the greater part of Saturday night, there was little but artillery activity on the Somme front Sunday, bad weather hindering operations. The British in a strong attack Saturday evening gained a further 200 yards of trench north of Bazentin-le-Petit, capturing a machine gun. For the greater part, however, all attacks on both sides resulted in no change of front.

German surprise attacks in the Arracourt sector, in Lorraine and in the Apremont forest were repulsed, Paris announces, while at Verdun there was only artillery fighting. In several sectors, especially on the Thiaumont-Fleury line, the big gun duels reached a high pitch of intensity.

Repulse of a German attempt to penetrate the Belgian lines is recorded in an official statement from Belgian headquarters at Havre. It says:

"After violent preparation by their bomb throwers the Germans last evening attempted to cross the canal near Het Sas and penetrate our lines. Our barrier and machine gun fire repulsed them with heavy losses."

Nine German aeroplanes have been shot down by the French and British at various points on the western front in the last two days, according to official reports. German attempts at an offensive north-east of Verdun came to nothing, says the War Office at Paris.

A semi-official announcement issued in Berlin Sunday says that between February 21 and July 10 there were engaged in the Verdun sector 66 divisions (nearly 900,000 men) of French troops, in the battle of the Somme, the announcement says, the French thus far have engaged 23 divisions and the British 37.

POUNDING AT RIGA.

Russian Armies Begin a New Offensive in the East.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Russians, who for some time had remained quiescent in the Riga region, have again started an offensive against the Germans. Efforts were made by them to cross the Dvina River south-east of Riga, and near Friedrichstadt, but both attempts failed, according to Berlin. On the remainder of the Russian front no fighting of importance has been reported.

While the Russian drive for Kovel and Lemberg has not been resumed—for what reason Petrograd gives no hint—the Czar's troops continue to push steadily forward in the foothills of the Carpathians.

Striking west of the Jablonitza Pass, which they now control, the Russians seized the village of Guta and reached the sources of the two Rikita streams. These gains were made in the sector bordering on the Pantyr Pass. Continuation of the advance here will give the Czar's troops another road into Hungary.

Petrograd also chronicles a fresh advance for the Russians at Koveria mountain, near the Hungarian border.

Canadian Troops Arrive in England.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—It is officially announced through the chief censor's office that the following troops have arrived safely in England:

The 117th Battalion, Valcartier Camp; the 120th Battalion, Windsor, N.S.; the 121st Battalion, Vernon, B.C.; the 124th Battalion, Camp Borden; the 128th Battalion, Winnipeg. Drafts and details.

BULGARS SEIZE KAVALA.

Greek Post on Aegean Sea in Hands of Enemy.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Bulgarian forces have seized the Greek port of Kavala on the Aegean Sea and all but one of its defending forts. An official communication from Salonica announces that they already have been brought under the fire of allied warships, two monitors and a British cruiser taking part in the bombardment.

The Greek fort of Startilla also has been seized by the invaders, according to a despatch to the Paris Matin. The garrison is said to have been wiped out. This and the other Bulgarian incursions is reported to have so aroused the Greek populace that the Government feels uneasy. The Government is also much worried about a meeting of Venizelists scheduled to be held in Athens Monday.

Demonstrations in favor of Venizelos are being held in many parts of the country, it is reported, and the ranks of the Liberal party are being swelled by many persons who, until the invasion of Greece by her hereditary enemies, the Bulgarians, were supporters of the Government's position.

Extending their seizures along the coast, the Bulgars, according to a report from Sofia, are closing in on Orfano, extreme tip of the allied right wing. British advanced forces have been pressed in towards the town, and the invaders have reached the Lakovitza-Dedebali - Arkasli - Mentechli line.

The Bulgarian advance in the valley of the Struma also continues, according to an official statement from Berlin, and the invaders are nearing the mouth of the river, at the Gulf of Orfano. The opposition so far to the Bulgarians in this region has not been marked.

On the other wing, however, in the Ostrovo region, one of the most sanguinary campaigns of the war is being waged between Bulgars and Serbs. While in some sectors the invaders report gains, on the front as a whole, General Serrail, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies, announces they are suffering sanguinary repulses. In the Vardar region also, heavy losses have been inflicted on the invaders by the Serbian artillery.

"Despite German assurances to Greece that Seres, Drama, and Kavala would not be occupied by the Bulgarians," says Reuter's Salonica correspondent, "an order sent last Tuesday to the commander of the forts at Kavala said if the Bulgars advanced the forts were to be handed over to them. Friday the Bulgars entered the town and took possession of the forts. British warships in the harbor then opened on the forts, but details of the results of the fighting are not permitted to be sent."

The French and British Ministers Sunday evening asked Premier Zaimis how far the Greek Government purposed to countenance the Bulgarian advance without resistance, pointing out that it would be of no military interest to the Entente powers to defend Central Thessaly from invasion, as Salonica was supplied from the sea, and could not be cut off by land.

The embarrassment of the Greek Government grows hourly in the face of popular resentment against the Bulgarian invasion.

ROUMANIA NEAR WAR.

Entry Into the Conflict on Side of Allies Now at Hand.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The entry of Roumania into the world conflict, long forecasted, is now believed to be actually at hand. In Rome diplomatic circles it is stated that Roumania's entry is a question of hours.

According to a Bucharest despatch the King of Roumania has convened a conference of representatives of all the political parties, former premiers, former presidents of the Legislative Chambers, Ministers and Government representatives with the idea of ascertaining the views of all sections of public opinion on the present situation.

The Roumanian Crown Council, which had been convened for 10 o'clock Monday morning, has been postponed until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, according to a Bucharest despatch received in Amsterdam.

A new army credit of $40,000,000 has been decreed by the Council of Ministers, increasing the credit since mobilization to $120,000,000.

The post of director of munitions, needed only in time of war, has been created, and Gen. Paraskivescu has been appointed to fill it. Gen. Popovits, Inspector-General of the Roumanian cavalry, has been appointed to command the First Army Corps, to succeed General Averescu, former Minister of War.

King Ferdinand of Roumania is reported in a wireless despatch from Berne to have snubbed the Kaiser when the Emperor wrote that he was sending Duke Albrecht of Mecklenburg to Bucharest on a special mission about Roumania's position in the war. The Kaiser's message, King Ferdinand is said to have written, had better be sent through the regular diplomatic channels, as he would be obliged to refer the Duke Albrecht to his Ministers.

The developments in the Balkans appear to be causing perturbation in Austria-Hungary, according to advices received here from Berne, Switzerland. These advices say there is a serious political crisis in Hungary, the Opposition leaders having demanded a coalition Cabinet, which demand the Emperor has refused to comply with.

In addition to all-night sittings of the Hungarian Chamber, the despatches add, an Austrian Cabinet Council sat for eight hours Thursday and six hours Friday, and the Hungarian Cabinet for nine hours Thursday and ten hours Friday.

General Smuts reported further British progress in German East Africa.

A Final Request—Please

Many are the number in arrears for The Echo and in order to settle at the $1 rate they must do so before Sept 15 when the price will advance to $1.50 per year. We have repeatedly called attention to this fact and last week we mailed notices. We cannot give further warning, we have done our part. With the rapid increase in the price of paper, and the high cost of production, it is utterly impossible to run a newspaper unless the subscriptions are paid. Those to whom this applies will kindly call at the office or remit by mail before Sept 15. This matter must be attended to, and our friends will oblige us, and avoid all friction by doing so before this date.

Found Dead In Bed

Mr. Charles Howard saw a horse running about with the harness on it on Solomon Nicolson's farm at the Sauble, and he spoke to the latters son, who went to the house and on the floor he found his father dead, death having occurred probably two days previously. ## The Potash Plant A Go

As there have been a few things to make us sceptical about industrial development we have not said much about the proposition, but it is looking good and at the present gives every indication of being a sure thing. The machinery for the manufacture of hydrated lime is on the way here and as soon as it is installed the attention of the company will be turned to the installation of the machinery for the manufacture of potash. In all probability the plant will be in operation by Christmas and will be employing as many men as the Cement Company employed. If the plant is a success it will be developed to its full capacity.

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Chesley

Mrs. Frank Maher until recently proprietress of the Campbell House Chatsworth, has moved to Toronto.

Miss Gladys Campbell, of this town, has been offered the position of Commercial teacher unsolicited, in Mount Royal College, Calgary, at a salary of $1100. Miss Campbell leaves for Calgary on September 8th.

Mr. and Mrs. Mickie, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reid, of New York, and Mayor Halliday will visit Col. Weir and the camp of the 160th Batt., on Friday and Saturday of this week.

The big June freshet washed away the bridge over the flume at Scone and left a gap about 100 feet in width which an engineer estimated would cost $6450 to bridge or $1700 to fill in. M. A. Halliday decided to put his power house near the dam and run a pipe through the cement wall of the dam. This obviates the necessity of a flume and Elderslie Council made an agreement with Mr. Halliday to fill in a roadway with a width of 20 feet at the top in place of a second bridge for $1400. The Council puts the gravel on the fill in and erects a railing. There will be comparatively little cost of upkeep with no bridge. The council decided wisely in this matter.

Our townsman, Clarence Boyle, who is starting a music store next to the garage, spent a couple of weeks during the haying season on the old home farm near Miller Lake in Lindsay Township. While assisting at haying a rattlesnake was thrown on the load and it made its presence known by that peculiar rattling noise. The rattler was teased to the ground again and held with a stick till it was put in a box and brought down to Chesley where Clarence has it in his show window and is feeding the reptile on frogs. The rattler is a five year old as may be seen by the five double rattlers on its tail. If you have never heard a rattler's music get Clarence to touch up his poisonous member of the snake family with a stick. Snakes, whether poisonous or harmless, have never been accepted as pets by many since man was first created. The higher critics deny that Old Nick came in the form of a serpent to deceive Mother Eve. If he had been a rattler he would have announced his coming by ringing his bell.

Walkerton

Mr George D. McKay left on on Wednesday for London, where on Friday, Sept 1st, he commences on his new duties as Chief Recruiting officer for military district No. 1, which comprises the eleven counties extending from Lambton to Bruce. Mr. McKay will be gazetted as Major and will draw the same pay as if holding the rank in the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Richardson of town, left with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Richardson and family, of Hanover, in an enjoyable auto trip last week to Dundas, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Alex Menzies, formerly of Walkerton, and also called on friends at Hamilton and Grimsby.

Through the generosity of Mr. C. M. Bowman, M. P. P., the Bruce Preparedness League has been furnished with patriotic buttons, which are intended to give publicity to the work of the league. The buttons are being sold for ten cents the proceeds going to support the work of the league. Lieut Head leads so far in the sale of the buttons. Little Jessie Cooper, daughter of Mr. F. C. Cooper, did her bit by selling 25 on a Saturday. Other children might emulate her example. Until a place of sale can be arranged, buttons may be obtained from Warden McNab.

An officer from Tara brought down a sturdy prisoner of Pollock descent on Monday to serve a thirty days' term at the county goal for vagrancy. Mr. Pollock is a much travelled man having treated the globe from Russia to Brazil the past thirty years. His command of the English language is poor, and when asked questions he does not care to answer he immediately lapses into the Polish tongue.

One would go a long way to find a municipality that stands better financially than Walkerton. With a debenture debt of only $44,000 this town is in a class by itself so far as indebtedness concerned. The tax rate is correspondingly low in comparison with other towns. This year with a tax rate of 31 mills, the council is spending two thousand dollars on road building, fifteen hundred dollars in fixing up the town hall, and contributed $1188 towards the expense of keeping the 160th Battalion here and $300 for the Northern Ontario Fire sufferers. In spite of this extra unforseen expenditure, the Council promises to have an absolutely clean sheet at the end of the year.

No Chance For The Germs.

Disease germs cannot live in rich, red blood. It is people in low vitality that fall victims to germ diseases. By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you enrich the blood, increase vitality and prevent disease germs from finding lodgment in your body. There's wisdom in prevention. It's easier to keep well than to get well.

OWEN SOUND

Amid the fanfare of trumpets and the burst of rockets another hero has returned from the European battlefront. A large crowd witnessed and took part in the reception Pte. Richard Howard Buckley on Friday night. The C. P. R. train did not arrive till after midnight, but in spite of this the platforms were crowded and when Pte. Buckley stepped off the train he was given the welcome of a lifetime. Never were parents more overjoyed at the return of a son than were his, and when the band struck up its martial strain and the procession began with torches, rockets, lights and cheers it was indeed a sight worth beholding. Pte. Buckley had done his best to keep the exact moment of his arrival a secret so that he might slip home in peace and quiet, but all to no avail, for, although, it was after 3 o'clock when it was found out that he was on the train, by a general rousing of the town a considerable crowd gathered even though two-thirds of the citizens of Owen Sound knew nothing of the arrival till next morning. Over twenty automobiles took part in the procession and the market place was crowded. Mayor Little and Clerk Gordon escorted Pte. Buckley up the steps to the main platform, overlooking the market from which the speaking took place. Mayor Little asked for the cheers and they were given with a will. He then presented an address to be kept as a memorial and token of the deep appreciation felt by Owen Sound for Pte. Buckley's services.

Convicted on a charge of selling liquor in Owen Sound, Chas. Ellis, has his choice of two alternatives, a $300 fine and costs or a jail course of three months. For the sake of his personal comfort Mr Ellis has left Owen Sound. By records submitted it was shown that Ellis had received eight cases of whiskey within the last thirty days, Mrs Spencer helping the good work along. She had been a sort of corresponding secretary for Ellis and had written the orders for the whisky, although at first she denied all knowledge of the transactions and tried to maintain a queenly dignity throughout the investigation. The liquor was shipped under fictitious names and delivery of goods made to Ellis, who had been boarding with Mrs Spilker for some time, on First Ave. East, south of the market bridge. Mr Ellis, according to his son, has gone on a friendly visit to a nephew in Tara. He had better make it a prolonged visit. The magistrate warned Mrs Spilker to mend her ways or something will happen some day which she will regret.

The Rev. J. B. Fraser, M. D., the widely known minister of the Leith, Annan and Daywood Presbyterian churches will completes apastorate of thirty-three years in the one charge at the end of September, and on October 1st, for the first time during those years, his pulpit will be declared vacant. Dr. Fraser is one of the very best known ministers in Grey County, not only because of his long residence here, but because he has taken an active part in many movements which affected the county as a whole. His pastorate has been as successful as it has been lengthy, and it is only because he has reached the years when rest is necessary that he gives up his work. He will occupy his pulpit for the next four Sundays, it is expected, and on the first Sunday of October his long ministry will terminate.

On Monday evening last in the Orange Hall, Merchants' Bank Block, two very pleasant affairs took place. The Royal District Scarlet Chapter and Royal Black Preceptory met in their different rooms to do honor to Mr Thos. Henry, one of their most esteemed and valuable member, who recently removed to Toronto, where he intends to reside in future. In the Scarlet Chapter, Mr Henry was presented with a gold-headed cane by Ex. Companion in Command D. E. McAllister, while W. C. in Command G. W. Thomson read the address.

The first Bowling Tournament which has been put on in Owen Sound will take place as far as is now known on the local green, on Friday, September the 8th, 1916 and will be held under the auspices of the Owen Sound Bowling Club for the benefit of the Women's Patriotic League, which organization will receive all the proceeds.

Word was recieved yesterday that Lance Corporal Gerald J. R. Moffatt, a well-known Owen Sound boy, who enlisted in the west, had been wounded again. He went through the big bombardment on August 4th—the anniversary of the war, and he is now in Boulogne hospital with shrapnel in the leg. He is to be sent to England to have it X-rayed and it is unlikely that he will be on the firing line for some time to come. Gerald Moffat left Winnipeg with his unit last December and went into the trenches in March. He was wounded and shell shocked at Zillebeke, but a few weeks in the hospital was able to return to the trenches. He is the third son of Mrs. John Hatton, of this town, and was formerly with the C. P. R. uptown office. In a recent letter he tells of meeting Jerrold Legate and Howard Bishop, of Owen Sound, to whom he referred as "good soldiers."

That Owen Sound as a municipality is "doing its bit" in a financial way towards the different branches of patriotic work is evident from figures which were compiled this week by Ald. Keith Webster, chairman of the finance committee, at the request of The Sun. There has been considerable criticism of the council because the usual $10 cash was not given the Owen Sound members of the Grey Battalion, but the critics will no doubt be mollified when it is seen what the town is doing in the way of subscriptions to important war work. The outlay to date is over $40,000, including the $10,000 which is being included in the estimate about to be presented and which represents $6,000 of the county grant to Patriotic and Red Cross and the Government war tax of one mill, amounting to $4,000.

Kidney Disease Overcome.

Mr. James Pronse, cattle dealer, Sheho Sask., writes—"For about ten years I suffered from Kidney disease, at times I was bad with backache, and derangement of the digestive organs. During that time I was treated by four different doctors. One day I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac about the Kidney-Liver Pills and began to use them. Altogether I used six boxes. All I need to say is that I feel well now and attribute this condition to the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Hanover

Lieut. Claude Kormann who has been stationed on the Welland Canal has resigned his commission to go overseas with reinforcements for the Princess Pats. He is now in Hanover to say good-bye to his parents Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Kormann. It is distinctly to Claude's credit that he wants to get to the fighting line irrespective of what rank he goes there. Claude is evidently a fighter.

We regret to state that Mr. H. H. Miller is seriously ill. At time of going to press his condition is somewhat critical but best hopes are entertained for his recovery. He took suddenly ill Tuesday afternoon, and that night suffered great pain. Stoppage of the bowels is believed to be the cause of his illness.

Fire broke out in the barn of John Gillies, Carrick, on Thursday, week, at 9 a. m. and completly destroyed the building and contents, including the season's crops a cow, two calves, and two pigs. The loss was fairly covered by insurance, $1200 on the building, and $800 on the contents in the Farmers Central Insurance Co. It is not known how the fire started.

Both Proton and Artemesia Township will be minus a deputy reeve next year, owing to the fact that in both cases the voter's list falls short of the required thousand names. This will mean that the 1917 County Council will have two members less than at present.

Save The Children.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the new born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"You ought not to say that, dad. H. may have some good points that you have overlooked."

There is Safety Under This Roof

Have you ever had a fine job of decorating spoiled by a leaking roof? If you have, you certainly are in a position to appreciate the value of a roof that is positively water-proof. Some of the troubles common to wooden shingles to-day are that they are apt to split, warp or blow off as well as leak, soon after they are put on. Years ago they were good, but the quality has since gradually depreciated as the available supply of suitable timber became exhausted.

Brantford Slates have none of the faults of wooden shingles. They cannot rust. They do not allow rain to be driven under them as do metal roofs. They do not require rigid supporting as do the common tile or slate roofs. On the other hand Brantford Slates afford the utmost protection with little weight. They are made on a long-fibred felt "base" which is thoroughly saturated under pressure with asphaltum or mineral pitch. Crushed quarried slate particles are then deeply embedded in the surface of this "base", making it water-tight and fireproof.

Brantford Roofing

Brantford Slates are made in the natural slate colors of green, red, black and grey. The colors never fade and the slates do not require painting nor repairing. These slates are pliable and fit readily around gables and into the angles of any roof. This means a continuous roof without seams or joints. Sparks die on Brantford Slates. When you have these slates "on" you are done with the job. Remember they don't require painting or staining and may be selected to harmonize with almost any exterior color design, and the price is not beyond your reach. We would be pleased to send you samples and our Roofing Booklet.

The Racking Pains of Sciatic Rheumatism

Were Well-nigh Unbearable—After Five Years of Suffering Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Medicines.

For downright excruciating pain few ailments can be compared to sciatic rheumatism. Since this condition of the sciatic nerve denotes exhaustion of the nervous system, the logical cure is found in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to nourish the starved nerves back to health and vigor.

Reports are continually coming in to us regarding the splendid results obtained in the treatment of sciatic rheumatism by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after each meal and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills occasionally as a means of arousing the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels and thereby keeping the system freed of pain causing poisonous impurities.

Mr. W. J. Talbot, Edenwold, Sask., writes:—"It is a great pleasure for me to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food as a cure for Sciatic Rheumatism. The pain I have suffered has been well-nigh unbearable. It would start in the hips and run down the legs to the toes, gradually getting worse. The nerves contract until one is practically useless. My doctor tried many different treatments, but could only afford relief for a time.

"For about five years I was subject to this trouble with severe attacks which would last about two months. The last attack I had was shortened to two weeks by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. This treatment was continued until I was satisfied that the cure was lasting."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. H. E. Wooley, J.P.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six for $2.50. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

Temperance Act Helps Manitoba

Last week a despatch from Winnipeg said: Statistics compiled by J. N. MacLean, Chief of the License Inspector for Manitoba, have proved a revelation regarding the effect of the Manitoba Temperance Act on drunkenness and crime in the Province.

Mr MacLean has just finished making a careful survey of conditions throughout the Province, and announced to-day that there had been a reduction of eighty per cent. in drunkenness in Winnipeg since June as compared with the three months previous, the percentage being based on the court statistics In the Province there has been a decrease of ninety per cent in drunkenness. For the city and Province the reduction in the number of all crimes amounts to fifty-eight per cent.

The number of convictions for drunkenness in Winnipeg during the first three months of prohibition w as 161, as compared with 813 for the months of March, April and May. The number of convictions for drunkenness in Brandon for the three months was 19, as compared with 133 in the previous three months In St. Boniface there have been only three convictions for drunkenness during the last three months.

Jails Being Emptied

The jails of the Province are becoming empty of current offenders as a result of the operation of the temperance act. The numbers of commitals at four jails in the Province for June, July and August, as compared with the corresponding three months. Here are the figures:

| | Three months 1916 | Three months 1915 |
|---|---|---|
| Winnipeg jail | 103 | 221 |
| Brandon jail | 29 | 111 |
| Morden jail | 3 | 7 |
| Minnedosa jail | 3 | 9 |

Act Vigorously Enforced

The act is being vigorously enforced. During the three months the department has secured fifty convictions for infractions of the act, the amount in fines collected totalling ten thousand dollars. Practically every offender convicted has been fined two hundred dollars and costs. The cost of operating the department for the three months was nine thousand dollars.

CHAPTER IV.

Off on Flying Auto Trip.

THE next morning at 8 we left Paris. Mademoiselle was brave at parting—no scene, no tears. She had already absorbed some of the patient calm bravery of her people. The driver proved to be a French officer, Lieutenant F., who had been invalided and, not being able for active duty, was doing good work in the Red Cross. The motor was a sixty horse-power machine, equipped as an ambulance. My few personal things and supplies were quickly loaded, and I climbed in beside the driver, and we were off. The streets were quiet, here and there a tradesman's cart or a street cleaner, but of real life there was none. It was all new and unreal to me, and I found myself engrossed in every insignificant detail.

At the city gate we were held up by traction trains carrying men, wagons and provisions to the front, but after a few words of explanation to the guard we were passed ahead of the long line, and then out over the great, wide, magnificent boulevard we sped. At Vincennes a sentry stepped in front of the car and barred the way with his rifle. We came to a stop, and the officer beside me leaned out and whispered, "Constantine." It was the first time I had heard a countersign used, and it gave me a thrill. It was the magic word, and again we were off like a streak. I watched the speedometer climb up and up, flicker back a moment and still mount until it reached 110 kilometers an hour. I am never nervous in a car, but if I had been so inclined all traces of it would have disappeared, as Lieutenant F. handled his machine with a skill that amazed me. I learned later he had twice won the —— amateur cup for endurance and speed races.

At noon we stopped at what he told me had been an historic abbey. It was now a hospital completely officered by Scotchwomen. They were orderlies and even stretcher bearers. It was a very distinguished hospital, as the administratrix was General French's sister.

These wonderful women were nursing not their own men, but the French wounded. They were kind and gracious, insisting on giving us hot luncheon, although their own meal was an hour away. In return we were happy to leave them a few hospital supplies, which they sorely needed.

From there on we began to be told that we probably could not get through, as the Germans were advancing on the run. Along the railways we saw troop trains going to the front, the soldiers singing, and ambulance trains crowded with wounded coming back, generally bound for Calais. Other trains carried in cattle cars women, wrinkled bent old men and babies.

An hour later we made a slight detour to take dispatches to the chief major of the retreating army of the French. Even he felt it doubtful that we could get through to ——.

Soon we saw taubes above us, but they were following the army and were soon lost to view.

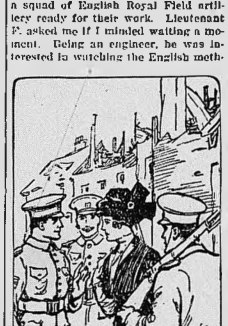
Speeding along a straight white road, we suddenly came upon a little group of soldiers evidently signaling us. Several of them came limping hastily in our direction. I jumped down and ran to meet them.

They were wounded French, trying to make their way to the nearest collecting station. With them, however, was an English subaltern, whose strength had given out, and they were not able to carry him. They had found him among the debris of a ruined belfry. He had been on observation duty and had posted himself there only a few hundred yards away from the Germans. For an hour he had regularly telephoned his orders. Then he told his men that he heard the Germans coming up the stairs and not to believe anything else they heard. A moment later he had been struck down and left for dead. When we arrived he was begging them to go and leave him, saying France needed all the men she had—one life, even, was too precious to risk for him. Of course they had not dreamed of doing so, but, oh, how glad they were to see us! We hastily ran over to where he was lying under a demolished haystack. He was not seriously wounded provided he had immediate attention, and his face lighted with joy when he found we could take them all. We laid him on top of the boxes, making him as comfortable as possible with rugs. The poor fellows were all so exhausted from hunger and fatigue that after giving them chocolate and wine they slept, even in the cramped positions in which they were forced to sit. Thirty kilometers away we gave them over to an English hospital and hurried on.

It was growing late. We had lost some time, and Lieutenant F. began to drive furiously. At the turns I sometimes felt a little anxious. Reading my expression, he said, "I didn't like to tell you for fear you might be nervous, but we must reach W. by 6 this evening or we cannot cross the river, as at that hour they are going to dynamite the bridge. We would then have to go fifty kilometers up the stream to pass." After a pause he added, "You know they are so anxiously waiting us—our supplies—we simply can't fail them."

It was an hour and a quarter until 5, and we had 100 kilometers to go. The road was good, and we were devouring the distance when, bang! went a tire. He said something very like "damn," then stopped the motor and jumped down.

Without really thinking what I was about I began loosening the extra tires. He looked at me for a moment with amazement. Catching his expression, I said:



"Oh, I am used to this! Get your tire off. I will have this ready."

We worked with a will, and in four minutes we were off. As his eye fell on the clock he turned to me, laughing.

"You are what you say in America—a girl who goes after my heart."

We reached the bridge five minutes before 5. There was a long line of carts slowly going over. One motor, an ambulance, was pulled up on one side. The driver was talking very eagerly with several sentries. The moment he saw us he jumped down and came running to us in great excitement. He was a Scotchman, and whether he surmised we spoke English or in his haste forgot that our flag was French I do not know, but he said excitedly: "For God's sake, what's the password? I know it ends in 'ine.' I've been giving Clementine, Hazeltine and everything I could think of." We laughed a good deal about it, but as they were waiting on the other side to apply the fuse we hurried across. It was a graceful bridge, with beautifully proportioned arches, built in the time of Henry IV., and it seemed a crime to demolish it—such wanton waste, but—war and waste are synonymous.

Arriving at the other side, we found a squad of English Royal Field artillery ready for their work. Lieutenant F. asked me if I minded waiting a moment. Being an engineer, he was interested in watching the English method of operation. And he added, "Perhaps you would like to get out a moment too."

"Oh, he only did his duty!" the Englishman replied calmly.

The English officer came over and spoke to us. Lieutenant F. introduced himself and recounted apropos bridge destruction an incident he had heard the night before in Paris, of where the English in retreating had been forced to destroy a bridge. The sappers in attempting to light the fuse were killed. Then one of the engineers made a rush—he was killed the first few steps he made. Another took his place. He dropped dead halfway. A third man started to run the gauntlet of the German fire, but was killed. A fourth attempted it; then others dashed out, until eleven had been shot, and then a twelfth man, a Captain Beaufort, racing across the open space covered by the bodies of his dead and dying comrades, lighted the fuse that sent the bridge up with a boom and, by a miracle, escaped.

"I call that marvelous courage," Lieutenant F. added enthusiastically as he finished his story.

"Oh, he only did his duty," the Englishman replied calmly.

* * * * * * *

Another second and the fuse would be lighted. I dreaded to see it, and, either feeling that or remembering the urgent need of our hurrying on, Lieutenant F. said, "Well, we must go."

The men shook hands, and Lieutenant F. said: "Goodby. Is there anything we can do for you en route?"

"Yes. If you will leave this note at the headquarters at C. I will be obliged." He wrote a line or two, handed it to Lieutenant F., and we were off again.

"Those English are fine fellows," he said. "The Germans at first despised them, and I confess we French didn't begin to appreciate them at their full value until in the retreat from Mons the small British army, at fearful loss, kept the German hordes off and so enabled our forces to fall back in safety. And you know," he continued after a pause, "their coolness is appalling, unbelievable. They cook, make their eternal tea, wash and even shave under fire. They are queer," he mused.

"Some one has said of their army," I replied, "as the nervous lady said of the mouse, 'Small, but a horrible nuisance.'"

This amused Lieutenant F. greatly. He translated it into French, and it sounded very funny.

"Speaking of the English," he said, "their most admirable quality is their ability to stand still or retreat. We French are better at rushing. At the battle of Mons they made the most magnificent retreat that military history records."

"Yes, Kipling tells us, 'Tommy, you are a hero with your masterly retreat,'" I answered.

Half an hour later we were at the headquarters at C. As the car stopped several English officers came to the door. Lieutenant F. called out that he had an important message for the commander. Where was he to be found?

"I am he," the older of the men replied.

Lieutenant F. handed him the note, and we were about to start when the commander asked one or two questions. Then he apologized for detaining us and thanked us for bringing Captain Beaufort's message.

Captain Beaufort's message!

It was Captain Beaufort who had lighted the fuse at the bridge. Lieutenant F. had told him the story of his own heroism!

We looked at each other a moment in blank astonishment, and then the Frenchman threw up his hands, shrugged his shoulders and said, "Mon Dieu, and he said, 'Oh, he only did his duty,' while I made a poem about it!"

After that every few minutes we were stopped by sentries, and it was growing dusk before we turned into the gate of the hospital court. It had been a monastery before monasteries had been suppressed, and lately the French government had used it for an asylum. It looked a heavenly place, set in trees and reminiscent of glorious old days, with its architecture of a bygone period, its windows reaching from floor to ceiling and giving out upon exterior balconies overhung by drooping branches. Great guarded trees encircled it, gardens gay still with autumn flowers were about it, and ivy clad walls blended with the soft gray stone mellowed by years.

As we stopped before the door the surgeon in command, Colonel S., and the matron, a crisp, bustling woman of forty, came out to meet us.

They were genuinely relieved to see us, and to know we and our precious supplies were safe. "We are so desperately in need of things," said the colonel. "But you must be dead with fatigue," he added. "Go to your rooms and rest until dinner, which is at 9. We dine only after the patients are comfortably settled for the night—that is, if we are lucky," he added, laughing, and I learned that for weeks many of the staff had scarcely known a night's rest, often sleeping with their clothes on, and snatching a bite now and then. But there was a little lull that day.

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915.

For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives", and to everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-tives", and you will get well".

FARM WELLS AND POLLUTION.

Clean Water an Important Consideration on Every Farm.

Perhaps the most important consideration in connection with the farm water supply is to get clean water. It has often been considered that clear water was clean water and that clean water must be clear. Neither one of these conditions is necessarily true. Water may be vilely polluted and at the same time be beautifully clear and sparkling. It may be clear and yet contain the invisible and deadly germs of typhoid fever or other intestinal disorders. It may also contain considerable poisonous matters in solution. A polluted water supply is evidence of the existence of bad sanitary conditions, which it is of the utmost importance to remedy. On the other hand, many waters that are not clear cannot be regarded as unclean nor their use prejudicial to health. Many surface waters have a greenish or brownish tint from vegetable stains, and mineral waters frequently impart more or less color to spring and ground waters. In some cases such waters instead of proving harmful to health have proved to be decidedly beneficial.

With the growth of population and development of industries there is progressive pollution of streams, so that in the more thickly settled regions streams not already contaminated or subject to pollution are very rare. Surface water supplies from small streams should never be used for household purposes unless no other supply is available. In the event that it must be used such water should be clear and should be thoroughly boiled.

The well is the most commonly used source of farm water supply. It may be a shallow dug or driven well or a deep dug or bored well. It may be said, however, that the majority of shallow dug wells on farms where contamination is present are contaminated.

The government sanitary engineer offers the following practical suggestions for keeping different types of wells, especially shallow wells, from needless pollution:

Obviously the logical first step in securing a clean well water supply on the farm or anywhere else is to remove all the sources of possible contamination. Among the worst of these are the open privy vault, the leaching cesspool, and barnyard filth. A well in ordinary pervious soil located lower than and within a hundred feet of any of these is almost certain to be polluted. Even though the well is located on higher ground than these sources of contamination, heavy pumping or dry weather may so lower the ground water level that it will reach the zone of contamination and thus pollute the well. It is evident, therefore, that the open privy vault and leaching cesspool should be discarded and a sewage purification system or at least a sanitary privy be used instead. Sewage, garbage, manure, or other waste should never be dumped into sinks or fissures, and most certainly never into old abandoned wells. An old well used for this purpose is very likely to communicate directly with the water bearing stratum from which other wells in the immediate vicinity draw their supply. Slops or waste water should never be thrown out of the back door or window on to the ground. If the pigs and chickens must run at large they should at least be kept away from the well. A box built around the pump and filled with manure in winter is an extremely unsafe way to prevent the pump from freezing.

Concrete manure pits, impervious floors and water tight drains are desirable features for farm buildings. If these are beyond the farmer's purse the manure pile should be placed a safe distance away from the well.

The well itself should be located as high as possible with respect to buildings, stock pens, and chicken yards, and as far away from all sources of contamination as convenience and local surroundings will permit.

CONVERTING NONBELIEVERS.

Because our neighbors look over the fence and smile or tell it about the community in a quiet way it is hard to be the first one to put on rock phosphate, lime, start some alfalfa, spray the orchard or any of the new ideas in farming, and the good neighbor thinks he has that smile coming to him. We see it in every neighborhood where there is a man trying out some of the new ideas, and we see it especially in the farm advisory counties. Watch and see if those nonbelievers have put ten minutes' study on the question before they gave the whisper about you. All are looking for the true criticism that comes from study, but the other kind isn't worth bothering about. But one thing is found true by the men who are constantly visiting places where these things can be heard that makes us feel good. A large per cent of the men who give that wink at the progressive men are susceptible to a change, and many little stories of how one of these men is willing to sit in the front row at the meetings and ask questions proves that point.

Rowboat Upset by Steamer.

SARNIA, Aug. 20. — Rowing across the lower end of Lake Huron just above the mouth of the river here early Sunday morning, three Detroit young men named Albert Falkner, James Shankland, and John Wilson, had a narrow escape from death when their boat was run down by an up-bound steamer. The men had just rowed out of the path of a boat coming into the river and did not notice the other boat until it was too late to get out of the way. The steamer stopped as soon as possible and put out a lifeboat, which picked up Wilson and Falkner, who were swimming feebly. Shouts from shoreward drew their attention, and there they found Shankland, who was a good swimmer. Wilsons' home is in Strathroy, but he is working in Detroit. The boat was totally destroyed.

GERMANS STRIKE BACK

Violent Counter-Attack on Somme Brings Small Success.

The Enemy Have Advanced on a Very Small Front Says Sir Douglas Haig—Loss of the Attacking Force Was Very Heavy Says Official Report—Advanced Under Deadly Concentrated Fire.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Germans last night launched one of the most violent counter-offensive against the British on the Somme since the inception of the Picardy battle. It was successful only on a very small frontage, according to the official report received from General Sir Douglas Haig, though no details are as yet given as to the extent of the ground the Teutons actually regained.

When the weather finally cleared, after several days of heavy and incessant rains and thunderstorms, the Germans hurled massed forces against the British positions on a 3,000-yard front, in the sector of Ginchy and Delville Wood. Five successive assaults were made, but not until the fifth was launched did the attackers succeed in carrying British positions, the four others having been broken by the British curtain of fire. The official British afternoon statement says the Teutons penetrated into an "advanced British trench at two points on a small frontage."

The German War Office briefly announced in the afternoon that German troops recaptured from the British ground lost near Longueval and Delville Wood, in heavy fighting.

In the latest British headquarters report Sir Douglas asserts that the night's attack cost the Teutons "very severe casualties." He points out that the attackers were not only met by a fusillade of British rifle-fire, but also "came under the concentrated fire at various places of our trench mortars and massed machine guns," while at several points the British artillery wrought havoc among the attacking ranks.

With the return of more favorable weather a resumption of the Anglo-French offensive on the Somme is looked for.

NEARLY 10,000 CAPTURED.

Russia Makes Huge Gains in One Day's Battles.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The capture during Thursday's battles alone of 250 officers and 15,501 men was announced by the Russian War Office in its afternoon statement Friday. Of this total 2,400 were Germans. Six guns, 55 machine guns, and seven bomb-throwers fell into Russian hands. Despite the violence of the fighting as indicated by these figures, no substantial progress is officially claimed by Petrograd, except in the Carpathians, where a whole series of heights were captured by the Muscovites near Tomnatic mountain. The official statement reports "fierce" Teuton attacks in the region of Lukoischi, where the Russians "obtained advantages on a narrow front," but add that "otherwise they were driven back by German counter-attacks." It is also conceded that south-west of the Hoiena Lipa, in the direction of Halics, the Teutons "had to give way a little before the enemy pressure."

Field Marshal von Hinderburg, who a few days ago was appointed by the Kaiser chief of the German general staff, appears to have been succeeded by Prince Leopold of Bavaria, who formerly held the extended German plank front. The name of the Bavarian prince appeared Friday in the place of Hindenburg in the official list.

The reply concludes: "His Majesty's Government will readily respond to the appeal, being confident that the neutral powers and the International Committee will recognize that the demands for reprisals grow in volume and urgency with the recurrence of abuses, and that the surest means of avoiding reprisals is the abandonment of the policy inspiring them."

ALLIES MENACE ATHENS

Startling Events Occur at the Greek Capital.

Entire Allied Mediterranean Fleet Assembled—Rising at Salonica—Greek Pro-Entente Volunteers Compel Garrisons of Forts to Surrender—Athens Has Been Cut Off From the World by the Censor.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Some of the most startling events of the world war are transpiring at Athens behind the shuttered windows of a rigid censorship.

All Greece is in a foment of revolution; there is an unconfirmed report that the king has abdicated his throne and Crown Prince George assumed the regency; the remobilization of the army has been ordered; the elections, set for October 5, have been postponed a fortnight; the entire allied Mediterranean fleet has assembled before Athens—according to sensational despatches reaching here.

It is impossible to separate the chaff from the grain owing to the complete isolation of Athens. For 48 hours until late at night, the Greek capital was completely cut off from the world. Just before midnight two despatches came through, bearing Friday's date, from Athens. One was from the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company, and said that 30 Allied warships, accompanied by transports, had arrived off Piraeus, the port of Athens. Part of the fleet is reported lying in Salamis and Phaleron Bays.

The other despatch announced the postponement of the Greek elections.

Neither touched on the question, which holds London, and, indeed, the whole world, in a fever of interest as to the fate of King Constantine.

From the fragmentary despatches which have reached London it is deduced by some observers that changes of decisive character already have taken place in Athens and that the de facto Government of Greece has decided to abandon neutrality and range itself on the side of the Entente Allies. Other experts take a more conservative view. The Times editorially attaching small importance to Wednesday's revolutionary movement at Salonica, declaring that this is completely overshadowed by the news of the appearance of Entente allied ships off Piraeus. "This must be taken to indicate," says The Times, "that the Allies are wearied of the equivocations, which have so long prevailed in Athens, and are resolved to baffle the intrigues of their enemies."

A message from the correspondent of the Reuter Agency at Salonica says regarding the abdication of King Constantine: "Pending confirmation the report must be received with all reserve."

EVENTS MOVE SWIFTLY.

Serbians, Roumanians, and Russians Have Joined Forces.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The three outstanding developments in the Balkans situation are: Bulgaria's declaration of war against Roumania, reported in a Reuter despatch from Salonica; a declaration of war against Roumania by Turkey; the entrance of Serbian troops into Roumania, where they have joined forces with the Roumanian and Russian troops.

Meantime the Roumanian armies are continuing their rapid advance into Transsylvania. All of the Tarlung valley has been occupied in the district around Kronstadt and the important industrial centre of Petrosany, six miles within the Hungarian frontier, has been seized, according to an official announcement.

King Ferdinand has taken command of the Roumanian forces, with Gen. Iliose as chief of the general staff. It is reported that the commanders are preparing to throw an additional army across the Danube to attack the Teutonic forces in Northern Serbia. Thus far, the Roumanian losses have been slight.

Violent fighting already is developing along the Danube at points where the Russians, crossing Eastern Roumania, have reached the Bulgarian frontier.

There also is furious fighting, with the Roumanians participating, in the extreme southern end of the ranges of the Carpathians, south-west of Kimpolung.

ROGERS AT EXHIBITION.

TORONTO, Sept. 4.—Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, was at the Exhibition Saturday. The day had been set apart for Empire Federation Day, and Hon. Mr. Rogers delivered an imperial address suitable for the occasion at the director's luncheon. Saturday was the day which sets as it were the keynote for the whole Exhibition this year, touching as it did upon the thought of federation. The entire program was mapped out to emphasize the Imperial thought.

There were 39,000 people at the Exhibition Thursday, Press Day, the threatening weather keeping many thousands away. The attendance on the corresponding day last year was 44,000, and on the fifth day of 1913, the record year, 64,000.

Coroner Richardson found that the man had been dead forty-eight

SMUTS TAKES MROGORO.

South African General in Possession of German East African Capital.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Gen. Smuts, commander-in-chief of the British forces in German East Africa, reports under date of August 30 that the German forces in that colony are in full retreat. He announced the occupation of Mrogoro, the seat of the German Provisional Government, and said he believed the German military headquarters and provisional government had retired into the mountains.

"We occupied Mrogoro on the 26th. This is a most important town, and was formerly the seat of the provisional government."

NEW CAMPAIGN BEGINS.

Italian Forces Have Captured Tepelini in Albania.

ROME, Sept. 4.—Italian troops have begun an offensive in Southern Albania and have occupied Tepelani, 31 miles south-east of Avlona, on the Vojussa River, says the official statement issued by the War Office. The Greek garrison withdrew from Tepelani.

The official report says:

"Wednesday morning our composite column occupied Tepelani, on the Vojussa, after a rapid march over very difficult ground. The Greek garrison withdrew.

"At the same time Bersaglieri made an attempt against the enemy's position on Mount Gradista and Mount Trubes, on the right bank of the Vojussa. We forced the river near Carbonara and stormed the villages of Klog and Hekal under heavy artillery fire.

"We took 72 prisoners, including 40 Austrians and much ammunition. During the night the news of the occupation of Tepeleni was received, and the Bersaglieri withdrew from Mount Gradista. Enemy aircraft bombarded Provenl and La Fai, doing no damage, however."

AEROPLANE BATTLES.

French and British Aviators Win Several Victories.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In spite of the fog British and French aviators are particularly active on this front. On the Somme front during the forenoon four German machines were brought down by the French, and three others south of Peronne, while two others were seen to fall badly damaged. Another aircraft guns brought down two others, and the occupants were taken prisoner. In the afternoon anti-aircraft guns felled three additional hostile aeroplanes. The French lost one machine only.

General Haig reports that during aerial combats with the enemy five German machines were destroyed and at least seven others driven down damaged. Five British aeroplanes were lost.

Five Battalions Reach England.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—It is officially announced through the Chief Censor's office that the following troops have arrived safely in England: 127th Battalion, Camp Borden; 129th Battalion, Camp Borden; 135th Battalion, Camp Borden; 137th Battalion, Calgary; 138th Battalion, Edmonton; No. 10 Stationary Hospital, London; drafts and details.

The 127th Battalion, "York Rangers," is in command of Lieut.-Col. F. F. Clarke; the 129th, from Wentworth county, of Lieut.-Col. W. E. S. Knowles; the 135th, "Pride of Middlesex," of Lieut.-Col. Burt Robson.

ROME, Sept. 4.—Last Tuesday workmen chopped off the marble memorial names of Emperor William and the German Crown Prince, Frederick William, which had been placed in the Senatorial Palace on the ancient Capitol hill during a visit of the German Emperor to Rome twenty years ago. KINGSTON, Sept. 4.—The threat is made by Willy Brubacher, the St. Johns, Que., German, who escaped from Fort Henry internment camp, and who is now in Watertown, N.Y., that he will sue the Canadian Government for his luggage, which is still here at the Fort. He says he cannot see how the holding of his personal belongings can contribute to the safety of the Dominion.

Rouble's Value Rising.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The value of the rouble has greatly advanced in London, where Petrograd exchange had fallen from 1.55 to 1.35 in the course of a week. The rise of the rouble is attributed to Roumania's entrance into the war, American buying, and the pending internal flotation of a Russian railway loan of 250,000,000 roubles. Simultaneously French exchange has also improved.

The London Free Press and the London Advertiser have increased their subscription rates $1.00 per year. The Toronto News and Toronto Star have increased their rates 50 cents per year to take effect December 1st. It will cost the Star just $75.000 more for paper this year than last on account of the increased price From all these facts the public can learn where the weekly is at, It is thought that a number of small papers will be compelled to go out of business.

One day last week Mr. Robert McKenzie, Hepworth, who had borrowed Mr. Victor Campbell's new Ford car met with a serious accident on the County Line quite near town. He was passing along the road in front of Mr Geo. Taylors, where a cow happened to be on the highway, the cow was being driven, we understand, to pasture. The exact particulars we do not know, but this much seems true that the car merely glanced on the cow, as the cow was not injured at all. In some way the car apparently ran on the road all right then for a few feet, afterwards it took the ditch where it ran 75 feet, then hit the fence where it stood end up. The fortunate thing is no one was injured, and just how the three occupants escaped is a mystery. The cow is enjoying the best of health, but the car suffered and it will probably require $100 to put it in good condition again.

A Final Request—Please

There are a large number in arrears for The Echo and in order to settle at the $1 rate they must do so before Sept 15 when the price will advance to $1.50 per year. We have repeatedly called attention to this fact and last week we mailed notices. We cannot give further warning, we have done our part. With the rapid increase in the price of paper, and the high cost of production, it is utterly impossible to run a newspaper unless the subscriptions are paid. Those to whom this applies will kindly call at the office or remit by mail before Sept 15. This matter must be attended to, and our friends will oblige us, and avoid all friction by doing so before this date.

The Gillies Telephone System

Editor of The Echo

Sir,

Will you kindly allow me some little space in your valuable paper. I would like to explain some things to my old telephone customers, as well as my many new ones. I have been in the telephone business for quite a number of years. I am quite willing to admit the lines have not at times worked satisfactorily. Fire and wind storms have given us trouble sometimes. It is only two or three years since the farmer has awakened to realize the necessity and value of having a telephone in his house, and I am quite sure the farmer has nothing so handy as the little telephone that hangs on the wall. The demand for telephones in the last two years have been very great, more in fact than I could supply. I did not figure on putting in any new lines this summer on account of the war material being high and labor scarce. Infact I enlisted myself, I thought my first duty was to help finish this dreadful war which is still raging. In May last while training in Walkerton I was informed about a new Telephone Company known as the Albemarle Telephone Co. They organized and began getting out poles, they apparently thought very little about the war, nor for those who had enlisted, and preparing to fight their battles. Owing to the organization of this company, and the strong demand made upon me to further extend my telephone lines in the township of Albemarle, as there is only room for one system, I was forced to ask for my discharge from the 160th Batt. I now have my discharge although very sorry to leave the 160th, who are billed for overseas in about six weeks. I cannot see how the Albemarle Telephone Co. can give the farmers cheaper or better service than the Gillies system. Infact I am quite safe in saying they can not. All my customers from Cape Croker, Purple Valley, Adamsville and Colpoys now have the free use of the town of Wiarton which includes all other private lines connecting with the Wiarton system. The Bell Co. subscribers in the town of Wiarton have free access to all the above points. I am now figuring on new lines both on the East and West roads with the intention of giving every farmer telephone connection and all at the one price. I am in the business to stay unless the municipality wish to take over my system. Any time they so desire I will be quite willing to talk business. Arrangements are now completed for building the line to Berford Lake and will be pushed through at once.

The parlor was prettily decorated with ferns and pond lilies. The tables waited upon by Mrs. T. S. Seaman and Miss J. Cruickshank were decorated with sweet peas and carnations. The groom's gift to the bride was a pendant set with pearls, to the pianist and assistants, brooches set with amethysts. The many beautiful and handsome gifts showed the esteem in which the young couple were held. Among the gifts was a cheque from the bride's father and one from her father-in-law. The happy couple motored to Hepworth to board the 2.20 train for Toronto and other points. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Shallow Lake.

OWEN SOUND

Sunday Dr. Charles J. Gaviller returned from his year's service with the Royal Army Medical Corps, having motored up from Toronto with Mr. Howard Bowman It will be remembered that Dr. Gaviller was sent to Malta shortly after his arrival in England. While there he was assistant to the senior consulting physician Colonel Purvis Stewart. At Malta is a vast hospital composed of eighteen hospitals with accommodation for nearly twenty thousand patients. As is known he was, shortly after his entry on his duties, taken ill with typhoid fever and on his convalescence was sent home to England where he was appointed to the position of assistant to the chief surgeon at Chiseldon military hospital. After a few days at the camp he was made surgeon specialist owing to the illness of the doctor who held the position, and he thus had a splendid opportunity of obtaining practice and experiences which must be of immense value. Speaking of his experiences during the year, while he did not get in touch with activities at the front he had an opportunity of seeing almost every branch of the service. He speaks in the highest terms of the Canadian soldiers as compared with the best the Allies have produced. Referring to aircraft raids, Dr. Gaviller was fortunate in not being around when these unpleasantnesses occured, though one street which he had passed through regularly in London, was bombed within twenty-four hours of the time he left the city. Dr. Gaviller will resume his practise in town with the advantage of the various experiences of the past year.

The market on Saturday last was one of the most busy seen at this season of the year. Butter and eggs are the main farm products brought out at this season and still commaned good prices. On Saturday Butter was sold as high as 35c but mostly from 30 to 32c per lb, and eggs at 25c a doz. Nice chickens sold at 21c per pound and were speedily bought up. A couple of farmers sold canned honey in five and 10 lb tins at 12 and 12½ cts per lb. No grain of any amount was on the market. Young pigs were the dearest things in price produced for sale. A buyer who bought a pair of small porks for $9.00 found when he weighed them that he had paid 38½ cts per pound for pork.

To settle a wager between two well known business men in Meaford Mr. F. G. Muxlow, the druggist of that town, walked from Meaford to Owen Sound and return yesterday. By doing so he won $50 from Mr. R. Randall, the tailor of that town. Mr. Muxlow left the Paul House Meaford at 7.05 a. m. arriving at the Patterson House, Owen Sound, at 11.40 a. m. He had lunch and left the hotel at 1.15 p. m. reaching Meaford at 9.55 p. m. On the first half of the trip Mr. Muxlow took four hours and 35 minutes and for the second half five hours and 40 minutes, and for the entire trip including his rest in Owen Sound, was just ten minutes less than twelve hours The exact walking time was ten hours and fifteen minutes. The bet was between Mr. Muxlow and Mr. Randall. Mr. Muxlow bet $100 to Mr. Randall's $50 that he could walk the journey in fourteen hours. The distance between the two towns is almost twenty miles, so that Mr. Muxlow actually walked 40 miles. Mr. Randall followed him in his touring car to see that the entire trip was made according to specifications, and he was accompanied by Mr. Robert Patterson and Mr. Stevens. Dr. Drummond of Meaford, is the stake holder and the money is to be paid over this morning. Quite a crowd of citizens gathered to see Mr. Muxlow off yesterday morning and last night when he returned to Meaford he was escorted along the main street by the band and a great crowd of people. During the day rural lines were busy and the word was passed along and farmers came out to see the wonder-walker on his way. In Owen Sound only a few were aware of the contest and thereby a lot o fun and excitement was missed here. Speaking to The Sun on the 'phone last night Mr. Muxlow admitted that he was pretty well tired out, but claimed that he had frequently walked as long a distance when hunting up north.

Contrary to expectations the tax rate for 1917 will not be struck at the next meeting of the council on Monday night While Mr. Kieth Webster the chairman of the finance committee and Treasurer A. F. Armstrong have the estimates prepared, it is necessary to wait another two weeks to find out what success attends the efforts of the town solicitor in his efforts to insist on payment of interest and instalments of principal due from a number of the industries which have loans from the town and which are in arrears.

While the total amount in arrears is something like $75,000 there is something like $42,000 which must be provided in the next tax rate, unless these concerns come across with their respective amounts within the next two weeks or make some definite arrangement to take care of them

If the industries are able to put up their amounts the tax mill will likely be 30 mills—the same as last year. But if the industries do not make payment the amount—$42,000- would mean an addition to the rate of six mills. However it is understood that nearly all of the arrearages will be met or arranged and there will not be any large addition to the rate on this account.

"No. Just paid my taxes. That what makes me look so gloomy."

The Road To Health.

Lies Through Rich Blood and Strong Nerves.

Debility is a word that fairly expresses many ailments under one name. Poor blood, weak nerves, impaired digestion-loss of flesh, no energy, no ambition, list, less and indifferent. This condition is perhaps the penalty of overwork or the result of neglected health. You must regain your health or succumb entirely. T here is not one absolutely sure way to new health—take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills will bring you new life fill every vein with new, rich blood, restore elasticity to your step, the glow of health to wan cheeks. They will supply the vital forces of mind and body.

There is not a corner in Canada where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not brought health and hope and happiness to some weak debilitated person. If you have not used this medicine yourself ask your neighbors and they will tell you of some sufferer who has been restored to health and strength through using Dr. Williams Pink Pills. One who has always a good word to say for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Luther Smith, of West Hills Ont. who writes: "I feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to tell you what Dr. William's Pink Pills have done for me. I had an operation for tumors. The operation it itself was quite successful, but I was so badly run down and anaemic that I did not gain strength, and the incision did not heal, and kept discharging for nearly a year, until I weighed only eighty-six pounds and could scarcely walk across the floor I had got so sick of doctor's medicine that I would vomit when I tried to take it A good friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so I bought a box. Before they were gone I thought I could feel a difference, and got a further supply By the time I had taken five boxes the wou. d ceased discharging and commenced to heal. I took in all thirteen boxes and am to-day enjoying the best health of my life and weigh 140 pounds. I sincerely hope anyone suffering as I did will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial, and I feel sure they will not be disappointed."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. William's Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont

Meaford

Mr. Arthur Petch, of Griersville, is a live wire in the fruit industry and has the best crop of apples this year of any person in this part of the province. His orchard will be a veritable gold mine this season and he has disposed of his entire crop to a Western buyer for $4 per barrel. He estimates that he will have in the neighborhood of 1500 barrels of apples, principally all of which are choice spies.

It is about 20 years since this orchard was first set out. and his father, Mr. Reuben Petch, was the laughing stock of the district by those who lacked the foresight of the future. for going into fruit so extensively. Just at a time when his neighbors were destroying their apple orchards, Mr. Petch was busy building up the very part of his farm that the others were tearing down. Fortunately the old gentleman has lived to see his fondest hopes come literally true, and while the fruit farm is now managed by his son, he has the satisfaction of seeing his labors also bearing fruit.

The farm is located at Griersville and will be the pride of Grey County. Mr. Petch Jr. has all the latest appliances for spraying and caring for his valuable fruit orchard and it is bound to give him good returns on his investment.

We cannot recommend this preparation too highly."

Chesley

Peter McKichan who had been Science Master in Chesley High School for a year resigned to accept a position on the staff of Petrolea High School at a salary of $1400 an increase of $200 over what he received in Chesley. Petrolea is the town where the High School Board dismissed all the teachers because of the poor showing at the Departmental examination this year.

Our townsman, Wm. Dann, received a telegram on Tuesday announcing that his son John had been severely wounded in the thigh on August 28th and was in No. 13 stationary hospital, Boulogne, France. The last letter Mr. Dann received from his son was dated Aug. 18th when he said he was 13 miles from the trenches and hoped to be in them in 48 hours. Mr Dann's second son is in the same battalion It is to be hoped John's wounds will not result fatally.

A writer in the Durham Review has been paying a visit to our cemetery and having an eye for the aesthetic gets off the following: "In Chesley the cemetery is owned by the town. Chesley claims it is a paying investment, too. Chesley employs a salaried caretaker. Owners of plots pay annual fee of $1.50 to the town treasury. Chesley cemetery is made a place of beauty. The well kept walks, carefully tended graves, surrounded by the neatly trimmed evergreens are a delight to the eye of all who pass inside the gate."

Miss Lillian Maxwell left on Friday for Toronto where she began her duties on Tuesday on the Public School staff. Her sister Miss Jean, has secured a school near Newmarket at a salary of $550.

Whooping Cough.

A neighbor advised the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and we gave it and nothing else with splendid results. When the older brother took the whooping cough we used this medicine promptly and prevented serious trouble as the cough passed off in two or three days."

A BRANTFORD SLATE. 1.—Fibre Base. 2.—First coating of Asphaltum. 3.—Second coating of Asphaltum. 4.—Coating of crushed slate.

Yesterday and To-day

Wooden shingles of twenty or thirty years ago were of splendid quality, and answered the purpose very well. There was nothing better at that time. In fact no other roofing material was on the market. Yet who would think of putting on shingles to-day? When the deterioration of wooden shingles became noticeable, efforts were made to invent a roofing that would not only be an economical and permanent substitute for wooden shingles, but one that would outlast them in service.

Brantford Roofing was the result. It has "made good." The secret of its success is this: First, the base is of pure, long-fibred felt which is thoroughly saturated with asphalt or mineral pitch. The asphalt and crystal roll roofings are then thickly coated with crushed rock particles, which adhere tightly to that base, and the whole forms a permanent fireproof, water-tight roof.

Brantford Asphalt and Rubber Roofing are made in three different weights. Crystal is made in heavy weight only, and in red or green natural colors. All three grades are pliable and well suited to either flat or steep roofs.

Brantford Roofing

comes in rolls with protected ends. The layers do not stick together and the roofing is easily laid. It requires no painting or tarring when put on. It does not crack with the cold nor melt with the summer's heat. It does not curl, split, rust or blow off. It gives permanent weather and fire protection at a reasonably low initial cost.

May we send you our roofing book and samples? They will show you the real value of these roofing materials.

Rids Poisons From the Blood, Clears Up the Complexion

Sallow Skin, Pimples, Pains and Aches Are Soon Gone When Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Are Used.

The doctor feels your pulse and looks at your tongue, but at the same time he is reading your condition in your face. The sallow complexion tells him that your liver is not doing its work, the pimples tell him that the kidneys are not properly purifying the blood, he realizes that the bowels are constipated and the system overloaded with poisons.

You can apply this test in your own case and may be able to add other symptoms, such as headaches, pains and aches through back and limbs, spells of biliousness and indigestion.

If you have not used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will be surprised to find how quickly they will rid your system of poisonous impurities and thereby remove the cause of pains, aches and skin troubles.

Mrs. F. N. Hall, 102 Queen street, St. John, N.B., writes: "I am glad to say I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with splendid results. I was greatly troubled with constipation and pimples on the face. I tried other remedies and used liquid arsenic three times a day for a year to get rid of the pimples but received no benefit. I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and it was not very long before I was completely cured. The pills acted on the bowels, kidneys and liver and cleansed them of all impure matter. I think they cannot be beaten as a means of ridding a person of that tired aching due to weak kidneys, and I would not be without them in the house for any money."

Walkerton

Mrs Arthur Deane received a wire on Friday from the military authorities at Ottawa announcing that her husband, Corp. Arthur Deane, had been wounded in the foot by shrapnel and that he had been admitted to the military hospital at Boulogne, France, on Aug 21st. The exact extent of his injuries are yet unknown. Corp. Deane went overseas with the 34th Battalion, but was transferred and went to the front with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, which was also the regiment in which Bert Benetedler was fighting, when taken prisoner last spring.

About a dozen members of the A.O.U.W. in Walkerton are affected by the notice that their paid-up policies are valueless. When the rates were raised they were given the option of paid-up-polices after sixty years of age. Most of them did so, the policies being good for from $600 to$800. Now this insurance has been denied to them at an age when they cannot get into straight life companies except at very large rates. However they had the advantage of carrying insurance for many years at much less than cost. But, then they had o die to win.

Mr. Patridge, who has been assistant to the District Representative, Mr N.C. McKay at the Agricultural Dept. here, for the past summer, left on Monday to resume his studies at the O. A. C., Guelph. Owing to the scarcity of qualified students brought about by over-seas enlistments, Mr McKay will operate the office throughout the fall and winter without an assistant.

Mr David Robertson, K. C., has received word that his son, Roy Robertson, who has been serving at the front with the Canadian Military Engineers, has been promoted from a captain to the rank of major. The announcement which appears in the London Gazette of Aug. 18th, states that the appointment will date back to Feb. 18th. Roy's cousin, Mr. Eric Robertson, son of County Treasurer and Mrs. Robertson here, and who is with the Royal Canadian Flying Corps. in England, has also been promoted from a lieutenant to the rank of a captain.

Councillor Alex. McCarter, who since receiving official notice of the death of his son, Pte. Reggie McCarter at the front, had the optimism to believe that the report, like many others, would turn out to be a mistake and that the missing lad would show up at some future time, had these fond hopes rudely shattered by the arrival of a letter in town last week from Gabriel Haas, a Walkerton boy, who states that he was talking recently to a soldier chum of Reggie's at the front, who claims to have been near by when a shell struck the trench and buried McCarter, together with an officer. When dug out the Walkerton boy was dead, having no doubt been suffocated before his body could be recovered. The exact manner of his death having thus been learned, the father is now reconciled to his fate, which he has the satisfaction of knowing was met bravely in defence of the flag.

Distribution of Seed Grain and Potatoes from the Dominion Experimental Farms 1916-1917

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (about 5 lbs) white oats (about 4 lbs) barley (about 5 lbs) and field peas (about 5 lbs) These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes in samples of about 3 lbs. will be carried on from several of the experimental farms, the Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free by mail.

Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early. Requests received after the end of December will probably be too late.

Anyone desiring a samole should write (post free) to the Dominion Cerealist, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for an application blank.

Second Anniuersary Of Marne Fight.

—Mail and Em

FRANK SIMONDS, the leading American war commentator, is strongly pro-Ally, but has a very low opinion of what the British army has accomplished to date. According to him the British army was not engaged in the Battle of the Marne at all, and it was due to French's blunders that this battle was not a decisive victory for the Allies. He says that Gen. French apparently failed to understand the whole situation, and permitted von Kluck to withdraw a large part of his army from the British front and stow it safely away, leaving only a screen of cavalry in front of the British. Had French understood what was happening it might have been possible for the Allies to inflict a crushing defeat upon the Germans at the Marne and prevent them from digging in at the Aisne. It will remain for future historians to discuss the part the British played at the Battle of the Marne, which is already recognized as one of the greatest battles in the history of the world, if not, indeed, the greatest.

No Army in Taxis

Mr. Simond's review of the battle on its second anniversary is interesting, even if he does disparage the part played by the British. He was in France a couple of months ago, and had the advantage of interviews with leading French officers as he went over the ground. He says that several legends have grown out of the battle which historians disregard. One of them is that of the army in taxicabs that Gallieni sent from Paris. It is true that Gallieni did send this army, but it was not to the Battle of the Marne. It was to the Battle of the Ourcq. He does not belittle the assistance rendered by Gallieni, for it was Gallieni who discovered the intentions of the Germans and informed Joffre, thus enabling the French commander to alter his plans and defeat von Kluck. Another legend is to the effect that at the Marne several hundred thousand beaten Frenchmen turned savagely upon the enemy and defeated him. The French were never defeated. They had retreated according to the plans of Joffre, and when the moment arrived they turned, as Joffre had planned. There was no question of recovering from a rout.

A Planned Retreat.

He says that in the early days of the war the whole strategy of the French armies was to remain intact, and to retreat before the invader until it was understood what he was trying to do. Incidentally there were battles, offensives by the French, and so forth, but Joffre was playing a waiting game. The French were outnumbered, but Joffre was planning that they should not be outnumbered at the points where the real battles were to be fought. It was beyond his power to remain not outnumbered at all points for the Germans had in fact the numbers. So the French retreated. They were within 20 miles of Paris two years ago. It was tempting bait, and Joffre hoped that Kluck would take it; but Kluck refused. He knew that to capture Paris would take time, and would weaken his line. But having gone thus far in the pursuit of the retreating French armies, he had no choice but to continue in his effort to destroy the left wing of the French field armies.

The Hidden Army.

Thus he had to march past Paris. The more was safe if the Paris garrison was small; it was dangerous if in Paris was a large enough army to sally forth and threaten his flank. He did not know that near Paris Joffre had concentrated a new and strong army, that of Manoury and he labored, too, under the delusion that he was pursuing beaten troops. Up to this time he had been driving upon Paris. Now he swung away, and Gallieni informed Joffre, The French generalissimo then issued his famous order to the effect that the time had come for the French to strike, and that those that could not go forward should die in their tracks. Joffre calculated that while the main armies engaged, Manoury's army from Paris would strike at the German flank. At the beginning of the action Manoury had only 100,000 men, but this force was doubled before the engagement was over, and fell as Joffre predicted, Kluck was caught on the flank and had to retreat. In summing up the results of this battle Mr. Simonds says:

German's Plan Fail.

The German high command said: "We have more men, better guns, better troops we will violate the neutrality of Belgium turn the French fortresses and arriving in the plains of Northern France, we will destroy the French armies, take Paris, and then turn east and dispose of Russia. We shall win the war in six weeks and take Paris in seven. We shall hold France to ransom and dispose of the French danger for all time." Not one detail of this grandiose plan was realized. Not one detail has been realized after two years of war. We all see that if France had failed Russia would have been conquered, and even the British Empire would have come to the edge of ruin. But France did not fail. She won her greatest victory in a wonderful history, with but the least possible support from Britian; she saved herself, Britian and Russia, and after the Marne the war had new horizons and different possibilities. Thus it every sense the Battle of the Marne was one of the few truly decisive battles in all human history a battle whose consequences though we may not yet accurately measure them seem at the distance of two years incomparably greater than on the day when the world first learned that the German invasion would not reach Paris.

Communication

Gore Bay, Ont., Sept. 4, 1916

Editor of Canadian Echo,
Wiarton, Ontario.

Dear Sir:—Having read an article published in your paper of recent date, to the effect that the citizens of Gore Bay, were angry at the Postmistress of the town for not giving out the mail on Sunday evenings, prompts me to offer a correction of this statement which is erroneous to say the least.

As the lady in question was a resident of Wiarton for some years and still calls the Old Town, her Home Town, it is but fair to say that there has been no manifestation of ill will toward our Post Mistress, as the residents of Gore Bay know full well that she is a good public official and is carrying out the instructions of the Post Office Department, in not opening the Post Office on Sunday evenings.

Some of us have lived here long enough for us to remember the days when we were favored with our mail on Sundays, but after a protest was lodged by some members of the Lord's Day Alliance in this vicinity the Department gave our present Official instructions to keep closed on Sundays in future, which instructions have been carried out.

Now, Mr. Editor, for the information of the many acquaintances of our Post Mistress in your vicinity, permit me to say that she is a most popular lady in Gore Bay, being highly respected and having given her only son and child to serve in the ranks for King and Country, and being herself a widow, has thereby made woman's supreme sacrifice in the great cause for which we are struggling, and her name will be remembered among the citizens of Gore Bay with affection rather than anger.

Signed
A. E. GRAHAM

The Echo is glad to make the correction. Our information was from the Gore Bay Recorder and we supposed it correct. We did not know who the post office official is.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong and active.

THE PASSING OF THE BAR

On Saturday evening at the tick of seven o'clock, the Bars in the local hotels, and in fact all over Ontario will stop short like grandfathers clock, but whether they will ever go again or not is a question, which time alone can answer. It is not the first time that Wiarton has gone legally dry, Wiarton was dry according to law during the Scott Act days in Bruce County, but Wiarton, according to the report of all the old residents was as wet as the Pacific Coast during the rainy season. Will history be repeated? One thing is sure law is better enforced now, and there is a stronger public sentiment in its favour. If a blind pig opens up here there will be little mercy shown the offender. The passing of the bar will mark an epoch in the social customs of the Province. Years ago, more than at present, all over Ontario the farmers spent Saturdays in the towns, met one another, talked about stock and the crops, and then drank to the health of Hiram Walker. There has been far less of this of late, in fact it has almost passed away, and while the farmers will continue to spend Saturdays in towns it will be a business trip.

Each of the four hotels in town has had a bit of history all of its own. And this much must be said that Wiarton has always had splendid hotel accommodation. No doubt the bar has been the paying end of the business. With the high price now of labor and the very high prices of all farm products there is no more profit to a meal now at 50 cents than there was years ago at 25 cents, but the trouble is people do not want to pay the 50 cents. So far as we know the four hotels will be open Monday, how long they will keep open remains to be seen, but at present it looks like there will be ample accommodation for the travelling public.

Death of Mr. Nicholson

Another of the pioneers was laid to rest last week in the person of Mr. Solomon Nicholsons, of Sauble Falls. Deceased had not been enjoying the best of health lately, but nothing serious was looked for. On Tuesday he had been to his sons for some attachment to the mower, and apperently was as well as ever, but that was the last seen of him alive. On Wednesday a horse was seen in his field with the harness on, his son was notified and upon investigation found that it had been hitched to the buggy, but had broken away from it as the buggy was found some distance from the house, and on entering the house to the sons horror he found his father lying dead. Dr. Fisher (Coroner) was immediately summoned and pronounced death due to exertion about twenty four hours previous.

The late Mr. Nicholson was born in Penrith, Cumberland County, England sixty-eight years ago last February. His parents died leaving him and three sisters all quite young He lived in England till he was twenty-one years of age, then he came to Canada, but just stayed a short time when he went back to England, but two years later he returned to Canada bringing his three sisters with him. He settled in Lambton County for about five years then came to the Sauble, where he had ever since lived, excepting a year or two he spen in Owen Sound at his trade, stone cutting.

In 1878 he married Sarah Bain, who pre-deceased him nearly sixteen years ago, leaving to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother six children. One son Joseph was killed in February 1905, and one daughter Mrs. Joseph Sourrah (Emma) died in July 1914, the remaining members of the family are David Wesley, Harry and Mrs. John Miller. Besides the family deceased leaves three sisters, Mrs. Winskill, Wiarton, Miss Hannah Nicholson, Michigan and Mrs. Hawke, of Huntsville, Muskoka, who attended the funeral.

Service was held at the residence of his son Wesley on Saturday, Sept 2nd at 2 o'clock interment being made in Zion, Amabel Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs Pender Mullineaux, Howard, Lambkin, Fraser and Moore. These with many more will long remember the kindness of their late friend and neighbor, and realize that they have lost a life long friend one who was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand.

Deepest sympathy is felt in the family especially the youngest son Harry who was in the West at the time of his fathers death, and was unable to get home to attend the funeral.

Laid To Rest

On Sunday Sep. 10th Mrs. George Howe, Purple Valley, was quietly laid to rest in Colpoys cemetery. Forty three years before on the same date, when her maiden name was Margaret Hodgins, she became the wife of Mr. Howe. The deceased was born in Biddolph township 66 years ago, and was married in Keppel township where she and her husband lived for a few years. About 39 years ago they moved to Purple Valley, where they have since resided. At that time this portion of Albemarle was a wilderness and there were very few settlers. Her life was that of the pioneer and her memory will linger long and lovingly for her many acts of kindness. She is survived by her husband three sons, William, Ben and Edward, and four daughters, Mrs Allan Waugh, Adamsville and the Misses Alice, Ellen and Mary Howe at home. The funeral was very largely attended, there being upwards of 100 rigs in the procession, and the services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. James, Lions Head. The pall bearers were Messrs Aston, Symon, Foster, Cameron, Kastner and Sawyer of Wiarton.

Arrested for Wife Desertion

"The way of the transgressor is hard" so thought Edward Harrington, wanted in Hamilton for wife desertion, as Constable Ward put the iron bracelets on his wrists last Wednesday night in the lonely cabin by Bass Lake near Kemble. Harrington, according to his own story had been married three times, two of his wives were dead, the other he admitted that he had deserted. He was living now with a woman from Owen Sound, who went into hysterics over his arrest. Harrington was brought into Wiarton and kept in custody until an officer from Hamilton came and took him away.

The Fall Fair

Editor of The Echo
Sir—

Every citizen of Wiarton should boost the Fall Fair All take an nominal interest in it, but what the directors want is that every citizen should take a special interest in this institution. Its success must be a towns success, and its failure must be the towns failure. It can only be successful when the people realize that they can make and will make this annual event a success. They can do this by making entries for the exhibition, and thus increase the attractions, and by attending and by inviting their friends from a distance to attend. The directors are freely giving their time, have revised the prize list, and arranged for attractions and will be busy from now until the last exhibit is removed from the hall, The Merchants should fill the spare space in the hall with a display of goods and make the Fair more interesting. The date of the Fall Fair this year is Tuesday and Wednesday Sept, 26 and 27th.

G. H. Loney, President.

The total allotment of bonds of this issue will be limited to one hundred million dollars exclusive of the amount (if any) paid for by the surrender of bonds as the equivalent of cash under the terms of the War Loan prospectus of 22nd November, 1915.

The instalments may be paid in full on the 16th day of October, 1916, or on any instalment due date thereafter, under discount at the rate of four per cent per annum. All payments are to be made to a chartered bank for the credit of the Minister of Finance. Failure to pay any instalment when due will render previous payments liable to forfeiture and the allotment to cancellation.

Subscriptions, accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent of the amount subscribed, must be forwarded through the medium of a chartered bank. Any branch in Canada of any chartered bank will receive subscriptions and issue provisional receipts.

This loan is authorized under Act of the Parliament of Canada, and both principal and interest will be a charge upon the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Forms of application may be obtained from any branch in Canada of any chartered bank and at the office of any Assistant Receiver General in Canada.

Subscriptions must be for even hundreds of dollars.

In case of partial allotments the surplus deposit will be applied towards payment of the amount due on the October instalment.

Scrip certificates, non-negotiable or payable to bearer in accordance with the choice of the applicant for registered or bearer bonds, will be issued, after allotment, in exchange for the provisional receipts.

When the scrip certificates have been paid in full and payment endorsed thereon by the bank receiving the money, they may be exchanged for bonds, when prepared, with coupons attached, payable to bearer or registered as to principal, or for fully registered bonds, when prepared, without coupons, in accordance with the application.

Delivery of scrip certificates and of bonds will be made through the chartered banks.

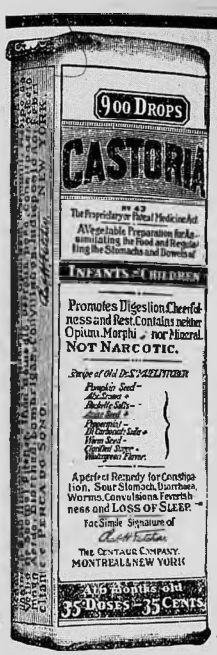
The issue will be exempt from taxes—including any income tax—imposed in pursuance of legislation enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

The bonds with coupons will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000. Fully registered bonds without coupons will be issued in denominations of $1,000, $5,000 or any authorized multiple of $5,000.

The bonds will be paid at maturity at par at the office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, or Victoria.

The interest on the fully registered bonds will be paid by cheque, which will be remitted by post. Interest on bonds with coupons will be paid on surrender of coupons. Both cheques and coupons will be payable free of exchange at any branch in Canada of any chartered bank.

Subject to the payment of twenty-five cents for each new bond issued, holders of fully registered bonds without coupons will have the right to convert into bonds of the denomination of $1,000 with coupons, and holders of bonds with coupons will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds of authorized denominations without coupons at any time on application to the Minister of Finance.



The books of the loan will be kept at the Department of Finance, Ottawa.

Application will be made in due course for the listing of the issue on the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges.

Recognized bond and stock brokers will be allowed a commission of one-quarter of one per cent on allotments made in respect of applications bearing their stamp, provided, however, that no commission will be allowed in respect of the amount of any allotment paid for by the surrender of bonds issued under the War Loan prospectus of 22nd November, 1915. No commission will be allowed in respect of applications on forms which have not been printed by the King's Printer.

Russo-Roumanian Forces Retake Captured Fortresses.

Recapture of Dobric Occurs at End of Twenty-four-hour Battle — Roumanians Have Also Seized Six Towns in Transylvania—Another Army Has Invaded Serbia as Far as Negotin.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Russo-Roumanian forces have retaken from the Bulgar-Teuton invaders the city and fortress of Dobritch (Bazardjik), 50 miles south-east of Bucharest, after a 24 hours' battle, beginning immediately after its fall Saturday. Dobrand, a small town near Dobritch, also was retaken. This first important success scored by the Roumanians and their Muscovite ally since Roumania's entrance into the war, was announced by the Bucharest War Office Sunday night as follows:

"Russian and Roumanian troops drove the Bulgarians from Bazardjik (Debric) and Dobasci."

It is certain that the Germans and Bulgars have had to give up the Black Sea ports of Kavarna and Kali Akra, which are north of Bazardjik. These points are on the Teutonic right flank. News that they have been forced out of Afatar, little more than ten miles south of the Roumanian fortress of Silistria, is expected at any time.

This driving back of the Teutonic right wing and centre is almost certain to be followed by a withdrawal of the left wing, which rests a little north of captured Tutrakan, Basardjik, the recaptured city, is south of a line drawn straight east from Tutrakan, and if the Teutons in Tutrakan do not withdraw they will be caught with the Russians and Roumanians in front of them and the Danube and Roumania behind.

The result will be that the Russo-Roumanian plan of an invasion of Bulgaria from the Dobrudja will be carried out, and with greater chance of success than if the Teutons never had invaded Roumania. Together with the reported Roumanian advance into Serbia, this would cut off the Bulgarian and Teuton forces in the Balkans and pin them between General Sarrail's army at Salonica and the Russo-Roumanian armies to the north.

In the northern Transylvanian Alps the Russo-Roumanian forces captured six towns, including Toplitza, 14 miles north of Orsova, the others being San Milai, Deline, Ciurghiurgan and Semmigian. They repulsed a counter-attack south of Mehadia, 15 miles north of Orsova.

The Roumanian seaport of Constanza was again bombarded by German and Bulgarian aeroplanes, according to the Roumanian War Office statement.

A Russo-Roumanian army has begun an invasion of Serbia. Sweeping southwards from Orsova, taking the identical course the Teutons took in their whirlwind campaign through the little kingdom, the new invaders have penetrated as far as Negotin, seven miles inside of the Serbian border, occupying the town, according to an Athens despatch to The Daily News.

Thus the first blow in the long-heralded Allied campaign for the isolation of the Central Empires from Bulgaria and Turkey by cutting the Berlin-Constantinople-Bagdad railway has been struck. Indeed, the Athens despatch adds that the Russo-Roumanian troops are advancing toward the Orient railway. To reach it they have to cover 50 more miles.

Through this new Serbian invasion the Teutonic and Bulgarian armies in Macedonia are placed between two formidable thrusts, a French-British-Serbian thrust from Salonica and an attack from the Russo-Roumanian forces. An added menace lies in the possible thwarting of the Bulgar-Teuton campaign in Roumania, which would result in a simultaneous Russian drive for Constantinople and a second Russo-Roumanian invasion of Serbia from the east.

Cossacks on Bulgarian Frontier.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Petrograd says:

"Russian cavalry has occupied several points on the Bulgar-Roumanian frontier."

It is reported from Sofia that two Russian monitors and one cruiser have bombarded twelve Kavala forts along a front of 16 kilometres.

These are the Greek forts seized by the Germans and Bulgarian forces a fortnight ago.

COMBLES UNDER FIRE

British and French Concentrate Guns on Picardy Town

Village of Ginchy, the Last Remaining Position of Strength Between Allies and Railway Centre Has Been Occupied—Scarcely a German Out of 2,000 Escaped in Attack on Guillemont Says Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The village of Ginchy, the last remaining fortified place separating the British from the important German railway centre of Combles, Sunday fell to the troops of Sir Douglas Haig.

Combles is now under fire from three sides, by the British from the north-west and west, and by the French from the south-west. Its fall is now believed to be a matter of a few days.

Winding up a week of incessant hammering of the German lines in the initial phases of which, last Sunday, part of Ginchy and the whole of Guillemont were taken by storm, the British Saturday attacked on a front of 6,000 yards, between High Wood and Leuse Wood. As a result, they completed the capture of Ginchy and took all of the ground between the village and Leuse Wood. Furthermore, they pushed their lines forward 300 yards on a front of 500 yards east of High Wood.

Simultaneously successfully crushing in the northern tip of the salient formed by the Somme drive, the British gained an additional 600 yards to the north-east of Posieres. The headquarters statement issued Sunday night tells of heavy casualties suffered by the Germans, particularly while massing for a counter-attack during the British action near Posieres, the Teutons being caught by the British artillery fire.

The French forces on the Somme contented themselves with minor actions Sunday. They captured some German trenches east of Belloy-en-Santerre, south-west of Barleux, taking 30 prisoners, and earlier in the day took a small wood east of this village, and made further progress east of Deniecourt. Including Sunday's captures, the French have taken more than 8,000 prisoners since last Sunday.

At every vital point of the Somme battle line the Germans Sunday launched counter-attacks of frantic bitterness. Everywhere their attempts to regain the ground lost since the resumption of the Allies' big push a week ago Sunday broke down with severe losses, according to the French and British official reports. They were unable to wrest from the Entente troops an inch of the lost terrain.

Only at one point between Belloy-en-Santerre and Barleux, did the Germans make as much as a temporary gain. They were immediately driven out of the trench in which they had won a foothold, by a vigorous French counter-attack. The short-lived success was scored, according to the French communique, with the aid of jets of liquid fire.

The British have taken 350 prisoners during the last 24 hours. They repulsed a violent counter-attack north-east of Posieres and another north of Ginchy. In reviewing the week's advance, the afternoon statement issued at headquarters says the British since last Sunday have pushed their front forward 6,000 yards to a depth varying between 300 and 3,000 yards. The important points noted by the seven days' advance are the Falfemont farm, Leuse Wood, and the villages of Guillemont and Ginchy.

Philip Gibbs, telegraphing to The London Daily Telegraph, states that of the German garrison of 2,000 at Guillemont hardly one escaped. All were dead, wounded, or prisoners. Two battalions were wiped out.

One British sergeant, hit in the hip by a shell, captured four without help, and ordered them to carry him on a stretcher to the dressing station. He arrived smoking a cigarette, with his prisoners as stretcher-bearers.

COPENHAGEN, via London, Sept. 11.—The Politiken says it learns from travellers arriving from Germany of the destruction by fire a few days ago of an aerodrome near Frankfort. It is reported the fire destroyed 15 aeroplanes and four nearly completed zeppelins.

There are no potatoes offering to speak about there is no settled price price for them but they are worth about 1.80 per bushel. It is hoped that that the late potatoes will improve the situation.

The Church Tea, the Harvest Home Supper is passing away. The cost of even potatoes, to say nothing of meats, butter and cakes and everything which makes a first class meal, has gone up so high that the quarter is an absurd price for admission. The public are not yet disposed to give 50 cents for a church supper consequently the management of many churches do not feel like having a lot of work for nothing.

Death of John Elliott

On Wednesday the interment took place in Hayview Cemetery of Ex-reeve Elliott of Keppel, formerly of Clavering, who died in Owen Sound. A number of years ago he was one of the foremost residents of the township. For 25 years he was one of Keppel's Councillors, and for 15 years he was the reeve. As a public official he was always governed by a high sense of duty and was noted for his good judgment and honest course. While Keppel remains the names of Clark and Elliott will not be forgotten. A few years ago he moved to Owen Sound, as he had not been in good health, and his wife predeceased him only 6 months ago.

The late Mr Elliott was born near Peterboro in 1844 and was married in 1860. He moved to Keppel soon after and was one of the pioneers of the township. In 1892 he had the Western fever and moved to Moosejaw but remained only a few years as these were the trying days in the West. He returned to Clavering and lived on his farm until he moved to Owen Sound. He is survived by three sons, William R. of Clavering, John W. of Sask., and Matthew of Clavering and three daughters Mrs. A. Robertson of Moosejaw, Mrs. White, Shallow Lake, and Miss Eliza at home. Mrs. M. Dealy who lives just outside the corporation is a sister of the deceased.

The Reason Why

On Saturday the price of The Echo becomes $1.50 per year. Practically every local paper in Ontario has gone up to this price, and the dailies are also raising their rates. There are no two opinions about the course to take. The Echo may have many shortcomings as a paper, but it cannot be published in its present form at less than $1.50 per year. We do not think our readers want a sheet with two or three colums of local news at $1, they would rather pay the extra cent per week for a creditable local paper. We repeat that everything that is connected with the production of the paper has so advanced in price that it would be suicidal to take any other course. A dollar has a very limited purchasing power now. It now buys 12 pounds of sugar, it formerly bought 20 to 25; it nearly buys 4 pounds of butter, it formerly bought 8; it buys now 5 lbs of steak, it bought 10 lbs not many years ago; it paid for a days labor at one time, now it pays for only one half pay. Ink has gone up, type has gone up, paper is going up alarmingly in price. Can we then in justice to ourselves continue the dollar rate. You pride yourself upon being fair would it be fair to expect us to do so?

Any one who would pretend to publish a dollar weekly would simply be "fooling" the people and would raise the price the first opportunity. A business that does not pay will not last very long. This then being our price and having given the public the "square deal" we respectfully ask their kind patronage in the future. We have heard very little objection to the raise, as everyone knows that we cannot keep down while everything else is up. It would be no good to stop the paper because you will be taking it again in a few months. In fact you are quite well off to know what is going on in the local world around you when it only costs 3 cents per week

The Bar Closed

THERE was one thing the boys forgot to do last Saturday night, that was to join hands and sing "Auld lang Syne," but there was one thing they did not forget to do and that was to lay in a pretty big stock. Prohibition will not bother some people for a few months anyway, and it will take a few months to really see how it works. The day passed off quietly, when everything is considered, but at 7 o'clock the curtain dropped and the New Year came in.

Wiarton will no doubt have ample hotel accommodation, there may be only three hotels but these will be quite able to take care of the travelling public.

Is the bar closed for all time? There are some who think not. They think North Perth and South West Toronto have taught the Hearst Government a lesson, enough to let them know where they are "getting off at," and that amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act may be looked for. On the other hand there are more who say that the bar is as dead as Julius Caesar, that two years after this the people will vote to keep it buried and we have seen the last of it.

Will its passing away affect business? It will be a pretty quiet town you will hear from some one, and from others you will hear that it will practically make no difference at all.

It is all over, the result of an agitation, and a determined campaign for fifty years has had its effect Canada is going dry. "It is not from Greenlands Icy Mountains to India's Coral Strand" but it is from Nova Scotia to British Columbia.

Quebec is the wet spot. For those who have suffered financial loss there are many who think that a fair measure of compensation might have been considered, but evidently this does not meet with popular favor. One thing is, however, pretty sure, that if this law is enforced, if Canada actually becomes dry, there will be far more thrifty homes, and happy households, the criminal class will gradually decrease, and the next generation will have higher moral ideas. But to secure this goal the law must be enforced.

The Echo —$1.50

From now on The Echo will be sold at $1.50 per year, a cost to the readers of 3 cents per week and at the present price of eggs one old hen can easily pay for the paper without having to work overtime. We take this opportunity to thank our subscribers for their prompt renewals, the response to renew before Sept 15th was the best in the history of the paper. The $1.50 will make practically no difference whatever to the circulation of The Echo because every one knows that we are as much entitled to this price as the man who gets double his price for labor compared with 20 years ago, or the man who gets double the price for his farm produce, and as we have to employ labor and eat as well there was nothing else to do. Again we thank our friends for their generous response.

Summer Cottages Broken Open

For breaking into summer cottages at Oliphant and stealing goods, William Thompson jr. and Cyrus Gallinger jr have been sent to the Industrial School at Mimico, as they were only 15 years of age. While the fathers of each of these boys, in whose houses some of the goods had been stored, were fined $5 and cost. Last Thursday morning County Constable Ried informed Constable Ward that this depredation was going on again at Oliphant and the latter went out Thursday afternoon and found that the cottages, of Dr. Middlebro, D. A. Wright, D W. McClure and Mrs Atcheson had been broken into and goods taken. The goods stolen were hidden away in swamps and other places.

Trinity Church Wiarton Concert

The concert held in the Town Hall on Friday Sept. 15, was a real musical treat. The Willing Worker's Society of Trinity Church, under whose auspices the concert was held, have again done the lovers of classical music and elocution a service by bringing Mr Geen and his boy singers to town. Certainly the concert merited the liberal patronage it received. For one unacquainted with the fine art of music it is impossible to express the due proportion of credit which the accomplished entertainers should receive. It will not be invidious, however, to say that the voice of Master Wesley Nash was par excellence in his rendering of the solos, "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark" and "Villanelle." Master Gerald Van Piper, despite a slight cold, showed almost equal finesse in "Oh! Bother Sang the Thrush" and "Tatters." The splendid quality of Master Gertran Van Piper's voice was well displayed in the solo "Sing Sweet Bird." The program began with Rubinstein's "Song of the Birds" by these three boys. Six other boys, all trained by Mr Geen and members of his choir, united with the solo boys in the excellent chorus of "Angel's Serenade" with violin obligato by Mr Ross McKeen, Nursery Rhymes, by Sterndale Bennett and a popular song entitled "Somewhere in France" The Nursery Rhyme selections were were received with greatest favor, displaying as they did, most careful training. Miss Madge Hollinger of Toronto, lent variety to the program with three patriotic readings, each of which was heartily encored. Seldom has a Wiarton audience seen more talent displayed in as youthful an elocutionist. The piano solo by Miss Marion Frost, "Prelude in C sharp Minor", was loudly applauded. Miss Mae Warrilow played 'Gavotte' in a way which earned rounds and rounds of applause. To both pianists the music lovers of Wiarton owe a debt of gratitude for the classical manner in which they were entertained. The concert concluded by all present joining in the National Anthem. Too much praise cannot be given Mr Geen for the pains he has taken in training the voices of his choristers to their present state of excellency. What wonders a man can accomplish who has an absorbing love for music and a deep interet in boys was evinced at the concert on Friday night.

Walkerton

William Case of Hepworth, who was sent up to Walkerton by a Wiarton magistrate for trial on the charge of assulting Abe Tennant, the Hepworth mail carrier, whom he is stated to have badly beaten up, appeared before Judge Klein at the Court House here on Saturday last, but as it transpired that Case had already been fined in the Hepworth police court for this offence, and as it is a maxim in law that a man can't be hanged twice for the same crime, the Judge dismissed the case and acquitted the accused.

The Hon. D. Marshall, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, Mr. John Blue, M. A., Parliamentary librarian, and Mr. James Smith, inspector of seeds and weeds, were in town Monday night and attended the Mildmay show on Tuesday, expecting to purchase some registered Durham cattle. Messrs Blue and Smith had charge of the Alberta exhibits at the Toronto exhibition. They report the crop in Alberta to be excellent and with the increased prices, will bring a much greater income to the Province than that received last year.

The Herald-Times was notified by the Militia Dept. yesterday that Gunner Wm. C. Wesley of this office, who left with the 1st Contingent for the front, and who went through the Battles of St. Julian, Festubert and other big fights, had sailed for Canada on Sept. 5th, which should ensure his arrival here shortly.

The death of Mr. Mathew Goetz renders vacant the triple position of Clerk of the County Court, Surrogate Court Clerk and Registrar of the High Court for Bruce, a combination which constitutes one of the best paid and most desirable Government offices in the county. The remuneration, which is collected in fees from persons probating wills and doing other business in connection with this office, is said to run from $3800 to $3900 per year, and next to a Judgeship is the most remunerative position in Bruce. As the Ontario Government has the disposing of the plum, and the appointment is likely to fall to a South Bruce man, several prominent names have been mentioned in connection with the job, to wit: Messrs Arthur Collins, William Shaw, J. J. Schumacher, Dr. Clapp, ex-M. P. P., and others.

With the end of the harvest and busy season on the farms almost over it is expected that renewed efforts will be made in recruiting for the purpose of raising the 700 men yet needed from Bruce. There are still many eligible young men in this county who might be induced to exchange civilian garb for khaki. Since recruiting was discontinued a couple of months ago the eligible masher has become quite conspicuous on the streets of Walkerton again. When the battalion was in Walkerton last spring the activity of the squad had the effect of forcing this individual off the streets, but he is back again. Almost any night many of this type can be noticed standing in the doorways of the stores and from those places of vantage address remarks at passing ladies. These individuals would support a uniform of the King much better than they can hope to support the store front.

Nerves Are Exhausted.

When you have frequent headaches, find yourself easily irritated and annoyed feel discouraged and downhearted, cannot rest and sleep well, and find appetite fickle and digestion bad, you may know that the nerves are in bad condition. Don't wait for these symptoms to become chronic, but start in early with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and head off disaster.

Tara

Mr Hiram Manchester, formerly of Allenford is surely doing his bit for the Empire. He enlisted at Winnipeg for overseas service, and also has four sons in khaki. Mrs. Jos. Houke of Allenford is a sister of Mr. Manchester.

Word was received here last week by Miss Mary Hearst that her sister, Mrs. Allen Mann had passed away at her home in Tisdale, Sask, on Monday, September 4th. Deceased whose maiden name was Miss Sarah Hearst was sixty-two years of age, and was born at Markdale, prior to the removal of her father's family to Arran Township. She was married in 1887 at Neebe N. D. to Mr Mann and is survived by three daughters. Two sisters and two brothers also survive, Mrs Wm. Wilson and Miss Mary Hearst, both of Tara, Mr. Robert Hearst of North Dakota and Premier W. H. Hearst of Toronto. Interment was made at Tisdale.

This week we have to announce the death of Dr. R. B. Grant of Paisley. The sad event took place on Thursday last the 7th inst. His passing has cast a gloom over that whole district. He had been complaining only a short time but about two weeks ago his case took a violent turn. Dr. Gage was in attendance and it was considered best to call in Dr. Lucy of Guelph, who came up Saturday the 2nd and he with the local doctors operated, but when an incision was made it was discovered that cancer of the liver was the trouble and the case hopeless. He lingered until the turn above mentioned and suffered greatly towards the last. He leaves a widow and four children, Austin and Harry in Edmonton and two smaller children. Dr. Grant was greatly respected and had been in the profession as a veterinary in Paisley for thirty years with great success. He leaves four brothers and one sister being J. E. Grant, Reeve of Tara, and William, George and John at Ebenezer, and Mrs Thomas Bryce, of Paisley. The funeral was held on Saturday last and was very largely attended, Odd Fellows and Masons taking part.

Operation For Appendicitis.

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes:—"My husband was treated for appendicitis and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation or even of a doctor as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

OWEN SOUND

The market was not exceptionally good Farmers were there in plenty but the Owen Sound housewives failed to put in an appearance. Eggs and butter were at the usual prices and were the popular articles. A few more potatoes and chickens were to be seen. One old gentleman claimed he had been getting $2 a bushel for his potatoes elsewhere but all he was offered here was $2 a bag. Honey made its first appearance on the market, but did not sell very fast at $1.25 for 10 lb. tins or 65c for the five lb. One lot of butter was found to be underweight. The market prices were:—Barley, 78c to 80c Oats, 55c to 59c; Peas No. I $9; No. 2 $1.75 to $1.80; Wheat, per bushel, $1.22 to $1.30; Hay $9 to $10; Butter, per lb., 30c; Eggs, per doz., 25 to 26c; Potatoes, per bag, $2.00; Chickens, per lb., 20c; Hens, per lb., 15c; Alive, 10 to 11c; Hides (beef) 15c; Apples, per basket, 20c; Honey 10 lb. tins, $1.25; 5 lb. tins, 65c.

Announcement was made in Galt last Wednesday of the formation of the Dobson Building Products, Ltd., a firm backed by large capital and with plans for the erection of six large manufactories throughout Ontario, one of which will be located in Owen Sound, the purpose of which is the manufacture of sand brick by a new process recently invented by Mr. Jno. T. Jackson of Toronto who is to be Managing Director of the new firm. The announcement of the organization of this new concern was made by Mr. W. J. Heron of Galt, who is its vice-president.

Since his motor trip through the eastern part of the province, a couple of weeks ago, Councillor Sims may be regarded as a convert to the cause of permanent roads and street oiling in Owen Sound. In some of the towns he visited he had a chance to see how well these two propositions work out and the ratepayers will look to him as a champion in future meetings of the Town Council.

Within the next few days the 147th Battalion will be in possession of a communion service. The gift is being presented by the members of the Baptist church, the Chaplain of the Battalion being the pastor of the church. Captain Mullowney announced at his last service that the communion service was ordered and would very shortly be in use. It is the gift of the members of the church and as long as there is a battalion it will be in its keeping. Should the Battalion be broken up at any time the service would come back to the church.

The service is of aluminum ware and is at present being engraved at Kytle's. Its presentation will be welcomed by the Battalion and the members of the church are to be congratulated on their interest in the men and the practical way which they have of showing it, in making this gift.

Mrs. J. W. Beamish, 1192, 1st Ave. West, has recieved a telegram from Ottawa, informing her that her son, Pte. Esmond Beamish, of the mounted service was slightly wounded on August 6th. Pte. Beamish was formerly on the Mounted Patrol Service in the West, and went overseas with the Royal Canadians Dragoons from Toronto. Pte. Beamish has a sister, who is nurse at Malta.

The town council met again last night and fixed the 1917 rate at 30 mills. There were not two thirds of the members present when the third reading of the by-law came up, so the meeting had to be interuped until another member could be found. Those absent were Messers Redfern, Butchart, Davis, Duncan, Grier, and Parks. After some telephoning Mr. Parks was found and Mr. Duncan came in about 10.30. The report recommending this rate is given under the finance committee.

Capt. William Fingland, of Goderich in a letter from France, recently published in the Goderich Signal, says: "We had a very fine service in our hut tonight; the speaker was Capt. Thorlow Fraser, late of Owen Sound. He makes an excellent chaplain and is well liked by the boys. I had dinner with Ralph Connor on Friday. He is doing a splendid piece of work out here as chaplain, I see quite a lot of him and am getting to know him well."

At last the vacancy in the governorship of the county gaol located here has been filled by the appointment of Mr. W. A. Grier to the position, he having received official notification of his appointment this morning, although he had been previously acquainted with the position from the list of applicants which is said to have been a rather long one. The vacancy was created by the resignation of Mr. John Miller the former governor of the goal, who gave up office at the last session of county council. Since that time the position has been vacant pending a selection for the important post from the numerous applicants for the position It is expected that Mr. Grier will take over his duties at once. Mr. W. H. Wright, turnkey of the goal, has been acting governor since Mr. Millers retirement.

The 2nd Grey Battalion, to be known as the 248th Battalion, has been authorized and Lieut.-Col. W. N. Chisholm of Owen Sound has been offered the command and has accepted. Col. Chisholm was called to Camp Borden, Tuesday, leaving on the soldier's special and there the initial arrangements were made for organizing the new battalion. While the final sanction of the authorities at Ottawa is yet to be obtained it is practically certain that recruiting will commence on the new unit within a couple of weeks.

Col. Chisholm is the commander of the old 31st Regiment, and has quite an extensive military experience. During the last two years of war in the sending off of the different units he has been a very busy man and has been almost overwhelmed with work. Particularly with some of the earlier companies. In under taking the organization of the 248th Battalion he realizes that he is up against a stiff proposition but he feels confident that the full equipment of men can be obtained in this county within a reasonable time.

While recruiting will not commence for the new battalion for a short time Col Chisholm is now making a special effort to obtain about fifty recruits which will bring the first (147th) Grey Battalion up to full strength. When Col. Chisholm was in Camp Borden on Wednesday the battalion was 1,000 and just fifty men were required to bring it up to full strength.

Suppose THE ECHO Ceased Publication

JUST suppose this community were left without a local newspaper! What would become of its local pride? Wiarton would just be a name on a railway time-table or a post-office guide. Men and women might die, or marry, or go away, or suffer accidents, or entertain friends, and you would hear about it all only through gossip. Farm sales and other announcements of interest to this particular part of the wide, wide world would have no publicity. Our local merchants would have no cheap and quick way of telling you what they provide for you. Our churches and schools and other institutions would have no medium of news or appeal. And this whole community would slip back and be the sport of joke-smiths.

Would city papers take the place of The Echo You know that you would not

The point of it all is: We are raising the price of The Echo on Sept. 1fth to $1.50 a year. Now if you "kick" and drop your subscription, you say, in effect. This community doesn't need a local weekly. If I can do without The Echo all others can.

We do not believe for one moment that the good people of Wiarton and county and neighborhood mean to "kick" or drop their subscription to The Echo. We expect all our subscribers to recognize the new conditions of living and publishing that have made the old dollar rate impossible to continue. But we want to let you see that your weekly newspaper at the higher rate of 3 cents a week—the price of a postage stamp—still costs an insignificant sum when you reckon up the service your weekly newspaper renders you and this whole community.

Be loyal to and proud of the community you live in. Keep it on the map,

Back Was Lame and Ached; Could Do Very Little Work

Suffered Much From Kidney Disease for Years, but Cure Came With the Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Doctors had tried to cure this man but failed to get at the cause of trouble, probably because they relied on medicines which act on the kidneys only. The strong feature about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is their combined action on liver, kidneys and bowels. In many of these cases the disease is so complicated that ordinary kidney medicines fail to be of much benefit. Under such conditions Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills usually touch the spot and effect a cure.

Had they been only moderately successful Dr. Chase would never have selected them for world-wide distribution. As it was, the demand for these pills resulted naturally from their superior merit, and there was nothing else to do but supply them in large quantities.

Mr. Simeon Shieloff, Birchbrook Orchards, Birchbank, B.C., writes: "For several years I suffered greatly from kidney disease. I was weak and could do very little work. My back was lame and ached and I suffered much from headaches. Tried doctors and obtained no relief. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended by a friend, and after taking four boxes I think I can say that I am cured, for I feel as well as I ever did."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. Harry Anderson, J. P., who writes: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mr. Simeon Shieloff and believe his statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."

Chesley

Our townsman, Jas. Davie, has returned from a delightful trip by boat and rail to his son a commission merchant in Edmonton, Alta. While there he had a picture taken of four generations. Mr. Davie who will be 81 in October, his son Gavin, grandaughter, Mrs Harrison and her baby boy. It is a photo the great granddad is mighty proud of, and he has good reason to be for they are a fine looking quartette. Mr Davie tells us the District around Edmonton has become famous as a dairing centre. At the Edmonton City Dairy in 1915 there were manufactured 2½ million pounds of butter, 300,000 lbs of cheese, and an average of 7000 quarts of milk and 800 gallons of ice cream were sold per day. It required 62 horses and 3 autos for delivery. This year the first car of butter shipped from Alberta was shipped Edmonton to Montreal. We are pleased to have Great Grandfather Davie back after his enjoyable visit and hope he may live to see still another generation.

The friends and clients of the late Mr. H. H. Miller, will be glad to know that his son, Mr. M. A. Miller, is to take charge of and continue his business in Hanover. M. A. Miller obtained his B. A. degree from the University of Toronto, in the year 1909 and in the year 1912 obtained his L. L. B. degree from the same University and also in that year graduated in law from Osgoode Hall, Toronto. He subsequently was a Barrister and Solicitor in the Province of Saskatchewan and has for the past number of years been practising law in the town of Weyburn in that Province as a member of the firm of Morphy and Miller.

Miss Mary McEachern, B. A. a graduate of Queen's University with 7 years Public School experience and 9½ years in High School, has been engaged as Science Teacher of Chesley H. S. for year 1916-17. Before coming to Chesley Miss McEachern was principal of Glencoe High School and she comes highly recommended. The advertisement called for applications for either Science or mathematics and there were 22 responses thereto. Almost all were from mathematical teachers who held a University degree, showing that there is no scarcity of teachers in that particular line, with the probability of a reduction of salaries in consequence, according to the law of supply and demand.

Guard Baby's Health in the Summer

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentry, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowls and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine, Co. Brockville, Ont.

Kincardine

Pressure is again being brought to bear on Mr James Malcolm of Kincardine, to accept the Liberal nomination in North Bruce. Mr Malcolm is one of the most successful manufacturers in Western Ontario He has two furniture factories and a large gramephone factory to manage and he would make a big sacrifice to go into politics.

Kincardine Fall Fail will be held on Thursday and Friday Sept 21 and 22. The show will open on Thursday night when the pavilion, with the displays, will be in shape for the reception of the public. The big attraction for the fair will be the 160th Bruce Battalion Brass Band and a machine gun and operators. This will include Sergt. Kenneth Matheson's boys. Also there will be two horse races, a free-for-all and a 2.50 trot or pace. Already there seems to be a good outlook for the races filling as a number have signified their intention of being here.

There was some excitement on the street on Saturday night last at 11.30 o'clock. A young man named H. Scholtz of Toronto who is here installing a sprinkling system in the Malcolm factory, got drinking during the evening. At the post office he interfered with Sam Lee, the laundryman. Lee ran away from him into Wm. Fry's barber shop. Schultz followed the Chinaman and pulled him out of the barber shop to the street where he beat him, cutting his face. In the court on Monday afternoon Scholtz pleaded guilty to three charges laid by Chief Leithead. One charge was being intoxicated in a local option town. Another was for using profane language on the street. The third was for assaulting Sam Lee. Scholtz pleaded guilty to all three charges and was fined $20.00 and costs on each count. The whole amounted to $73.70. It was an expensive night's fun. At the time of the affair Chief Leithead was patrolling Princess street and had to swear out a warrant for Scholtz who was arrested at his boarding place.

Hanover

Geo. F. Schillmore who enlisted from Hanover with the 147th Greys was after going to Camp Borden sent down to N.B to train with the Pioneers. Since being there Pte. Schillmore has been raised to the rank of Sergent. He is the eldest of three brothers now wearing khaki.

A serious accident happened to Barthold Gateman on Sept. 6th. while threshing on the farm of Mr Spielmacher in Bentinck township. In attempting to remove the large belt while the engine was running, he was caught and thrown about the large wheel, badly injuring his face and his left eye, also fracturing his right arm between the elbow and wrist. It will be several weeks before he is able to work.

The inadvisability of the wives of Canadian soldiers accompanying them to England unless they have sufficient private means of support which have been received at Ottawa from London as the cases of distress which have occurred in the Old Country from this cause. In quite a number of instances, it is stated, women left their homes in Canada and crossed the Atlantic without acquainting the authorities of their intention, with the result that they are now practically penniless in England. In some cases their husbands have been killed or wounded while fighting in France.

Wm. Stade, of Brant township while assisting with the threshing at Henry Frock's on Sept. 8th fell from the scaffold over the barn floor, badly fracturing his left arm, between the elbow and wrist.

Southampton

A case of considerable interest came up in the court at Port Elgin on Friday last. Sam Langford was coming from Owen Sound in his auto when a cow, owned by S. Porter which had been chased by a dog owned by Ed. Powell, ran head on into the car, making quite a wreck of it, Langford brought action against Powell for damages, but the judge threw the case out. There were a large number at court to hear the trial.

For some fifty years the little brick building back of the new town hall has stood the test of time and weathered many a gale from off Lake Huron, but at last it is to be but a memory. Perhaps not to pleasant a memory for some seasons that for the past few years it has served as town lockup. In its early years it was used as an arsenal, where the rifles etc. of the volunteers were stored. It would seem that our town fathers have decided that after Sept. 16th there will be no need of a lockup, and that after King Booze is vanished all will be peace and harmony. At any rate they are setting an early example to other town which they are perhaps emboldened to do by virtue of our ten years under local option. However the old site is being made use of, and part of the building will be used for the town weigh scales which are being installed there. So the old building will still be connected with he justice department in seeing thats just weight is given.

CHAPTER V.

Field Hospital 18.

WHILE I drank a cup of tea the matron talked to me of the work. I felt instinctively that we would be friends. She was business-like, kindly and had a quick understanding. She was especially pleased that I could interpret for them. No one in the hospital spoke German, and now and then, she explained, they had rather difficult experiences with their German patients. "Not so much the men," she added. "They are always nice and reasonable, but the officers!" And she threw up her hands.

A few moments later she led the way up the three flights of worn stone stairs to the little room that had been assigned to me.

"I felt you would prefer being alone, even though the room is so tiny, and with all its disadvantages—only," she added, smiling as we surveyed it, "if we get too crowded you must be prepared to share even this."

I assured her I was happy and grateful to be allowed to serve no matter what the conditions.

My bath finished, I was leisurely combing my hair when a message came that I was wanted in Colonel S.'s office at once. Hastily putting on my uniform and cap, I went down. A German officer had just been brought in from the front with an ugly wound in the thigh, and his condition was serious. They had already got him warmed, his circulation restored. The examination disclosed a large infected wound with several inches of the bone torn away. The medecin major was endeavoring to persuade the man that an amputation wasn't necessary, that he could replace the bone by a long steel plate screwed to the remaining bone.

The German not speaking French very well had been unable to understand the proposed treatment. I explained it to him, but he did not like the idea; he felt sure the plates would break loose, the screws come out and that in the end he would die with violent sepsis, brought on by the presence of such a foreign substitute in his body.

After much persuasion, however, he consented. The thing that finally seemed to clinch the matter was that with two legs he could still ride. The idea of a one legged man on horseback seemed to horrify him.

He was given spinal anaesthesia and was very interested in being able to read and talk during the operation. When it was all over he thanked the doctor, the operating nurse and myself and said as they carried him out, "When I get home, if anybody speaks to me about the glory of war I am going to be blanked rude to them, you may be sure."

I was so tired when I got to bed I was asleep in two minutes, although for the last hour I had heard for the first time in my life the dull booming of artillery.

The next morning while the matron was taking me around the wards explaining my duties a message came asking her to come at once to the colonel's office. She left me to go through the German ward and do whatever I found necessary. That ward was in a wing of the monastery that had been used for a dining room. Lighted on three sides, it was admirably adapted for its present purposes, but because the German officers objected to sharing their quarters with their men it had been divided about the middle by four huge carved oak doors, and, while they were beautiful in themselves, they made the room far less airy.

I went at once to find the patient of the night before. He was resting comfortably—in fact, so much so that he insisted on keeping me to read me an extract from an article written by Maximilian Harden, the famous editor of the Zukunft.

"His style is," he said, "so terse and epigrammatic that he has been called the German Tacitus." The article explained that there was too much chatter about the shortage of food, potato famine, but said the truth was it simply was a campaign intended to arouse the hatred of England. The article was headed "Eat Your Pigs or Your Pigs Will Eat You" and went on:

"In the brains of even the serious people in Germany there has grown a crazy theory that the German standard of living has depreciated. Everywhere lectures, appeals, instructions, warnings, about our food. Eat K-K bread; never scorn dry crusts. Cook your potatoes in their skins. Collect your kitchen refuse. No flour on Sunday. Female busybodies with a craze for notoriety tell us what a delightful mouthful you can make from the eye and tail of a herring.

"Eat your mess yourself, you chatterbox. All this twaddle injures German many. We are in no danger of famine. This firebrand was merely meant to inflame hatred against our enemy, England."

And then Harden proceeds to draw a picture of the real state of things. He says:

"Hundreds of thousands of women live more lavishly than in peace times, for then the husband drank or Paisley-de-danced. Now he is with the colors and sends home the pay he cannot use. Landlords and creditors may wait for their money. Societies, clubs and private people open their purses. What's for dinner? Roast goose, apple pastry, tinned asparagus, fresh fish, chocolate and cake.

"Then away goes the woman to the stores, bargain hunting, looks in at the fortune teller's on the way. After this a visit to the kinema and sees 'Her Last Dance,' 'The Guardian Spirit of the Submarines,' 'The Latest War Films.' This is not an uncommon woman's day."

The officer enjoyed it immensely. Evidently it expressed his own sentiments.

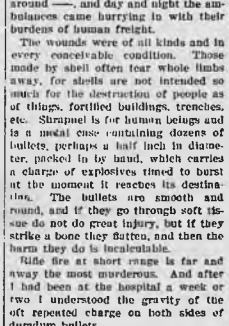
I had attended all the men and was just leaving the ward when an orderly came to say that Colonel S. wanted me.

There I found half a dozen of the staff, including an inspector general of hospitals, who had just arrived, discussing the inadequacy of the first aid stations.

The worried inspector said he found that in our service there was no fire, no brandy, no splints, no morphine and often very little dressings; that we depended too often on simply getting the wounded to the hospital. If the men died en route—tampis!

"Of course I know that in the last analysis," he said, "the wounded are simply burdens. The fighting men are the main thing, but I personally think this poor economics, apart from any reasons of sentiment. I want our system to be more like that which the British maintain."

I had been sent for to know if I could at least in part furnish the materials for such work immediately, as there was always a certain delay in getting supplies. It was just a question of expediency. I would be paid for them, he hastened to add. France was willing and able to look after her own, the inspector continued; her things moved so swiftly stores were sometimes inadequate.



I hastened to assure them that I quite understood and was only too happy to put such things as I had in Paris at their disposal. We at once equipped three portable dressing stations along the lines nearest us, and the good results were immediate and surprising.

The next few days were desperately busy ones for us. Fighting was heavy around ——, and day and night the ambulances came hurrying in with their burdens of human freight.

The wounds were of all kinds and in every conceivable condition. Those made by shell often tear whole limbs away, for shells are not intended so much for the destruction of people as of things, fortified buildings, trenches, etc. Shrapnel is for human beings and is a metal case containing dozens of bullets, perhaps a half inch in diameter, packed in by hand, which carries a charge of explosives timed to burst at the moment it reaches its destination. The bullets are smooth and round, and if they go through soft tissue do not do great injury, but if they strike a bone they flatten, and then the harm they do is incalculable.

Rifle fire at short range is far and away the most murderous. And after I had been at the hospital a week or two I understood the gravity of the oft repeated charge on both sides of dumdum bullets.

"The ordinary bullet is encased in nickel, has a lead core and make a clean perforation, even piercing the bone with little damage. In dumdum bullets the nickel casing at the tip is cut or removed and consequently, when it strikes the casing, "mushrooms" and does fearful damage.

These bullets were forbidden by the Geneva conference.

Every wound was poisoned when it came to us. At first I could not believe on seeing them that any of the men could live. Where every opening was filled with earth, manure, fragments of clothing, there must be immense sepsis. But I did not reckon on the fact that the microbes were not so deadly as those of the crowded city.

One afternoon, immediately after lunch, Dr. Souchon asked me to be ready in ten minutes for a rather long ride. In fact, he said: "I have just received a message asking us to go fifty kilometers away and bring in the wounded that the raiding uhlans have left behind. We will go with Lieutenant F., as we may have to pass close to the German lines and so need a cool, firm hand at the wheel. With the lieutenant driving," he said, laughing, "it will take a very superior marksman to hit us."

I was delighted that I had, on account of speaking German, been chosen as the one nurse to go and we were off in ten minutes.

Our way lay through numerous French outposts, where we were sometimes held up until a higher officer gave us the right of way. We passed many bombarded villages, to some of which the poor dwellers had returned in their ruins. But one, a place that once must have meant home to 10,000 or 12,000, was in such a state of devastation that no one had returned save two nuns. They had stayed that the altar might not be desecrated. At one place there had been a large factory. What was left of the machinery proved it to have been powerful and modern, but even Lieutenant F., who was an engineer, could not decide what had been manufactured, the ruin was so complete. Only one house in the whole place was left standing. On its door was written in German, "Do not burn or pillage this house," and signed and sealed by one Captain Reuss. It was empty.

We wondered a good deal what special consideration had prompted the captain to lend his august protection to this insignificant dwelling.

And then we were halted and told we could not go further in that direction. We must retrace our way and make a detour of thirty kilometers; the Germans were shelling a French outpost but a little way on. We did as we were directed, but in some way took a route that led us to the very spot we had tried to avoid. The sound of the guns came nearer and nearer, but we momentarily expected our road would turn suddenly and sharply away. And, too, the firing had ceased during the last fifteen minutes, and, speeding as we were, we had gone far in that time. On coming to the top of a hill we were thunderstruck to see, less than half a mile away, a long line of British soldiers filing at double quick time across a pontoon bridge. As if timing our arrival to a second, the firing began anew. The British line paused a moment, and we heard an indistinct command. We could plainly see the men getting ready for their sprint under fire, with a space of twenty feet between each. Then came the dash. I grew faint as I saw many of them fall into the river below. Once over the bridge, they raced up the hill, and far away on its crest we saw the Germans begin their advance.

The English fell flat on their stomachs and began firing. They worked their guns so quickly that Dr. Souchon said they must be hot in their hands. The Germans came with a rush. I sat there petrified. It seemed as if I could not endure the sight, when all at once the doctor said in a voice he tried to make calm, "What do you make out over there?" pointing to a spot on the horizon. The sun came out brilliantly for a second, and we saw plainly a detachment of French cavalry. At the same moment a French aeroplane swept into view, and there was a glitter as of tinsel waved in the sun. It was an artillery signal for range, and an instant later we heard the peculiar bark of the French 75. The Germans had heard it too. They began falling back.

The doctor said quietly, "I think we had better go."

The road was empty of troops, so we made up for lost time. Half an hour later we found the place for which we had been searching.

It was a large country house standing in a little clump of trees. The door was open. On the polished floor were scattered a deck of cards, half a dozen empty champagne bottles and even a few filled ones. A table was overturned; cigars and cigarette ends were all over the place. A tapestry chair lay upside down with its back broken and hanging by the cloth. A china cabinet had evidently been smashed with a chair. Knives, forks and plates were lying in confusion, with half eaten food scattered everywhere.

Loot and destruction had gone hand in hand. What couldn't be taken must be destroyed.

PACKING SILAGE.

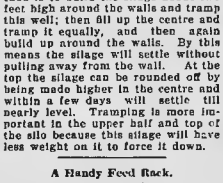
Should Be Trampled Sufficiently to Exclude the Air.



Perhaps the most important operation in filling a silo is getting the silage properly packed. More silage is spoiled by improper packing than by any other cause controlled by the farmer. When the silage is not tramped sufficiently to exclude the air, spoiled silage results. It is known, too, that the more the silage is tramped in the filling process the less it settles afterward. When the silage settles in the silo it tends to draw away from the wall, thus leaving an air space, which results in spoiled silage. The amount of tramping necessary depends upon the rate of filling. When a small outfit is used over several days the slow filling gives more time for the silage to be tramped, and the silage settles from day to day. With a large outfit, however, the silage should be well tramped, as it goes in more rapidly, and if not well tramped will settle several feet after the silo is filled. The capacity of the silo, unless refilled, will thus be reduced, and a large amount of spoiled silage may result. With a small cutter two men in the silo are perhaps sufficient, one to carry the distributer and the other to do the tramping. With larger outfits two or three men in addition to the men carrying the distributer are needed. If convenient the men may be changed from the silo to the field and the monotony of the work be relieved. In case of any short delay in filling the entire force can be used in tramping the silage.

An important factor in packing silage is the manner of distributing it in the silo. The most common method is to build the silage about two feet high around the walls and tramp this well; then fill up the centre and tramp it equally, and then again build up around the walls. By this means the silage will settle without pulling away from the wall. At the top the silage can be rounded off by being made higher in the centre and within a few days will settle till nearly level. Tramping is more important in the upper half and top of the silo because this silage will have less weight on it to force it down.

A Handy Feed Rack.

To get the best results from feed stock should have feed saving and convenient racks and boxes.

Sometimes there is more feed wasted than eaten by the stock, especially when the corn is thrown out in mud eight or ten inches deep for the hogs to muss over or when sheaf oats and clover hay are piled out by a post or against the side of the shed to be trampled underfoot by the cattle and horses.

A good size is as follows: For the body of the feed rack make a box 4 by 10 feet, with sides 6 inches high, the top rails 6 by 12 feet. At each corner the slats should be of 2 by 4 inch stuff, the other slats 1 by 3 inches.

The slats should be 3½ or 4 feet long and wide enough apart for the stock to reach through and eat meal or grain from the box. Any material at hand may be used to make the rack. Permanent feed racks may be made on this principle out of heavy material in which to feed fodder, straw, and hay to horses and cattle.

FIGHTING IN BALKANS.

Enemy Trying to Anticipate the Big Allied Advance.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Reports received here from Saloniea show that the general engagement which began on Friday is continuing with intensity over an extended front, running from Florina, near Monastir, to the River Struma. This represents an irregular line measuring upwards of 150 miles.

Gen. Sarrail is directing the united operations of the Allies, with Gen. Cordonnier commanding the French troops. The operations have been long expected as a part of the co-ordinated offensive of the Allies on all fronts. Its opening follows the arrival of General Cordonnier after extended conferences with officials here.

The advices received in Paris indicate that the Germans and Bulgarians are seeking to anticipate the movement by taking the offensive on the left, where the Serbians had moved up to within 25 miles of Monastir, holding Florina as an observation post. Their orders were not to attempt to retain Florina if they were attacked. The Serbian War Office says the Bulgarians were repulsed and thrown back on their old positions, but that later the Serbians, following their instructions, evacuated Florina. Thereupon the town and the station of Florina were occupied by the Bulgarians.

The Serbians retired slowly, and later delivered a heavy counter-attack against a large Bulgarian force which was debouching from Florina toward Banica. Fighting continues in this region.

In the centre French and British forces near Lake Doiran followed an intense bombardment with infantry attacks, in which the British contingent occupied the strategic point of Doldzeli. Further east the French right rushed a series of small villages in much the same manner as the French right carried the villages on the Somme front.

Reports in general show a condition of affairs along the whole line which is regarded here as satisfactory for the Allies. There is every indication that the preliminary operations are extending rapidly.

WAR TO END THIS WINTER.

So Says General Creagh in Discussion of Situation.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—General Sir O'Moore Creagh, formerly Commander-in-Chief in India, writing in The Weekly Dispatch on "Why the war will end this winter," says:

"Recent events on all theatres of war have been uniformly successful for the Allies. The Austro-German armies have everywhere received severe blows, while their allies are in a precarious state. The Central Alliance has been defeated, not crushed. The only acceptable finish can be their complete crushing, so as to prevent further mischief.

"It is therefore necessary to make the German nation realize the hopeless situation before complete surrender will be brought about. Already the morale of the nation is affected. The Germans no longer talk of annexing their neighbors' property. Their general staff bulletins are filled with bigger lies than ever. These stimulants are required to keep up the people's spirits.

"I am of the opinio nthat the war will not last over winter. Napoleon said: 'In war moral power is to the physical power as three to one.' We have the advantage of both moral and physical power."

Negroes to Go to France.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 11.—General Louis Botha, Premier of the South African Union, announced Saturday that an arrangement had been made to send 10,000 natives to France for dock labor. The natives will be recruited voluntarily and will be organized into five battalions of 2,000 men each, under military discipline, with trusted officers.

QUEBEC BRIDGE COLLAPSED

Disaster Again Prevents Placing of Last Span—Many Are Killed.

QUEBEC, Sept. 11.—The central span of the Quebec bridge, which was being hoisted 150 feet from the St. Lawrence into position this morning, collapsed at 10.30. There has been a considerable loss of life, but its extent cannot yet be ascertained. Many workmen were taken out of the water by boats carrying spectators.

The stupendous, delicate, and hazardous operation of hoisting into position the central spans of the Quebec cantilever bridge, the largest in the world, which has been constructed over the St. Lawrence at a cost of $17,000,000 in order to shorten the railway journey from Halifax to Winnipeg and the Canadian West by 200 miles, was begun this morning. The bridge now approaching completion stands upon the site of the structure which collapsed on August 27, 1907, with a loss of 70 lives.

The central span, which weighs over 5,000 tons and is 640 feet long, was towed into a position immediately under the gap left in the anchor arms of the constructure by nine tugs. Chains with links thirty inches in diameter, and girders were then attached to the span and work on pulling it into its place in the bridge by eight thousand ton hydraulic jacks was commenced, and the span had been lifted about quarter way when the crash came.

Thousands of visitors, mostly construction men, were present from all over America to witness the job.

RETIRING IN DISORDER LONG FRONT SMASHED

Austro-German Forces Cannot Stop Russian Advance.

Brussiloff's Big Push Has Hurled Them Back of the Lipa River and They Are Losing Ground Along the Styr—General Sakharoff Has Occupied Berestecsk at a Cost to the Enemy of 150,000 Men.

LONDON, July 24.—Desperate counter-attacks by the Austro-German forces have failed to arrest the advance of the Russians along the Lipa and the Styr, south-west of Lutsk.

The Teutonic army continues to retire before the heavy onslaughts. They have been driven from the new positions occupied at Berestecsk after the big push that hurled them back of the Lipa. Petrograd reports the enemy is retreating in great disorder, and that Russian troops under General Sakharoff have taken in two days' fighting 300 officers and 12,000 men. This brings the total number of Teutons made prisoners up to 26,000 since July 16.

On the right bank of the Styr, south of its confluence with the Lipa, the 13th Austrian Landwehr Regiment was cut off and surrounded. It surrendered in its entirety.

Gen. Sakharoff's forces are now firmly established across the Lipa about 13 miles from its junction with the Styr, and are still pressing forward unchecked. This continued advance of the Russians further imperils both Kovel and Lemberg.

Meantime, the Russians are hammering away at the Teutonic lines in Bukowina, and in the Riga sector, in the north. An important height on the road from Delatyn to Maramaros-Sziget has changed hands several times. Petrograd reports it is now held by the Russians.

Austria admits that under the menace of a heavy Russian assault the Austrians in the Carpathian region of Southern Bukowina southeast of Tartarow have withdrawn towards the main ridge of the Carpathians.

A Petrograd special to The Daily Telegraph says:

"Gen. Sakhariff's success to the west of Dubno, which resulted in the occupation of Berestecsk, is said at general staff headquarters to have cost the enemy a third of his total force in this part of the field, estimated at 150,000 men. He is still bringing up reinforcements, and his resistance cannot be regarded as finally broken.

"In the great battle on the Lower Dvina, apparently the bulk of the fighting is on the extreme right, in the immediate vicinity of Riga, and the Russians have had certain successes at one or two places.

"It is reported on good authority that one place they got forward five miles, apparently when they captured Kommern, and a private message speaks of an advance against Tukkum. It is evident that the enemy is making vigorous counter-attacks."

Fierce engagements have taken place south of Riga, and Russian troops have penetrated the German first line at several points, says the official statement issued by the War Office Sunday night. In the Caucasus the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas have occupied Ardasa, about thirteen miles north-west of Gumuskhaneh, on the Chit River.

A Petrograd despatch to The Telegraph says the Russians have broken the German line on a front of five miles in the Riga sector.

Von Hindenburg's line was considered the strongest on the whole eastern front, and that the Russians were able to break it is regarded as most significant.

The bulk of the fighting is reported on the extreme Russian right wing, in the immediate vicinity of the Baltic port. Despatches also state that the Germans are advancing on Tukkum, west of Riga, indicating that the Teutons are making desperate counter-attacks.

An unofficial report from Petrograd declares that the armies of both General Dosbm-Ermolli and General von Bothmer have been outflanked on the north and south, and the Russians are on the point of entering the north-east corner of Galicia.

Military experts assert the position of General von Bothmer's forces such that he may soon be forced to retire on the front before Lemberg.

Further south, Russian troops have fought their way to within four miles of the summit of the Carpathians. This advance indicates an invasion of Hungary through Jablonitza Pass is near. Several days ago Moscow were reported to have slipped through the Carpathians at several points into Hungary.

Greater Part of Poland Will be Freed

PETROGRAD, July 24.—General Sakharoff's brilliant stroke in forcing the enemy back from the Lipa and the Styr has placed the Austrians in the most dangerous predicament of the war. Unless the Russians can be held off from Lemberg and Kovel, either by way of Vladimir-Volynski or the Stokbod line, the Austrian armies, worn out and depleted, and looking in vain for help from the Germans, are doomed to an ignominious retreat over the whole face of Galicia and into the shadow of the great Carpathian wall, and the greater part of Poland will once more be freed of German troops.

To Rescue Shackleton's Men.

LONDON, July 24.—It is officially announced that the Government is sending the Antarctic ship Discovery to the relief of Sir Ernest Shackleton's men on Elephant Island. The Discovery has been placed at the Government's disposal by the Hudson Bay Company free of cost. Lieut. James Fairweather is in command.

Russian Armies Capture 32,653 Men and 100 Cannon.

Advance Over a Sixty-Mile Front Results in Crushing Losses to the Austrians—Move May Lead to Flanking of Kovel—Fall of Stanislau Into Which Five Railways Converge Is Now Near.

PETROGRAD, July 31.—The War Office report on the prisoners taken by the Russians in the past two days, reads:

"Details regarding the booty captured are still so incomplete that it is only possible to give them in a very approximate manner. It, however, has been ascertained so far that the troops under General Brussiloff during July 28 and 29 captured two generals, over 651 officers, and 32,000 men, including a considerable number of Germans. About 100 guns, including 29 heavy howitzers have been captured. This includes 21 guns taken by General Letchitsky's troops. Eighty-five machine guns were also taken by his troops.

"During the three days' battle fought by General Sakharoff's troops, 216 officers, 13,569 men, nine guns, forty machine guns, and about 15,000 rifles were captured. But it is just possible that some of these were included in the number above mentioned.

"The total number of captures made by General Sakharoff's men from July 16 to 28 are 340 officers, 39,152 men, 49 guns, of which 17 are howitzers, 100 machine guns, 39 mine and bomb throwers, 80 limbers, and 76 cartridge wagons; also 48 machine guns mounted on wheels and six artillery and engineering depots."

Drive Resumed.

LONDON, July 31.—Immediately upon the fall of Brody, in North-eastern Galicia, Friday, the "watchful waiting strategy" that had been forced on the Russian armies in Central Volhynia and in Southern Galicia pending a break of the Austrian resistance on the Brody-Lemnioff road, gave way to a resumption of a concerted drive by General Brussiloff's armies on the whole front from east of Kovel down to the region south of the Dneister, a battle-line more than 150 of miles long.

As a result of the last 24 hours the Russians have broken through the entire Austro-Hungarian first lines to the south-west of Kovel, driven the defenders into disorderly retreat, and in the south have advanced within 20 miles of Stanislau, the converging point of five important strategic railways which command the supply system of the whole southern army chain of the Austro-Hungarians.

In Friday's and Saturday's battles alone the Russians took 32,653 prisoners, including 651 officers and two generals, and captured 55 Teuton guns, according to the statement issued by the Petrograd War Office.

The most important success scored by the Russians since Friday morning is the advance on Stanislau. The menace of a possible flanking attack from the north being removed by the capture of Brody and the subsequent Russian advance toward Lemberg, only 58 miles away, the southern wing of Brussiloff's army smashed ahead in a furious onslaught just south of the Dneister and captured the town of Izarzany, 20 miles below Stanislau. The town was captured by a Cossack cavalry division. Co-operating with the army advancing on Stanislau from the south-east are the Russian forces which have been marking time to the west of Buczacz, waiting for the northern army to pour into Galicia. The town of Tlmach, a little more than six miles south-east of Stanislau, is the immediate objective of the south-eastern army, while the Buczacz army is threatening Stanislau from the north east. Stanislau lies 82 miles almost due south of Brody.

Meanwhile the Russian Volhynia army is vigorously pushing the pursuit of the Austro-Hungarian forces, which already have been forced to abandon their first-line positions, and the menace of Kovel, the chief objective of Brussiloff's centre, grows ominously.

Sunday's Petrograd official shows that on both wings of the present Russian line of attack Gen. Brussiloff's armies made further important headway during the past 24 hours. As a result the city of Stanislau, in south-eastern Galicia, converging point of five strategic railways, is closely menaced with envelopment by the Russian left flank, while the right wing, in its advance on Kovel, the great Volhynian railway centre, has broken through the Teuton first lines on the Kovel-Rohitche sector and is now vigorously pushing the pursuit of the retreating defenders. In the centre, too, where Lemberg, capital of Galicia, is the Russian objective, further progress was made by the army of General Sakharoff. On the whole 150-mile front, from the east of Kovel down to the region just south of the Dniester, the Germans and Austrians continue on the defensive, stubbornly fighting for every inch of ground.

In Saturday's fighting the Russians took 21 officers and 940 men, among them many Germans, and captured four guns and four machine guns.

The most important progress made by the Russians since the fall last Friday morning of Brody, 58 miles north-east of Lemberg, has been in the direction of Stanislau. The capture of Brody having brought the Russian centre on the level with the southern wing, the latter, which had marked time for some weeks, promptly resumed its drive to the north-west and is now smashing forward against Stanislau from the north-west and south-west.

HALICZ ABANDONED.

Austrian Garrison Has Given Up Gateway to Lemberg.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Austro-German forces defending Halics, the fortified city 60 miles south of Lemberg, have blown up the remaining fortifications of the town, and some of them have been occupied by the Russians, according to a Reuter despatch from Petrograd late Sunday night. The fall of Halics is a matter of hours.

The despatch adds that the great bridge across the Dniester has been blown up and that the Russians hold the left bank of the river, heavily shelling the retreating Teutons. Two troop trains were wrecked by the Russian fire.

Sunday night's official Austro-Hungarian war statement admits that the Russians in the Carpathians east of the Cibo valley "succeeded in taking isolated portions of our front."

The Turkish army which was recently reported to have gone to Galicia to aid the hard-pressed Austro-Hungarians, assisted in the defence of Halics.

The official bulletins from both Petrograd and Berlin Sunday indicate that the struggle around there has been a desperate one.

An official despatch from Petrograd likewise enlarges on the fierceness of the fighting around Halics and along a twenty-five-mile front northward from that point.

Gradually driven back from its stubbornly-defended position, General Count von Bothmer's army has been compelled during the fighting of the past ten days to retire five miles westward from the Zlota Lipa line defences to the present positions along the Gnita Lipa and its tributary, the Narayuvka.

Although these operations did not pierce or cause a breach in the lines, the Austrian retirement left Halics in a very critical position. It was surrounded on three sides and was saved from immediate capitulation only by the excellent natural defences afforded by the high right bank of the Dniester on which it is located.

The railway station of Halics, which is on the left bank of the river opposite the town, fell into Russian hands as soon as the Russians gained control of the railway line running south from Halics. Nevertheless, a hard struggle was expected by the Russians before they could force the Dniester and take the town of Halics itself.

The importance of such an event was demonstrated in August, 1914, when, during the first Russian advance in Galicia, the Austrian loss of Halics and defeat on the Gnita Lipa brought about soon afterward the surrender of Lemberg.

Too close a parallel, however, cannot be drawn between the two occasions, as the Austrians, instead of being alone now, are aided by German and Turkish troops, and, having greatly improved the fortifications defending the approaches to the city, were able to offer a much stronger defence. But with the fall of Halics, Count von Bothmer's army will be compelled to sacrifice the Gnita Lipa positions and continue the westerly retirement, leaving the way open to Lemberg from the south-east.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A despatch to Reuter 'sTelegram Company from Petrograd says:

"Russian cavalry has occupied several points on the Bulgar-Roumanian frontier.

"According to evidence received by the Russian commission of inquiry into Germany's methods of warfare, columns of Russian prisoners in German uniform were marched to the rear of the Franco-German front with the purpose of deceiving French airscouts, who, taking them for German reserves, frequently dropped bombs on them."

STRIKE MAY GROW.

New York Unions Propose to Go Out in Sympathy With Carmen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A strike of 100,000 employes, longshoremen, brewery workers, machinists, bartenders, moulders, and printers, in sympathy with the unionized car men who quit their places four days ago, was decided upon at a meetings of the heads of their unions Sunday night, according to an announcement by Hugh Frayne, state organizer of the American Federation of Labor.

A resolution was passed calling upon all unionized wage-earners in Greater New York, Yonkers, Mount Vernon, White Plains, and New Rochelle, to sanction a strike "in support of the organization of the street railwaymen of the right to organize." The resolution recommends that the workers in the various trades "lay down their tools until the companies are forced to recognize the carmen's union."

According to Frayne, approximately 750,000 men and women are enrolled in the unions which were represented at the meeting Sunday. presented at the meeting Sunday

Before a sympathetic strike can be declared, however, it was explained by the union leaders that it will be necessary for them to call mass meetings of their respective unions and put the proposition to a vote of the members.

CANADIANS IN ACTION.

Fighting is Reported to Have Taken Place on Friday.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—It is reported here that the Canadians have again been in action. This time on the Somme front, to which a large number of the troops from the Dominion were moved some time ago. No details of the engagement are available, but the fighting is said to have taken place on Friday, when the British continued their advance, capturing a German trench and repulsing a number of counter-attacks. The action does not seem to have been a heavy or serious one so far as the Canadian divisions were concerned.

INVADERS DRIVEN BACK

Russo-Roumanian Forces Retake Captured Fortresses.

Recapture of Dobric Occurs at End of Twenty-four-hour Battle — Roumanians Have Also Seized Six Towns in Transylvania—Another Army Has Invaded Serbia as Far as Negotin.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Russo-Roumanian forces have retaken from the Bulgar-Teuton invaders the city and fortress of Dobritch (Basardjik), 50 miles south-east of Bucharest, after a 24 hours' battle, beginning immediately after its fall Saturday. Dobrachi, a small town near Dobritch, also was retaken. This first important success scored by the Roumanians and their Muscovite ally since Roumania's entrance into the war, was announced by the Bucharest War Office Sunday night as follows:

"Russian and Roumanian troops drove the Bulgarians from Basardjik (Dobric) and Dobasci."

It is certain that the Germans and Bulgars have had to give up the Black Sea ports of Kavarna and Kali Akra, which are north of Basardjik. These points are on the Teutonic right flank. News that they have been forced out of Allatar, little more than ten miles south of the Roumanian fortress of Silistria, is expected at any time.

This driving back of the Teutonic right wing and centre is almost certain to be followed by a withdrawal of the left wing, which rests a little north of captured Tutrakan. Basardjik, the recaptured city, is south of a line drawn straight east from Tutrakan, and if the Teutons in Tutrakan do not withdraw they will be caught with the Russians and Roumanians in front of them and the Danube and Roumania behind.

The result will be that the Russo-Roumanian plan of an invasion of Bulgaria from the Dobrudja will be carried out, and with greater chance of success than if the Teutons never had invaded Roumania. Together with the reported Roumanian advance into Serbia, this would cut off the Bulgarian and Teuton forces in the Balkans and pin them between General Sarrail's army at Salonica and the Russo-Roumanian armies to the north.

In the northern Transylvanian Alps the Russo-Roumanian forces captured six towns, including Toplitza, 14 miles north of Orsova, the others being San Mihai, Dellne, Churchburgan and Senmislan. They repulsed a counter-attack south of Mehadia, 15 miles north of Orsova.

The Roumanian seaport of Constanza was again bombarded by German and Bulgarian aeroplanes, according to the Roumanian War Office statement.

A Russo-Roumanian army has begun an invasion of Serbia. Sweeping southwards from Orsova, taking the identical course the Teutons took in their whirlwind campaign through the little kingdom, the new invaders have penetrated as far as Negotin, seven miles inside of the Serbian border, occupying the town, according to an Athens despatch to The Daily News.

Thus the first blow in the long-heralded Allied campaign for the isolation of the Central Empires from Bulgaria and Turkey by cutting the Berlin-Constantinople-Bagdad railway has been struck. Indeed, the Athens despatch adds that the Russo-Roumanian troops are advancing toward the Orient railway. To reach it they have to cover 60 more miles.

Through this new Serbian invasion the Teutonic and Bulgarian armies in Macedonia are placed between two formidable thrusts, a French-British-Serbian thrust from Salonica and an attack from the Russo-Roumanian forces. An added menace lies in the possible thwarting of the Bulgar-Teuton campaign in Roumania, which would result in a simultaneous Russian drive for Constantinople and a second Russo-Roumanian invasion of Serbia from the east.

Cossacks on Bulgarian Frontier.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Petrograd says:

"Russian cavalry has occupied several points on the Bulgar-Roumanian frontier."

It is reported from Sofia that two Russian monitors and one cruiser have bombarded twelve Kavala forts along a front of 16 kilometres.

These are the Greek forts seized by the German and Bulgarian forces a fortnight ago.

Major Moraht, the Berlin Tageblatt's military critic, estimates the official statement, consumed 700 million litres (175,000,000 gallons) of wine during the last year.

King eGorge yesterday signed a proclamation requiring British subjects to make returns in regard to property owned by them in countries at war with Great Britain.

Two Canadian soldiers were asphyxiated Thursday by gas which escaped from the hot water heating apparatus while they were taking baths at Shorncliffe Camp.

The idea Nazionale of Rome publishes a list of forty German-owned hotels in It ly, which are described as nests of spies. The Nazionale advocates their immediate suppression.

According to The Telegraf, a Zeppelin coming from the north-west was fired on by Dutch soldiers when passing over Schiermonnikoog Island. The air vessel was hit near the rudder.

Near Wiarton. Will allow all payments made on same and make terms to suit. Address Louis Bloch Owen Sound,

Some one who went along the County Line Friday evening has a lantern which did not cost him a cent, but which should cost him one year in the Walkerton jail. Mr. S. B. Spragge is building cement culverts at Silver Creek. There is a big hole on the highway filled with water. The driveway is to one side. He is obliged to keep two lanterns burning at night to warn of the danger to vehicles. Last Friday night some person took one of the lanterns, and a more contemptible trick cannot be imagined. If the guilty party can be found nothing short of the jail should be given him.

On Monday evening friends and neighbors to the number of forty-five gathered at the home of Mr and Mrs Robert Gault 21st Con. Keppel and presented their eldest daughter Miss Bessie, with a miscellaneous shower prior to her marriage to Mr Harry Porter of Lake Charles. The first part of the evening was merrily spent in music, singing and games of various kinds and about midnight a most sumptuous lunch was served to the satisfaction of all. Now the ladies and gentlemen were all asked to be seated in the parlor and a chair was unsuspiciously placed for the bride-to-be and in came Old Betty Green assisted by three gentlemen friends and took her place opposite. As every one was curious to know what Old Betty was composed of she was asked to dismantle, and lo! what a sight, linen, glassware, china, granite ware and other things too numerous to mention were displayed before the crowd. Miss Gault arose and thanked her many friends in a very appropriate manner. Shortly after the crowd dispersed for their homes feeling one and all that they had spent a very sociable and pleasant evening and leaving many good wishes for a long and prosperous wedded life to the bride and groom.

To Subscribers in Arrears

I appears that there is a little misunderstanding which we wish to correct. If your paper expires in say June 1916 the amount of $1 00 carries you through to June 1917, if your paper expired in January 1916 the amount of $1 takes you to January 1917. If your paper expired in May 1915 $2 will take you to May 1917, if expires in Sept. 1916 $1 will pay to Sept. 1917, but if it expires in Oct. 1916 then it takes $1.50 to renew it for another year. From Saturday the 16th price of The Echo was $1.50 per year, but we are going to give a further extension to Oct. 14 to all in arrears so they can settle at the dollar rate and renew their paper. We hope that these who did not renew will now understand what their liability is. We may add that The Echo does not intend to have a list of delinquent subscribers. Those who are in arrears must settle at once, and if they do not settle by Oct. 24 they must settle at the rate of $1.50 per year. Remit to-day

Albemarle vs. Gillies Telephone System

EDITOR OF THE ECHO:

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to reply to a few of the things Mr. Gillies has said with regard to the Albemarle Telephone Co. Mr. Gillies admits that at times his lines did not work satisfactorily owing to fires, wind storms etc. Let me say that while the foregoing may have caused inconvenience to the users of Mr. Gillies line at times, yet this was not the chief matter of complaint so far as the residents of this part of Albemarle were concerned. In the first place those of the farmers who wanted phones were unable to get any satisfaction from Mr. Gillies as to whether he would put them in or not, in fact his settled policy seemed to be to allow only one phone in each neighborhood where his line ran. I am speaking of the line from Wiarton to Cape Croker via Purple Valley. Secondly, his terms of rental were such as to discourage any one from taking phones from him even were he willing to put them in, fancy paying $20.00 per year rental for a rural phone and then have to pay 25c for each time you talked to anyone in Wiarton. Yet this is what Mr. Gillies actually charged some of the few that he condescended to rent phones to, and although he did reduce the price later on to $15.00 per year, yet he absolutely refused free connection with Wiarton until he began to fear an opposition line. Mr. Gillies tries to put the blame of his retirement from the overseas forces on the Albemarle Telephone Co., yet I think that when everything is made clear it will be shown that we were in no wise responsible for his retirement. At the time of Mr. Gillies, enlistment and up to the time of the organization of the Albemarle Telephone Co., Mr. Gillies had made no move toward putting in a rural telephone system in Albemarle, nor had he reduced his price or offered free connection with Wiarton at a fixed rental as he now offers, so far as the people knew thir condition of affairs was to continue indefinitely, so we simply did what any sensible and progressive people would do under like circumstances. We organized a rural telephone company on the mutual plan with the object of giving a telephone service to those of us who were without phones. This we surely had a right to do and I fail to see that Mr Gillies has a right to complain since he was making no attempt to meet our telephone needs although one man offered to put in a mile or more of poles at his own expense. It was not until the Albemarle Telephone Co. was organized that Mr. Gillies woke up and decided that Albemarle was worth while supplying with a rural service and even his most staunch supporters must admit that it is to our company that the present rural service and reduced phone rents are due, and that his retirement from the 160th Batalion was not the fault of our company but was due to Mr. Gillies determination to crush out our independent line and so preserve his monopoly of the telephone system on the Bruce Peninsula. To still further refute Mr. Gillies charge of unfairness toward him, let me point out that we offered to buy out his line running from Colpoys Bay to Cape Croker but were informed by Mr. Gillies that he would not sell out to our company but might consider an offer from the municipality should they wish to put in a municipal system. We decided that life was too short to wait for the Albemarle council to decide on such a step; moreover we were not in favor of asking anyone to contribute to the cost of our line, who was not satisfied to come in of their own free will, which might not be the case under a municipal system.

Mr Gillies says he is going to build the line to Berford Lake. Now Mr. Editor I am loth to believe that Mr. Gillies who has worn the uniform of his country which has sent thousands of brave men to fight the Huns because of their wanton disregard of their signed treaties, I repeat that I am loth to believe that Mr Gillies would encourage honorable men, as I believe the patrons of the Berford Lake line to be, to break not only their word but their written and signed agreement. Surely Mr. Gillies does not think with the Hun Chancellor that such agreements are merely "scraps of paper" and not worth considering. In conclusion allow me to state that we are in the telephone business to stay and we are going to give the patrons of our lines a first class service at as reasonable prices as possible as we are not in the business for private profit but for mutual benefit.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space, I am

Yours respectfully,
Donald Cameron
Pres. Albemarle Tel. Co.

W. Mouck Back At Firing Line

August 1914, left for overseas with the first contingent and did not receive a wound at all until June 15 1915. Since June he has been in six different hospitals, Ramsgate being the last one. He was wounded at the time of the Battle of Ypres and was in the Langemarke encounter. Willie has been operated on twice and they thought that his limb would have to be amputated at one time. ## At Hymen's Altar

ECKHOUT—CLARK.

On Sept. 4th the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dumoulin 277 Holcomb Ave Detroit at four o'clock in the presence of many relatives and friends was the scene of a very pretty wedding when their cousin Miss Gertrude Eckhout of Kearney Nebr and Willie Clark a well known Lions Head boy, were united in the holy bonds of Matrimony by Rev Father Stapleton.

The bride looked charming attired in a beautiful costume of white satin with over lace and a beautiful veil trimed with Orange blossoms and Lillies of the Valley and wearing a beautiful Lovalliere of pearls and diamond a gift of the groom. She was attended by her sister Miss Lillie Eckhout who was attired in midnight blue silk. The groom was attended by Maurice Clarhout of Detroit.

The grooms gift to the bridesmaid was a beautiful brooch and to the grooms-man, gold cuff links.

After the ceremony the bridal pair entered the dining room, amid a shower of rice, where a beautiful dinner was prepared.

Methodist Church.

A very interesting address on Postal affairs was given before the Epworth League on Monday evening by Mr T. C. Allan our local postmaster. Beginning with the Post Office Department in general he gave some idea of the character and volume of service rendered enlivening his remarks by some of the oddities almost unknown to the common people. This was followed by an inside look into the local post office. The address was full of revelations and everybody who knows what is done cannot but appreciate the service rendered by this piece of public utility.

Sunday was Rally Day in connection with the Methodist Sunday School. The morning service was given up to a program of choruses, readings and addresses by the Sunday School. A choir of boys and girls led the singing. Henceforth the Sunday School becomes a part of the morning service and will be known as the Bible School of the church.

Miss Kathlyn Morton, Evangelist, will preach in the Methodist Church next Sunday. Miss Morton is at present conducting revival services at Lions Head. Many who heard her at the Summer School and at Oxendon last fall will be glad to hear her again.

Mr. J. Fox visited his mother in Grey Co. last week.

We trust that the cottages and homes in Oliphant will be safe from invasion now that the two delinquents have been caught, but "they" have not been the only aggressors. We earnestly hope that they will learn better things and come out better boys for the discipline they will receive.

OWEN SOUND

A telegram from Vancouver on Saturday conveyed the news of the death of a well-known ex-Owen Sounder, Mr. Daniel McPhee, eldest son of Mr. Alexander McPhee, of this town. The deceased had been seriously ill for a short time, but the news of his death came as a severe shock to the relatives here. Mr. McPhee was born in Scotland, but came out to this country as a child, and spent his boyhood here. He entered the contracting business in which he engaged until 1885, when in company with his brother Alex. who passed away a few years ago. He went to the Pacific Coast, and since that time has resided at Vancouver. Besides his aged father, the deceased is survived by one brother, Capt. Malcolm McPhee, of the C. P. R. liner Keewatin, and two sisters, Mrs. Wm. H. Wright, 3rd ave East, and Mrs. Thos. Beck, Port McNicol. Although absent from Owen Sound for many years Mr. McPhee is well remembered by many, who will extend sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Last night William Minard, of Owen Sound north, was arrested by the local police on a warrant from Wiarton which charges him with shooting tame geese and unlawfully converting them to his own use. Minard is now confined in Owen Sound waiting to be taken to Wiarton for trial.

From authentic sources the Advertiser has learned that besides the Dominion Building Products Company, which as recently announced will soon locate a branch factory here, two other larger and more important concerns are also considering the advisability of locating factories in Owen Sound,

We are not free, for obvious reasons, to mention all the details of these two propositions; but we can assure our readers that one at least is is a certainty and preliminary operations will be commenced in about three weeks or a month. This concern will manufacture two very saleable articles and will employ between 80 and 100 men the year round. It is understood that their location is already chosen and that most of the preliminary arrangements have been completed. Local capital, it is said finances this project.

The other proposition is still a larger one. As yet negotiations have reached the advanced stage of the one mentioned above, but members of the Board of Trade and other interested local gentlemen have the matter in hand. Last week Mr. Menzies, representing the Industrial Committee of the Board of Trade made a visit to Toronto in this connection and met the officers and promoters of the proposed industry, who assured him that the claims of Owen Sound would have complete consideration from them before they decided locate anywhere. Representatives of this concern are expected shortly in Owen Sound to look over the ground and obtain options on sites, which might be found suitable for their purpose This new industry if secured will be one of the largest and most important in the town. It is understood that if they locate here they will be obliged to erect plants of their own.

Besides Mr. Menzies, other local gentlemen have been in Toronto and correspondent with representatives of this company, and these express the opinion that the industry, which will be a certain boon to the town, will in the end decide to locate here.

The death of a well-known Sydenham pioneer, Mr John Reilly, occured on Saturday at his home in Owen Sound North. Deceased was in his 81st year, and lived at Heath Head until last spring when he moved to town. Means David Reilly of Sarawak, and Harry of Annan, are sons and two sons are living in the West. One daughter Miss Eliza, with the sorrowing widow, resides at home. The funeral will not be held till Thursday on account of the arrival of relatives. The service will be held at 1.30 p. m. and the funeral at 2 p.m to the Church of England Cemetery, Derby

In a letter to his parents Mr and Mrs G. W. Todd, Pte. Leslie Todd stated that he had been transferred to the position of despatch rider, Leslie is one of the fortunate ones of the 15th Battalion, that was part of the first contingent.

The death of a well known mariner Capt. Nicholas Stark, occurred last Thursday at the home of Capt. and Mrs Wherry, 952, 5th Ave. East. with whom he has been residing for several years past. Capt. Stark was in his 79th year and had sailed the lakes from 18 years of age until he retired a few years ago. In the early days he sailed between Detroit and Owen Sound for many years, drawing ties and lumber. Two of his schooners were the "New Dominion" and the "Dauntless." His wife predeceased him twenty years ago. Five sons, Wm, Charles, Henry, Claude and George, all of Detroit, and one sister, Mrs John Ellison of Pt. Stanley, survive. Henry Stark came up from Detroit on Thursday afternoon, and after a short service held at the home of Capt and Mrs Wharry, at which Rev. P. T. Pilkoy officiated, the body was taken to the G. T. R. and transported on the early train Friday morning to Detroit. Interment took place on Saturday at Detroit.

Another well-known Owen Sound boy, Sergt-Major Barnie Lang, son of the late Andrew Lang, of this town, has made the supreme sacrifice. On Sunday morning his sister, Mrs T. D Bell, Sixth St. East, was notified by wire by the Casualty Office at Ottawa, giving the information that the young man had been killed in action on Sept. 7th. There was general regret in Owen Sound, where Sergt. Lang spent most of his life and had a great many friends. The flag on the Town Hall was at half-mast all day Sunday.

Although he received an invitation to be present, and was absent from Owen Sound last week, Mr W. S. Middlebro, M. P., was not a member of the party from Ottawa present to witness the completion of the Quebec bridge, and therefore missed seeing the great span fall into the river. Mr Middlebro returned to town Saturday.

According to a message received by Mrs. R. B. Gray of Meaford, his son, Flight Lieut. George Gray had been wounded. Lieut. Gray enlisted at Toronto after undergoing training in aviation with the Royal Naval Air Service. He went overseas last December, and made his first flight in England in January.

Relief from Indigestion

The Most Common Cause of this Trouble is Poor Blood

All conditions of depressed vitality tend to disturb the process of digestion. There is not a disturbed condition of life that may not affect digestion. But few causes of the trouble are so common as thin, weak blood. It affects directly and at once the process of nutrition. Not only is the action of the gastric and intestinal glands diminished but the muscular action of the stomach is weakened. Nothing will more promptly restore digestive efficiency than good, red blood. Without it the normal activity of the stomach is impossible.

Thin, pale people, who complain of indigestion, must improve the condition of their blood to find relief. The most active blood builder in such cases is Dr. William's Pink Pills. They make the rich red blood which quickly restores the digestive organs to their proper activity, and the dyspeptic, who has hated the sight and smell of food now looks forward to meal time with pleasure. As proving the value of Dr. William's Pink Pills in curing indigestion Miss Edith M. Smith, R. R. No. 4, Perth, Ont., says: "I can honestly say I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My stomach was terribly weak and I suffered from indigestion and sick headache, and was always very nervous. I was troubled this way for nearly three years, and in that time took a great deal of doctor's medicine, which, however, did not help me. I could not eat anything without experiencing the most agonizing pain. My sick headaches were most violent and I could not rest night or day. I was asked one day by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and consented to do so. After taking them some time I found they were helping me, and I continued to take them steadily for several months, until I found that I was completely cured. While taking the pills I gained both in strength and weight, and I feel it impossible to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pilis too highly."

You can procure these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chesley

A convention to select a candidate as standard bearer for the Liberals of North Bruce to take the place of the late Jno. Tolmie ex-M. P., will be held this fall. There is no scarcity of material for the position and one of the six whose names are mentioned below will be selected: Jas. Malcolm, the big furniture man of Kincardine, the son of the late Andrew Malcolm ex-M. P. P., ex-warden Mawhinney of Bruce, Ex-warden McCannel of Saugeen J. E. Campbell of Hepworth, Gideon Kastner and Jack McAuley of Wiarton.

Mr and Mrs Robt. McNally, accompanied by their niece, Miss Archer of Owen Sound paid a visit last week to a nephew, Mr. J. E. McNally of Sarnia, the baby city of Ontario. Sarnia is particularly noted for its oil refineries and if they would catch fire there would be a greater pyrotechnic display than at the battle front. Mr and Mrs McNally saw the tunnel under the St. Clair river and took a trip to Port Huron. The soil is of a sandy nature in Sarnia and vicinity and like Essex and Lincoln counties that locality has become famous for peach growing. Their nephew has a fruit farm of 40 acres and has no fewer than 500 peach trees.

The second soldier from Chesley to make the supreme sacrifice was Gordon Cruickshank McKelvie, son of Mr Samuel McKelvie of Chesley. A telegram was received by his father a few days ago that his son had died at No. 8 Casualty Clearing Station, France, on Sept. 3rd.

Southampton

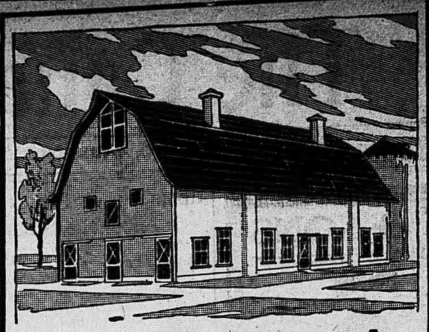
The death occurred at Listowel on Sept. 14th of Rev. Thos. J. Smith, who a few years ago was minister to the Indians on the Saugeen Reserve. He retired from the ministry about three years ago, and for over a dozen years he has suffered with stomach trouble. During his ministry in the Methodist church he was located at Listwood, Malahide, Durham, Kemble Lions Head, Courtland, Port Robinson, Elmwood, Chippewa Hill and Glenallen. Deceased was thrice married, and besides the widow he is survived by his son, Pte. Chas. D., who has won the distinguished conduct medal in France, and a daughter Dell B. at home. He was in his 69th year and had been in the ministry 32 years. Deceased was well known in Southampton while stationed at Chippewa Hill, where labored conscientiously in a difficult field.

Mr and Mrs L. H. Mouck, of Wiarton, spent over Sunday in town with their son Mr A. E. Mouck.



The neighboring village of Teeswater is about to become the site of a new and big industry. It will become a sort of mining camp, but the miners will not dig gold, silver, copper or iron, but lime rock. As is generally known the excellent farm land surrounding Teeswater, and upon which the village stands, is underlaid with a great bed of lime rock. This limestone is of a peculiar quality and when burned makes a lime of exceptional whiteness, unexcelled for plastering of buildings.

Scott Laidlaw of Lions Head, has been awarded the Military Medal for conspicuous bravery. He was a member of the 5th Battalion and has been in the trenches nearly a year and a half. His medal was won when he and two others rescued a machine gun out off by the enemy on June 2nd, making their way regardless of shot and shell to where the men were lying and guiding them to safety.

Word was received this week from Pte. Wm. B. Mouck, son of Mr and Mrs Louis Mouck, that he had been discharged from the hospital in England, where he has been confined for the last fifteen months with a shattered knee, and that he was going on active duty in France on Sept 10th. He stated that he was o. k. again and that his leg was as good as ever.

"What became of your show which was produced in New York?"

"It wasn't a success there, but we took it out west where the people know a good thing when they see it."

The foundation is not the most important thing

True, you can't have a good barn without a good foundation, but don't forget either that the roof has to stand most of the punishment. Upon it falls the burden of resisting the destructive influences of weather and changing seasons.

Now, the question is "Where am I going to find a roof which will meet these conditions?" Certainly not in wooden shingles which have rapidly deteriorated during the past few years. Not in anything so perishable as wood, nor yet iron, which lets in driving rain, but rather in a permanent mineral composition such as Brantford Roofing.

Now, let us look at a section of Brantford Roofing. First, you notice it has a pure, long-fibred felt base. This is thoroughly saturated with a filler coat of asphalt or mineral pitch. Then it is given another coat. Finally, the surface is thickly covered with crushed slate. You can imagine what a job rain, snow, fire or heat would have penetrating a roof like that. As for comparing with shingles on the score of permanency, or protection, or appearance, or even economy, there is no comparison. You put a Brantford Roof on once, and it will last as long as the building; it will always look well and it will never need repairing.

Brantford Roofing

Nature's Water-proofing

Why not let us send you samples, also a copy of our booklet which explains how Brantford Roofing is "always on the job?" Or, if you will give us the dimensions of your barn or house roof we will gladly submit estimates without charge or obligation.

Back Was Lame and Ached; Could Do Very Little Work

Suffered Much From Kidney Disease for Years, but Cure Came With the Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Doctors had tried to cure this man but failed to get at the cause of trouble, probably because they relied on medicines which act on the kidneys only. The strong feature about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is their combined action on liver, kidneys and bowels. In many of these cases the disease is so complicated that ordinary kidney medicines fail to be of much benefit. Under such conditions Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills usually touch the spot and effect a cure.

Had they been only moderately successful Dr. Chase would never have selected them for world-wide distribution. As it was, the demand for these pills resulted naturally from their superior merit, and there was nothing else to do but supply them in large quantities.

Mr. Simeon Shirkoff, Birchbrook Orchards, Birchbank, B.C., writes: "For several years I suffered greatly from kidney disease. I was weak and could do very little work. My back was lame and ached and I suffered much from headaches. Tried doctors and obtained no relief. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended by a friend, and after using four boxes I think I can say that I am cured, for I feel as well as I ever did."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. Harry Anderson, J. P., who writes: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mr. Simeon Shirkoff and believe his statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."

Kincardine

The editor of one of our exchanges, who has a fertile imagination, tells of a collie dog, which answers the telephone when the members of the family are out. When the telephone bell rings the dog jumps on a stool placed in front of the machine, takes the receiver from the hook by catching it in his teeth, barks into the phone and then replaces the receiver. This is refreshing. If that dog were home, alone, on some of the rural lines running out of Tara he would be kept mighty busy. Some of the subscribers work overtime in listening to calls not intended for them.—Tara Leader. Then the Bruce Municipal Telephone System is not the only line that has listeners.

Mr. Howard Rowman' Owen Sound, passed through Kincardine last week with seven Ford cars in a row.

An illness of nearly two years of cancer of the jaw culminated in the death of Mr. Charles Addley, who passed away at his home here shortly after noon on Saturday last in his 65th year. The deceased, who was born on a farm near London, Ont., had the misfortune to get his right arm so badly mangled in the cogs of a threshing machine, which he was oiling, that the limb had to be amputated near the shoulder. As this happened early in life he was obliged to make the balance of the journey here with this great handicap. After following the trade of carriage and house painter in Wingham and Kincardine he came to Walkerton about a quarter of a century ago.

The 160th Battalion team was the only military tug-of-war team entered to compete for the special cup donated by the Returned Soldier's Association. The cup, which is a handsome one, was awarded to them. They put on an exhibition pull with a team from the G. T. R., winning in a straight pull. The team, which was in charge of Lieut. McKechnie and captained by Sergt. Watts, was composed of Corp. Anderson and Ptes. Nelson, Jardine, McArthur and G. Brown. The G. T. R. team was composed of Messrs. Wm. McCrae, J. J. Spring, W. Sproule, E. Schoitt, and H. Finlay. It was captured by Mr. Sam Kaun. Each member of the winning team was awarded an individual prize, a handsome locket, by the Trades and Labor Council.—Advertiser.

The Department of Edmonton has sent out a poster to teachers to be put to a conspicuous place in each school room and hall drawing attention to the shortage of material for making paper and asking people to save and sell their old paper.

Alphonse Barre, a farmer at Ross corners, near Casselman, after shooting his wife, walked two miles to a church toiled a knell, then returned and surrendered to the police. They had quarrelled for years, ever since their marriage.

Ptes Norman Webb and Wilfred Symons of the 160th Bruce Battalion, London, spent the week end in in town.

Mr. Jos. M. White, who as License Inspector for South Bruce made a great hit on the job and gave proof of being one of the livest wires in the employ of the License Department in Ontario, has been singled out for a much wider scope of usefulness by being appointed License Inspector for the entire County of Bruce. The new job, besides carrying with it a vaster range of territory and powers, is also enhanced with about triple his former pay, he being one of the County Inspectors who will draw the maximum salary of $1800 per year together with all necessary costs incurred in the performance of his duties. The appointment of Inspectors in the Province, Dr. Bradley of Bentre Bruce and Mr Reany, Inspector for the North, being the officials that will drop out in Bruce, Mr White started on his trip Monday delivering the 41 Standard Hotel Licenses which have been issued for this County.

A church in Delmar N. Y provides car trumpets for those who cannot hear very well. When an appeal is made for a special collection there's no demand at all for the instruments.

Col. Weir is quoted by the London papers on Friday as saying that he expects the 160th to winter in England. The Bruce Battalion is up to strength and well advanced with its training. The men are parading a half hour earlier morning and afternoon at present so as to get up the work in first aid. They are doing everything possible to show that they are in first class shape and worthy to cross the pond at any time. Col. Weir as a result, expects orders for overseas shortly, and the men are said to be elated at the prospects of early sailing.

The first case of its kind under the Succession Duty Act to be ventilated in the Province was aired before Judge Klein here on Wednesday morning last when an investigation ordered by the Ontario Government into the estate of the late Thos Gormley, who died in Elderslie Tp on Sept. 15th 1915 was staged in the County Court, with Mr. O. Klein, of Walkerton acting for the Legislature and Mr C. J. Mickle appearing for the defence. Gormley, who was an old bachelor and rancher from California came to Canada some ten or twelve years ago, to reside with relatives. He was worth $37,000 and before his death gave way about $21,000 of his fortune to his nephews and nieces. The Government claims that the amount which he thus distributed in his life-time should form part of his estate on which a succession Duty tax of 5 per cent would be collectable. If the Government's contention were upheld some $1300 would flow into the Provincial coffers from this source. After hearing part of the case on Wednesday the Judge at the request of one of the interested parties, enlarged the hearing until Oct. 13th to permit of an important witness being present.

Be Ready For Emergencies.

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, ready for emergencies. Then when croup or colds come suddenly they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach an acute and dangerous stage. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as the 25-cent bottle and sell at 60 cents.

If some housewives looked as diligently through the advertising columns of their local newspapers as they do through the mail-order catalogue they would find so many merchandising opportunities that buying out of town would be no longer practiced.

Brian McCool has secured his Lower School Examinatio on appeal. This is the Department exam. on which so many candidates were plucked this year.

Miss Grace Martin B. A. formerly of the Walkerton High School, won the distinction of being the only candidate in Canada passing both parts I and II of the Examination for Associateship of the Actuarial Society of America. 21 even candidates secured pass standing. Miss Martin is a member of the Mutual Life Assurance Co's staff.

Mr Anthony Kritz, a prosperous farmer of Chepstow, was the victim of a serious accident on Monday night. He was driving home in company with his wife from a visit to their daughter Mrs. Lawrence Montag of Formosa and were opposite Mr. Joe Spitzigs house within a half-mile of home when Mr Kritz states, the hold-ups on the harness broke and the animal began to kick. Making a mad dive of the road, the animal tried to jump the stone fence about the same time delivering Mr Kritz a violent kick in the knee. His wife managed to jump from the rig fortunately without injury. Mr Kritz's knee-cap was split rendering his leg useless and as he is well up in years it is doubtful whether he will recover the full use of his injured limb.

Used For Shaving.

Many men are troubled, more particularly in the cold weather, with a sort of roughness of the skin or eczema caused by shaving. The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment after the shave soon cures the trouble and by using it after each shave you keep the skin soft and prevent irritation and soreness. Because of its antiseptic qualities this ointment prevents and cures Barber's Itch.

Official Report of Victories

(Canadian Press Dispatch)

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The British official statement of the west front fighting, issued to-night, reads:

"South of the Ancre our troops attacked Monday, and have been everywhere successful. Enemy positions were stormed on a front of about six miles between Combles and Martinpuich to a depth of more than a mile. The strongly-fortified villages of Morval and Les Boeufs, together with several lines of trenches, have fallen into our hands.

A Formidable Fortress Taken

"The village of Morval stands on the heights north of Combles, and with its subterranean quarries, trenches, and wire entanglements constituted a formidable fortress. The possession of these two villages is of considerable military importance, and practically severs the enemy's communication with Combles.

"A large number of prisoners, machine guns and other war material were taken. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy. In comparison with the results achieved, our losses have been so far comparatively small."

The French Successes

The night French communication says:

"North of the Somme the battle was renewed Monday with violence along the Anglo-French front. The French infantry, assuming the offensive at noon, simultaneously attacked the German positions at Combles and Rancourt, and defences held by the enemy at the latter village as far as the Somme.

"Northeast of Combles we carried our lines to the outskirts of Fregicourt, and captured all the strongly organized ground between that hamlet and Hill 148. The village of Rancourt also fell into our power.

Trench Systems Carried

"East of the Bethune road we extended our positions to a depth of about one kilometre from the Combles road to as far as Bouchavesnes, carried by assault a hill northeast of that village, and reached to the southeast of Hill 130. Farther south we carried several systems of trenches in the vicinity of the Canal du Nord from the Bethune road as far as the Somme.

"The number of unwounded prisoners taken by us and counted up to the present exceeds four hundred."

Bombed Many Stations

Both French and British reports tell of continued fine work by aviators, including the destruction of six enemy aeroplanes by the British, who report three of their own machines missing. French aviators dropped bombs on the stations at Ham, Hombleux, Manancourt and elsewhere.

Social

The Wiarton Fall Millinery openings were held last week-end, and of course the rooms were crowded with ladies. Large hats predominate for early fall. For the small hat tam styles are much in vogue.

In colors, purple is new, Russian green, chartreuse and negre are popular. The new feature of the large hat is the distinct turn-up at the front or side. Both felt and velvet hats are shown, one being on a par with the other. Some smart little rendy to wears with narrow brims and high crowns are shown.

On Thursday afternoon of last week the Misses Greenlees entertained a number of ladies at a euchre from three o'clock to six o'clock. Seven tables enjoyed the game and the prize winners were, for moves, Mrs. J. J. McKay, a dainty cut-glass vase, for euchres, Mrs. R. W. Sawyer, a sterling silver pencil, for lone hands, Mrs. D. W. McClure, a pair of shoe trees. At the tea hour as many more ladies joined the number and a pleasant hour was spent. An abundance of bright autumn flowers decked the rooms and everybody seemed happy and glad to meet everybody else after the summer vacation.

The W. P. L. has resumed its meetings for sewing on Wednesday afternoons and although as yet the number attending is not up to last winters best meetings, still, a fair amount of work has been accomplished. The ladies will likely require help in providing Christmas boxes for our boys in the trenches.

LIONS HEAD

Mr and Mrs John Tyndall and little daughter of Dyers Bay visited friends here, at Wiarton and Owen Sound last week.

Lieut. E. Pettigrew, of London, was here last week visiting his parents.

Ptes. S. Myles and James Davis visited friends here last week.

Mr A. B. Tyndall of Dyers Bay was a visitor to town on Monday and Tuesday.

We understand that Miss Morton who has been conducting Evangelistic Services in the Methodist Church leaves this week for her home in Toronto.

On Thursday and Friday Oct 5 and 6 are Fair Days in Lions Head.

Ptes. A. McArthur and J. McCallum, of the 160th Bruce Batt., of London are visiting their people here.

Much sympathy is extended to Mrs Vicker and family in the death of her husband who died on Sept 21st in Guelph after a short illness suffering from nervous trouble. The funeral which was one of the largest passed through here on Saturday to Eastnor Cemetery.

Mr. Alexander McNeil At Rideau Club Banquet

The Rideau Club, of which Mr Alexander McNeil ex-M. P., is a member, gave a dinner in honor of His Royal Highness, Duke of Connaught, last week, and Mr. MacNeil, who is one of the oldest members, was one of the guests. There were one hundred and seven guests at the dinner, about fifty more could not get accommodation. Mr. MacNeil said, in speaking of it that it was the most perfectly successful banquet of its kind that he had ever attended, and at it he met many of his old friends.

While in Ottawa, to Mr. McNeil many kindnesses were shown among which was a luncheon given by Senator Edwards in his honor. Among the guests were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir James Loughead, Hon. Mr. Fielding, Mr. Gill, President of the Rideau Club Dr. William H. Campbell, and other men prominent in political careers. While at luncheon, Mr. MacNeil was seated near Sir Wilfrid Laurier and says that he found Sir Wilfrid had lost none of his personal charm, although they are still as far apart on political views, as before.

Sir James Whitney Remembered At Graye

Morrisburg Sept. 25—The second anniversary of the death of Sir James Whitney was commemorated to-day at the burial place of the late Premier four miles east of Morrisburg. The Ontario Government sent a handsome wreath, and was represented by C. H. Wallis, the late Premier's Secretary and Dr. A.H.U.Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education. The flowers were placed on the grave by Mrs. Farlinger. Addresses were delivered by the local clergy and by Messrs Broder and Hilliard, members for the county. A large number were present. A handsome monument has been placed over Sir James, grave by his brother E. C. Whitney, of Ottawa.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

Gave Good Entertainment

The entertainment given in the Stewarton Presbyterian church by Lottie L. Tillotson, of Hawaii, was a success in every sense of the word. She was greeted by a good house and all who heard her were pleased. Miss Tillotson is a globe traveller, having visited nearly every country. She has grace of manner, a pleasing cultivated voice, a fine delivery. Every number in her musical program was splendidly rendered.

Lost Sheep

Between the town line of Amabel and Albemarle and Lions Head, 14 sheep and lambs, marked behind with red at time of straying. First missed on the 2nd of September. Any person giving information as to the whereabouts of the sheep will be suitably and satisfactorily rewarded, or any person found harboring or concealing the same, will be prosecuted to the full limit of the law. Any information may be given to Samuel Hayes, Lions Head, or A. Hepburn, of Hope Bay, or the owner, William Gordon, of Dobbinton.

The Bruce County House of Refuge has about fifty inmates at present, which is the general average. The board is provided at a weakly average cost of $1.62 per inmate. Last year there was 40 acres of farm land cropped in connection with the institution, the inmates assisting with the work. Some of the products were: 12 tons of hay, 2000 bushels of mangolds, 45 bushels of wheat, 200 bushels of barley, 755 bushels of oats, 150 bags of potatoes, 2 acres of corn, 12 bushels of onions, 1,187 lbs. of butter, 334 doz. of eggs, 1,000 lbs. of pork. The institution produces its own milk, butter and pork entirely. At the barn are 7 milch cows, 2 horses, 5 hogs and 100 hens. The manager, Mr. Wiles, states that whiskey has been the cause of sending more people there than anything else during his term of office. Practically all the men there are bachelors. In religion 19 of the inmates are Presbyterians, 12 Methodists, 8 English Church, 11 Roman Catholics, 1 Disciple, 2 Latter Day Saints. In nationality there are more Scotch than any other, the Irish coming second and the Germans last. The oldest inmates are Nicholas Benson, from Bruce Tp., who is 96 years of age, and Mrs. Vanderburg only three years younger.—Paisley Advocate.

MAR

Miss M. Patterson, Wiarton, was the week-end guest of her friend, Miss Hazel White.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Given spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Rydall at Colpoys Bay.

Mr and Mrs Blake, of Woodstock, autoed up from that city and are spending a few days with Mr Wm. Blake.

Mr and Miss Dinniwell of Amabel visited at the home of Mr and Mrs Jas. Caldwell, Sunday.

Mr D. M. Couch came over Sunday and took Mr Kay out for a drive in his auto. Mr Kay was well enough to thoroughly enjoy the drive.

During the heavy electric storm that passed over this section last Thursday morning Mr W. Thoma's fine barn was struck with lightning and burnt to the ground in a few minutes. All the seasons crops were stored in it and Mr Thomas was one of the few who had an exceptionally good crop this year. Sympathy is being expressed for the Thomas family in every quarter. This makes two of the finest barns in the settlement to be burnt by lightning in a little over a years time.

The Rev. John Wesley Bready M. A. preached his farewell sermon to a very large congregation Sunday afternoon. Mr Bready was a speaker of logic and grace and his suave and genial personality won him hosts of friends wherever he went. Mr. Bready leaves for New York City to finish his studies. The good wishes of his friends are with him for his success and welfare through the years to come.

London, Sept. 25.—Another Zeppelin raid on the east coast of England occurred to-night.

The following official statement was issued at midnight by Sir John French:

The Socks are Appreciated

Letters From the Front to Wiarton Ladies

Dear Miss Patterson

I had the pleasure of finding your note inside of the pair of socks. I had the distributing of about 409 pairs that day. It is very seldom that I take any of the gift socks, as the men need them so much more than the officers, but as I happened to need some I chose yours as the best looking pair of the lot, and on putting them on found your note, so am writing to let you know how comfortable they are, also if you are sending any more I would be very glad of a pair of the same weight for the trouble with most is that they are too heavy and too large.

Yours very truly
N. Medhurst Lieut.

Some where in France.
Aug. 16, 1916.

Dear Madam

Just a few lines in answer to your very kind and welcome note, enclosed within your welcome gift of a pair of socks, which I greatly appreciated, because they came at an opportune moment of a long hard march ahead of us, and afforded a clean change to help ease and relieve our feet, which I can assure you, were tired and sore though at times we don't have such long hard marches, this time we did, and they could not have come at a more needed moment than they did and I truly appreciated the gift very much. and beg you to accept my humble thanks for them.

We have been having some pretty hard fighting off and on lately, as no doubt you have noticed by the papers, if you take the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal you will ,no doubt, get an accurate idea of what we've been going through this last 3 or 4 months. And last fall and winter we had a lot of rain and wet weather to contend with and mud, Oh! it was fierce, every where mud, it seemed hardly a dry or decent place to go, and sometimes we had to sleep in our wet clothes with water dripping on us through the leaky roofs etc. for we were that tired at times that we could lay lay down most any place dry or wet and sleep, we couldn't help it But thank God we have had some real weather of late which I can tell you we are truly thankful for. It was then we could have used lots of socks' although we need them now, we need them worse in fall and winter.

I think honestly we won't be putting in another winter and late fall campaign; at the present state of things, because I believe that this won't last much longer now, and that we Canadians will be returning ere long though I'm sorry to say there will be few to come back with us, I sincerely trust I am right.

Well, dear friend, I am sending you this letter in an envelope which will be a souvenir of the bombardment of June 2 to 6th. It is a bit crumpled, caused by a shell from a trench mortor dropping in and exploding in my dugout and which I narrowly escaped from. I had just returned from helping a wounded comrade to the dressing station, through all the inferno of the shells and shell fire and had just gone back for my equipment and rifle, I come to my dugout and stopped thinking to go in and get my pack, when something prompted me to leave it and come later for it. I started on and only went 20 feet along the trench and had just turned the corner when I became aware of the projectile descending straight onto my dugout I crouched in time, as it exploded as soon as landing and smashed everything except these envelopes and my sisters Bible which happened to be in the bottom of my pack I could not go back to it for half an hour thinking pretty deeply how narrowly I escaped and how lucky I was, so you can understand though it's not much. It is something that many people can't get as I only had a few, so I couldn't send many and besides I can't keep them as they remind me of it and write about it and so I've decided to send them all away so I can forget it, Oh! it was terrible.

Well, dear friend, this isn't a very nice letter to send one, so I must close now hoping every one, and everything is in the pink in my Home Land Canada, I'm from both Ontario where I was born and raised and the West where I homesteaded for a few years previous to this wa.. So with every good wishes and gratefulness to those dear good people at home I will remain, very sincerely your Friend

Hepworth Fall Fair

The Fall Fair was observed at Hepworth on Friday September 22nd The day, although it looked unpromising in the morning, turned out very well and large crowds were out to the grounds all afternoon. The fancy work although as good in quality as other years was not exhibited as profusely as before. This speaks well for the ladies of Hepworth, showing knitting has been their chief occupation.

The vegetable exhibit was exceptionally good, potatoes and apples being the chief articles featured.

The pastry exhibit was splendid, showing that the ladies in and around Hepworth had lost none of their art in baking.

The show of live stock was very fine.

Fifty soldiers of the 160th Batt. were at the fair, and gave Physical Exercise, drills etc. for the benefit of the onlookers. Two of the 147th Grey, Champion Bayonet fighters gave an exhibition of their skill, and it was greatly appreciated by all.

The only thing that was greatly missed was the band. This is the first year in the history of the Fair, that the band has not been in attendance.

At night a concert was given in the rink, which was both financially and otherwise a success.

Altogether the Fair was a total success.

CHAPTER VI.

Hinges of Destiny.

ALL day they had been bringing men in from the front, wounded, dirty and dying; all day I had smelled that peculiar, indescribable odor which I had learned so well to know in these last few weeks and which an eternity will not serve to efface from my memory.

Many of the men, although terribly wounded, had been so exhausted that to awaken them was impossible. We had not tried; we had let them sleep. A wound that has been without care for a few hours can go one or two hours longer without attention, for nothing that man has invented or science discovered can take the place of sleep. There had been hundreds brought in during the last twenty-four hours, and one by one they had been washed, their wounds dressed and then put to bed.

I was so tired that I dumbly wondered whether I should succumb, as the men from the front had, to overmastering sleep when we—the orderly and I—came to the last pair. We were surprised to find he was an Englishman. We had started to undress him when he roused up and said:

"Where is my captain? They have left him—I know they have left him. They thought he was dead or dying, and they have left him out in the cold and the dark. Do not touch me. I am going to find him." And before we could stop him he had jumped up, struggled to his feet and was halfway down the ward. We were after him like a flash and in a moment had overtaken him, but our combined efforts did not serve to stop him, and before we realized what was happening he had dragged us to the outside door. Suddenly a door opposite opened, and Colonel S. stood silhouetted against the light.

"What is it, my man?" Something in his calm, cool manner implied authority, and this is the story the soldier vehemently poured forth:

"I am a lieutenant in the — Sikh regiment. This morning at 3 o'clock we were awakened by a night attack. An incessant artillery fire began, and shells came thick on top of one another. First they were quite close to us, then next to us, then upon us, and with that there came that hideous singing sound of the bullets. Short red flames burst out. The searchlight threw its terrible pale gleam across the horizon, and the screaming shrapnel fell like hail on the ground around us. Everywhere was the ceaseless crash of the rifle, the bursting of shells and the roar of high explosives. Far away somewhere up the line came the clatter of the machine guns getting into action. My God! Our Indians fought like devils, but we were surrounded. Those who were able jumped to the parapet and fought on until the end. The last thing I remember during the bayonet charge that followed was hearing a German officer call out to my captain, 'Englishmen, surrender!' Seizing a rifle to encourage his men, I heard above the din of battle his cool reply, 'Surrender, be d—!' As he said this he fell. I reached out to catch him, and then I knew no more until I found myself here. Now I must go back there to find him. I know just where he is. It cannot be far."

I thought, as he was talking, it must have been just the moment that French cavalry appeared on the crest of the hill and the Germans fell back, otherwise he and his beloved captain would be lying on the battlefield in the enemy's lines or, by rare good luck, in the enemy's hospital. The boy was not the only wounded, and the doctor decided ... let him go out with the brancardiers and search for his captain.

It was a moonlight night, and as this young subaltern, accompanied by the surgeon, went down the graveled walk through the garden I followed them. The last I saw of him was as he swung himself into a waiting motor with several of the stretcher bearers and was off toward the battlefield where they had fought so desperately only a few hours before.

I felt wildly excited. Something of that strange thrill, terrible and tragic, that had been ever present within me when I had first begun nursing and that had vanished through the curse or the blessing of getting used to things again seized me. There is something within us, and stronger than our wills, which adapts us to every change of circumstance so quickly that we sometimes resent the adaption. I had found that one cannot continue to be surprised or glad or even sorry above a certain level. War is like loud and sensational music, the effects of which thrill an audience only about three minutes. I had grown to believe that I had seen so much of the hideous and ghastly that rushes and every nurse's life at a receiving hospital that my capacity for great excitement had been exhausted. But out there alone under the calm bright moon, the air heavy with perfume of garden flowers, something of it all stirred and quickened my heart to its very depths. I forgot that my limbs ached with fatigue, forgot how ardently I had been longing for bed, and stood there wistfully gazing down the road as if expecting some dear one.

I do not know how long I stood there, but I suddenly became conscious of a fast approaching motor. In a second it was at the gate, and I heard a voice that sounded strangely familiar. It was the little lieutenant, supporting in his arms his captain. I remember dimly thinking that war revived one's faith again in miracles.

"Quick, nurse!" he said to me. "I won't believe he is dead, although I can't find any pulse."

He was carried into the hospital and immediately into the outer room of the operating theater, where the strong lights were switched on. For a moment I was dazzled, half blinded by their brilliancy, and it was only after I had unbuttoned his uniform and bared his breast, that all might be ready for the hypodermic of ether and camphorated oil that Dr. Souchon generally gave, that, as I leaned over him, I recognized the white and finely chiseled face of Captain Frazer, the Englishman who had helped me rescue the Austrian officer that night on the Dardanelles.

The doctor's quick and businesslike voice brought me abruptly back to earth.

"A serious abdominal wound with internal hemorrhage," he was saying as he made a hasty examination. "This is the kind of case," he continued, "about which one might say the person must have a mission to fulfill, as by all the laws of nature this man ought to have been dead hours ago."

In the confusion of the moment we had all forgotten the indomitable courage of the boyish lieutenant, and it was only when we heard a thud and something fall limply to the floor that we remembered him. He had fainted. An orderly and a doctor picked him up and carried him out, while I remained to help Dr. Souchon with the operation.

"He is so nearly done for, nurse," the doctor said, "I think we had better try the new anaesthetic, scopolamine, if you feel sure of yourself in giving it."

"I won't fail you, doctor," I answered. Father had used it for nearly a year before his death, and I had often given it for him.

During the next hour, as the doctor performed the intricate operation with the utmost skill, I worked with no thought of weariness and with a prayer on my lips for the patient. When it was all over the doctor turned to his assistant and said:

"Sew him up. I will see him in the morning. I do not mind telling you I am pretty much all in, but I think we have made a good job of it, and I wouldn't be at all surprised if he pulls through." Then glancing back and speaking to me as he passed through the door he said, "You'd better look at his plaque and see who that chap is."

"He is Captain Frazer," I said.

"Captain Frazer! Of what regiment?" he asked.

"I do not know that," I answered, suddenly realizing how little I did know.

"Where shall we put him?" said the orderly.

"There is no place," I answered.

"Well, this man must have perfect quiet and good care," the assistant surgeon said, "or"— and he shrugged his shoulders meaningly.

For several weeks two of the nurses had been sharing my room on the third floor. They were on night duty, just then, so I hurriedly sought them, explained the situation and asked if they thought we could manage some way for a night or two.

"Of course," they both said. "We'd do a great deal to save any man's life, but all the more since he is your friend."

"Oh, no," I hastened to explain, "he—he isn't exactly a friend"—

"Oh, well, never mind," one of them interrupted, "don't keep the poor man on the operating table any longer, no matter whose friend he is or isn't. We are not going to bed tonight at all, at all," she laughed, "and tomorrow we will manage somehow — but — what about you?"

"Oh, I'll find a place," I said. "Don't worry about that!"

The place I really found was a little cot in my own room—that is, Captain Frazer's room—for the present. Somehow I could not bear to think of leaving him alone. In case of a hemorrhage in this condition I knew it would be all over with him.

An hour later, when I went back to the room, the sun had come up, and once again that long, monotonous roll of artillery filled the air. From my window, owing to the clearness of the day, I could see the city, with its old square church towers and red roofs. From time to time all this was blotted out in a cloud of smoke and red dust caused by the falling of bricks and tiles.

Turning wearily away from the window, I went slowly over to the bed and gazed long and earnestly at the handsome, fine face and the strong, athletic body, gracefully outlined under the coarse linen sheet. There he lay, a splendid specimen of God's handiwork, helpless, finished, perhaps dying—and this was war! He was so white and still I gently felt for the pulse. It was jerky and intermittent. I decided that the doctor had better see him. I am afraid my touch, although I tried to make it light, must have disturbed him, for he opened his eyes and looked at me. It seemed for minutes, with a quizzical, rather worried expression. Then slowly from his face and his eyes the drawn, set look of pain disappeared, and he smiled up at me and said with a little of the ring in his voice that I remembered so well, "Why, you are the little girl from the boat!" and then relapsed into that dark borderland that lies between life and death.

A distinguished officer, General M., had been wounded. Gossip said it was the work of a spy. However it may have been, this gallant soldier had received a very painful and serious injury, and there was great anxiety among the staff. But all this was as nothing when the word went round that General Joffre himself was coming to pay his wounded general a visit. There was much speculation among the nurses as to whether we would be able to catch a glimpse of him. I decided that in all probability there would be very little chance of my having even a peep, although I had been detailed as one of the nurses on the case. Great was my surprise when an orderly came to fetch me, saying that the doctor wanted to speak to me in General M.'s room and added in a breathless whisper, "General Joffre himself is there."

When I went in they were discussing some phase of the case, and the doctor said: "Here is the nurse. She will be able to tell us." The patient insisted on having General Joffre shown his wound. It was a childish wish, but then fever often plays strange tricks with us. To humor him the doctor began loosening some of the bandages. As he was doing so I had a minute in which to look at the celebrated general. I saw a man of moderate height, broad of shoulders and wide of girth. His gray mustache and overhanging brows gave his face something of sternness, but somehow I felt that his severe calmness was rather a pose—a mask—he had adopted. I remembered that some one had said of him that he was the "master of his fate and the captain of his soul." He looked it.

"Ah, general," said the wounded man, looking up at him, "if I had been as strict with myself as you have, as moderate in smoking and drinking and kept those good, early hours that you keep I should be much more likely to pull through quickly."

"My dear boy," the general replied, "you are all right, and it is just a question of a few weeks' care and patience—patience," he repeated, with sincere tenderness in his voice, for the wounded man had been with him during many campaigns in Africa and Madagascar.

It was getting late when he left the room and he had many kilometers to go, but he insisted on walking through the hospital saying a word to each of the men there, alluding to them as "mes braves petits soldats." In one of the beds there was a Scotchman. The general spoke to him and said, "You are one of the men that Germans call 'hollenweiber'" (daddies from hell). Quick as a flash the Scot answered: "That's a great compliment, sir. It shows that they think we fight like devils," at which the general laughed good humoredly.

For the last few days I had been doing extra work in the German prisoners' ward. Some way they came to know that I was from America, which made them eager to chat with me—in fact, so eager that it was only with difficulty I prevented it interfering with my work. One especially—he was, I should think, about thirty-five years old—a noncommissioned officer of the landwehr who had risen to a lieutenancy. He did not look at all like a typical German officer, nor were his mental processes that of this class. Of course his patriotism did not permit him to harbor any doubt of his country's ultimate success, but neither did he hide his desire for an early peace.

"You know," he said to us as we changed his dressings and gave him his treatment, "Germany does not aspire to reduce France to vassalage," and when the orderly said something about Alsace-Lorraine he answered that there might be some sort of an exchange arranged—France take back Alsace-Lorraine and Germany receive compensation in colonies. "We are so misunderstood," he repeated constantly. "Germany did not want war now —now or at any time—but realized when she saw France's three years' military service in full swing and when Russia had built her endless system of strategic railroads, with the help of French money, that Germany would be between the upper and nether millstones."

Strike Orders Issued to Railwaymen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The 640 chairmen of the railway brotherhoods who were called to Washington by President Wilson in the hope of averting a strike, held a meeting in the Bijou Theatre Sunday and resolved to go home. Sealed instructions, known as "strike orders," were issued to each of them, telling them what to do in case a strike is declared.

A subcommittee, consisting of about 30 men, was appointed, with full power to effect a settlement if such a thing is still possible. The committee was specifically instructed, however, that it has no power to accept terms of settlement that provide for arbitration of the question of an eight-hour day with ten hours' pay.

Will Withdraw Troops from Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—President Wilson has taken the first steps towards withdrawing General Pershing's expeditionary force from Mexico. High army officials predicted Saturday that all American troops would be out of Mexico by September 15th.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

In the whole scheme of intensive farming no feature deserves more attention than the silo. This method of conserving feed saves a third of the corn crop from waste and makes the entire product more palatable and nutritious than it would otherwise be.

No farmer who keeps cattle, hogs, and poultry, even in small numbers, can afford to do without a silo. No other system of feeding is so good for maintaining the efficiency of a dairy and keeping a fairly even output of milk summer and winter. A little farm is helped to produce big results by the use of silage, in fattening cattle, sheep, and hogs, as well as in milk production.

Silage saves acreage in the growing crops. It saves acreage in the spring by having the stock in such good condition that they do not need so much pasture. The value of silage for summer feeding of dairy cattle was long since recognized. One of the most trying seasons of the year for the dairy cow is the latter part of summer and early fall. At that season the pastures are often short or dried up, and in such cases it is a common occurrence for dairymen to let their cows drop off in flow of milk through lack of feed. Later they find it impossible to restore the normal milk flow, no matter how the cows are fed. Good dairy practice demands that the milk flow be maintained at a high point all the time from parturition to drying off. It becomes necessary, therefore, to supply something to take the place of the grass. The easiest way to do this is by means of silage. It has been found by hundreds of dairymen that silage is cheaper and decidedly more convenient to use than soiling crops. The man with a silo for summer use need never have thin cattle, and in this way also silage cheapens production, for it takes much good feed to put back flesh that has been lost. It is much cheaper to keep it than to rebuild it.

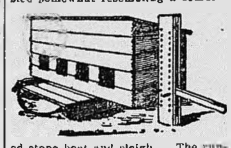
Calves may be fed silage with safety when they are about three or four months old. After the calves are weaned they may be given about all the silage they will eat up clean, and if supplemented with some good hay little grain is required to keep the calves in a thrifty, growing condition.

Silage has been found equally valuable for sheep feeding. Horses also like silage, and it may profitably be fed to them, though care must be taken that there is no mold in the silage. Even the chickens like silage, and it may well be supplied them in winter when other green feed is scarce.

It may be wondered why it is that silage is so good for stock. In the first place, it is made from one of the best plants that grows at a time when it is at its most appetizing stage. In the process of siloing it ferments just enough to become a little acid. As one writer has stated it, "silage is a sort of salad." There is as much difference between dry corn fodder or hay and silage as there is between dried fruit and fresh fruit. When a silo is first opened it may be necessary to throw away a foot or more of sour stuff on the top.

There are many dairymen who now feed acres of hay and dry fodder every winter to their cows who should eat loose from their old methods. If they only realized it they cannot afford to get along without the silo. The silo is a winner coming and going. It helps save on the cost of the feed and increases the amount of milk. For young growing stock it seems indispensable, as it greatly aids in keeping them in a healthy condition, which is necessary in the development of a dairy cow.



The daily ration of a dairy cow will average about fifty-five pounds. A cow weighing 1,100 and yielding thirty to forty pounds of milk every day should have upward of fifty pounds of feed daily, as follows: Corn silage, thirty; clover or alfalfa, ten; straw, five; ground grain, bran and linseed or cottonseed meal, eight to ten pounds. If the owner can supply roots or beet pulp the amount of hay or straw may be cut down a little. See that the animals eat with relish and clean up their feed. Extra large cows may require sixty pounds of feed or more every day, while small ones will thrive on forty to forty-five.

Killing Time.

Farmers are beginning to kill their winter's supply of pork.

Conveniences for Moving Bees.

In the cold climates where bees are wintered out of doors it is sometimes advisable to cover several colonies with one shed and to move them nearer the residence. Difficulties naturally arise in doing this, but these may be solved by the following plan. The apiarist uses a sled somewhat resembling a combination boat and sleigh. The runners are made of 3 by 6 scantlings and the platform of one inch stuff. To the runners is fastened a chain by means of clevices. A carpenter's horse twelve inches high is placed at one end of the little shed containing the bees. A jack, shown at the opposite end, is used to raise the house until the horse can be placed under it. When so placed the jack is removed to the other end and the house raised there. Then the sled is pushed beneath the house, the jack and the horse are removed, and the whole thing dragged over the snow wherever desired. In unloading the reverse process is practiced. Preferably the work should not be done until after snowfall.

BULGARIANS RETIRING

They Cannot Withstand Force of Allied Assaults.

Monastir is the Objective of the Serbian Army Which is Eager to Revenge Betrayal by Bulgaria—Bulgar Right Was Easily Swept Back by Irresistible Onrush of Serbs, French, and Russians.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Bulgarian right wing in Macedonia, unable to check the furious onrush of Serb, French, and Russian forces, is continuing to retire north-westward on both sides of Lake Ostrovo, in the direction of Monastir. Equally great pressure is exerted on their left wing by the British and Italians on the Struma. The Bulgarian War Office late Sunday admitted the loss of Nietzep and Nina, near Lake Ostrovo.

The French big guns are keeping up an incessant drumfire against the Bulgarian centre between the Vardar and Lake Doiran, the defenders' guns replying vigorously.

The Serbs during the last 24 hours again defeated the Bulgarians in battles before Vetrenik and Kajmakcalan, east of the Czerna River, according to Sunday's statement from Gen. Sarrail's headquarters at Salonica. They also drove the Bulgars over the Brod River, north-west of Lake Ostrovo. The defenders are "powerfully entrenched" on the right bank of the river, according to the official report.

Meanwhile the Franco-Russian forces forming the link between the allied left and centre are pushing their pursuit of the Bulgarians toward Florina. Their advance guards have arrived before the town, but it is still held by the Bulgarians, though its capture is expected hourly.

Seventeen miles to the north of Florina lies Monastir, the important Macedonian city, the possession of which has for decades been one of the bones of contention between the Bulgars and Serbs. It was taken by the Bulgarians last fall, after terrible fighting, and has been formidably fortified during the past twelve months. The Bulgarians are expected to make a desperate stand to hold it, while the Serbians fighting on their own soil, will send might and main to take it and thus clear the path for the reconquest of their kingdom. They are led by the Serbian heir-apparent, Prince Alexander, who has sworn to avenge Bulgaria's betrayal of the Slav cause."

Monastir lost, the Bulgars would be exposed to a flanking attack from the right, for a strong Italian force in Southern Albanian is eagerly awaiting a chance to aid from that side in the Macedonian campaign and thus establish a claim for the long coveted "windows on the Adriatic." As long as Monastir is safe, it acts as a blocking stone to a junction of the Italians with the Allies.

Sunday Serbian War Office announcement foreshadowed the capture of Florina by stating "the Serbians have already descended into the Florina Plains."

Powerful as were the first line defences of the Bulgarian right, it was swept back with comparative ease by the embittered dash of the Serbs during the last five days. An interesting psychological factor is that when General Sarrail some months ago assigned the Serbians to the left wing the Bulgarian general staff felt considerable relief. From that quarter they expected the least danger, for the Serbian army was generally considered irreparably shattered and its spirit broken. The Serbian positions were regarded as defensive rather than offensive. The Bulgarian line was formidably fortified in anticipation of drum fire from the French big guns, but open infantry battles were not looked for.

Thus the spirited Serbian onrush when the signal for the Allied offensive was given took the Bulgars by surprise. How precipitate their retreat has been is indicated by the fact that the pursuers captured thirty-two guns, many, as yet uncounted prisoners, and huge quantities of material. Tremendous losses are inflicted on the Bulgars, the Serbian headquarters report says, one regiment alone losing two-thirds of its effectives.

Not a Musician.

"Is that gentleman a musician?" asked the inquisitive Mrs. Smith of the elevator boy as a long haired individual left the elevator.

"No, ma'am," was the response; "he ain't no musician; he's a singer."

"TANKS" PARALYZED HUNS.

They Could Not Stand Against New British Land Monster.

AT THE BRITISH FRONT, Sept. 18.—With ceaseless shell fire from unprecedented concentrations of guns, the battle raged furiously all day, with the British making good their advance of Saturday, while the Germans were rushing up reserves from other parts of the western front.

The demoralization of their infantry Saturday by the use of the new British armored cars called "tanks" was freely confessed by prisoners yesterday. "There was no standing against that sort of thing," said one German officer. "Of course we surrendered, those of us who were alive. We fired at a tank with our rifles. Our machine guns were turned loose on it. But the bullets were only blue sparks on the armor. We thought the British slow and stupid, despite their courage and stubbornness, and they gave us a surprise like that!"

A column of German prisoners passing a "tank," rejoicing in the nickname of "Creme de Menthe," which had returned from battle and was resting from its labors, spread out their hands and shook their heads and looked at it, exclaiming in a chorus: "Mein Gott in Himmel! Is it under control? Would it break out and begin firing again? Will we ever forget our first sight of the thing as it came at us out of the morning mist? Is isn't war using a piece of machinery like that; it is butchery."

To this a British officer replied: "No, it is quite peaceable and tame now. It has just been fed. As for it not being war it is quite in keeping with the Hague Convention, which your gas attack at Ypres was not."

There seems no question that Friday was the most dramatic day in the history of the British army in France. The Germans themselves were massing at many points, it appears, with a view to attacking to recover some of the high ground they had lost. The British anticipated the German attack with their onslaught, assisted by their new machines, whose secret they had been keeping up their sleeves for just such an occasion as this.

ITALIANS BREAK THROUGH.

Important Victory for Cadorna Recorded on Isonzo Front.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—In their new drive on the whole Isonzo front the Italians have broken through the Austrian line at several points and captured in the last two days several thousand officers and men, according to a brief announcement by the Italian War Office Sunday afternoon.

Vienna admits officially that General Cadorna's troops attacking along the whole line from the Wippach (Vippocco) River to the sea "gained a little ground."

On the northern wing of the Carso plateau the Austrians were compelled to take back their line, so that it now stands slightly east of San Gradoll-marna. Five hundred prisoners and three machine guns were taken in counter-attacks, it is asserted. In Tyrol the Austrians are violently attacked on the Fassane ridge. The capture by Alpine troops of a point of support west of the summit of Mount Cauriol also is reported. Austrian seaplanes raided Vallone and the Monfalcone region.

The first detailed accounts of the new Italian offensive on the southern last three weeks were entirely devoted to the moving up of heavy artillery and the preparation of dugouts for the bombardiers. The work was done mostly at night-time, as after the fall of Gorizia, the Austrians concentrated against the Italian lines a terrific fire to prevent the preparation of a new offensive.

The new battle front is ten miles long and lies in a straight line from north-east of the heights of Gorizia to the Adriatic, near St. Antonio. The Austrians held strongly-fortified positions between the western slopes of Monte Santo and Duino Castle.

FIVE POSITIONS TAKEN.

Roumanians Occupy Four Villages and an Important Hill.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The capture of five Austrian positions by the Roumanians operating in the Transylvanian Alps was announced by the Bucharest War Office Sunday night. Ten officers and 900 men were taken prisoners. The statement says:

"On the north-western front we occupied Somerol, Almas, Cobalm, and Faogarsa. We took 910 prisoners, including ten officers, and captured some war material. In the Strecu valley, Bran Hill was captured by us. We took 76 prisoners. Our batteries sank two munitions barges near the mouth of Lor River.

"In the Dobrudja there were engagements with advanced detachments of the enemy."

Belgians Take East African Fortress.

LONDON, Sept. 18. — Belgian forces operating in German East Africa have captured Tabora, the principal German fortress in the territory, according to a Belgian official communication received here. The statement follows:

"As the result of severe fighting between Sept. 1 and 11 the brigades of General Molion and Ilsen, belonging to the army of General Tombeur, entered Tabora, expelling the Germans. Tabora, which was fortified powerfully, was the principal citadel in German East Africa, commanding the railway from Lake Tanganyika to the Indian Ocean."

A Double Drowning.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Sept. 18.—Harvey Marston and Miss Hillman, while crossing the St. John River near here Friday night, after attending a political meeting, were drowned. The finding of Miss Hillman's body on the shore Sunday morning was the first evidence of the double tragedy.

GAINS ARE EXTENDED

Both British and French Advance on the Somme.

Total Advance Made by the British in Two Days is From One to Two Miles Deep Over a Front of Six Miles—French Take Two Villages and Have Crushed in Two Tips of Southern Line of Great German Salient.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Both the British and French increased their gains on the Somme front during the last 24 hours.

The British in further attacks Saturday enlarged ground gained in Friday's great drive. They captured 51 officers and 1,700 men in straightening out their lines. The number of prisoners taken indicates that the progress made in the course of the "nibbling process" is important.

Saturday night Sir Douglas Haig's troops again extended their gains near Courcellotte on a front of 1,000 yards, pushing their lines further north-eastward against Bapaume. At the same time they captured the formidable German stronghold known as the "Danube" trench, on a front of about a mile, near Thiepval, and the powerful fieldwork near the Mouquet farm, bitterly contested for many weeks. Sunday Sir Douglas Haig's troops repulsed a series of strong German counter-attacks and consolidated Saturday's gains. They took 249 prisoners, including six officers.

The total advance made by the British in the two days' fighting, according to Sir Douglas Haig's Sunday night report, is from one to two miles deep, and extends over a front of six miles. Altogether the British captured 4,000 men and 116 officers, six guns, fifty machine guns and much material. Sunday's aerial successes brought the number of German machines destroyed since Saturday morning up to 15.

The French after two days of comparative rest resumed their drive south of the Somme Sunday afternoon. They captured the villages of Vermandovillers and Berny, portions of which they have held for more than a week. The day's fighting put the French in possession of the whole ground between the Vermandovillers, Deniecourt, and the Deniecourt-Berny sectors. At Deniecourt the Germans are still desperately defending every inch of ground, but the two tips of the southern line of the great salient have been completely crushed in. General Foch's infantry added still further to this success by capturing a number of trenches between Berny and Barleux. Repeated furious counter-attacks were beaten off by the French curtain of fire. Seven hundred prisoners, including 15 officers, were taken by the French in the day's advance.

Saturday night's report reads:

"To-day (Saturday), south of the Ancre we continued our attack in certain localities, and further progress has been made. Since yesterday we advanced to a depth of from one to two miles on a front of six miles.

"The number of prisoners taken to-day is over 1,700, of whom 51 are officers. The total number of prisoners captured in the fighting of the last two days is over 4,000, of whom 116 are officers.

"Up to the present six guns and over fifty machine guns are reported to have been taken or destroyed, and a considerable quantity of war material has been captured.

"Further reports on the aerial fighting on September 15 bring the total of German machines destroyed to fifteen. Another hostile kite balloon was brought down in flames this afternoon.

"Two more of our machines are missing, making altogether six."

Sunday afternoon's report reads:

"South of the Acre our troops achieved further success. Last evening in the vicinity of Courcelette we extended our gains on a front of about 1,000 yards. In the neighborhood of Thiepval we obtained a considerable success yesterday evening by capturing the hostile fortifications known as the Danube trench on a front of about a mile. Here the enemy abandoned considerable quantities of rifles and equipment. We also captured the strongly defended work at Mouquet Farm, possession of which had been hotly contested for some weeks past.

"The number of prisoners is increasing.

"A number of successful minor enterprises were also carried out by us last night on other parts of the British front."

PALESTINE BOMBED.

British Seaplanes Drop Explosives on Railway Junction.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The following report was issued by the British War Office Sunday:

"Between August 26 and 29 a series of attacks and reconnaissances upon the enemy's railway communications in Palestine were carried out by a British seaplane squadron under somewhat hazardous conditions, due to the fact that the railway runs for the most part behind a range of mountains difficult for seaplanes to surmount.

"Bombs were dropped on Afuleh Junction, where considerable damage was done to the rolling stock and stores in the vicinity. A railway engine and fourteen carriages were set afire and destroyed. The railway stations at Tulkerm and Ardana and an enemy camp four miles to the north-west were successfully bombarded and severely damaged.

"On the 26th seaplanes bombarded the railway station at Home, 45 miles inland."

Two Horses Burned.

KITCHENER, Sept. 18.—The barn of P. Hyman & Co., hardware merchants, King street west, was discovered ablaze at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Two delivery horses were burned to death.

Hanover ratepayers have been getting their tax notices this past week and some have been taken back at the amount to be "coughed up." Our rate this year is 29 mills. Last year the rate was 23.8. The reason given for the increased rate this year is the expensive road work of last year which wasn't paid for, the provincial war tax and other items. The council considered that the ratepayers would be better able to pay the increased rate this year with factories running full time than they were last year.—Hanover Post

Lieut. E. Pettigrew of C. Co 160th has been up at his old home in Lions Head for the past week enjoying a well-earned furlough. Lt. Pettigrew makes an ideal officer and is one of the most popular in the whole battalion. He is thoroughly capable and no doubt will have an early promotion. In these days when political pull is landing commission on all sides, it is really refreshing to know that "Pat" won his merit and proved himself to be the best recruiting officer in Bruce.

Windsor, Sept. 17—A number of citizens of Windsor who crossed to Detroit last night following the closing of the bars, here were disagreeably surprised when returning late somewhat the worse for wear, they were informed by the Canadian immigration authorities that as Onterio had now become a dry province they were undesirable and must go back across the river. At the Detroit side objection was also taken to their presence and half a dozen of the worst cases were turned over to the police. The same thing occurred again to-night,

The body of the late Wm. Vickers, who passed away at Guelph on Thursday last, passed through here on the way to his late home at Cape Chin. Mr. Vickers is a very old resident of Lindsay Township and the funeral which was held at Lions Head cemetry on Saturday was very largely attended, thus testifying the very high esteem in which Mr. Vickers was held. Mrs. Vickers, three boys and three girls survive the deceased.

Miss Olive Thomson L. T. C. M. Honour Graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music, will reopen her classes in singing and piano Thursday Sept. 28th. Pupils desiring to begin lessons address 266 9th St W., Owen Sound.

Last week Sgt. Butchart and Pte N. McDonald, of the 160th Batt were here as a guard rounding up absentees from that Battalion. They succeeded in locating the men who had taken French leave and took them back to London on Saturday C. B will be these boys fares for some time to come we suppose.

On Thursday last, the re-constructed hull of the tug Pedwell was completed and safely launched at the Wiarton ship-yard. The boat is now the property of Mr. Jno. Tackaberry of Lions Head. When completed the boat will be used as a freighter for Georgian Bay points. Mr. Tackaberry hopes to have her in commission in three or four weeks.

The new Book of Praise for the Presbyterian church, which will be issued after the war, will contain about eighty more selections than the present book it will supersede. The Psalter, which comprises the first part of the book, has been revised and strengthened. Special hymn selections have been made for the young and the children, and social service will have hymns devoted to it. Rev. Alexander MacMillan, the Convenor of the Revision Committee which has just been in session at Knox College, states that no one need fear that old favorite tunes or hymns will be discarded. Minor changes are made in old hymns, but only to make the phraseology modern.

The hymnal, or, as it is called, the Book of Praise, in use now in the Presbyterian church was adopted in 1897. The great radical change brought in by the present book was the singing of the "amen" at the end of the hymns. For years after this book was in use, staunch old time Presbyterians stood in stolid silence while the rest of the congregation prononnced this invocation. All opposition to this change has now, of course, died away.

THANKSGIVING DAY

This is a time of General Thanksgiving, and we have much to be thankful for. To-day our Wiarton Store completes its first Half Year's Business. To-morrow we enter on the second Half Year. Six months ago we began business in Wiarton with a Mighty Introduction Sale, which brought people from the four corners of the County. It was indeed a mighty introduction. Since then our Store has become famous for dividing profits with our patrons, and to-day we enjoy a large circle of satisfied customers. The Second Half year will enter in with a Thanksgiving Sale that will FAR exceed our Introduction Sale, both in greater values and better selection. We have now twice as large a stock, and the buying powers of this organization for its different stores, places us in a position to offer Merchandise in many cases for less than other merchants can possibly afford to sell goods. We sell for less because we buy for less. Notwithstanding the cry of high prices in times of war, we place before you to-day a list of prices that will cause you to forget that we are at war. Compare the quality, for quality counts, and then with a long sigh of relief you'll say to yourself, "Cheer up, it's not so bad after all." We have had extra help arranging the stock and placing large tickets on sale goods so that you may look around and satisfy yourself that this is no fairy tale. Yes, its true you've known us long enough to have faith in our advertising, for everything is always as advertised, but these Bargains can tell the story so much better than we can begin to tell it. Seeing is believing, and we want you to see them for yourself.

The Bon Ton Minstrel Show

Due to several disappointments at the last minute the concert was not as good as the overseers had hoped for. Financially it was a splendid success $175 being taken in. The hall was crowded to the doors.

The first item on the programme was a "Medley" by the orchestra and it was splendid. Then the end men "cracked" some jokes Mr. Harry Williams sang very acceptably "When Your Boy Comes Back to You." Pte. R. McLeod gave a clog dance which was well received. Mr. Coon, who was an expert wit'h his violin played "A Perfect Day. Mr. A. McLaren sang with his usual good style, "I'm off for Philadelphia in the Morning." Miss Jennie Lawrence was brought back a second time in response to an encore. Miss Howard Gregg's recitation was exceptionally well rendered and well chosen. Mr. Phillips sang "Back Home in Tennessee" six girls dressed in white sang with him in the chorus. Messrs. Hamilton, Lawrence, Hurlbut and Zeigler sang a quartette with their usual charm.

The Moonlight Scene was the event of the evening. The hall was in darkness, a sweet voice was heard in the distance singing "I'll sit right on the moon and keep my eyes on you," then the moon appeared above the horizon line and slowly advanced part way into the audience. Miss Eva Hubn was sitting in the moon. The applause for this was so strong that almost immediately the curtain was raised again to satisfy the audience. "A Garland of Old Fashioned Roses," she sang and threw into the audience very pretty handfuls of roses. God Save the King followed this and the evening's entertainment was over.

But not for the young people was the evening gone, it was still young and the benches were removed, the floor cleared, the orchestra played its splendid dancing music, and the dancers were quickly on the floor Soldiers were in evidence at this impromptu dance as it was given in their honour. There was not a large crowd at the dance, as many did not know of it, but those who attended had a splendid time.

Wiarton Fall Fair

Disagreeable weather marked the annual fall fair of the Wiarton Agricultural Society last Wednesday, but it takes more than a little rain to put the Wiarton show out of business and the event this year was quite up to the mark in spite of the handicap of the weather man.

The attendance was good, the morning was fair and warm, thus the country people came in full army. The afternoon was dismal. While many visitors were here, farmers and their families were predominant in the crowd, the country side turning out almost en masse. The big crowd and fine exhibits will give a big boost to the fair for next year.

Considering the year the exhibits in the hall were splendid. The fancy work was up to the usual standard but owing to the times there was not as much exhibited as usual. Socks and mitts were there though not in the prominence they should have been.

The horses, cattle, poultry and pigs were a splendid exhibit, being on a par with other years. The main floor was given to fruits, flowers, roots, vegetables and grain. There was an excellent display of homemade baking.

The High School had a corner reserved for their work in composition writing, mounted insects and botany plants. This corner was very attractive and a great deal of attention was paid to it.

The chief attraction at the fair was the soldiers, our 160th Bruce boys. About 130 came on the late train Tuesday night for the fair. Marching to the grounds the Wiarton band led, the boy scouts next, then the soldiers under Lts. Stewart and Pettigrew, Sgts. Johns and Greig. This is the last time our boys will be here in a unit as they have received word that they are on their last pass. The signallers, who are widely known for the excellent handling of the flags, in the main, went through both of their codes, and "Your King and Country need you." A number of the men under Sgt. Harvey Greig, gave a splendid exhibition of their physical drill The unit marched around, and by their excellent conduct we plainly see that they are ready for the firing line.

Communication

EDITOR CANADIAN ECHO

Dear Sir,—I notice in your issue of last week a letter written by Donald Cameron, Albemarle Telephone Co. vs. Gillies.

Donald seems to be out of a job as he has taken to newspaper correspondence. First I wish to congratulate Mr. Cameron on his first attempt, and if he keeps on as he has started he will soon become a whirlwind, but I would rather he had hit me at some other time, as at present I am so busy building new lines and filling orders for phones, I have no time to answer newspaper correspondence. I have now the Berford Lake line completed, but will be rushed for some time yet Donald has not been a user of my phones so he has been collecting information from some unreliable source, for he states that they offered to purchase my line. This I deny, for they held their meeting, never asked me to attend, never made me any offer, but went on building their line. He also states I charged $20 for my phone, and then 25c for every time they called Wiarton. On the line from Wiarton to Purple Valley, which Mr. Cameron refers to no man was ever asked such a price. I will give Mr. Cameron my figures at one of my pay stations. Take Colpoys, anyone can use my phone for 15c. Mr. Whichler, who has charge of my phone there, and has an extensive business pays 10c, but of that, I pay Mr, Whicher back 2c, for commission, the Bell Telephone Co. 5c for connection and also keep the line and instrument in repair, so my profit is not too high.

Mr. Cameron also gives credit to his company for me reducing my figures. I wish to inform him that he is drawing on his imagination for I have for the last year been negotiating with the Bell Telephone Co. to get these lines put on the flat rate, and have now secured that arrangement so that my customers will now be charged $15 a year straight. Then he charges my reputation by trying to influence some honest farmers on the Berford Lake line to do as the Hun, disregard their pleged word, and signed agreement, as merely a scrap of paper. I never went on the Berford Lake line to do business until I was asked to do so, and when I did I was met by a large majority of the farmers of that line and I never asked them to disregard any obligation they had made, I simply quoted them my terms and they decided the matter for themselves, and I leave my reputation to answer the charge of disloyalty to the British Empire and I'll ask Mr. Cameron what has the Albemarle Telephone Co. done to show their loyalty to the Empire in this hour of need, how many of them responded to the call of King and Country. Not one has ever offered himself but has stayed at home to better his own condition in life, while I was away by starting to build a telephone line in opposition to mine, to rob me of my little interest in Albemarle, which I have worked hard to establish. If they read the good book they will see it says as his part is that goeth down to the battle so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff, so if that had been their ideal they would have tried to protect my interest while I was away trying to do my bit, in our country's trial.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor in advance for space in The Echo for these corrections, I remain

Yours truly,
Wm Gillies

Walkerton

Mrs Forbes Clark was in London on Thursday bidding farewell to her son, Piper James (Sox) Clark of the Galt Kiltie Band, who left the following day with the 111th Waterloo Battalion for overseas' duty. Mrs. Clark, who was accompanied to London by her son, Cloe, and daughter, Rubena, of town, has three sons and a son-in-law in khaki, the latter trio being Capt. Ross Clark, Bandsman John Clark and Bandsman Wm. Thompson, all of the 160th (Bruce) Battalion.

Miss Margaret Fortune, who graduated as a nurse about five years ago from the Bruce County Hospital, and who later took a post graduate course in New York, has applied to go overseas as a Red Cross nurse. Her sister, Miss Martha Fortune, is now serving as a nurse in a military hospital in France

The teaching staff of the Teeswater Public School rose up in rebellion last week and dismissed the School, the same to remain closed until such time as the board arouse themselves and see that the rooms are properly heated. The trustees, who are quite hot over the matter, are said to be contemplating making it warm for more than the school. The brick refrigerator in Teeswater would be all right if ideas were like eggs that keep better in cold storage.

Indians assert that the coming winter will be one of the mildest in recent years. They base their assertion on the following signs: The oak trees have no acorns, squirrels are seldom seen, muskrats have not started to build, fur-bearing animals have thin coats, bark on poplar trees is loose. There are some other signs they go by for their assertions that the winter will be mild and short. They are seldom wrong.

A woman of twenty-six, who has been kept a virtual prisoner in the home of her father in Chatham township for the past six years, has just been found by the authorities. She crawls on her hands and knees like an animal, and when placed on her feet endeavored to crawl up the wall. She cannot talk and is believed mentally unbalanced. Seven years ago, when her mother died, she was normal, according to neighbors. The father owns a large farm and has money in the bank, but refuses to either clothe her or send her to an institution, so the authorities are acting in the matter.

Tired and Discouraged

Mrs. Warren Randles, Rothesay, Kings County, N. B., writes. "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt all tired out, and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the results were most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Nerve Food to others."

OWN SOUND

At the meeting of Owen Sound Presbytery today Dr. Fraser of Annan will tender his resignation after a continuous pastorate of nearly 33 years. His farewell services will be held in Annan, Daywood and Leith next Sunday. It is his intention, we understand, to remove to Owen Sound before long, where his many friends hope that he may have many years of well earned leisure.

Majors Pollock and Mercer of the 147th Batt., who have been attending Musketry School at Rockcliffe Ranges, Ottawa, brought credit to their battalion in the record they made. As representatives of the 147th they had the highest score of any two officers from any other battalion, although there were in all 65 battalions represented. In the individual scores Major Pollock stood second in the class with a score of one hundred and fifty-one out of a possible one hundred and seventy-one, while Major Mercer was sixth with a score of one hundred and forty. In addition to the rifle shooting, courses were taken in machine gun operation. Lewis machine guns were used. Both Majors Pollock and Mercer were in town for a few days at the end of last week before returning to Camp Borden.

How to Live Long

Many ailments find their beginning in a torpid, sluggish condition of liver, kidneys and bowels. As a matter of fact you can add years to the length of your life as well as comfort and happiness by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep these organs regular and active.

La Canadienne Wrecked

The Canadian Government Hydrographic Survey vessel, "La Canadienne" was wrecked near Dorion last Sunday night by running upon a shoal on the north shore of Lake Superior. The steamer was run ashore and the crew all landed safely. The bottom of the vessel is stove in, but will not be a wreck entirely. Chief Dominion Hydrographic officer, W. J. Stewart, left Ottawa last Monday for the scene of the accident to direct the salvaging of the vessel. La Canadienne was commanded by Com. Perrizeaux, and her navigator is Capt. Wm. Playter, of Collingwood. Mr. Norman Munro, of Owen Sound, is her chief engineer. La Canadienne is an iron boat built in Christiana, Norway, in 1895. For a number of years she was employed as a light ship being stationed at what is known as The South East Shoal, Lake Erie. Latterly, however, she has been employed in the hydrographic survey work, being engaged mostly in Lake Superior along the north shore. Some time ago a letter was received by Chief Munro's relatives at Owen Sound, saying that they had orders to proceed to Black Bay, and also saying that this district was a wild place and not very suitable for safe navigation. Dorion, the place given as the scene of the accident is a small village on the north west shore of Black Bay. Black Bay is about 40 or 50 miles north of Passage Island, on the Soo-Fort William route.

The vessel will probably be repaired and ready to continue its work next season.

A communication recently received from a member of the crew of La Canadienne would indicate that the vessel had not been beached as stated above. According to this letter, the vessel settled upon the shoal on which she foundered, and sank to her decks, forcing the crew to take to the boats and seek the shore in this manner. An attempt is to be made the letter states, to salvage the boat. The crew escaped from the boat with only what clothes they were wearing and were forced to build fires along the shore after landing to dry them.—Collingwood Enterprise.

GOOD HICKORY AND PRAYER

Good hickory and prayer.
These are the things most needed and most lacking in the training of the modern child according to Billy Sunday,

"Don't lick them in company," is Billy's advice "Wait until the company is gone and then dust them on both hemispheres if it is needed.

"A cow takes better care of her calf than some mothers do of their children. Most children learn to lie from their lying mothers."

Here Billy paused to enact a little playlet in his own inimitable way. The scene is laid in Mrs. C.'s home. Mrs. B. is coming to call, the children are unruly and Mrs. C. looks through the window and sees Mrs. B. coming with her children.

Mrs. C.—Here she comes with her brats. I wish that woman was in Jericho.

Enter Mrs. B. Business of kissing and "My dear, how glad I am to see you." They sit down and gossip for half an hour about their neighbors. "Then," says Billy, Mrs. B. couples up her train and prepares to steam out."

Mrs. C.—My dear, HOW I have enjoyed your visit.

Exit Mrs. B. after more kisses and a succession of embraces.

Mrs. C. Well, I'm glad she's gone. That old bore will be the death of me yet. I feel as if I were going to faint. "Where are my smelling salts?

"Where did those children learn to lie?" queries Billie. "Why from their lying mother."

Billy peeled off his coat when he got the word "go," Thursday night, and waded into his famous sermon on "Home." It dealt largely with the responsibilities of parents in the training of their children.

A well-known Clyde shipbuilder tells the following story:

"Whenever I see a toothpick I think of a dinner that was given in Rome in honor of two Turkish noblemen. I sat near the younger of the noblemen. He glittered with gold embroidery and great diamonds, but nevertheless I pitied him sincerely, for he was strange to our table manners and some of his errors were both ludicrous and painful.

"Toward the end of the dinner a servant brought to the young man a plate of toothpicks. He waved the plate away.

"No, thank you," he said, "I have already eaten two of the awful things I want no more."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

But oh, when love's young dream develops into a matrimonial nightmare!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

HEADACHE.

HEADACHE IS A SYMPTOM, and not a disease. If you have a headache it is in most cases due to some bad habit. You eat too much, drink too much, sleep too little, strain the eyes too much, or work too continuously in bad air at some trying occupation. True there are headaches due to Bright's Disease or other organic diseases, but these are infrequent compared to those coming from causes which are remediable. Let us consider some of the common causes of headaches and see how this discomfort may be prevented.

(1) From over indulgence in beer, whiskey, or wine. The remedy is to cut them out, or so lessen the quantity to give your kidneys and skin a fair chance to eliminate the poison. If you have indulged, better get rid of the booze as quickly as possible. This may be done by a combination of two cathartic pills, a hot bath, hot cloths applied to the head, hot broth, and rest in bed.

(2) From biliousness or over indulgence in food. Nothing is better than a good dose of ordinary Epsom Salts and rest in a quiet, darkened room.

(3) Want of outdoor exercise. The city man (or woman) at a desk in a close room or the editor at work under constant strain from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. with hurried meals is often the subject of headaches. All these people need more outdoor air and exercise. Golf, bowling or tennis, especially golf, with one-fifth the quantity of fresh meat, potatoes, and bread and the difference in fruit, vegetables and water will do more for sick people than all the headache cures in the world.

(4) Eye strain, due either to defective eyesight or to trying eye work, causes lots of headaches. Headaches of this kind usually come on in the evening, (sometimes in the morning) after a trying day. They are usually in the forehead or temples. A simple way to test eye strain is for one to hang up a test-card in a well-lighted room, stand twenty feet by measure away from the card and see if you can read the line marked 20, first with each eye separately and then with both eyes, and if the letters are not clear-cut, distinct, and separate one's eyesight is faulty and glasses are required. Go to a first-class oculist and get the eyes properly fitted.

(5) Fatigue headache. Some people get headache from fatigue. These headaches develop towards the close of the day. The only cure is to avoid over-exciting oneself.

(6) Too light a breakfast. Many people, especially women, eat nothing for breakfast but tea and toast. This is insufficient to carry one along for four or five hours. After the long fast overnight one needs a good breakfast. It ought to be one of the best meals of the day. A good type of breakfast is—

Oranges or Grapefruit.
Cereals, with Milk and Cream.
Eggs; soft boiled, poached, or in omelette.
Toast and Butter.
A cupful of Hot Water, flavored with Cream and Sugar.

(7) Neurasthenia headache. A headache of this character is often described as a band about the head. There may be a feeling as though the top of the head is coming off, or it may be such as to make a man feel he is going insane. The way to prevent a headache of this character is to improve the general physical condition by good food, outdoor life, relief from excessive nervous strain and worry—especially from worry.

(8) Migraine. Boys and girls from eight to fifteen years of age frequently have headaches of a particular character. The subjects of these headaches waken in the morning with a heavy leggy feeling. There may be a disturbance of the eyes, such as flashes of light first in one eye then in the other. These symptoms are succeeded by headache, nausea, and sometimes vomiting. These headaches come on periodically without any apparent cause. They are often called sick headaches. They run in families. Some women have them well into the prime of life and are in bed in a darkened room with them for a day or two every month. This form of headache is called migraine. It is often confined to one side of the head, hence the name hemicrania. The best treatment is to use hot and cold applications to the back of the neck and cold to the forehead and top of the head. If the face is pale use hot applications; if flushed use cold.

The person addicted to migraine should lead a simple outdoor life with plenty of exercise and fresh air. He should eat lightly and simply, keep the bowels regular, and avoid any excesses. By these means the tendency to headache will probably disappear.

None of the remedies proposed, as will be seen, include headache medicines, for the reason that all headache medicine which have as their basis in one of the coal-tar products are injurious. Some are positively dangerous. Numerous people have been killed by their use, and the best course is to avoid their use entirely.

Infantile Paralysis

Infantile paralysis is still taking an increasing toll in Ontario, but so far the dreaded disease has not proven so virulent as in New York and other states of the Union. To-day the provincial health authorities reported that for September, with three days to go, there had been 49 cases of infantile paralysis with five deaths, compared with 41 cases for August and 20 cases in July.

The fact that the number of cases has not diminished with the advent of cooler weather is causing some anxiety. To-day Major McCullough provincial officer of health, was in communication with the health officer at Hamilton and as a result of their conference the moving picture theaters of Hamilton will probably be closed at once to children under 14. It is expected that the kindergarten in the schools will also be closed.

Major McCullough stated to-day that such drastic action had not been considered for other places so far.

Western Ontario is still suffering more from the disease than other parts of the province, the counties of Elgin, Essex, Kent, Lambton and Middlesex having over half the cases in the whole of Ontario.

System Was Full of Poison; Pains in Side and Back

Had Constipation for Many Years, but Was Entirely Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The most common ailment and the greatest cause of disease and suffering to-day is constipation. Artificial food and sedentary indoor life combine to induce torpid, sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels. As a result poisonous waste matter remains in the system and gives rise to pains and aches and affords a starting point for serious disease.

Infectious and contagious diseases are little known to persons whose liver, kidneys and bowels are kept in healthful activity, for there are no suitable conditions for disease germs to thrive in. Even common colds usually take their start when they find the system in a constipated, poisoned condition.

Mrs. Ed. Miller, West Flamboro, Ont., writes: "I can truthfully say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me of constipation. I suffered with constipation almost ever since I can remember, and for four years had pains at the left side of the back. If I walked across the kitchen floor I would have to sit and rest. That, I think, was terrible for a woman of twenty years. The condition of my blood was shown by pimples breaking out on my face. I suffered so much from pains and stiffness in the back, I am sure my system was full of poison. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have entirely cured me, and I feel better than I have felt for many years."

As a cure for constipation Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills stand alone, for by their action on the liver they awaken the activity of this organ, cause a good flow of bile, and hence remove the cause of indigestion, for bile is nature's cathartic. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

ZEPPELINS SHOT DOWN

Two Giant Raiders Are Destroyed in Great Britain.

Tens of Thousands of Londoners Witness Complete Destruction of One Craft While other Manages to Land Without Injury to Crew Ten Other Airships Escape After Doing Considerable Damage in Lives and Property.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Of twelve big Zeppelins which invaded the British Isles Saturday night to deal death and destruction from the skies two to-day lay stark and black masses of steel and aluminum in the little village of Mangold, Essex County. They fell victims of the anti-aircraft defences of London and outlying districts.

One came down a flaming torch, as did the Zeppelin L-21, destroyed three weeks ago; while the second, disabled by gunfire, effected a landing which saved the lives of the crew, who are now prisoners in England. The crew of the first raider died in the consuming flames of their own ship, but they were not so terribly charred as their predecessors.

This latest raider to light her own funeral way on English soil collapsed and was consumed much more quickly than the L-21. It is possible, though, that some of the men were still living when the great vessel struck the ground. The captain's body was found some distance from the wreck.

The death and burning of the first Zeppelin was witnessed by tens of thousands of London's residents, but the wounding and descent of the second raider was a matter of doubt until Sunday's official statements were given out. Few details are available of this second raider's condition, but it is reliably reported that the crew surrendered to special constables.

Many who saw the shrapnel bursting like skyrockets about the invader, which subsequently caught fire, think there must have been several direct hits. Many aeroplanes were aloft and attacked the Zeppelins from all sides.

The raiders took a heavy toll of lives before their destruction, 28 persons being killed and 99 wounded in the metropolitan district of London. Two persons were killed, probably four, and 17 were wounded in the provinces. The property damage, while widely distributed, is confined for the most part to small suburban dwellings and shops, although one railway station was damaged, some empty cars being destroyed and part of the tracks turn up.

The military damage inflicted was negligible, according to John French's reports, which follow:

"The latest reports show that probably not more than 12 airships participated in Saturday night's raid. Police reports from the provinces indicate that the damage done was slight. At one town in East Midlands a number of bombs were dropped and two persons were killed and 11 injured. It is feared two more bodies are buried under the ruins. In this town some damage was caused to the railway station and about a dozen houses and shops were wrecked or damaged. A chapel and storehouse were set afire. With this exception no other casualties are reported outside of the metropolitan area. Although a large number of bombs were dropped promiscuously over the districts visited, the material damage was insignificant. A great number of the bombs fell into the sea and into open places.

"The metropolitan casualties are 17 men, 8 women, and 3 children killed; 45 men, 37 women, and 17 children injured. A considerable number of small dwelling-houses and shops were demolished or damaged and a number of fires were caused. Two factories sustained injury and some empty railway trucks were destroyed, and the permanent ways slightly damaged in two places.

"No reports have been received of any military damage."

Crew of Zeppelin Arrested.

The commander and twenty members of the crew of the Zeppelin which was forced to land near an Essex coast town were arrested by the village constable as they were marching along the road in the blackness of the night, according to the latest "eye-witness" account.

"I am the commander of a German airship that has just come down, and these are my crew," said the leader of the men when accosted by the constable. Then the officer added: "Please allow me to go to the nearest post-office so that I may telephone someone in London who will let my wife know I am safe."

Special constables came up and the prisoners were marched to the nearest detention camp, where it was found several of them were wounded.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

Why Do Foreign Apples Sell Better on Ontario Market?

Ontario produces about 75 per cent. of all the apples grown in the Dominion. The range of varieties includes the fruit maturing from the middle of August till late in October. The color and size are good, their keeping and shipping quality excellent, and the flavor is unsurpassed. Despite these facts, from one-half to three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of United States apples is shipped into this country every year. The fruit is grown in Washington State, nearly three thousand miles west of Toronto. The apples return a profit to the growers, after paying heavy transportation charges, meeting a specific duty of thirteen and a half cents per box plus a war tax of seven and a half per cent. of the total value, and yet they are sold in a city less than twenty miles from some of the finest orchards in the world. The fruit is used by the higher class restaurants and hotels, on the dining cars, for decorating lunch counters, and sold by the small fruit stall. The trade has been growing steadily from year to year, says Gordon Furrow.

Why do these places prefer the American fruit to our own? Without an exception they will tell you that the Ontario fruit has the best flavor, the best keeping qualities, but—. The manager of a string of restaurants along the main streets of Toronto was asked why he bought fruit that came from across the line. He said that the color of apples that we buy are used in baking and decorating, and to make a success of these two side-lines we are forced to use the Washington fruit."

"Why?"

Simply because all their apples are uniform and have a brilliant color."

The steward of one of the higher class hotels said he took the American fruit because it was cheaper in the long run.

"It costs us from fifty to seventy-five cents a box more, but we get what we want," he said. "I ask for, say, three boxes of '88' Jonathans, and I know there will be two hundred and sixty apples fit for baking. If I were to take Ontario stuff, on the other hand, I would have to buy three barrels at least to get the same number of uniform apples. Some of the larger or smaller could be used for pies and sauce, but not nearly all. As a result there would be much loss. You cannot give one man a large apple and another a small one and charge the same price, can you?"

One man claimed that the fruit was larger than our own, and that people as a rule preferred quantity even more than quality. The fruit stands handled Washington fruit chiefly on account of its appearance, the brilliant color and large, even size attracting many buyers.

Several points were made clear by the different classes of dealers visited. Each of them preferred the flavor of the Ontario apples themselves, and knew that their customers would also. If they could get Ontario apples of the same class as those from the States they would in many cases be glad to use them. A few places where color is the chief consideration it is declared that native fruit will never do. British Columbia can in that case supply the demand. This year apples from that Province came on the local market. They were fully equal in size and color and superior in flavor to the American fruit.

C. H. Barrington, representing the Okanagan United Fruit Growers, Limited, of British Columbia, stated that they were only competing with the foreign apples on the Ontario markets.

"Just now," said Mr. Barrington, "till the Ontario fruit-growers get properly organized we will be able to compete successfully with them, but when once they go in in earnest we will only supply the demand of people who want something novel or different."

Barn Trash to Destroy Grape Insects.

Several grape insects winter among the fallen grape leaves in trash in vineyards, and much may be done to destroy them if the trash is raked together and burned. Such work will be of value against the grape berry moth and the grape leaf folder, which hibernate in the pupal condition in the fallen grape leaves. The grapevine flea beetle and the grape leaf hopper spend the winter as adults under trash of all kinds in and about vineyards, and the destruction of trash as indicated will expose them to adverse climatic conditions.

FARM STORAGE.

Constructing a Proper Building is an Important Problem.

One man's experience of pitting apples last winter gave him the idea of the importance of farm storage, and his desire now is to construct a building that will be capable of holding, not only the whole of his late apple crop, but also the majority of his potatoes. As both these crops are grown for sale and are not needed at the stock barns, his plan is to build his storehouse at or near to the orchard, where it will be near the one crop which is taken from the same land for a great number of years. Attempts to keep a large supply of both apples and potatoes in the cellar of a dwelling house are not an all-round success, because a different temperature is needed for each, and if the apples are to be kept cool enough to maintain proper condition, then the potatoes run the risk of freezing, and the dwellers in the house have to forego the comfort of sufficient heat. Beside these drawbacks there is the matter of convenience of putting in and taking out the articles stored.

Unless considerable pains are taken to insulate the walls of the building the temperature of a storage is most easily regulated if the room or rooms used are situated below ground. This situation lends itself to easy unloading of the crop, also to easy reloading, if a site is chosen on a sidehill, such as can be found on many farms. With a sufficient slope of the land it is possible to drive to the upper side of the building or even into the upper part of it and unload to advantage, and the ground level at the lower end will give one a position where it is possible to load outgoing produce without much lifting. In a building so situated it is possible to store potatoes safely in the basement, provided that the door to open downhill is well banked, the windows made double and tight, and the ceiling so constructed as to be frost-proof. The upper floor can be used for storing potatoes and should keep them at a sufficiently low temperature, but just above freezing. If the place is well sheltered and faces the north so that there will not be great rise and fall of temperature through the effect of the sun.

Broom Corn Drying Racks.

Racks are fitted up inside of the sheds upon which to place the brush to dry. These are built when timber is at hand with poles for uprights or light scantling 2 by 2 inches. Where these are not the most suitable and cheapest oak plank may be sawed into strips 1 by 3 inches. Whatever material is used for the uprights, they should be twelve feet long.

Every pair of poles has narrow strips four feet long nailed to them six inches apart to form a sort of ladder. If good mason's laths can be had these may be used. They are three feet ten inches long, and if free from knots will be strong enough. These racks are then set upon the floor of the house three feet ten inches apart. Other laths are laid across the strips, upon which the brush is to be placed to the thickness of approximately two inches.

Apples for the Pigs.

In parts of Devon farmers have decided not to harvest their cider apples, of which there is a big crop, and are turning their pigs into the orchards to eat the fruit that has already fallen. It is said that with labor so short the sale of the apples at the current price of £1 a ton is unprofitable.—English exchange.

Plow the Orchard.

Plow the orchard now. It is safe, will save time in the spring, and will destroy what would otherwise be a harbor for mice.

Stick to Stock.

Hog and cattle prices just now emphasize the value of sticking to live stock.

NOTICE

Is hereby given that a court will be held, pursuant to the Ontario Voter's Lists Act, by His Honor the Judge of the County Court of the County of Bruce, at the council chamber at Colpoys Bay on the sixteenth day of October 1916, at two o'clock in the afternoon, to hear and determine complaints of errors and omissions in the Voters' List of the Municipality of the Township of Albemarle for 1916. Dated the Twentieth day of September 1916.

THOS. COVENY.
Clerk of the Municipality of the Township of Albemarle

They Said Good-bye

There are many touching scenes in life, but there are few more heart touching than that which occurred at the station Tuesday after noon, when the members of C Company of the Bruce Battalion, who were returning to London after their last leave of absence, said good-bye to the members of their family. The battalion will soon sail for England, and in all probability will be on the firing line in due time. They may return, or their graves may be made on the blood-stained battlefields of Europe, whatever may happen they have done their duty. They may lose their lives, but they have saved their souls. Parents, wives and children said a fond good-bye to the strong man who is willing to sacrifice his life for the sake of others. The Mayor asked for the suspension of business from 1 o'clock to 2.30 and the request was cheerfully granted. The pipe band and the citizen's band were in attendance and hundreds were at the station, said good-bye, and with heavy hearts saw the train pull out.

The boys will do credit to their native country. The blood of worthy sires is in their veins. That they may safely return is the profound hope of their friends, but if this cannot be may they be able to strike a strong blow for liberty.

Farewell to the 160th Boys

As our 160th boys are leaving for overseas presumably in a very short time, the citizens of Wiarton banded together to give these gallant boys a farewell which they would remember, and they did it, too!

Although the programme did not commence until 8.30 by 8 o'clock the Hall was packed. Splendid addresses and splendid advice was given to the lads in khaki.

Mr. A. W. Baines, Mayor, occupied the chair. He gave a short address. All the members of the Council and ex-mayors were on the platform. Rev. Mr. Thompson gave a address, the audience joined in singing "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past" Mr. Thompson then offered a prayer for the safe keeping of our soldiers. Rev. Mr. Hardy then gave a splendid and rousing address bidding them to be brave in time of danger. Mr. B. B. Miller gave a short speech telling the boys that they had received their name from a descendant of an old warrior a Scotchman, by name, Robert Bruce and for them to do as we expected them to do, to live up to their name. Mr D. M. Jermyn and Mr. J. Symon wished the boys God-speed and success in their undertaking and assured them we would all think of them and welcome them home again. Mr. T. C. Allan, with his usual eloquence made the hall ring with applause. He said "when you boys get to Germany, and I am saying 'Germany' advisedly, for the British will be in Germany by that time, we want you to do your best" He said there was no more honor in being an officer than in that of being a private when it came to dying for King and Country.

Miss Jennie Lawrence sang a most suitable solo, which is known to all of Bruce "Here's to the boys of the 160". Miss Lawrence outshone herself and the call for an encore was very insistent. She responded singing another patriotic selection. In the absence of Captain Clarke, he left his representatives Ptes. Topsy McLeod and McCallum, and he made a good selection. Topsy gave his famous clog dance, and McCallum recited his humorous poem "Fare Thee Well Brother Watkins".

A quartette sung by Messrs. Hurlbut, Hamilton, Gilbert and Lawrence

Messrs Kastner and Tyson presented each of our town boys with the sum of $5. which they gratefully received, for when did a soldier refuse money?

The hall was cleared, the orchestra played its enchanting music, and soon soldiers and girls were on the floor. Every second dance was a square and all were satisfied. The dance continued until about 3 o'clock in the morning and during the evening light refreshments were served.

The money for the distribution among the soldiers was started by the Wiarton Agriculture Society, and they headed the lists by giving $50. The rest of the money was very shortly raised among the citizens who were glad to have this way to show the appreciation they feel for the sacrifice which they are making.

Letter from Pte. Rob Simmie in England

W. G. Simmie,
Clavering

Dear father,—

"I was sorry to hear of Garfield. Cleave being killed. He was in the company that was supporting our Batt. at the Sorrel and I expect he was hit in Armah wood where I got my wound. You will remember Blackwood, of Barrow Bay, he was in Wiarton with me when we went to Wiarton Fair, he was killed that morning too and I think his people should be proud of him for he was one of the best men in the Batt. I have always felt proud of the men of my old platoon. I think the men from Bruce are as good as any men that I have seen in France.

I spent two days this week at Orpington Hospital with Darley Campbell. He is considered one of the best surgeons in the hospital and he takes a great interest in the men. If there is anything they are in need of he will get it if it can be had.

I have not seen anything of Dr. Hough but will likely be going to Folkestone some of those days if the medical men pass me for general service again. The Dr. Campbell mentioned is a nephew of Dr. Campbell, Hopworth.' Mr. Simmie was expecting word every day saying that Rob had left England for home, but instead of that he received a post-card of a Scotchman in kilts a bandage tied around his head, and a bayonet in his hand and under was the inscription "Now's the Day and Now's the Hour" stating that Rob Rob was showing the true Scotch spirit, and had gone back to the firing line.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Mr. Oliver Tackaberry purchased a fine Leicester sheep at the Wiarton Fair.

The Woman's Patriotic League regret to announce that Dr. Mandy finds it impossible to get to Lions Head for Fall Fair night, Oct. 6th, but they hope to secure him with his splendid moving pictures for some later date.

Making Use of Waste

What becomes of old sardine boxes, tomato tins, meat tins, fruit tins and tins of all kinds? In France, where nothing is allowed to go to waste, they gather them up and use then—to cut into tin soldiers.

In France, too, the old boots and shoes are collected and every part is used over again. The work is mostly done by convicts in prisons, They take the boots and shoes to pieces and soak them; then the uppers are covered over into children's shoes, or if they are too far gone for that, a pecular kind of pressed leather is made by some chemical action. The nails are saved and sold, and the scraps go to the farmers to fertilize the soil.

Who would have thought it possible to make anything out of old saws? Yet it is' said that many of the finest surgical instruments and some of those used by engineers, are manufactured from the steel that first did duty in saws. The steel of saws is of the very best quality and finest temper, and since it is good in the first place it is always good.

CLAVERING

The boys in khaki, of the section spent the week end at their homes. We wish them all God speed and hope they may have a safe return.

Word was received that Pte. W. Smith. Albert Smith's brothrr, who was wounded in the head, is in the London Hospital and is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Geo. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence are in Owen Sound, this week.

Mr, McLaughleen, of Beaton is visiting in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Glover of Oshawa are spending their honeymoon in this neighborhood.

Mr, Fred Jones has secured a position with the G. T. R. in Toronto and left Friday last for Toronto. The best wishes of his friends go with him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Arkels and Mr, R. Street, of Owen Sound were guests at Jno. Millars home, on Sunday.

The Patriotic Concert, held in the Orange Hall, last Friday evening, was a grand success, and as a result the sum of $30 was obtained, Mr. B. B. Miller was the efficient chairman. The entertainment was splendid and special mention should be made of Miss Madge Patterson for her excellent skill at the piano. The entertainment was all provided by local talent.

Canadians have again proved their right to fight shoulder to shoulder with the finest soldiers in the world. On the Somme, as in the Ypres salient they have met the Prussians and defeated them. They have faced death with a smile in their eye and a jest on their lips. They have earned the admiration of their comrades and the respect of their enemies. The Battle of the Somme has brought sorrow to Canadian homes, but that sorrow is mingled with pride. Canada is paying the price of freedom. Thank God, her sons are paying the price in a way that makes the names Canadian loved and revered wherever the flag of freedom floats and the cause of civilization is held sacred.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

FOR THE FARMER

The Montreal Gazette calls attention to the value of the instructive and useful pamphlets issued by the Department of Canada, taking for example the recent concise and well worked booklet on soil fertility, its economic maintence and increase. The author is Dr. Frank T. Shutt, one of the goodly number of capable men who in, the service of the Dominion and the provinces, are showing how greater return in profit may be had from the industry of the farm.

The subject is one of the first important. The newcomers to the fertile lands of this continent had been described as miners, rather than farmers. Only some of them had knowledge of the business in which they engaged when they took to the woods or to the praries. They were not to be blamed. Their names were limited, and their acres were many. What promised immediately returns appealed to them and in the position in which they were placed their course was justified even by economic laws. It was hard on the land. however. Quebec was once an exporter of wheat;now what it grows would not feed its population for more than a month each year. In a less market degree this condition exist also in Ontario, once a great wheat region whos yield by the acre were never exceeded in the fertile lands of the west.

The State of New York is another case in point. Learning at first by experience, rather than by 'teaching the farmers of the region mentioned and of other regions, when their wheat crops began to decline took up other lines of production, and began to increase their welth. Some became fruit growers, some cattle raisers, some dairy men. The country profited not less than the individuals. Then governments and legislators, appreciating that education did not end when school days were over, and that their was gain to be had through continuation courses in technical instructions, began to establish experimental farms for testing what was promising in old or new methods, with colleges for making the methods, plain to students, and professors who covered the country with their lecture tours, giving directly to tens of thousands of interested persons the knowledge they had gained by study and test.

The work was never carried on a greater scale or with more efficiency than at the present time. This latest bulletin is but one of a large number which in detail deal with every phase of farm activity.

CHAPTER VII.

Captain Frazer's Delirium.

At the first moment possible I hurried upstairs to see how Captain Frazer was getting on. For days his temperature had been running high, and he was constantly delirious. Now and then he would utter words and disconnected sentences that made no sense at all, but often he talked for hours, relating experience after experience, sometimes with a clearness and sanity that were uncanny. When I entered the room he was in the midst of such a dissertation.

"We all have our pet aversion in action, old man, haven't we?" he said. "Now, there is Cecil Loring, who hates the thing that makes the least noise. You know we all used to laugh at him as he bobbed every bullet! And, then, there was Shane-Lister—he was devilishly shaken by high explosives. Just the other day Barry said to me: 'Ian, my boy, you remember that day when we were talking to the observation officer standing on a haystack and the moment after we left it a shell struck it? That was a close call. Things like that go to my head!' And then in action when the bullets are singing and all hell seems let loose he insists that he feels drunk—as drunk as if he had been at it all night. It may be a form of funk, he says, but it's truth. Why, I am laughing all the time at absolutely nothing, clean lifted out of myself, exhilarated. I feel as if I were treading on air, but"—and here Captain Frazer dropped his voice in a most confidential manner and looked up at me with burning eyes—"as for me, I do not mind telling you when it is all over I have that sickening dropping sensation—you know, as if you were made of lead and were sinking down. And then is when I like my tea. Who's making tea? Give me a cup—to, I mean mugful."

Sitting up suddenly he called out: "Put out that brazier, you fool; the smoke will give the range. Use a candle." Then he laughed, that peculiar, disagreeable laugh of the delirious, as he said, "By jove, that is an ingenious idea!" and he began talking about vaseline and jam jars. His speech became unintelligible, and it was not until long after that I came to know how the men use vaseline tins and empty jam jars filled with lumps of ham fat and a rifle rag as an improvised stove on which to make their tea.

When he became unusually excited I had to sit there by the hour, day or night, and hold his hand. The warmth of mine or something of the electricity that passes from one being to another seemed to calm him until finally he would drift off to sleep. Today I sat beside him and, speaking in a low voice, tried to quiet him. He drifted off to sleep, but only for a few minutes; then he began talking about his own regiment—the Lodiana Sikhs, with one of the finest records, both for bravery and loyalty, of any of the distinguished regiments of the Indian army. This was a dangerous subject for him, as he was extremely proud of his men and invariably began to fight over some of the fierce battles in which they had been engaged. Taking his temperature and finding it very high, I decided to give him an extra alcohol sponge. An hour later, as the chill purple folds of night shut down, he fell asleep.

This had been going on for some weeks now. He had grown weaker, of course, every day and less able to withstand the ravages of fever. When the doctor came to see how he was he shook his head gravely and said:

"Unless we can keep that fever down for the next twenty-four hours our man is done for."

All day I had given him alcohol sponges as often as I dared, and we had kept the saline solution going every hour, but I was becoming frightened, and when Dr. Souchon came in the evening I asked him to leave me some nitroglycerin.

"And won't you come as often as possible tonight, doctor?" I pleaded, for I realized this was the crisis and that we had only a fighting chance to win.

"I will come as often as I can," he answered, "but wounded are arriving constantly. I hear an ambulance now," and he turned to go. Reaching the door, he said, "And I may be obliged to have you if"—

"Oh, please, doctor," I interrupted beseechingly, "don't send for me! I must be here tonight!"

"I will do the best I can," he replied and turned on his heel and ran down the steps.

I tried to take my patient's pulse, but it was so irregular and rapid that it was impossible. In looking at him his eyes seemed already deeper and hollower, surrounded, as they were, by great dark shadows, and his hands, twitching out on the cover, were so white that they were only distinguishable from the linen by the azure of the veins.

I heard the light ticking of a clock on the mantle. I felt that Time, the fugitive, was slipping by and what its passage might soon bring. I violently put the thought out of my mind. I could not bear it. Through those next hours there wasn't a moment but that I wasn't doing something—everything known to me—to fight off the dreaded end.

From 2 o'clock on every few moments my tired eyes sought the clock. I was terrified of those awful hours between 4 and 7, and, in spite of all the stimulation I dared use, his vitality was ebbing. Terror overwhelmed me, left me without the power to combat the imaginings of death.

In the violet darkness my eyes met his, and suddenly into them came a new unfathomable expression. On the drawn white face I thought I noticed symptoms of the death agonies, symptoms of a dissolution already begun and inevitable. He was whiter than the pillow and as motionless. All night I had been turning it, as it became constantly wet with dripping perspiration. I was overcome with a sensation of weakness, a sensation of the fatality of what had happened and what was about to happen. An immense weight seemed to bear me down. Driven by that helplessness that often makes suffering humanity turn toward a Supreme Power, I fell on my knees, for science and nursing had failed. There remained only God's supreme intervention. I prayed as I never prayed in my life. In this hour how futile all my little knowledge seemed! I rose from my knees with fresh courage to fight on, and a curious presentment came to me that far away in England another woman was sharing with me that silent night vigil and that agonized prayer—his mother.

I went to the window and looked up to the starlit heavens. How peaceful the sleeping world lay, in such cruel contrast to the agony with which my soul was wrung!

My eyes were drawn irresistibly back to the bed. I longed to go there, but I could not take a step. Minutes passed. Thoughts and images flowed my brain. By supreme effort I conquered the terror that held me and quickly went to the bed. I put out my hand to touch his forehead, but the will to do it failed me. Finally I held before his lips a little tuft of cotton—held it there with infinite precaution. The wearing of a thread showed the strength of his respiration. All my soul hung on those parched lips, which between moments might render their last breath. I controlled myself and before trembling placed my fingers on the pulse. It was firmer, stronger. There could be no mistake. A little time went by; it seemed incalculable. I took the pulse again. Without doubt my patient was better.

Looking up I caught with joy the first pale gray nuances of dawn. With the coming of the sunrise Captain Frazer weakly—oh, so weakly—struggled back to this side of the borderland which men call life.

Then I leaned, half in a collapse, against the tall post of the old fashioned bed and wept gently tears of joy, for I knew that God had heard my prayer and given me the victory.

* * * * * * *

Farther over toward Belgium a group of Frenchwomen were establishing a hospital. They had as their head nurse a young Mlle. F., who had been educated in the Presbyterian hospital in New York. Dozens of typhoid patients were arriving daily, and she was having some difficulty in making her untrained French assistants understand the cold bath system of treatment for that disease. In some way she had heard there was an American nurse in our hospital and had sent a request that this nurse be detailed to help her demonstrate the method. The colonel sent for me one afternoon and showed me Mlle. F.'s letter.

"I think she must mean you, Mlle. Bleneau, as you are the nearest approach we have to an American nurse. I know you would be of inestimable value, but"—and he paused and looked out across the garden. While he had been speaking I had felt like a person who suddenly finds himself at the edge of a precipice. Can it be possible that I must leave! My thoughts were interrupted by the doctor speaking again: "The truth is we cannot well spare you. The allies are expecting heavy fighting in the course of the next ten days. You can go to Mlle. F. tomorrow, but you must be back here at the end of the week."

"I do not know why, but his decision gave me the greatest relief, even more—a sense of acute pleasure.

In the natural course of things it would be an hour or two before my duties would call me to Captain Frazer's room. Generally the hours were never long enough to accomplish all that was to be done, but that day time scarcely passed—it fell drop by drop, lazily and heavily. But at last the moment came to go to him.

The afternoon was soft and warm. We could hear the birds singing in the garden, and through the open window floated the perfume of the last autumn flowers, inspiring me with new emotion, a little like that of being afraid of oneself. To counteract this I kept saying over and over, "To be effective your work must be calm and concordant, calm and concordant." I repeated.

Then I turned to him and said: "Tomorrow I shall say goodby. I have been ordered to a typhoid hospital at one of the French bases"—

He broke in, with a wistful little smile in his eyes: "Please don't go. What will I do without you? I have thought about it all so much as I have lain here hour after hour. That I am not dead and buried these weeks gone by is due entirely to you." There was a moment's pause, after which he added simply, "Now," and he emphasized the word, "I can only thank you."

"Nonsense!" I replied. "When all is said and done it is nature that does the work."

"Perhaps," he answered, "but in a case like mine nature only does so in conjunction with unremitting and skilful care." Into his voice came a note new to my ears. He went on speaking: "That night—you know the night I mean—when it was just a toss up whether I lived or died, I think if one could know how much will power has to do with things, it would be found that I lived because in a few lucid intervals I realized the heroic fight you were putting up for me, and subconsciously my will went out to help you. For when one is that near the other side, self, material things and interests count for little. But now," and he looked out across the hills, crowned with purple shadows, "realizing that on my life depends the happiness of my mother, my family, and that the life of any man who has had a certain training in warfare is valuable to his country, I am deeply grateful to fate that I am living—and fate in this case, my dear little nurse, means you," he said tensely.

"That's a very pretty speech," I answered lightly, "and I should so like to take it all to myself, but the very distressing fact remains that it was your subconscious"—

Without seeming to, he words be interrupted:

"The disillusioning fact remains that you are going away," and he looked up at me with wide distraught eyes, and as he put out his hand and took mine I felt it tremble. "Don't go," he said, with a gesture of entreaty, and I hastened to explain that it was only for a few days, or a week at best, as I thought suddenly he looked not so well today and must not be worried by even trifles.

"I must go now," I said. "My other patients are needing me," and I hurried away toward the German ward. I had taken only a few steps when he called me back.

"I only wanted to say that some day you will know—what you—your kindness means to me," he said gravely, looking straight up into my eyes.

A sudden wild desire to say something, I hardly know what, possessed me, and a trembling I could not master overcame me.

"I am so glad I have been able to help a little," I stammered and ran quickly down the stairs.

It was only when I reached the ground floor that I remembered I had not told him the story of how he came to be at our hospital, but I resolved to do it before I left tomorrow.

Advises The Use Of "FRUIT-A-TIVES", The Famous Fruit Medicine.

MR. ROSENBURG

580 Casgrain St., Montreal.

April 20th, 1915.

"In my opinion, no other medicine in the world is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as "Fruit-a-tives". I was a sufferer from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis—with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and Pain in the Back. I tried pills and medicines of physicians, but nothing helped me. Then I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives", and now for six months I have been entirely well.

I advise any one who suffers from that horrible trouble—Chronic Constipation with the resultant indigestion, to try "Fruit-a-tives", and you will be agreeably surprised at the great benefit you will receive". A. ROSENBURG.

Scientific Farming

SWEET CLOVER USEFUL CROP.

Serves Many Purposes and Is Gaining in Favor in Many Sections.

There are few plants which will put waste land or run down farms into proper condition for producing crops as quickly as sweet clover. On this account sweet clover, which is so common along roadsides and in waste places in many parts of the country, is rapidly gaining in favor as a cultivated crop.

The root development of sweet clover is such that large quantities of vegetable matter are added to the soil when a field of it is plowed. By turning under a crop of sweet clover when the plants are one to two feet high or only the stubble marked gains are obtained in the following crops. Sweet clover is a very good winter cover crop and especially so on rolling land, since it prevents the soil from gullying and washing. It takes up large quantities of available plant food from the surface and subsurface soils, some of which would probably leach out of these soils during the winter. This plant food is returned to the soil when the roots decay.

As a feed for all classes of live stock sweet clover hay is rapidly coming into favor, especially in places where other types of hay will not grow successfully. Ordinarily some trouble is experienced in getting stock to eat sweet clover at first, but after they become accustomed to the bitter taste no further difficulty is encountered. The hay contains a high percentage of digestible protein. As pasturage sweet clover is excellent for horses, sheep, cattle, and hogs. Stock will readily create an appetite for sweet clover if pastured on it early in the spring before other green feed has started to grow. A sufficient number of animals should be kept in a sweet clover pasture to keep it grazed rather closely. Stock pastured upon sweet clover make gains which compare very favorably with those obtained from either alfalfa or red clover. Sweet clover resembles alfalfa when young, but can be readily distinguished from it by its bitter taste, its smooth, shiny leaves, and its racemes of flowers. It is adapted to rotations similar to those in which red clover is used and will undoubtedly prove valuable as a substitute when red clover can no longer be grown successfully.

A good stand may be obtained by seeding either early in the spring or about the middle of August. Late summer or early fall seeding has been successful, although it is not to be recommended where sweet clover is grown for improvement of poor soils, since the root system does not develop as much as when the plants make two full years' growth. For this reason it is recommended, so far as possible, that it be seeded in the late winter or spring.

SWEET CLOVER GROWING IN SAND.

Where sweet clover is not common it is important that the soil be inoculated at seeding time. Both the soil transfer and pure culture methods have proved successful. Soil from a field where sweet clover, bur clover, yellow trefoil, or alfalfa grows abundantly will serve for inoculation if mixed pound for pound with sweet clover seed. This mixture should be sown after sunset or on a cloudy day and immediately harrowed in.

WINTER CARE OF HENS.

It is easier to keep the hens' quarters clean than it is to fight disease.

Ventilate the henhouse.

Use wire nests, even if of home manufacture. Once a month burn the straw, wipe the wire freely with kerosene (coal oil) and put in fresh straw.

Use the drop board scraper every day.

Have the floor clean and dry under the litter.

Warm the drinking water a little if hens is any chilliness in the air.

Be generous with your sour milk.

"Always think twice before you speak," said little Tommy's mamma.

"Gee, maw," he answered, "if you do that you must do some pretty fast thinkin' sometimes when you git to goin' for paw!"

Troops Reach England.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—It is officially announced through the Chief Press Censor's Office that the following troops have arrived safely in England: Twelfth Field Artillery Brigade, Amherst, N.S.; 14th Field Artillery Brigade, Petawawa; 4th Divisional Ammunition Column; 238th Forestry Battalion, Halifax, N. Safeguarded.

The following is a bona fide statement made by a seven-year-old girl who had listened to medical talk all her life. Being asked her father's business, she replied:

"My father is a doctor, but he isn't a quack! My father's got a license, so if he kills any one they can't arrest him!"

The German Foreign Secretary replied that Germany was adhering loyally to the agreement to treat the Greek trops as guests, and also was ready to meet the destro of the Greek Government for their return, but that actual and efficient guarantees must be received that the troops now under German protection are not to be intercepted by the Entente while returning home, nor to be punished for their "loyal and neutral feelings and actions."

HAIG NEARS BAPAUME

British Are Only Two Miles and a Half From Town.

After a Tremendous Artillery Bombardment Infantry With Tanks Sweep Forward on a Front of a Mile and Three-quarters Straddling the Bapaume Road—Prisoners Now Total 30,000.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A powerful new stroke Sunday carried General Haig's British troops within two and a half miles of Bapaume, the high road to which they straddle.

They demolished the German trenches on a front of a mile and three-quarters, stretching from a point east of Eaucourt L'Abbaye to the Albert-Bapaume road. The village of Eaucourt L'Abbaye is reported in their hands, according to news reaching Gen. Haig at headquarters.

The new blow was carried out after a tremendous artillery bombardment, the attacking troops being closely followed by the terrible "tanks," which cleared out the German trenches by an enfilading fire while the infantry swept forward. More than 300 prisoners had been brought in at a late hour Sunday night, making a total of almost 30,000 on the British front alone since the beginning of the Somme operations. A division of the new army took part in the fighting, and showed steadiness and endurance.

Sunday's stroke followed a night of activity along the two-mile line between Flers and Le Sars. The British made progress here, while the French, in small engagements, pressed forward somewhat north of Rancourt and south-east of Morval and Clay, where they are striking at Sailliesl.

On the British left in the Thiepval area further progress in desperate trench fighting around the Stuff and Schwaben redoubts has been made.

The Germans, apparently in an effort to create a diversion and lighten the pressure on their Somme armies Sunday delivered a series of attacks against the French front in the Tahure district. The French fire rendered the attacks fruitless.

Sir Douglas Haig reports:

"Since Sept. 18 we have taken between the Ancre and the Somme 24 field guns, 3 field howitzers, and 3 heavy howitzers.

"From July 1 to Sept. 30 in the same area we made prisoner 588 officers and 26,147 other ranks."

STATE-OWNED LINERS.

Government Is Planning a Transatlantic Steamer Service.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Among the questions which will be dealt with by the Government after the war will be that of the establishment of a State-owned line of trans-Atlantic steamers. It is understood that but for the war a project of this nature would have been considered and action taken. As things are now it must wait for the restoration of normal conditions. A State-owned steamship service between Great Britain and Halifax would realize in part at least the advantages of an all-red line. It would consist of a fleet of fast, well-equipped vessels with ample capacity for passengers, cargo and mails, providing an uninterrupted service all the year round. It would be an important and perhaps necessary complement to the great railway system already in operation by the Government, and which may be found in the near future stretching from coast to coast. The railway system and the steamship service would thus provide business for each other. The project is, as we already stated, not for immediate consideration. It will present itself when peace is restored and when the energies of the Government and resources of the country are no longer fully employed in the prosecution of the war.

There are indications that when the time comes the proposal will find very strong support among members of the Government.

Plea for Quebec to Send Soldiers.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—"The war is not finished. One million more men are asked. Let it not be said that the province of Quebec remains behind. In the name of everything precious to us, in the name of everything that we must preserve for the future, I pray my compatriots, those who can bear arms, those who have no families, to enlist in the regiments actually in formation."

In these words Hon. Thos. Chase Casgrain, Postmaster - General of Canada, concluded an address to the Liberal-Conservative Association of this city at a luncheon tendered to him on Saturday afternoon. He deprecated the sowing of seeds of dissension in Ontario against the people of this province.

Hon. Mr. Casgrain said the time had not yet come to answer these attacks made against the Government.

TO ENTER WAR AT ONCE.

Greek Affairs Are Moving Rapidly According to Despatches.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A definite statement of Greece's decision to join the war and the immediate formation of a War Ministry, in which probably will be included former Premier Venizelos, are possible to-day, according to despatches from Athens. King Constantine, despite allegations of the revolutionaries that he is only playing against the clock, is authoritatively reported to have reached a decision for war on the side of the Allies.

Meanwhile the revolution is spreading. There is reported to have been serious rioting on Zante, a Greek island, between loyal reservists and Venizelists. At Athens the French Minister supplied a guard to a number of Greeks who desired to join the revolutionists at Salonica. Under the arms of this escort they walked through the streets of the capital to the landing stage, where they boarded a steamer for Salonica.

There is much discussion in Athens regarding the membership of the new Cabinet if the king decides for war. It is expected that the present Premier, M. Kalogeropoulos, will retain his portfolio.

King Constantine has granted furloughs of 45 days to the chief of staff of the army, Gen. Moschopoulos. Coming at this critical time, the action has caused much comment. It is not known whether the military leader asked for leave as a preliminary to joining Venizelos.

Forty-five policemen, cadets, and soldiers who were desirous of joining the revolutionists at Salonica went to the French Legation at Athens Saturday. Jean Guillemin, the French Minister, supplied for them an armed escort from the marines guarding the French Legation. With this escort the men paraded through the streets to embark. Several Greek officers followed in an automobile, and set out with the men for Salonica.

SERBIANS WIN VICTORY.

They Have Captured Important Positions at Kalmakcalan.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Serbians on Saturday gained an important success at Kalmakcalan, on the western end of the Macedonian front, says a Reuter despatch from Saloniea. After violent artillery preparation, causing frightful havoc in the ranks of the Bulgarians, the Serbian infantry executed a brilliant attack, capturing all the remaining points on this position.

The ground was covered with dead Bulgarians and the Bulgarian survivors fled panic-stricken. The Serbians captured a complete battery of mountain guns and recaptured a gun and three bomb-throwers abandoned during a recent Bulgarian counter-attack, besides taking a quantity of war material and machine guns.

The Serbian advance continues, the despatch adds.

The capture by the Serbians of Kalmakcalan height, for possession of which heavy fighting between the Serbians and the Bulgarians has been in progress for some time, was announced by the War Office Sunday. The announcement regarding the Macedonian campaign follows:

"At many points between Presba Lake and the Vardar River there was spirited artillery engagements. An isolated attack undertaken by the enemy was stopped. By a strong attack the enemy captured the summit of Kalmakcalan."

Address and Presentation

A jolly crowd gathered at the home of Pte. Harry Boyle in Colpops on Monday evening, Oct. 2, 1916, to present Pte. Harry Boyle with a wrist watch and fountain pen. The following address was read by Miss Susie Crawford and presented by Mrs. John Herbison of Adamsville.

Colpoys Bay, Oct. 2, 1916

To Pte. Harry Boyle:—

Dear brother,—It is with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that we have met here at this time. Pleasure, because you are about to fit yourself to defend the right, and regret for your many relatives who will miss you so much

We can realize to a small extent the sacrifices you are making and we appreciate your actions all the more. We realize you are leaving a christian home and a kind neighborhood and are about to go into less congenial surroundings, and more rigorous occupation, but we feel sure that your actions and speech, as when with us, will always be above reproach.

Remembering you in social intercourse we realize our loss will be great.

Now, as a very small token of the esteem in which we hold you, we ask you to accept this wrist watch and fountain pen. We need not ask you to remember the givers when you look at it, because we feel sure you will You have enlisted in our Empire's army, not because you love war, but peace. You saw your home, your loved ones, your liberties threatened and you answered the call of duty. For this we honor you, in that you are willing to stand between the usurper and the things so dear to you and all of us. We will not forget that it is for us you are going forth, nor will we forget to uphold you before the throne of Him in whose hands we all are.

Signed by your many relatives.

160th Leave for Overseas

Bruce's Crack Battalion have paid their fairwell visit to their homes.

Major Moffot and Lieutanant of Walkerton, failed to pass final medical examination.

Bruce's pride, the 160th battalion received orders on Tuesday last to prepare themselves for sailing shortly overseas, and as a result a special train load of our boys came up on Friday night Everything is astir in London Camp and our boys are delighted at the thought of their early sailing.

Major-General Lessard who inspected the battalion at Carling Heights last Thursday, declared that "He had never seen marchine like that of the 160th" he also said that the signalling section is one of the best he ever inspected, in fact "Our" battalion was said to be one of the finest in the Dominion, a credit to the officers and an honour to Bruce. In speaking to Lieut-Col. Weir, the inspecting officer informed him that the battalion may expect 99 per cent on the inspection. At the final medical inspection on Tuesday last, a great light fell upon the battalion when Major A.McLean, Moffat was declared medically unfit, he, being found to have a weak heart and defective eyesight. No man, with the possible exception of Col. Weir himself was more responsible for the rapid recruiting and the splendid showing of the battalion than Major Moffot the second in command of the force.

It is possible that the Major may be allowed to accompany the battalion to the front. Lieut. Harold Patterson another excellent officer who had been in charge of the base company, was also rejected, he being afflicted with enlarged glands of the neck. Bandmaster Wright, Sergt. Tailor, Neil McDonald, Lieut. Oliver and several lesser lights fell. The general health and physique of the force with the above exception were found to be excellent and much above the average Battalion.

Mr. Albert Smith,

Dear Brother—

I thought I would send you a few lines and let you know where I have got to. I am in London, in a hospital, doing fine. This is sure a pretty place, its away ahead of France where those shells are flying around trying to see what they can land on. From the time I left the firing line it took me two days and one night to get here, one day on the train in France, then in a hospital there for three days, and then on the boat for a day. We landed in England at dark last night, then they put us on the train again. We landed here at half past three this morning so that was some trip for a fellow with a sore head. I sent you a letter just a few days ago but seeing I have n't had any now for a long time I thought it best to send my address I don't think I'll be in the hospital very long for I'll soon be better again I hope so any way for this life is as bad as being in the front line and the sooner I get out of it the better I'll get 10 days pass after I get out so then I will be able to tell you a little bit about this country.

Well old boy I have some good news to tell you, the other night a bunch of Germans came over and gave themselves up so a few of us boys got around them and we asked them if they knew how long the war would last so they said it would not last this coming winter, that is what old K. B. had told them not long ago, so I hope it will turn out the way they say, but it's sure a bad thing to trust a German now after what they have done. Well I think I'll ring off for this time, because the doctor is coming around soon he is just in the next ward, so good-bye and love to all, your brother

Letter From Harold Johnston

Witley Camp
Surrey, England,
Sept 30 th, 1916

Dear Father

By this time I hope you have received my cable telling of my safe arrival and lovely voyage. I guess I might as well tell you of my trip, etc

We left Halifax about 8 a. m. Tuesday Sept. 19th and when out to sea found it not at all rough of course We were on the Olimpic, one of the largest vessels afloat which was like a palace. It was rather foggy and we kept running into fogs and out again. I was on deck most of the time and certainly enjoyed myself. Must admit had to keep walking for the first couple of days as I felt rather dizzy. There were over 5000 troops on board and we had a dandy time finding our way around When I tell you that five times around the promenade deck make over a mile you can easily see haw we could get lost. We had the run of the boat except for staterooms. saloons etc I slept in a hammock and found it very comfortable. We had physical drill and games twice a day, our Battalion from 10 to 11 a. m and 2 to 3 p.m. It was certainly dandy and gave us appetites like wolves. The second day out we were issued lifebelts and had to wear them all the time and when asleep had to have them very handy. It was sure funny to see everyone with belts on but safety first you know. Every day was the same lovely weather and calm sea, I don't believe anyone was seasick although they might have been Excitement began to come on Saturday as we were near the danger zone. All the way over we could not have lights on deck (smoking or otherwise) after dark I forgot to mention we had fire drill every day until we got into the danger zone, Then of course they didn't as we would know should the warning come what to do. Had band concerts etc twice daily. On Sunday morning when we awoke found we were nearing Ireland all our escorts were on hand at least they were nearer the ship, although I guess they were always at hand. We could make out the lovely green fields etc. It must be a grand place. The dreaded Irish Sea, where old country people claim one cannot help but be sick, was as calm as a mill pond in fact it was lovely. The vessel crew said they never saw it as calm. Needless to say I spent the whole day on deck. It was simply grand. had two church services one in the morning and one after dinner We arrived at the mouth of the Mercy River about 5.30 p.m. and took on the pilot. It gets dark early here so did not see anything going up to Liverpool. It must be quite a harbor though as there were any amount of ships around. We anchored about 8 p.m., stayed up nearly all night as we had to prepare to disembark about 1.30 a.m. began to move off the boat at 5.30 a.m. Of course there was great excitement as it was still quite dark. Got into the funniest train you can imagine. They have small engines and cars but can travel some. Eight passengers are put in one compartment and cannot move around or rather go from one compartment to another, however they have what they call corridor cars which allow you to go along but we did not get one. We left Liverpool about 7 a.m. and arrived here about 3 p.m.. Passed through Birmingham, Oxford, Henley and many other lovely places. The towns are all very funny, most of the houses are built the same and they have so many chimneys. The box cars carry six or eight tons so you can imagine the size. We are quite near London so I expect to go there soon. When we got here we had a three mile walk with full pack and bag and I was glad when we arrived as we were up nearly all night before. It was a hard march. We are camped in dandy huts, electric lights, straw ticks and pillows. 30 men to a hut. they are certainly much better than tents. go to bed (lights out) at 9 45 p.m. and up at 5.30 a.m.. We certainly went to bed good and early I assure you but had to get out at 1 a.m. in the dark as there was a zepplin raid, whenever they have a raid or a report of zepplins coming, no matter what part, we have to get out or rather get dressed and prepare to get out. They can easily travel the distance in such short time, of course no lights can be had so it is funny to get dressed in the dark, especially when one is sleepy. we have not been out since. They were near and in fact hit parts of London that night and a few nights before lost two ships near there. Got up Tuesday morning at five thirty and it was quite dark, we have a brisk walk and run from 6.30 to 7 a.m. then came in for breakfast and prepared for 9 a.m. parade. This afternoon was on a route march and it was lovely. This is a large camp and it is quite near four or five villages and towns. The roads are all perfect and hard, it was foggy to-day, raining all morning and a little this afternoon, but they were not muddy. The camp itself is muddier than at Camp Hughes but much better. There are plenty of fine big trees also dandy estates around. In the villages some lovely houses and gardens and any number of Public Houses and Inns, they have them on every corner. I understand we are to have a six day furlough soon so I have hopes of seeing something of England. We have harder drill than we had and they are more strict on discipline etc The 100th Battalion have the name here of being the best one of the bunch from Canada. That's pretty good. I cannot think of anything else very interesting just now. I will write you again soon.

With love papa, hoping to hear from you soon, I am your son

Letter From Pte. W. J. Pruder

Pte. Pruder, of Purple Valley, has since been wounded, on Sept. 9th and is now in a hospital in Sheffield, England.

Somewhere in Belgium
August 26, 1916

Mr. J. C. Lemcke
Wiarton, Ont.

Dear Friend—

I received your welcome letter and will try and answer you right away. We are out of the trenches now for 12 days, our rest camp is about 4 miles from the firing line. There are not many boys in the 18 Batt. from North Bruce, Pte. Pollard is the only one from Wiarton You have asked me to give a few thoughts on my last visit to the trenches as is now well known it was shortly after midnight, and very dark when c party of about 65 strong crept through the saliport under the parapet and so reached no mans land, our own barbed-wire entanglements had already been prepared for the expedition, and with exception of having to wade through water in the trench we were clear of our barbed wire with all good speed. Our artillery had been bombing the Huns front line heavily during the day and it had been noticed that our shells had blown the Huns barbed-wire to pieces, the distance between the two front lines at this point was about 200 yds, and the ground had been so much disturbed with mining operations and the blowing up of large craters and also by the bursting of our heavy shells, that there were deep holes all over it, and travelling in the pitch darkness was therfore, most difficult. So after some twenty minutes or so walking and crawling and stumbling down and tripping over fallen trees and their branches and over still more of the everlast-barbed wire we reached the German entanglements and with the aid of nippers soon cut a passage through and were crawling slowly and stealthily up their parapet. presently we divided into two parties one going to the right the other to the left, two good trusty fellows going on about ten yards ahead of the rest in each case, followed by the officer in charge revolver in hand at the head of his men who carried their rifles with bayonets fixed and of course loaded rifles ready for any emergency. The water in the trench was well above our shoe tops so that our progress hampered by our efforts not to make any splashing noises was necessarily very slow. Every few yards the officers would send a sergeant and a man back over the parapet to examine the barbed-wire and carefully note any place where it had been damaged by shell fire sufficiently to make it easy to get through in case we had to run for it. We travelled about 35 yards to the right, while the other party had gone about 50 yards to the left when they came upon about 8 Germans in a dugout, a rifle bullet cracked out and one of our men was hit but we quickly avenged him by dispatching four of the Huns to the next world, and capturing three, while the other two got away, immediately this happened hundreds of flare lights went up from the German second line followed by the splashing of water as men hurried forward to their front line to see what had happened. So we had to make our escape as quickly as we could, for my part with two men I had been some way behind the parapet and by the time we reached the barbed wire the Huns were peppering away with their machine guns. We could not find a place to get through the wire and had just to take pot luck and go straight for it though we knew we had to struggle and fight our way through an entanglement of from 10 to 15ft. made of wire interwoven in a most evil mesh. However we struggled as best we could helping each other, and after what seemed an eternity broke through with many cuts and scratches but lost nothing except a few pieces of coats, our difficulties then increased having turned around so many times to get through the wire we could not hit on the direction of our trenches for a few moments, and had to lie down for some time watching the flare lights going up before we were satisfied by some outstanding object of the way we had to go and then it was not many moments before we were at our own barbed-wire, here again we had difficulty in finding a passage through which was rendered all the more trying by constant whizzing of the bullets from enemy machine guns about our ears. We crawled along in front of the wire hoping to find an entrance when all at once three of us went headlong into a deep cutting filled with water it was a deep sap that had been cut out and cleverly covered with branches and twigs, it was nine feet deep, I think we will use it for a listing post, but although we got a good ducking we managed to get back in our own trenches we had lost one man and accounted for seven Germans and had gained a thorough knowledge of the enemy's trenches at this point. I think I will close or you will be getting tired reading this letter.

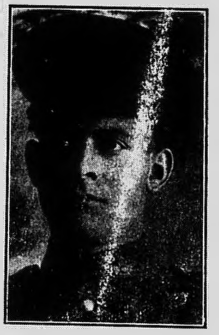
Dear Dad—

Just a few lines to let you I am well and hope you are the same I am feeling fine and getting fat, even if our eats are a little tough.

Well we are beginning to see more of the war every day, A couple of days ago we were sent out of the firing line on account of a heavy bombardment taking place. We just got nicely settled in the reserve trenches when a shell came over striking a tree over our heads and bursting right in on top of us wounding ten fellows in my Coy. I was asleep on the firing step and I never got a scratch and fellows sitting up at my feet were all wounded.

Our Division made some very successful raids on Fritz the other night capturing quite a few prisoners. I was not in the raid as our batt. just came out of the trenches.



Well I don't know how long we will be here in the it is said we are going down but you hear so much around here.

I was to church to-day and I am going again to-night, it is not very often we get a chance as we are generally in the trenches on Sunday.

Say I received a letter from Florence's mother and she invited me up thinking I was still in England When you write why send me some snap of the summer cottage and launch if you have any.

I received a letter from Eddie and he is telling me how rotten the [illegible] make an allowance for him as he is now an American, but there are a lot of guys over here who would like to be back in the country that is too proud to fight.

Well I guess I have told you about all the news I know just at present Say when you see Miss Tyson I want you to thank him for sending that parcel.

Norman Wrigley Wounded

A wire Tuesday announced the serious illness of Norman Wrigley, son of Mrs. Chas. Spencer, Oxenden. He was wounded in the thigh on Oct. 13th. His mother will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Pte. Abner Day Wounded

Mr. A. Day, Wiarton, received the sad wire Tuesday informing him that his son Abner, was seriously wounded. It will be remembered that only a short time ago Mr Day had another son killed in action, and this sacrifice, which he is making for his country, calls for the most practical sympathy which we can show a fellow citizen.

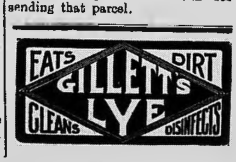
Dear Mother and Father—



Your last two letters of July 20 and July 27th received o. k. and also the parcels in very good condition.

I hope you are all in the best of health as this leaves me the same. I am glad you received my photo all right, it will let you see I am all right side up with care.

I never had a answer to the last letter I sent to Will, in fact I get very few letters now to what I got before, I think the address is put on wrong. The right address is on the top of every letter and post card in French so if you put the same on the envelope it will get me o. k.. You might tell Tom and Bob the same. I had a post card from the British Censor in London to tell me we could only have two sheets of paper come through in each letter so most likely some of my letters are still in England only write on one side of the paper it doesn't matter if the pages are big or small. I get all Tom and Bobs parcels all right they come in very handy. The socks are always useful, I am kind of short of socks, you might send me a pair of shoes for knocking around in size 6½ and get them kind of wide, also a shirt with a collar on, a light blue or khaki it don't matter, a pair of tan shoes would be alright, you might put the numbers on the parcels start from no 20 and go up, you see I will know if they all reach me or not. The butter keeps alright only last stuff would be better. How is Jean Bill and Margi give them my love also the rest of the folks I dont hear from any of them now.

Will close for this time with love to all.

From your loving son

Walkerton

Sergt. Harry Wade, No. 11,536, an ex-Walkerton boy, and youngest son of the late Jas. T. Wade, of this town, is officially reported in Tuesday's casualty list as killed in action. Born in Walkerton, Sergt. Wade was raised and educated here, and for a number of years was a sergeant in the old 32nd Bruce regiment. He was for several years on the Toronto police force, and received prominent mention through the press for the daring arrest he made in that city. On the outbreak of the war he enlisted with the 4th Battalion and has been serving as a sergeant with his battalion at the front for the past two years. Several letters from Sergt. Wade describing the fighting and complimenting Bruce on raising a battalion, have appeared in this paper. His old chums, while admiring his courage will deeply deplore the death of this gallant Walkertonian. A brother, Mr. Frank Wade, barrister of Cleveland, survives him. The deceased was about thirty-five years of age and unmarried. He was a veteran of the Boer war.

Mr. Adam Seegmiller, proprietor of the Station Hotel, is through his solicitors, Robertson and McNab, fyling a claim for $150.00 damages, which he maintains the soldiers caused to his hotel, while billeted there during the mobilization of the 160th Battalion at Walkerton last summer.

Pte. James McCallum, youngest son of Mrs. John McCallum, of Brant, and brother of ex-reeve Geo. McCallum, is officially reported wounded, the message which reached his mother on Saturday night from Ottawa stating that he was suffering from a serious gunshot wound in the upper extremities of the body, and that he had been admitted to the 25th General Hardyiot, France, on Sept. 27th. Pte. McCallum enlisted in British Columbia with the 62nd Batt. but on reaching England donned the kilts and has been serving in the trenches with the 48th Highlanders since April. A letter describing the strenuous fighting he was going through reached his mother a few hours before the telegram announcing his wounding.

It's a bit early to predict who will be up for municipal honors in Walkerton the coming year, and yet things are beginning to shape themselves. Mayor Lippert going on the principle that "enough is quite sufficient" has more than once signified his determinatibn to withdraw and give the other fellows a chance. Reeve McNab, who has now sat five years in the Council, will probably be a candidate for the Mayoralty, and will be opposed by Andy P. Johnston, who was only a few votes short of landing in the Mayor's chair last New years. For Reeveship, the veteran Councillor, John Douglas, will be in the field, and will probably have Coun. George Lottner as opposition. The "green hands," Couns. Russel and McCarter, will be up for re-election. These men will do better work after the the experience of one year at the Board. Both have shown themselves determined to stand on their "own bottoms" and be nobody's fool—a quality which the people appreciate.

One of the oldest, if not the oldest resident of Walkerton, Mr. John Klein will celebrate his 91st birthday on Friday Mr Klein was born in Alsace, Germany on October 13th, 1825. In spite of his years Mr. Klein is quite active in body and mind, his principal reminder of advancing slightly failing eyesight.

"So you accompanied your wife to that big movie show after all."

"Yes. I happened to think that if I didn't she would describe the entire ten reels as soon as she came home."

OWEN SOUND

Last Tuesday afternoon Mayor Little received a telegram from Lt.-Col. McFarland, commander of the 147th Grey Battalion apprising him of the fact that the battalion has been detained at Amherst, Nova Scotia on account of the fact that transports could not be obtained to take them across immediately. The message read:—Battalion has been detained here and have gone into barracks awaiting transports. All well.

G. F. McFARLAND, Lt-Col.

This news will be welcome to local friends of the battalion in view of the recent depredations of enemy sub-marines off the United States coast. While it cannot be definitely assumed the submarines have any designs upon Canadian Transports, it is in this instance just as well that troops are being held for a short period to await developments. However this is not given as the reason of the delay. Nor is it probable that it has aught to do with it. At the same time it will relieve certain apprehensions felt here with regard to the safety of the battalion.

The local Hebrew congregation have decided to erect a fine new synagogue in a central location in the town. Plans are being prepared which will call for the erection of a fine brick structure, the estimated cost of which is in the neighborhood o $6,000

Exceptionally sad is the announcement that Pte. Frank Lyons Kerr has been killed in action in France on Sept. 20th. His mother's death occurred only four days previously and the shock of the news of the death of Pte. Kerr has been very severe to his brother and sister at home. He was a fine specimen of manhood and was very popular in the neighborhood where he was very well known.

While the meeting of the Board of Trade Friday evening was not largely attended, an important proposal was discussed which may later form part of a progressive industrial development policy for Owen Sound. Mr Jas. E. Keenan is responsible for the suggestion which is in the form of a plan for the business men to encourage new factories by investing in the new companies, each individual to take a small block of stock. The scheme was left over until the next meeting when it will be fully discussed and likely some action will be taken. In introducing the proposal, Mr Keenan said that some advanced method should be taken to encourage new industrial concerns, without relying on the usual municipal loans and other inducements. He proposed to secure the consent of 100 business men to each take stock to the extent of $100 in the first legitimate industrial proposition which decides to locate here. This block of $10,000 in stock would be of great assistance in financing small but worthy manufacturing concerns, many of which with the right men behind them, would develop into large employers of labor.

The Corbet Foundry and Machine Company have had a very busy season. Besides turning out machinery for the manufacture of munitions they shipped last week seven steel bridges to points in Wellington County, varying in length from 35 to 80 feet. One bridge went to Guelph two to Fergus one to Mount Forest, two to Drayton and one to Weisenburg. About forty men have been employed during the last year.

Southampton

Pte. Earl Thomson who enlisted at Parry Sound in the 157th was home from Camp Borden over the week end to visit with his parents, Mr and Mrs Fred Thomson before his departure overseas. His sister, Mrs (Dr.) R J R. Bright, who is now residing in Toronto, accompanied him.

Sir James Dawson, who has not been enjoying the best of health lately, is on a trip through the West with the idea that a holiday and a change may be conducive to Well, we'll hope it works just right.

Mr and Mrs W. C. Cone and Miss Nina McMillan left last Wednesday morning for New York, where for the present Mr Cone will look after the business of his brother, who is seriously ill. Mr Cone sold his residence on Albert street to Dr Park of Hamilton, who with his family are now occupying it, having found the Beach climate a little too bracing these days. Mr Cone also sold his car to an Owen Sound party. Mr Cone during his residence here has taken an active part in all lines of sport, particularly in connection with the development of our new bowling green the success of which was in no small measure due to him. He could always be depended upon to help along anything for the good of the town and Mrs Cone was always very generous to those in need.

Tara

Mr. John W. Sinclair, the present Reeve of the Tw. of Arran, who has occupied this position for the past two years believes in letting the honors go round and will consequently retire at the close of the present year. Mr Sinclair would, no doubt, be elected for a third term if he chose to offer himself but there are others in the present council who are able to fill the office and he does not believe in keeping them back. Among these are Messrs Andrew Morrow and Joseph Johnston. Both of these will be candidates for the Reeveship for 1917. We understand Councillor McFadden may also be a candidate for the office but of this we have no definite assurance at the present time. So it is possible the electors of the Township may have to choose between three good men for their next Reeve.

Duff Bros. apiarists, have erected a large two-story frame building on Brock Street North and intend making Tara their headquarters for their bee business. They now have 240 colonies and next summer intend installing a power extractor. This year they extracted seven tons of honey.

St. Vitus Dance Can Be Easily Cured

A Tonic for the Blood and Nerve With Rest All That is Needed.

Many a child has been called awkward has been punished in school for not keeping still or for dropping things, when the trouble was really St. Vitus dance. This trouble may appear at any age but is most often met between the ages of six and fourteen. The most frequent cause of the disease is poor blood, aggravatedby indoors confinement, or mental strain at school. Under these conditions the blood fails to carry nourishment to the nerves and the child begins to show listlessness and inattention. Then it becomes restless and switching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow. A remedy that cures St. Vitus dance and cures it so thoroughly that no trace of the disease remains is Dr. Williams Pink Pills which renew the blood thus feeding and strengthening the starved nerves. This is the only way to cure the trouble, and parents should lose no time in giving this treatment if their child seems nervous or irritable. Mrs Wm. A. Squires, Cannington, Ont., says: "My only daughter, now fourteen years of age was troubled for several years with St. Vitus dance. She was so bad that at times she would lose control of her limbs and her face and eyes would be contorted. We had medical advice and medicine, but it did not help her. In fact we thought the trouble growing worse, and finally we had to take her from school. About a year ago we began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and by the time she had taken five boxes she was completely cured, and is now a fine healthy girl. I firmly believe we owe this to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are very grateful for her restoration to perfect health."

You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hanover

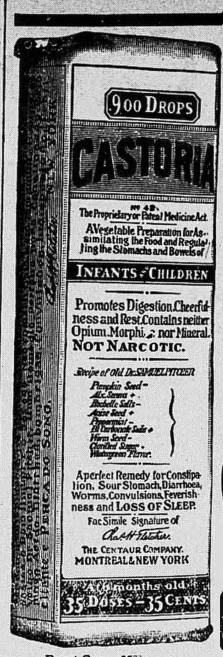
The Riversdale hotel has been closed and there is now no hotel between Kincardine and Walkerton, a distance of 28 miles. In other days there was a hotel at Millarston, two at Millarson, two at Bervie, one or two at Kinloss, one or two at Riversdale and at Enniskillen with an odd half way house between villages.

The rumor is being wafted that Mr. Henry Metcalfe will be a candidate this year for the reeveship. Bentinck municipal gossip is starting early this year, and we expect to have some interesting news to report shortly.

The Liberals of this riding are getting things in shape for the coming elections in both the Provincial and Federal Houses. It is no secret that Dr. Mearns of Hanover will be a candidate for the convention for the local house, and without a doubt he will be the Liberal nominee. Who the candidate will be for the Dominion House is not so certain. The names of Mr M. A. Miller, B. A., son of the late H. H. Miller of Hanover, and Mr Wright, barrister of Owen Sound, are mentioned in well informed circles as likely candidates.

Indigestion Resulted From Bad Case of Inactive Liver

Experience Proved That Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Were Exactly What Was Needed.



If every sufferer from indigestion would study his case as did the writer of this letter the great majority would find sluggish action of the liver and bowels to be the cause of trouble.

It is then an easy step to finding a cure, for there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to awaken the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels. With these organs performing their natural functions the system is thoroughly cleansed of all poisonous waste matter and the process of digestion is no longer impeded.

Mrs. W. L. Jones, Hill Spring, Alta., writes: "I have often thought I would write and tell you how much I appreciate Dr. Chase's medicines, especially Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I suffered terribly from indigestion and did not know what was the cause. I got to using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and was so improved that I began to study the malady. I found that the indigestion resulted from a bad case of inactive liver, and as soon as I got the liver working right, I didn't have any stomach trouble or indigestion, the nervous spells vanished and the 'blues' flew away. I am never sick now, but should the old trouble return, I know how to cure it quickly."

There is a whole host of derangements which disappear when the liver is set right. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, irritability, constipation are a few of the more common results of torpid liver action. By the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you can control all such disorders. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Editorial

LET us not forget that the Standard Hotel should be patronized The public have a right to pay for all the accommodation they receive. We need hotels and we must expect to pay for the service.

KINCARDINE milk dealers advertised an increase from 7 to 8 cents a quart, but remained at the seven cent rate on the advent of another milkman into the field.

WITH flour at practically $10. per barrel the average 'coasumer takes very little pleasure in reading that one of the leading milling companies of Canada have earned 25 per cent on their common stock It looks like the cost of living might be reduced.

THE man on salary is the under dog these days. Unless his salary was a high one years ago it scarcely meets the demand of to-day This is one thing the public should remember that while the farmer and business man can raise their prices to meet the rising tide the man on salary has to stay there and be swamped

THERE have been fowl suppers given in the couptry churches worth anywhere from 50 to 75 per ticket. That is the price which would have to be paid for the same meal in a city. The fowl, which the farmers donated, could easily have been turned into cash and brought a good figure, but all they brought at these church specials was 25 cents per meal. On a dining car 60 cents has to be paid for half a chicken. It would seem that the time has come to put the price of church suppers up to 50 cents, The meal at 25 cents is a farce under existing conditions, and if people want to give toward church purposes they should realize that the Church is a loser when it feeds them for a quarter.

CANADA has a splendid system of transportation and although we are a country of magnificent distances yet our transportation system can bring us what we need from places hundreds of miles distance and thus the prices are regulated. For instance there is practically a potato famine in Ontario this year, if we had to depend upon the local supply we would have to pay over $2.00 per bag, and then many people could not get them. As it is the railroads are bringing in potatoes from the West, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and consequently potatoes are being quoted at $1.60 per bag. Supply and demand regulate prices, and so does transportation.

Bruce Battalion Off

Last Saturday the Bruce battalion left London for Halifax, and there went a large number of residents of the County at London to say good bye to their sons who had enlisted. It was on November 20th last year the authority was given for the formation of this battalion, and on March 29th it was full strength. It is said that the 160th. is the most Canadian battalion, that 82 per cent of the men claim Canada as the place of their birth. One thing is sure the people of Bruce are heart and soul with this battalion. The men received their initial training last winter in our villages and towns, they are the best Bruce has to offer. We have given cheerfully to all the funds, but this battalion is the highest gift we can make. They will be a credit to their native county, and may they have a safe return.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. Try it.

BY ADELE BLENEAU

by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

they come, no surrender, lads, as you have your rifles and then your fists." Avril in answer to their prayers rifles began to crack all around.

"Just before I reached the end of the last trench I was surprised to hear the order, 'Cease firing' and when I turned to learn what had occasioned this unusual command, I saw a wounded German lying halfway between our lines and his. An officer who had gone out to pick up the man was struck before the Germans realized what he was doing, and themselves ceased firing. Nothing daunted, the British officer staggered to the fallen man and half carried, half dragged him to the German lines. The officer on duty received him with a salute, and the men in the trenches set up a lusty cheer. Then the German officer took off his own iron cross and pinned it upon the breast of the man in khaki, and as he staggered back to our trench we could still hear the Germans cheering. Poor devil! He was recommended for the Victoria cross, but he didn't live to wear it. He died from the wounds he got.

"Nothing but death, however, can quench 'Tommy's' good humor," he laughed. "I heard one of them tell a chap who had lost his way that if he would go down by la Ville de Dugout and turn to the left around Piccadilly circus he would come to the Hotel Cecil. The chap started on. A little farther down the line a man at one of the loop holes called out, 'Here comes Jane,' and they all dived into their pits, Jane' being a twelve inch shell."

One morning about 5 o'clock the matron came to my room and said that a telephone message from H., a place some forty kilometers away, reported they were in desperate need of an interpreter. They had asked already three other hospitals for a nurse who spoke German, but none was available, and she wished me to be ready in half an hour to go there for the day. The road was in pretty good condition and clear of sentries, so we reached H. by 7 o'clock.

There had been only one thing of unusual interest on the way. From the top of a hill a mile or so across the valley we saw an ambulance train creeping along. Flaming red crosses covered the sides of the coaches. Before our amazed eyes, a few moments later, light puffs of smoke danced around them. Shells fell before and others behind the train, but still the engine kept moving. Would it reach the next station and get beyond range? we asked each other breathlessly, the chauffeur and I. We followed it for fully ten minutes, and then it vanished behind a slope. It was like a cinematograph with its inevitable train and engine, but with the difference that the train looked small and distant, while the report of the guns was near and very real. We learned later that only one shot had found its mark, but that that one had killed three helpless men as they lay.

When we arrived we met the head surgeon. He was a straight, upstanding Englishman, and even under such stress his uniform looked spick and span, his boots polished, and he was wearing a glistening monocle. But above all his clear eyes, looking directly at one, gave an idea of energy, vitality and superiority.

H— was the station from which the English ambulance trains went down to Boulogne. It seemed as if there must be hundreds of ambulances already there, as well as dozens upon dozens of ambulance cars. As fast as one train was filled it pulled out, and other cars were pushed in to take their places. There was such perfect method and system that by midafternoon we saw the last train slowly depart.

The surgeon knew we had been ordered to return by way of the battle front and bring with us a load of wounded, as there had been a perfect shambles the day previous. As he bade us goodby and thanked us for helping he asked me:

"Have you ever been on the field after a battle?"

I replied in the negative. Shaking his head sadly, he said:

"It is too horrible to attempt to describe, and I advise you to remain in your ambulance."

I assured him if it were possible I should.

We took a long time getting to the rendezvous, as there were sentries everywhere, and we had to pick out roads that were sheltered from shell fire. At last, when as near as we possibly could get, the two men left the car and myself in a shelter behind a little hill among the trees, for I did as the Englishman had advised, remained in the ambulance—that is, until the medecin major needed a nurse for a particular case and sent for me. Going to him I passed a battery of 75s about a hundred yards away, firing at intervals, and a platoon of men standing motionless, ready for orders. Ammunition wagons drawn by mules were passing to and from the guns, while infantry of all sorts was being hurried on their way to the lines.

The French had captured some trenches, and a counter attack was expected. Even then the fire was so heavy it was not possible to move, but about dusk it ceased somewhat. Soon the moon rose, and the night was a fantastic one. We were in a clearing—the moon was full, and by its light we could plainly see the ridge against the sky line a few hundred yards away on which the French had successfully repulsed the onslaught. All about us were officers and soldiers of every kind and condition. Among the trees were several hundred cavalrymen mounted or standing by their horses. Threading their way everywhere were the stretcher bearers bringing in their [illegible] their burdens. The ambulances came up one at a time, were loaded and sent off a little distance to wait until all was ready. Many of the wounded lay [illegible] upon boards were moaning, shrieking, praying or cursing, and almost all of them begging for water. Some of the wounds were so indescribably horrible that for the poor victims [illegible] could not live.

In sharp contrast to this officers were standing about quietly talking and smoking as though such a thing as war did not exist. The medecin major would occasionally, after a brief but possible examination, give orders for a stretcher to be moved aside under the trees. It was the death warrant for its wretched occupant. Many did not seem to be in great pain, and I noticed that this often was a bad sign. One poor fellow smiled up at me, pressed my hand in gratitude for a mouthful of warm wine and said, "There is no use to pray for the nurses—heaven is waiting for them," and in an hour he, too, had joined the little band beneath the pines.

They had been hours in the work, but all the field had still not been searched, and I insisted on joining a party of stretcher bearers who were just starting out. It was no time for faint heartedness, there was too much to be done. The moon was still bright, and objects were visible some distance away. The fight had been a fierce one, and the German dead were nearly three times the number of the French. The bearers moved quickly but silently from body to body, some of the poor fellows were contorted into fantastic attitudes, others apparently asleep. The whole scene in the silence of the forest was inconceivably majestic.

We had covered the ground and were [illegible] turning back when by chance a little farther on we saw a young fellow with his head pillowed on the coat of a German soldier. He was [illegible] and his first words were, as [illegible] happens, "How far did we [illegible] I told us as we carried him [illegible] that he and the German had lain there together twenty-four long weary hours, wondering whether the bearers would come, and if so, would they find them? That was a story we heard again and again, the anxiety, the torture, hour after hour, of fearing the persistent fire would [illegible] the bearers coming in, or that, if they did come, of being overlooked. We hurried back over the corpse strewn ground, back to the cheerful bustle—officers muffled in blankets—guns, wagons and ambulances creeping along in the half light—the champing of bits—the occasional glow of a pipe or cigarette—a friendly offer of a swallow of brandy from the doctor's flask—a hurried adjournment to the staff car for a bite of bread and linued meat that are carried for emergencies, and then the slow, bitterly cold crawl in the dense blackness just before the dawn, over the well nigh demolished roads to the hospitals.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" — The Wonderful Fruit Medicine — will Protect You

Autointoxication means self-poisoning, caused by continuous or partial constipation, or insufficient action of the bowels.

Instead of the refuse matter passing daily from the body, it is absorbed by the blood. As a result, the Kidneys and Skin are overworked, in their efforts to rid the blood of this poisoning.

Poisoning of the blood in this way often causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Disturbed Stomach. It may produce Headaches and Sleeplessness. It may irritate the Kidneys and bring on Pain in the Back, Rheumatism, Gout, and Rheumatic Pains. It is the chief cause of Eczema—and keeps the whole system unhealthy by the constant absorption into the blood of this refuse matter.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always cure Autointoxication or self-poisoning—as "Fruit-a-tives" acts gently on bowels, kidneys and skin, strengthens the bowels and tones up the nervous system.

CHAPTER X.

Close Quarters.

A FEW days after Colonel S.'s decision that I return to them, a decision that proved a momentous one to me, the Germans facing our left wing made a number of determined assaults, which our men, re-enforced by new troops, were fortunately able to beat off. These assaults resulted, however, in the taking of a number of German officers, for the attacking troops were landsturm and proved none too eager in the attack, and it was necessary for their officers to lead them. As a result many were taken prisoners and among them a number of wounded. We managed to find places in our hospital for all the worst cases—that is, for all except a certain Captain von Schulling.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

While Von Schulling's hurt was a serious one—a wound in the heart cavity and a shattered shoulder blade—it was not necessarily fatal, but required time, care and quiet. Under these conditions he could not with any humanity be sent to a base. But where to find a place for him, that was the difficulty.

Officers are never put in wards with the men, and besides these were already full and overflowing. After a consultation the matron and Dr. Souchon decided that he should be put on the cot in Captain Frazer's room, that being absolutely the only available spot.

As soon as I knew this I asked permission to inform Captain Frazer that he was about to be invaded by "the enemy."

"If he is pretty badly off I don't mind," he laughed.

A few moments later Von Schulling was comfortably installed on the cot in the little room where Captain Frazer was gradually regaining his grip on life.

He was a Prussian, tall, slender and fair haired, with a certain youthful charm that might have made an attractive man of him were it not for the insolence of his bearing. He spoke English well, as I discovered when he was first brought in, though he very seldom did so. I believe he resented using even the speech of the hated and despised English.

During the first few days he suffered severely, and the doctor kept him under the influence of an opiate. As he grew better, however, he grew communicative and kept me busy attending his many wants. When all else failed he insisted that I give him lessons in French.

As for Captain Frazer, I had hoped that he and the Prussian officer might become, if not friends, at least tolerant acquaintances, and so help each other beguile the tedious hours of convalescence. We always found that the men in the wards made better progress than the officers, who are isolated.

However, the first few days proved that my hopes for the two men were not to be realized. Captain Frazer and Von Schulling, though they belonged to the same social class in their respective countries, were as far apart in thought as east and west.

The Englishman is essentially an individual, and he remains so even in war, when he is making history. His tendency is to think that things English are badly managed, and he says so in no uncertain terms, though only to his own countrymen. And he is not perpetually nerving himself with thoughts of the glory of his country, of the splendor of his cause or of the fact that he is a soldier in a famous army. These are things he takes for granted, and to his mind the less said about being heroic or romantic the better. As for him, he has work to do which, although he will not say so, he will do as only Englishmen can, but the romance or poetry of his deeds he leaves to others to express.

The German, however, is an absolutely different type. His passion for abstract thought has mastered him so that he sees abstraction even in concrete things. To no German is Germany merely a collection of Germans; to no German is he himself merely a man in a world of other men and things concrete. He is a factor in some far reaching process, a unit in some great institution or a cog in some intricate machine. Many nations have tried to imitate the English, but no one has ever tried to imitate the Germans because the German himself is imitative. As an individual he is ill at ease and prefers always to be typical and representative rather than simply himself.

On the other hand, the English officer, or at least so it seems to me from my observation of the few I have nursed, would rather be anything than a type, and what he says and does is said and done on his own initiative.

During his convalescence Captain von Schulling's attitude toward me often left me, young and unsophisticated as I was, puzzled and at a loss to define a vague something back of his manner. Afterward I understood.

On the other hand, I had many delightful talks with Captain Frazer whenever my duties permitted, though I did not realize then how blank the time was between these talks or how I looked forward to them as the brightest moments in my day. Our conversations were simple and ordinary enough, but Von Schulling resented them and even went so far as to imply that Captain Frazer and myself were in some undefined way leagued against him. Looking back, I realize how foolishly blind I was in those days, but in the light of succeeding events I can only thank heaven for my blindness.

Captain von Schulling often tried my patience to the utmost, but I made a determined effort to see only the best in him, though Captain Frazer's occasional cool interjections showed me the hopelessness of my efforts. The man was absurdly sentimental or brutally callous by turns, an almost incredible combination of childishness and brutality.

As time passed rumors of impending danger came to our ears, and with them Von Schulling developed a queer exaltation, as though he felt the approach of the time when he should be in power. With it there crept into his voice and manner an arrogant and assertive tone which irritated me to the highest degree, though Captain Frazer passed it over in amused silence. Then one morning the enemy's firing grew more distinct; carts began passing the hospital laden with household goods. Droves of cattle—even little boys and girls, each with a bundle done up in a towel or pillow slip—tiny mites of four and five doing all they could to save the home; mothers with babes at the breast—came in endless streams. Sometimes beside the roadway long rows of fugitives would sit, resting before recommencing their journey. I recall one group of little children alone, unattended. It was a pathetic picture that will live in my memory forever

Chesley

The municipal barometer forecasts squalls in Sullivan Township. Deputy Reeve Carson is out against Joseph Doble and Councillors Corlett and Jobnet on will contest the Deputy Reeveship. It is also reported that Councillor Gamble will retire and this will leave three vacancies in the council. One of the new men spoken of is Ezra Woelfe, a prominent and progressive farmer of 13th con. There is no doubt he would be elected. The is not that will be before the electors arising out of the votes of the Reeve and Deputy at County Council are the grant to Chatsworth H. School which effects a couple of sections in Sullivan and the granting of $15000 to Mr. Miller, the retiring warder, after 54 years service. Mr. Doble voted for both grant and gratuity and Carson opposed them. Then there is the bill of the M. O. H amounting to about $1000 for services rendered during the measles epidemic. This will be a burning question on nomination day even if the thermometer is below zero. It is contented by opponents of the present council that the M. O. H.'s salary should have been stated in the by-law appointing him.

N. B. Brown, B. A. Sc. was visiting Chesley friends from Saturday till Tuesday. His mother is still here. Bennie, as he is familiarly called in this town he lived a few years and attended public school, graduated this year from Toronto University. He is assistant superintendent and chemist in the Shawinagan Electro Chemical Co. Ltd, about 21 miles north of Three Rivers, Quebec. In this factory magnesium, chloride, and bleaching powders as by-product are manufactured. Bennie left us a sample of the magnesium which is 98% pure. He has been off duty since August first with an attack of Typhoid Fever but is gradually convalescing though still far from his usual strength.

On October 6th Mayor Halliday received a telegram directed to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Stevens, now of Regina, announcing the wounding of John K. Steven, an old Chesley boy, who left the West with the First Canadian Contingent in the fall of 1914. Gunner Steven was admitted to the hospital on September 29th with a severe contusion of the knee, probably from shell wound. His many friends here will hope to hear of John's complete and speedy recovery.

SUCCESSES ON SOMME.

Gen. Foch's Men Capture German Line on a Mile Front.

The British Have Succeeded in Clearing Two Miles of Enemy Communication Trenches Especially at the Schwaben Redoubt—Hamlet of Genermont is Taken by French Forces Who Have Also Captured 1,100 Prisoners.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The French won fresh successes south of the Somme on Saturday. East of Belloy-en-Santerre Foch's troops captured a first German line on a front of more than a mile. To the southwest of this region they swept forward from Bovent for nearly a mile and seized the hamlet of Genermont, while they also extended their lines near Ablaincourt, winning a struggle for demolished sugar refinery. Over 1,100 Germans were made prisoner in these operations.

German troops Saturday night launched several counter-attacks against the positions which the French had occupied during the day south of the River Somme, says the statement issued by the French War Department.

Enterprises undertaken Saturday by British troops in the neighborhood of the Stuff and Schwaben redoubts, in the River Somme region, were highly successful, says the official statement issued Sunday by the British War Office. More than 300 Germans were taken prisoner. North of Stuff redoubt two lines of enemy communication trenches were cleared for a distance of nearly 200 yards. One officer and 100 men of other ranks were taken prisoners in the course of this operation, which was carried out by a single company. At the Schwaben redoubt the British gain was greater and the line was advanced well to the north and west of the redoubt. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy.

Despite the cloudy weather and active barrage fire at a range of from 200 to 300 metres, the Allied aviators co-operated in a most effective fashion in the fighting Saturday south of the Somme. They surpassed all that was expected of them. One machine that returned had been struck by two hundred bullets. North of the Somme two pilots, flying very low, used their machine guns at short range against the enemy in his trenches.

In Ablaincourt, at the tip of the salient held by Foch's troops north of Chaulnes, a furious assault on Friday enabled the Germans to seize several positions and some trenches to the north-east of the village. These they did not hold for long. Showing a surprising ability to rally quickly from the effects of the enemy's charge, the French wave recoiled and swept the Germans completely out of the positions they had gained a foothold in.

The French again attempted to swing their lines through Sailley-Saillisel and into the sector south of Transloy, but in hand-to-hand fighting of the most desperate character they were driven back to their starting points. By their furious resistance in this region the Germans have given notice that they intend to defend the Bethune road to the limit of their resources.

Berlin admits that the British north of Thiepval gained a firm hold on the German trenches, and that the French south of the Somme have won a footing in the sugar refinery at Genermont.

TWO YEARS IN WAR.

Second Anniversary of Arrival of 1st Canadian Force is Celebrated

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The second anniversary of the arrival in England of the first Canadian overseas contingent was celebrated on Saturday evening by a dinner at which over 500 officers, non-com.'s, and men of the Canadian pay and record services were present, Colonel W. R. Ward presiding. In toasting the army and navy, Colonel Ward paid a warm tribute to the navy, by whose protection the safe arrival of the Canadian forces throughout the war had been possible. Referring to the development of the pay and record services, which from two officers and six men has grown to over 2,500, Colonel Ward suggested that the time had perhaps come when a combing-out process might begin. He would like to see all the eligibles volunteer for active service. The Canadian correspondent was informed that about 60 per cent. of the staff are entitled to the gold stripe, which signifies that the wearer has been wounded. Mr. McLaren Brown, the chief civilian guest, spoke of Canada's men as being essentially fighting men. Colonel Rose and Colonel S. Robertson also spoke, the former emphasizing the fact that the gathering was not of a festive, but of a commemorative character, and that the well being of the combatants depended upon the conscientious work of those present.

TRANSPORT CAPTURED.

Russian Submarine Captures the Turkish Steamer Roditsto.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 16.—The Russian submarine Tulen on Oct. 12, after an engagement near the Bosporus, captured the Turkish 6,000-ton armed war transport Roditsto, says Sunday's Russian official statement. The transport, which was commanded by German officers, was taken to Sebastopol. The statement reads:

"Black Sea—On October 12 our submarine Tulen, under command of Lieut.-Commander Kityisin, captured near the Bosphorus after an hour's unequal artillery engagement the Turkish armed war transport Roditsto, of 6,000 tons displacement. The transport was under command of German officers, and despite the damage which it sustained during the engagement, was safely escorted to Sebastopol."

TO REORGANIZE SERVICES

Medical Arm of Canadian Forces Will Be Co-ordinated More Closely

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—Important recommendations for the reorganization of the Canadian Army Medical Service in England, and to some extent in Canada, are contained, it is understood, in a report submitted by Colonel H. A. Bruce, special inspector-general of medical services, to the Minister of Militia.

A complete reorganization of the Canadian Medical Service is recommended, with the suggestion that the medical arrangements in Canada, England and overseas be co-ordinated. Other recommendations are that Canadian casualties be as far as possible treated in Canadian hospitals, and that the care of Canadian sick and wounded be the first duty of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, that the Canadian details be concentrated and voluntary hospitals for Canadians be abolished, hospitals now conducted or equipped by the Red Cross being taken over by the Medical Service for administration, that incapacitated Canadians soldiers be returned to Canada as soon as they are fit to travel, for further medical treatment, and that the three Canadian hospitals now at Salonica be returned to England immediately if they can be spared by the Imperial authorities.

A number of recommendations affecting arrangements in Canada are made. These are, that immediate steps be taken to provide hospitals with a thousand beds each in Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, and Vancouver, with a smaller one in Ottawa, and that these provide accommodation for a limited number of officers; that for the purpose of assisting in the organization of these hospitals a number of Canadian medical officers who have had experience at the front be detailed for duty in Canada; that all ranks before leaving Canada be examined by an independent medical board, a number of these boards to be established in various parts of Canada, this to be done for the weeding out of unfit; that no medical units be organized in Canada in future for overseas duties; that the officers of the Canadian Army Medical Corps in future be thoroughly trained at well-equipped depots to be established in Canada.

RUSSIANS TAKE TRENCHES.

Conflict in Volhynia Has Been Resumed With the Utmost Fierceness

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The battle on the Stokhod River, in Volhynia, has broken out anew.

The Russians leaped from the trenches to the attack Saturday morning, and before darkness came the fighting had assumed the ferocity that characterized the days of early summer.

Brusiloff had prepared for his movement in his usual methodical manner. For nearly 48 hours preceding the infantry charge the heaviest guns that could be mustered poured a deluge of shot and shell into the enemy's entrenchments. Along the five-mile front from Korytnica north along the winding marshland Stokhod, hardly a foot of the German and Austrian trenches has escaped immersion in the flood of metal hurled from the Russian artillery.

At dawn the thunder of the Russian guns ceased for the first time in hours, and masses of Muscovites leaped over the parapet and poured forward into the German trenches. The rest of the story is told in the laconic statements of the War Office. Several lines of Teuton trenches were carried, prisoners and guns were seized, and the despairing efforts of the enemy to wrest back their temporary homes failed.

On other parts of the far-flung lines in Volhynia and Galicia the Russian guns are battering at the enemy's trenches with the same ferocity, preparing for similar charges by the infantry. Neither in Galicia nor to the north have the Russian commanders despaired of smashing through the opposing lines to victory. That is what is read in the renewal of the battle on the Stokhod.

Kaiser's Slogans to Troops in East.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—During his visit to the eastern front last week Emperor William, it is said, to the troops of General von Eben, said:

"When you again move against the enemy take with you these two slogans: First, 'He shall not get through,' and second, 'He must be beaten.' We are fighting for a just cause. Every one of you knows why you are risking your life, but many of the enemy know not why they fight. Numbers do not impress you, and I am convinced that you will show yourselves just as plucky in the future as in the past.

"Let the enemy crush his head against a wall of iron. God help you in this great work!"

In a speech to the troops under General von Boehm-Ermolli the Emperor said:

"We are all convinced that we are fighting in a good cause, and we have the confidence that the Lord God of Hosts will help us to victory."

Sir Thomas Tait Resigns.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—It is announced officially that Sir Thomas Tait has resigned his position as Director-General of National Service. He will be succeeded by Mr. R. B. Bennett, M.P.

Mr. Bennett is a man of great ability, energy, and enthusiasm. He has had a long and successful career at the bar, and during the past five years he has represented the City of Calgary in the House of Commons. On several important questions he has taken a very independent attitude. Mr. Bennett is a very strong Imperialist, and most earnest in his desire to aid in every possible way in the vigorous prosecution of the war. He will not without any remuneration or compensation, although in devoting his whole time and energies to this work he is making a very considerable personal sacrifice.

Persons who become intoxicated under the new Ontario Temperance Act will pay good stiff penalties if they get caught. The fines for drunkenness now are $10 to $100. These sums are mandatory and ten dollars is the minimum fine that any magistrate may impose. The man who takes liquor into a hotel can be prosecuted under the section which makes it an offence for any one to have or keep liquor in any place other than a private dwelling house.

On Monday last week at Bruce Mines, Johnston, Hunter & Crawford met with a heavy loss. The tug Sandford was there, with scow loaded with crushed stone for the Soo, when suddenly the scow sprung a leak, listed, and when dumping the stone, burst into pieces. The firm had a contract which would have lasted until the close of navigation, and Mr Johnston was present when the accident occurred. There were about 475 tons of stone on board The scow was rebuilt about three years ago and was worth $5000. There was no insurance Everyone in town regrets the loss to the firm, who are unable now to finish their contract.

The Town Council

As the Council had not met for some time there was a large number of accounts to pass. The communications were light. Mr J. D. Abraham, who had to pay the transient traders license, when he began business, asked for the refund, because it is apparent now that he is not a transient trader, and it was granted. There was a communication from Hamilton asking for our co-operation in asking the Provincial and Dominion Governments to take steps to reduce the high cost of living. The British Red Cross Society are making another appeal, they want eight million dollars next year. A committee of the Council will wait upon the Patriotic Committee to see if the funds of this body cannot be given to this purpose.

As the usual path from Gould St. to Berford, through the park has been closed the Council will endeavor to open another highway in that vicinity.

Messrs. Wilson and Ward were appointed officers to enforce the Ontario Temperance Act. By appointing officers to enforce the Act the town will get all the fines providing of course, that the town takes proceedings against offenders. It is proposed to have our by-laws so amended that the town will secure all the fines.

Cannot Help His Age

The Chesley Enterprise says. Geo Voght, of Albemarle Tp. has been discharged from Bruce Battalion Band on account of his age. He was 63 his last birthday and though still hale and hearty was rejected on account of being over age. George will be much missed in the Battalion Band. He is a great old sport, a dandy musician, was popular with the boys and has had quite a military experience. He enlisted with the 29th Battalion at Waterloo, went twice to camp at Goderich and once to Galt camp with the Hespeler Co. Later he joined the 34th Battalion at Barrie and went twice to Niagara Camp with them. In 1873 he enlisted with the Royal N.W. Mounted Police at Toronto and was held in reserve but did not get away with the first detachment and later was sent to Te-de Pont Barracks, a gunners' school at Kingston where he remained six months. Later he joined the Bruce Rifle Association at Walkerton and was counted one of the best shots in this country. He has had about 35 years experience as a bandsman and has led bands in Neustadt, Clifford, Hanover and Lions Head, and was offered the bandmastership of the 32nd Regt. Band after Bandmaster Fisher had resigned. When the 160th Battalion was about to be organized he made application for the position of leader but through some mistake his application was delayed and was not presented to the committee for consideration. He enlisted in the Band of the 160th on April 27th 1916 and had been with them till discharged. What a pity this veteran bandsman was not 20 years younger so that he could take part in the triumphal march into Berlin.

Letter From Pte. A. Lamers

Thursday, Oct. 5, 1916.

Dear wife and children,—How are you getting along? I am getting along fine. I arrived here, at the hospital last night, slightly wounded in eight different places, in the hip and in the hand, all small pieces of shrapnel, but that does not matter, in a couple of weeks I will be alright again,

I came through a terrible time the last weeks in France, which I never will forget. I cannot write everything, but will tell you latter. When we went after a rest to the trenches again, I met Bob Simmie and Fletcher, with their battalion. I also saw Charley Dobson but had no chance to speak to them. We came in the trenches on Tuesday, wet through and through with the rain and thick with mud, and have been there till the following Monday morning. We did not have any sleep, we had to work hard day and night. We have been under attack twice. and we took two trenches, but had to pay a big price for them. We came with not very many back from the battalion on Monday. Sunday was the worst day, we got orders for attack at 3 o'clock. You should have seen the excitement. We all sprang over the parapet at once and then proceeded in one line, while the dead and wounded fell around us, under the terrible noise of the canons, forward and forward, until we came in the first trench.

This trench was left by the enemy so was easy for us to take, then over the parapet to take the second trench, I was not wounded yet. When we were by the second trench the corporal from the machine gun section was killed, most of the boys of his section were killed and wounded. I picked up his machine gun and carried it into a dugout but it seems that the enemy had seen me going in there. They started firing on the hole I was in, and I was lying on stomach dead tired, with my last strength trying to make the hole deeper with my hands to save myself The firing got so terrible that I had to leave. However, I sprang up, took the machine gun on my shoulder and ran with it back to the first trench, which we had taken. The machine gun came in very handy, they just had sent a message to the support line for some machine guns. I had been standing there as tired as I was, with my rifle and bombs from 5 o'clock until 3 o'clock in the morning, while the shells and bullets fell around me, we were only forty men to hold the trench, till one of my friends, a corporal was wounded in the shoulder. I asked the Major if I might take him to the dressing station. He said, suit yourself, but it is very dangerous now the bombardment is going on. I replied that I had been all day in danger and had not been hurt yet, so I went off with him. We walked two hours in real darkness, while the bombardment was going on something furious, until we came to a little place named Londonroad, then a Colebox, that is one of Tritren's biggest bombs burst, I was thrown to the ground and I thought my legs were taken off, but after a while I tried to get up and found my legs were alright. You can imagine how glad I was to find I could walk as good as ever, only my hip and hand were sore, but there is no danger, the worst pieces are already taken out so I don't think I will be in the hospital very long. Don't worry, be brave, I may come through alright. I am very anxious for a letter, and I did not receive any of the three parcels you sent me.

This is a beautiful hospital, and I enjoy the meals, they are good and we are well cared for. We are dressed in blue, with a white shirt and red tie. The best part was we had a bath as soon as we got here, we had not had a chance to wash for ten days.

Live in hopes, I may be home sooner than you think. Remember me to all.

Your loving husband and father,

Walkerton

The Walkerton bakers boosted their bread another cent last week, making the price of a small 1½ lb. loaf 8 cents, or nearly double the price of a few years ago. In Toronto where a similar rate prevails, a commission was appointed to investigate into the High Cost of Living, and after a thorough enquiry into the matter brought in a report that bread at 8c per 1½ lb. loaf was out of all proportion to the price of flour. The laboring man is especially hard hit by the new raise, and will be compelled more by necessity than choice to force his already overworked wife to add bread making to her long list of multifarious duties

Born on the Hamilton Mountain and a son of the man that owned a large part of the land on which the City of Hamilton is now built, Mr. John Wedge, a descendant of a wealthy family, passed away in the House of Refuge here on Sunday night at the advanced age of 91 years. The deceased, who had been bed-ridden for the past two years, succumbed to the general ravages of old age. He was among the first to be admitted to the Bruce Shelter, he, entering fifteen years ago from the Township of Brant; where for many years he worked as a farm laborer. He is survived by a grown-up daughter. The remains were interred in the Walkerton cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. W. L. Bland, of Kincardine Tp., a former Captain in the 160th Battalion, and while about on recruiting duties in Mildmay had a farm which he rented entered onto by a neighbor named Brown, who turned Bland's cattle out and took possession of the place himself, and which resulted in a lawsuit at Walkerton to discover who had the right of possession, both claiming a lease to the place, and which resulted in Bland winning out here. It was again up for argument in Toronto the other day, Brown having appealed from the Walkerton decision. This latter bout was also won by Bland, who now gets undisputed possession of the place and over a hundred dollars damages. D. Robertson, K. C., of Walkerton, appeared for Bland at the trial and Lawyer Proudfoot, of Goderich, for Brown.

Mr. John Klein of town celebrated his 91st birthday on Friday last. Mr. Klein was born in Alsace, when that province was under French Rule. He came to Canada when a young man and taught school for many years in Berlin. He has been a resident of Walkerton for nearly forty years, and enjoys the distinction of being one of the town. His sons, Judge A. B. Klein and Lawyer O. E. Klein, of Walkerton, are justly proud of their father's longevity and his remarkably alert mind.

Wheat reached $1.50 per bushel on the local market this week, the highest price in years. Farmers have been selling rather freely.

Hanover

The death occurred in Hanover on Sunday last at 2 o'clock p.m. of Mr William Weis, at the early age of 38 years, 11 months and 15 days. Death was due to anaemia after about a year's illness. He was employed in the Knechtel factory and worked until 6 weeks ago. He has been bed-fast for the past 2 weeks. Deceased was born in Normanby, being a son of Mr Peter Weis, of Hanover. He moved to Hanover about 3 years ago, coming here from Elmwood. He married Miss Elizabeth Reiner, of Hanover 6 yrs. ago. He is survived by his widow and three children, two sons and one daughter Deceased was a member of St. Mathew's Lutheran church. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to the Hanover cemetery, Rev. H. Tweitmeyer had charge of the obsequies,

Mrs. Harry Miller, of Bentinck, had the misfortune on Saturday week to have her barn and contents destroyed by fire some unknown or unsuspected cause. The barn was a log one, with a frame lean-to, and contained the seasons crop, consisting of several loads of oats, four or five loads of wheat, a binder, buggy, harness, and a number of hens, all of which were destroyed.

Pte. James McCallum, youngest son of Mrs. John McCallum, of Brant, and brother of ex-Reeve Geo. McCallum, is officially reported wounded, the message which reached his mother on Saturday night from Ottawa stating that he was suffering from a serious gunshot wound in the upper extremity of the body, and that he had been admitted to the 25th General Hospital at Hadjiot, France on Sept. 27th. Pte. McCallum enlisted in British Columbia with the 62nd Battalion but on reaching England donned the kilt and has been serving in the trenches with the 43rd Highlanders since April. A letter describing the strenuous fighting he was going through reached his mother a few hours before the telegram announcing his wounding.

The Shadow of Broken Health

Can Be Quickly Dispelled Through the Use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

When the shadow of poor health follows your life; when hope begins to fade and friends look serious, then is the time you should remember that thousands just as hopeless have been cured and restored to the sunshine of health by the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These pills actually make new rich blood which brings a glow of health to anaemic cheeks; cures indigestion, headaches and backaches, drives out the stinging pains of rheumatism and neuralgia; strengthens the nerves and relieves as no other medicine can do the aches and pains from which womankind alone suffer. In any emergency of poor health give Dr. Williams Pink Pills a fair trial and they will not disappoint you Here is a case that will bring hope to many a weary sufferer. Mrs. E. C. Taylor, Ascot, Ave., Toronto, says: "A few years ago I was so run down with anaemia that I could scarcely walk about the house, and was not able to leave it. I had no color; my appetite was poor and I was constantly troubled with headaches; dizzy spells and general disinclination to move about or do anything. I tried many medicines, but none of them helped me; and my friends thought I was in a decline. One day a friend who was in to see me asked if I had tried Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I had heard of this medicine often, but had not used it. So I determined to give it a trial. I certainly got a pleasant surprise, for after using two boxes I could feel an improvement in my condition. Continuing the use of these pills I began to regain my health, the headaches and dizzy spells were disappearing, and I began to gain in weight. People began enquiring what I was taking and I was not slow to give Dr. Williams Pink Pills the credit. I took the pills for less than two months and completely regained my old time health and strength. I hope my experience may convince some doubting person as to the great merit of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, as I certainly have cause to be a firm champion of them."

You can get these pills through any dealer of medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

OWEN SOUND

On Monday afternoon there passed away at his late home on 8th street east, Owen Sound, one of Sydenham's pioneers; in the person of Mr. John Hope. The late Mr. Hope was born in 1847 at Annan, son of the late Walter Hope. When a young man he moved to the Manitoulin Island and there married He returned a few years after and latterly made his home on Eighth Street opposite the market. He was a veteran of the Fenian Raid of 1866, going to Kingston under Capt. J. P. Telford, with the Leith Company. He is survived by his widow, one son, James, with the 147th Battalion, and two daughters. The immediate cause of death was a paralytic stroke which Mr. Hope suffered recently but the deceased had been ailing for quite a long period. He was a Presbyterian in religion and a Liberal in politics The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon to Annan cemetery and was largely attended. The pall-bearers were Keith Webster, Geo. Holmes; Dougald McArthur; W. P.. Telford. A. E. Jones and Alex McNeilage. and the services at the house were conducted by the Rev. P. T. Pilkey, of Knox Church, Owen Sound.

The work of installing hydro power in Tara, has been commenced. This week a gang arrived in Derby and is engaged in putting up the poles between Tara and Rockford. It is expected that the new light will be switched on in Tara early in the New Year.

The new industry which The Times intimated was a possibility in the Tuesday issue rapidly reached development last night when Messrs. Watson, father and son, of Winnipeg, presented their proposition before a joint meeting of the members of the town council and the council of the board of trade. Negotiations probably terminated with the meeting as it is quite evident that unless the gentlemen interested in the industry see things in a different viewpoint, with regard to the issue of debentures nothing further will develop of the scheme.

Messrs. Watson arrived on Wednesday evening bringing with them a sample of their invention, a master clock electrically controlled and suitable for institutional premises. The clock was set up in the rooms of the board of trade over the Molson's Bank in the Kilborn block and was viewed by members of the town council and others who were interested to see it. Messrs. Watson certainly have produced an exceptionally good article, a thorough novelty in construction and absolutely accurate in operation. It is electrically controlled and from the master clock other time pieces in every room or department of a hotel or factory or in an institution are absolutely controlled by the electric contact which the inventors claim have reached a stage of compensating conditions that leave no question as to accuracy. Each minute is told out separately on every dial. Messrs. Watson are concentrating their energies on the manufacture of this clock and if a factory were constructed would develop as a secondary consideration the manufacture of house clocks of the ordinary kind for which there is a tremendous demand to-day owing to the fact that the German and Austrian clocks have a very large proportion of the trade.

Southampton

The Town Council met last Monday evening and settled a claim from Edward Longe for injury he received by tripping over a water service head, which had become exposed on the street near his home They paid him $50 in full of his claim. He was laid up and under the doctor's care for twenty-five days.

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving Services were held in St. Pauls church on last Sunday when large congregations listened to two excellent sermons by the Reverend R. Perdue of Walkerton Rural Dean for the County of Bruce The church was tastefully decorated, and the services were bright and hearty. The Rural Dean complimented the congregation on the improvement in the interior arrangement and appearance of the church, and especially on the way the Choir rendered their part of the service.

The ladies of the Patriotic Society had a hard week's work last week when they gathered and shipped a carload of waste paper, old magazines etc. The car was taken out for Toronto last Monday.

A fine yacht, the Hiawatha, owned by J. B. Ford of Detroit, was in the harbor for a few days last week. They left for Detroit Saturday morning, but owing to the rough sea were forced to return to the harbor. They were returning from a cruise up the lakes and there was a large party on board. Many of these returned to Detroit Saturday on the afternoon train. The yacht got away Monday morning.

Had a Nervous Breakdown, Could Not Sleep or Work

Is Now Cured and Attributes His Recovery to the Use of Dr. Chase's Medicines.

Some splendid results have been reported to us from the combined use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. In complicated cases they work together with great success.

While the Kidney-Liver Pills arouse the action of liver, kidneys and bowels, and so overcome derangements of these organs, the Nerve Food enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves and builds up the system in a general way.

Mr. R. B. Hillman, Parbrook, Muskoka, Ont., writes: "About four years ago I was all run down and could not work, and as to writing a letter, I could not do it on account of my hand shaking so badly. My nerves were unstrung and I was troubled with a nervous weakness. I could not sleep soundly and would start up so suddenly as to almost jump out of bed. My kidneys were bad, too, and I had awful pains in the back all day. I doctored with our family doctor, but he did not seem to know what I needed. I was recommended to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and could sleep well three nights after starting the use of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I take great pleasure in recommending these medicines, as I have proved that they do all that is claimed for them."

When used together the Nerve Food should be used after each meal and at bed-time, and the Kidney-Liver Pills only as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in healthy condition. Dr. Chase's medicines are for sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

East Bruce Teachers' Convention

Despite dull skies and an almost steady downpour of rain over one hundred teachers from the different schools in East Bruce assembled in Chesley on Thursday Oct. 19th, to hold their annual convention. The meetings were held in the Third Form of the High School which had been artistically draped with flags and bunting for the occasion.

Mr Kidd, Principal of Mildmay Public School, occupied the chair The chief speaker at the Convention was Mr Emery B. A. of Stratford Normal School. He gave two very inspiring addresses to the teachers. His first one was entitled "The Health of the Pupils" and in it he showed the close relation between mind and body and how all our great educationists such as Spencer and Locke emphasized the importance of health. Mr Emery went on to point out to the teachers that the chief aim in teaching hygiene should be to create and form good habits in the children. The other address was on "Nature Study and Literature". The speaker called attention to the fact that there was a great tendency in this age towards rational things and that the man who can do things was the man who was honored and people were in danger of losing sight of the spiritual side of life. He then went on to show how teachers through a proper teaching of Nature Study and Literature can do a great deal to arouse in a child a deeper spiritual life and a greater love of the beautiful.

Rev. Mr. Hilts spoke a few words of encouragement and advice to the teachers. He urged them not to stress too much the mental side of a child but to strive to develop him fourfold, - mentally, physically, morally and socially.

Other matters of interest to teachers were discussed and an excellent paper on 'Geography in Rural School' was given by Miss Viola Goodwin.

On Thursday afternoon at the close of the regular meeting the Teachers reorganized as a Patriotic Society and decided to contribute to the British Red Cross. Miss K. Schwalm of Mildmay was appointed Treasurer of the contributions.

Through the kindness of Mr M. A. Halliday and Manager Griffen the teachers enjoyed a visit to the munition factory on Friday morning and followed with much interest the different processes through which a shell passes before it is ready to be used against the enemy.

It was decided to hold the Convention next year at Wiarton. The officers appointed were—Pres. Miss Tugman; Vice Pres. Mr. Sanderson; Treas. Mr McCool; Secy M. Wallace.

The Republican candidate in the United States promises to do this if he is elected, and it is possible that the Canadian Government may find it necessary to take similar steps.

AT a meeting held in London to consider the high cost of living the following resolution was passed

"Resolved that in the opinion of this association the city council is wasting the civic taxes in sending any delegates to Ottawa to lessen the cost of living, as the Federal Parliament has already published a two-volume report containing over 2 000 pages on that particular subject. The people are a good deal like the cow that does not know its own calf, in other words they are themselves responsible for the set of conditions that now has them in its grip, and we believe it will grow materially worse."

The Cost of Living

WE have been quickly approaching a crises, something has to be done to relieve the situation, this is the whole thing in a nutshell.

Last week a deputation of the Mayors of a great many Canadian cities waited upon the government, and asked that the government apply its machinery. The Canadian people do not want any Royal Commission appointed, which will take two or three months to investigate and report. We want a blow hit good and hard and hit right away.

In replying to the deputation the Hon. Mr. Crothers said:

"The advance in prices in Canada had been less marked since the outbreak of the war than any other belligerent country, and any neutral country save United States. In Great Britain prices had gone up 65 per cent, in Germany 117 per cent; Austria .61; Switzerland 39. The increase in Canada had been 17.2 per cent. In the United States the advance had been 12 per cent."

If the advance in Canada has only been 17 per cent and the advance in Germany has been 117 per cent we are getting some satisfaction, but there is a faint idea in the minds of the Canadian people that the cost of living has advanced more than 17 per cent since August 1914. At all events it is becoming unbearable. If wheat goes to $2 it will bear heavily upon the poor.

But then it must be admitted that the Canadian people have not retrenched any since this world struggle began. They want to live just as well, and wear just as good clothes as ever, and it is this very thing which has brought about the crisis. They have the remedy in their own hands.

Local Merchants and Local Newspapers

(Walkerton Telescope)

EVERY mail brings to Walkerton and the surrounding country parcels from the big departmental stores. How did the big stores get in touch with all the individuals who send their money out of town? By advertising. If the Department Store men had not used printer's ink extensively they would still be in the same class as their smaller competitors. The Department stores met the threatened hard times, two years ago by doubling up on their advertising appropriations in the Metropolitan dailies. They would also advertise extensively in every local weekly in Canada if most of those weeklies had not closed their columns to protect the local merchants. The local weeklies are the local merchants first line of defence against the inroads of the Department Store. We believe if the local merchants thoroughly appreciated that fact they would give greater attention to the advertising than they are carrying in the Weeklies, and in a good many cases would carry a bigger space. And they would back their champions, the local weeklies, to the last ditch. Moreover the local weeklies are facing a crisis, owing to the impending rise in the newsprint market, which threatens to drive a good many papers out of business, and which makes it imperative in the interest of the local merchant that he support the local weekly to the utmost of his ability, not out of sentiment alone, but as a matter of cold, hard business.

He Got The Socks

At a recent shower of socks May Logan put her card in one and it will be seen that Private Tuffnell, in France was the receiver.

Somewhere in France, Sept 15,

Dear Miss Logan

I received the socks you sent me a short time ago and I must thank you very heartily for them. I hope that in the near future I will be able to thank you in a more personal way Well, Miss Logan, I suppose you will see by the papers that the Canadians are fighting on a new front, and I must say it is a very hot place. We do not get lonesome for the want of shells. I have been out here pretty nearly four months now, and I must say I am ready to go back at any time. It is starting to get pretty cold and wet in the trenches now, but we can stand a lot of that. I have seen quite a few Wiarton boys out here since I came, they seem anxious to get back again. I suppose Wiarton is pretty dull just now as so many of the young fellows have enlisted. I am out of the trenches at present for a rest and I must say we are all glad to get out. France and Belgium has been very pretty places at one time, but are in a terrible shape since the war started I see by the Wiarton paper that Charlie Dobson is over here somewhere, I would like to meet him. I will close for this time thanking you very heartily again for the socks, remember me to the Wiarton people.

I remain your sincere friend
Pte. Fred Tuffnell

The NURSE'S STORY

BY ADELE BLENEAU

Copyright, 1915, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

All this proved only too conclusively that the enemy was advancing and that our lines were horridly falling back.

These things seemed to stimulate, to encourage Von Schulling to make himself generally offensive. As I was changing the bandages on his wounded shoulder one morning he put his other arm about me and drew me to him until his lips touched my face. I freed myself at once, but in spite of my natural anger, the instinctive fear of what Captain Frazer would attempt to do if I disclosed the situation held me silent. Nevertheless I looked anxiously across the room to be sure he had not seen, and Von Schulling, catching my hurried glance, flung himself back on his bed, muttering with an oath something about "your schweinhund lover."

The situation was an impossible one, and I could see no better course than to leave him. What happened after I left the room I learned later from Captain Frazer.

Captain von Schulling lay muttering for some time, then gathering his strength he struggled to his feet for the first time in weeks. Clinging to the wall and to the table that was between their cots, he made his way to Captain Frazer and stood for a moment looking down on the despised Englishman. Perhaps some latent decency held him back for a moment, but the cold blooded indifference engendered by the scenes of suffering and torture through which he had passed choked out all better impulses, and he stooped over his desperately wounded enemy with a look of murderous hate. Captain Frazer felt from the first moment that Von Schulling intended to do and lay silently collecting all his faculties for a supreme effort when the moment came.

I have tried to p[illegible] that Von Schulling was demented at the time and that he could not have done what he did in cold blood.

However this may be, Von Schulling marshaled his strength for a second time and suddenly tore off the bandages about his enemy's wound. Captain Frazer struggled with feeble strength to ward off the attack, but his efforts must have been pitifully weak, for Von Schulling's attempt was almost successful.

Downstairs something came to me, for the second time in my life, which I cannot explain by any human agency. I was busy in one of the wards when, for no apparent reason, it was borne in on me that I must return at once to Captain Frazer's bedside. I have many times thanked the fates, or whatever guardian angel had me that day in its keeping, for bringing me that compelling message and for the fact that without stopping to reason I obeyed it, running up the stairs to the little attic room where my charges lay—an insistent premonition of danger knocking at my heart.

I burst into the room without knowing at all why I did so, but I am certain that I grasped the situation sooner for the impulse that had brought me there. Captain von Schulling stood by the Englishman's bedside with an expression on his face that I hope never to see again. Captain Frazer lay with a half contemptuous curl on his lips, vainly trying to rearrange the bandages.

The next few moments, as I look back on them, seemed to me like some awful nightmare. I know that I sprang forward and flung myself on Von Schulling, forcing him with unwonted strength back toward his bed. Fortunately, for me, the man had only one arm, else he could have, and fortunately for Captain Frazer, too, for it was this that saved his life. Although the Prussian fought me off like one demented, raining with a kind of vindictive triumph that I am sure gave me added strength, it never occurred to me to call for help. With all my power I forced the man back inch by inch until at last I managed to fling him across his bed. I stood over him for a second as he tried to rise, then, with triumphant hate in his face, he fell back on his bed in a dead faint.

I left him and darted across the room to where Captain Frazer lay, drawn and white, but unafraid. With trembling fingers I crudely replaced the bandages. Once or twice I paused in the work to run to the door and call for help, but no response came.

While I struggled with the bandages I was utterly absorbed, and when at last they were in place and the danger for the moment passed I looked up to find Von Schulling sitting on the edge of his bed and staring at me with a half bewildered rage in his eyes that sent a shudder through me.

Suddenly from below a perfect pandemonium broke out, the sound of motorcars coming and going and the shouts and screams of men and women. Coupled with these came the dull thunder of a bursting shell, together with the hideous crash of high explosives.

I ran to the window to see what was happening and then, hearing a laugh and a curse behind me, turned to find Von Schulling locking the door. The man stood there for a moment, swaying in his weakness, and then, with a leer, said:

"Now I've got you both!"

And he threw the key out the window.

I remember thinking of the situation as merely absurd rather than dramatic, but a moment later I realized that his action was not the result of delirium, but that he had a very definite and pregnant reason for turning the lock at that moment. Just then the handle of the door rattled, and some one excitedly called my name. I sprang forward to answer, but as I did so the Prussian flung his one good arm about me and crushed me against his breast so tightly that I could not make a sound. I was almost suffocated. By the time that I had struggled free there came no answer to my scream, though I could hear footsteps racing down the stairs outside. I was alone with Von Schulling and Captain Frazer, who, I was thankful, had lost consciousness some moments before. Von Schulling again caught me by the arm and dragged me to the window, where I could scarcely credit the sight that met my gaze.

With All My Power I Forced the Man Back Inch by Inch.

Swarming before the chateau and in long lines beyond were squadron after squadron of advancing cavalry. Von Schulling was beside himself, shouting and screaming like a maniac: "Welkommen, meine kamaraden! Der Tag!"

Speaking in a tone that carried a note of unquestioned command, he called in German: "Stop! There is no key. Break the lock, but do not batter down the door."

The men on the other side must have recognized and accepted the tone, for they carefully obeyed, and a moment later the door swung open, disclosing half a dozen yellow uhlans from Strasbourg gathered on the landing outside. Then they parted and an officer, obviously a Saxon, stepped forward and surveyed us. With cool authority he addressed Von Schulling.

"Who are you, and who are these people?" he asked.

"I am Captain von Schulling of the Eighteenth ——. She, as you see, is a military nurse. And that fellow there," he added contemptuously, "is, I think, a dead Englishman."

"What rank?"

I answered him quickly.

"He is Captain Frazer of the —— Sikh Indian army and is desperately ill. Have I your permission to attend him immediately?"

"Certainly, fraulein," he said. "Is there anything my men can do to help you?"

I was amazed at this kindness, and my eyes must have betrayed my thoughts, for he added quickly:

"You have nothing to fear, fraulein, from either myself or my men," and turning to Von Schulling, he said, "Are you able to come with me and make a report to the colonel?"

"Yes!" And slipping on his long military coat, together they passed out of the door and down the stairs. First, however—after a whispered remark or two from Von Schulling—the captain posted two men on guard outside the door.

With trembling fingers I set to work to readjust better the torn bandages and to bring Captain Frazer back to consciousness. Fortunately, God had blessed him with a constitution of iron, so it was not long before he opened his eyes. I did not speak. I waited to hear what he would say.

"Well," he said rather sadly, "our men have had to fall back. It must have been a pretty hurried retreat for such a thing as this to have happened, and all the while I have been lying here completely knocked out," and he muttered something that was suspiciously like an oath. "What has happened?"

"The Germans have advanced," I answered, "and are in possession of our hospital, but the officer who was here will treat us well. I am sure. He told me that we have nothing to fear. He asked who you were, and I told him."

"And I only woke up when it was all over," he smiled bitterly. "What's become of Von Schulling?"

CHAPTER XI.

Husband Hunting.

WE were taken, Captain Frazer and I, to the largest German camp in that part of the country. The morning after my arrival I was escorted through the hospital by one of the officers in command by way of instructing me in my temporary duties.

The hospital itself was well equipped and well managed in every detail. There were patients of all kinds, wounded English, French and Belgians. Some were Belgian civilians who had been brought to this camp because of insubordination and had been interned promiscuously with the soldiers. It struck me, however, that they were all of age to bear arms.

I had heard many rumors of the great difference made by the Germans in the treatment of their prisoners, the English having always the worst of it, but candor compels me to state that in this particular hospital no favoritism existed. They all fared rather badly as to food, it seemed to me, for coffee or tea without sugar or milk for breakfast with one small slice of black bread, and a cup of soup for lunch, replaced from time to time by boiled chestnuts; soup and a small piece of bread at tea time, and no supper, did not seem a very liberal or suitable diet for sick men. However, both the doctors and nurses seemed to me quite conscientious.

A thing quite new and interesting to me was the camp itself, and I was always anxious to see really how the men were treated. My opportunity came one afternoon when I had been there a few days. I happened to be standing at the door at the moment the head surgeon started on his tour of inspection. He was a pleasant, kindly man of about thirty-five, who had shown me consideration on several occasions. Noticing me, he stopped and said:

"Fraulein, my interpreter is on sick leave today. Will you come with me on my tour of inspection?"

It was a command in spite of his way of putting it, but one that I was happy to obey.

First we entered the "quarantine pen," as he described it.

"Here," he said, "we keep all our newly arrived prisoners for a period of four weeks until we are certain they have no contagious disease."

I do not know how many were there, but certainly hundreds, as the tent covered perhaps two acres of ground. It was separated from an adjoining one by a barbed wire fence and a roadway eight or ten feet wide.

The head surgeon said to the men in German that any who were ill should come and speak to him, but warned them that he had no time to listen to imaginary complaints. He then had me repeat this in English and in French.

A comparatively small number came forward, and of them only one seemed sufficiently ill to need immediate attention.

He was an Irish youth. I could scarcely believe he was old enough to have been accepted for service. The moment he spoke I knew he was a gentleman. He was so ill I realized that the malady must have been developing for several days at least, and I quickly asked him why he had so neglected himself.

He looked up at me rather shyly and said:

"I would have come today if you hadn't been here. The interpreter browbeats a fellow so. I'd rather have nothing to do with them."

He was sent at once to the hospital.

My idea concerning him proved correct. He was a younger son of one of the best known Irish families, who, not being able to go as an officer, had, as have so many Englishmen of birth, gone as a private.

The surgeon rapidly passed on to the buildings. There were perhaps a dozen of these, low buildings of stained boards standing on brick foundations, each exactly like the other. I learned afterward that each was supposed to hold 200 to 225 men. They were heated by stoves and lighted by electricity, and the ventilation, I noticed, was excellent.

The mattresses lying on the floor were of striped ducking, filled with wood shavings about two feet thick. In the center of the room were long, narrow tables, at which the men ate, wrote and played games.

"Discipline here is maintained among the men," the surgeon said to me, with a certain pride, "by officers of their own nationality. Of course, if anything goes wrong we step in."

I had observed, however, that batteries of artillery were stationed at points of vantage here and there around the camp and that each building had lookout towers in which sentries mounted guard day and night.

By the time our tour was at an end it was suppertime, and I saw on all sides the prisoners cooking their own food. I remarked to the surgeon that the men were having vegetables as well as bread for supper.

"Yes, today," he replied, "but it is not a regular thing to have both, but at noon they have good soup, in which has been cooked meat, and vegetables and black bread."

Going out we passed the store. The printed price list was hung up. I noticed among the articles on sale, soap, brushes, shirts, towels, German dictionaries and French, English and German grammars. There was no food on the list.

The surgeon called my attention to the price of the German grammars and dictionaries. They were 6 cents each.

"You see," he explained, laughing, "how the general staff encourage the learning of our language," and then he added gravely, "for they hope it will lead to a better understanding of us, and so make for great good."

I could not resist the temptation to ask, "So you feel that to know the Germans is to love them?"

For a moment he did not know whether to be angry or to laugh. Perhaps I looked at him a little apologetically, which threw the balance in favor of the latter, for he smiled and said, "But I am afraid the knowledge of a language doesn't mean knowing the people, as many Germans know English"— and he left the sentence unfinished.

"And do the English know German?" I asked.

"Not many," he answered. "And those who do have learned it in order to read philosophy, literature, science —and there it ends. After all," he continued with characteristic German analysis, "my own opinion is that language cannot express good will unless it is already there, and if that is lacking the more closely two peoples come into contact the more likely they are to discover points of disagreement and ultimately to quarrel."

Germany undoubtedly made painstaking provision for every possible contingency arising out of a state of war. She even held yearly maneuvers at industrial establishments so that at a moment's notice they might, for example, turn from the manufacture of toys to the making of shrapnel. Yet vast numbers of her wounded found the medical organization unprepared. Perhaps that was due to the fact that the number of wounded far exceeded all expectations. However well equipped a country may be, it still remains a gigantic task to care for a million wounded, and that is what Germany had to do. Throughout that country, I was told, as in France, private houses, schools, university buildings and amusement halls were being turned into hospitals.

I was surprised to learn that German wolfhounds are used in helping the orderlies pick up the wounded on the battlefields. They have been of valuable assistance, as wounded men instinctively seek shelter and, owing to

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

TEUTONS ARE HALTED

Roumanians Are Holding Their Own in Mountain Passes.

Mackensen Has Broken Left Wing of Russo-Roumanian Line and Has Reached the Coast—Bucharest and Petrograd Admit a Slight Withdrawal, but Deny Teutonic Claims of a Great Victory.

LONDON, Oct. 23. — Sunday's news from Transylvania continues to be generally good from the Entente allies' standpoint, though in the Buzen Valley they admit a retirement, and there has been fighting only five miles from Tergu Ocna, the important Roumanian railroad junction in the Trotus Valley in Moldavia. The Austrians who had reached that far were thrown back to the frontier, however. Elsewhere the successful defence of the mountain passes continues.

All told, 600 prisoners, two guns, and ten machine guns have been captured from von Falkephayn's armies in engagements scattered over the whole mountainous front of 400 miles. Most of these were taken when Austrians occupying Mount Negoi were surrounded and "put to the sword" in the Roumanian phrase.

The new offensive of Field Marshal von Mackensen in Dobrudja has, however, caused the Russian and Roumanian troops to retire slightly, the Petrograd War Office announced Sunday.

The Berlin War Office claims, however, that von Mackensen has smashed the Russo-Roumanian left wing in the Dobrudja and is advancing on the important Black Sea port of Constanza. He has captured Tuzla, on the coast ten miles south of Constanza, and cut into the main positions elsewhere on the 45-mile battle front.

The German, Turkish and Bulgarian troops under the German field marshal have stormed the heights north-west of Toprai Sarri, ten miles west of Tuzla. They have also captured Russo-Roumanian positions north of Cocargea and north-west of Mulcieva. The Roumanian statement admits a withdrawal on the centre and left wing.

The towns of Toprai Sarri, 14 miles south-west of Constanza, and Cobadin, 17 miles south-east of the Danube town of Rachova, have been taken.

Thus far the Teutonic troops have taken 3,000 Russian prisoners, including a regimental commander, and some hundreds of Roumanians, says the German statement. Twenty-two machine guns and one mine-thrower also were captured.

SERBS MOVE ON MONISTIR.

They Have Captured Mountain Positions and Are Traversing Plain.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The Serbian forces which, having captured by long, hard fighting the flanking mountain positions to the east, pushed down to the plains and across the Cerna River, are now advancing rapidly on Monastir. In the river bend they have reached the suburbs of the town of Baldentsi, four miles north of Brod, and but 10 miles from Monastir.

German troops are now assisting the Bulgarians in an attempt to check the advance of the Serbians who forced a passage of the Cerna River on the Macedonian front, south-east of Monastir and captured several towns. The Berlin official account of Sunday in regard to the Macedonian campaign follows:

"The struggle in the bend of the Cerna has not been terminated. German troops are engaged there."

The Serbian official report reads:

"On the evening of Oct. 19 in the Cerna River sector General Mischitch's army advanced successfully in the direction of Baldentse village, north-west of Brod. We took four field guns, one trench mortar, seven machine guns, and a large quantity of other war material. We also captured two Bulgarian officers and one German officer, and 114 Bulgarian and 24 German men.

"In this sector we identified among the enemy forces two German regiments that had recently arrived, one from the Russian front and the other from Gievgeli, in the Vardar region.

"On the rest of the front nothing important occurred."

Storm on Lake Erie.

BUFFALO, Oct. 23.—At 1 o'clock this morning the overdue steamer Merida of Midland, Ont., had not been reported.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23—Storm-swept Lake Erie Sunday gave another fragment of its "Black Friday"—another vessel pounded to pieces in the stinging gale and grinding waves, carrying 21 men to their deaths. The latest victim of the fierce storm is the Cleveland whaleback, James B. Colgate, bound from Buffalo to Fort William, Ont., with a cargo of coal, and the only survivor, her commander of two weeks, Captain Walter Grashaw, of this city.

Captain Grashaw, buffeted about on a frail raft since 10 o'clock Friday night, was picked up by a rescue steamer at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in a pitiable condition, and was unable at first to tell a coherent story of the catastrophe that befell his ship and crew. When first sighted by the rescue ship which brought him to Conneaut, Ohio, the captain, half unconscious, was prostrate on the raft, numbed hands wrapped around the ropes twined across it, his body lashing in the waves. His fight at that moment to hold on until help arrived was nothing compared to his struggles during the previous 34 hours, when two companions, Second Engineer Ossman of Cleveland, and a coal passer, name unknown, who shipped at Buffalo just prior to the ship's departure from that port, were washed from the raft by the giant waves that buffeted it like a cork on the surface of the lake.

CANADIANS DECORATED.

Distinguished Service Order, Military Crosses, and D.C.M.'s Awarded.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The following were decorated by the King at Buckingham Palace on Saturday:

Distinguished Service Order—Captain Malcolm Belleving.

Military Cross—Captains Lindsay, 24th Batt.; Stanley Kent, 10th Batt.; Guy Gurney, 1st Batt.; Lieuts. Jas. Andrews, 28th Batt.; Thos. Williams, 28th Batt. Lieut. Williams, who lost both feet in action, was borne on a stretcher to the King, who bent over and pinned the cross over his breast.

Distinguished Conduct Medals have been granted to the following:

Corporal J. J. Kelly, infantry, though wounded in a heavy bombardment, stuck to his post, and his cool and fearless handling of his section was largely responsible for the repulse of the enemy.

Sergeant C. McDowell, infantry, when two of the enemy penetrated a trench he immediately attacked them, and though wounded with a pistol shot, succeeded in bayonetting one, and then killed the two with a bomb.

Sergeant D. McLeod, Engineers. During a bombardment he rescued a wounded man from a crater under heavy machine-gun and shell fire. By faithful work and devotion McLeod was to a great extent responsible for the recovery of a deep enemy gallery, which enabled the position to be successfully held.

Sergeant A. O'Brien, Engineers. During a bombardment he rescued a wounded man from a crater under heavy machine-gun and shell fire, and was to a great extent responsible for the recovery of a deep enemy gallery.

477770 Reynolds, Royal Canadians. Was leading a bombing party and after being wounded continued to press forward and throw bombs with the greatest coolness and precision. Was the only man who reached the enemy parapet, where he fought alone with a revolver and bombs. Again hit, he extricated himself with difficulty.

The following have been gazetted for the Military Medal:

Corporal V. A. Arding, Private J. Barton, infantry; Sergt. L. T. Beer, Engineers; Corporal F. Bullen, Private A. N. Burgess, Royal Canadians; Sapper E. Graham, Sergeant A. Harrison, Engineers; L. C. Kamb, Royal Canadians; Sapper T. Maish, Engineers; Lance-Corporal J. C. McCarran, infantry; Corporal W. J. McCauley, Engineers; Private Nobbs, infantry; J. O'Rourke, Sergeant E. L. Pyver, Private J. H. Richards, infantry; Private N. Rooney, Mounted Rifles; Acting Sergeant B. C. Rowley, Private O. W. Sale, infantry; Bomber D. P. Simpson, Sergeant T. Toon, Engineers; Corporal J. Walter, infantry.

Sergeant J. C. Stackhouse, of the Artillery. When a shell had just been rammed home, he realized that the fuse had become ignited, and instantly stopped the cartridge being put in and order the gun crew to cover. The explosion took place harmlessly. The officer's promptness and pluck probably saved many casualties.

SHEERNESS BOMBED.

Hostile Aeroplane Visits Southeast Coast of England.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A hostile aeroplane appeared over the southeast coast Sunday and dropped four bombs in the vicinity of Sheerness, it is announced officially. No casualties have been reported.

The following official account of the attack reads:

"A hostile aeroplane approached Sheerness at about 1.45 p.m. Sunday, flying very high. Four bombs were dropped, three of which fell into the harbor. The fourth fell in the vicinity of a railway station and damaged several houses and factories.

"British aeroplanes went up, and the raider made off in a north-easterly direction. No casualties have been reported."

An official communication issued later said:

"A hostile seaplane was shot down and destroyed Sunday afternoon by one of our naval aircraft. The enemy machine fell into the sea, badly hit by time, it was probably the seaplane which visited Sheerness Sunday."

No Reflection on Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—I have been granted an interview by Lord Robert Cecil, Foreign Under-Secretary, who in an interview to the American press stated that certain amounts of nickel emanating from allied territory which were despatched to the United States ultimately found their way to Germany on board the submarine Deutschland.

Lord Robert assured me that this in no way referred to nickel from Canada, and that he had no intention whatever of criticising the arrangements for controlling Canadian nickel or suggesting that any Canadian nickel reaches the enemy. The British Government is perfectly satisfied with the precautions taken and arrangements made by the Canadian Government with regard to nickel.

Britain Grateful.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—The splendid contribution to the British Red Cross Fund made by Ontario, and especially by Toronto, has made a most gratifying impression in London. To his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor's cablegram on Friday night announcing the result, Sir Robert Hudson, Chairman of the Finance Committee, cabled the following reply:

"Sir John Hendrie, Toronto:

"Please accept and communicate to all concerned our most grateful thanks for the wonderful munificence of your Province. The grand contribution from Toronto must surely constitute a record, and the splendid assistance given by Ontario insures the success of 'Our Day.'

"Robert Hudson."

NEW BRITISH ADVANCE

Haig Pushes Lines Forward 500 Yards on Three Mile Front.

Stuff and Regina Trenches Are Captured and Over One Thousand Prisoners Taken—Big Bite Was Rendered Necessary—French Repulse Counter Attacks — Fine Weather for Artillerymen.

LONDON, Oct 23.—General Haig's troops delivered a heavy stroke on the German lines in the direction of Le Sars in Picardy Saturday, advancing on a three-mile front to a depth of from 300 to 500 yards, and capturing the Regina and Stuff trenches. The whole of the objective was gained, Sir Douglas Haig reports, and 1,018 prisoners were taken. The British casualties were slight.

Twice during Sunday — in the morning and in the afternoon — the Germans launched violent attacks against the newly-won French positions in the Chaulnes woods, south of the Somme River, in France. Both attacks were repulsed, the Germans suffering heavy casualties, says Paris. Some of the attackers in the morning offensive gained a foothold in the French first line, but were surrounded and the 150 survivors made prisoner.

The following joint despatch dated Saturday evening has been received from the British war correspondents' headquarters in France:

"The past two days of blue skies and hard cold winds has resulted in a general drying of the ground in the battle area, again permitting activity. The British troops have already taken advantage of the improvement.

"Shortly after noon Sunday, following a hurried bombardment an attack was delivered along a front of about 5,000 yards, running from north of Mouquet Farm in the direction of Le Sars. Our infantry advanced in fine style and the enemy, apparently surprised, put up a comparatively small show of resistance. A trench, which the Germans had seemingly already found untenable, was occupied and various useful positions were secured. Our casualties are said to have been very light.

"Schwaben redoubt has been the scene of something pretty expensive to the enemy. Saturday morning the Germans delivered a counter-attack against this work, to which they appear to attach much importance. Our men employed bombs and ride grenades so vigorously that the foe never reached the parapet, but was beaten back, leaving a great number of dead and wounded in the open.

"In the small hours of Sunday morning a stronger and more determined assault was launched against the same spot. On this occasion the enemy gained a footing in the redoubt, but our men fought so fiercely that the enemy was soon routed, leaving one officer and 79 men in our hands.

"A feature of the past few days has been the highly successful counter battery work of our artillery, direct hits having been made upon a large number of the enemy guns and emplacements. In view of the fact that the German admit they are wearing out their guns on the Somme front more rapidly than they can be replaced, this is eminently satisfactory."

"In the course of violent fighting on the Somme front Saturday, in which the Entente allies sustained heavy losses, the British gained ground in the northern sector, near the Ancre River, in the direction of Grandcourt and Pys," the Berlin War Office announced Sunday.

Further Demands on Greece.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The presentation by the Entente allies of further demands on Greece, including the removal of Greek troops to the southern part of the country, and the handing over of Greek war supplies, is reported by Reuter's Athens correspondent.

The Athens despatch, which is dated Friday, says the demands were presented to King Constantine by the French military attache. Greece is required to transfer the entire military force in Thessaly (in the rear of the allied forces in Macedonia) to Morea (the peninsula forming the southern extremity of Greece). Delivery to the allies of war materials destined for the Thessalian forces is also required. Other demands were made, the nature of which is unknown.

Sixteen Cents Not Enough.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 23.—St. Catharines bakers, when called before a special meeting of the City Council appointed to investigate the recent increase in the price of bread to sixteen cents a large loaf, presented a statement to show that at this rate and the present price of flour bakers cannot produce bread without a loss of twenty-four cents on every bag of flour turned into bread. They informed the committee that another increase must follow at once or they must quit business.

Two French Generals Wounded.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Two of the best known French generals, Brigadier-General Marchand, of Fashoda fame, and General Sainte-Claire Deville, have been wounded in battle. Gen. Marchand's injuries are not regarded as serious, in fact, it is announced that he will be able to continue in command of his brigade on the western front. Gen. Sainte-Claire Deville, however, is seriously wounded.

German Cruiser Torpedoed.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A German light cruiser has been torpedoed by a British submarine. The announcement by the Admiralty reads:

"A British submarine just returned from the North Sea reports that she torpedoed a German light cruiser of the Kolberg class early Thursday morning. When last seen the cruiser was steaming slowly in evident difficulties towards German waters."

OLIPHANT

Mr and Mrs Ed Longe and family of Southampton are domiciled on McConnyris Island for a short time.

Mrs. G. R. McDonald (nee V. McKenzie) is visiting with friends in Wiarton this week.

Mr M. McKenzie collected for the Red Cross Fund in Oliphant as far as Mr Swales and obtained the sum of $53.75 which was a very reasonable amount for the locality. It would seem that those who have made the supreme sacrifice in giving their boys for their country, should in most cases, especially when not largely possessed of worldly goods, be exempt from giving, but we find them heading the list frequently while others well off, who have no boys serving, do not respond as they might or could.

James Eyre and family visited his mother here last Sunday.

Mr G. Porter entertained some friends from Wiarton in their summer cottage on Sunday.

Lieut. Harold Hay and C. Dargavel are spending a few days hunting at Oliphant.

Mrs J. Buchanan, of Toronto, is visiting her sister Mrs Foulkes but intends returning home on Thursday next.

The steamer Harrison came into port with her scow in tow and loaded over 100 tons of hay for the owner's use in their camps on the Upper Lakes. In looking over the list of contributions to the British Red Cross our township compares favorably with some of our neighbors. No doubt $350 is a small amount for so worthy a cause, but when some municipalities ignore the request entirely, it makes one feel that if it is necessary next year it would not require a Solomon to devise a better plan of assisting this fund on a more equitable basis.

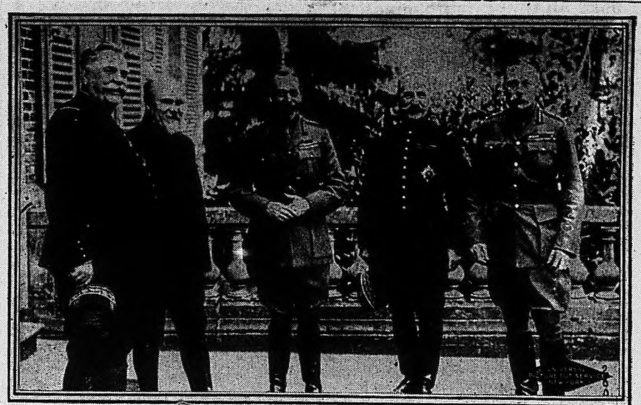
Miss Marshall, who has been keeping house for Mr. George Butchart left last week for Jackson.

The Meaford called Saturday night, the Mystery Sunday afternoon, and the Tug Queen Sunday night with a load of salt.

Mr. Tyson, of Wiarton, was here scaling lumber, that he purchased from Mr. Forbes. When the weather was not favorable for scaling lumber he took occasion to try his luck out trolling. To be successful at that requires a knowledge of the fishing grounds,



Mr. John Pettigrew had a barn raising last week and now has a building which he has long needed in the village. It is a good strong structure and considering the high price of labor and material, was put up at a very moderate price.

Sanitary wool fleece shirts at Whit Moore's for 50c or 2 for 95c while they last. The drawers are all gone but there are several dozen Shirts left and that is a very low price.

Miss Dorothy Sutherby of Wiarton is the guest of Miss Millie Tackaberry.

The Red Cross Work will not be opened next Friday as the ladies are going to make a canvass of the village to raise money to buy flannelette and yarn to work for the soldiers.

Mens natural wool underwear at Whit Moores for $1.25 a garment, much better than are generally sold at that price. Some day some one is going to be sorry that they did not buy enough to last for more than one year.

GOLDEN VALLEY

The Schooner Bert Barnes, of Southampton, Capt. John Graham, of Kincardine, bound from Sarnia to Johnston's Harbor, was obliged to seek shelter near Round Island, but during the gale of Wednesday an anchor was lost, forcing the schooner to run into Golden Valley harbor Her proposed trip will have to be abandoned and she will return to Kincardine

During the terrific gale on Wednesday evening 25th, a battered two-masted schooner made a precarious way through Round Island channel and anchored in shelter of Round Island. Her sails were badly torn and it was clear she could not weather the gale to her destination.

She proved to be a sister ship of the Bert Barnes, the 'Lyman Davis' Captain Colin Graham, of Kincardine, bound from Collins Inlet on the North Shore to Sarnia. To the fact that the four Graham brothers who own and sail these vessels are lifelong sailors and know every harbor and nook of the west shore of Lake Huron is due the present safety of vessels and crews but it was a close call for the Lyman Davis even though she had a master hand at her helm.

May both vessels reach their destinations safely and may the Government awake to the crying need of harbors of refuge on Canadian Lake Huron before more sailors pay the price of the want of these.

Angus Graham, of Goderich, who was drowned in the fierce gale which swept Lake Erie two weeks ago, was a cousin of Captain Graham.

OWEN SOUND

Quite a number of Owen Sounders are going north hunting next week, as the hunting season opens next Wednesday. A number of parties are going up, many of them larger than in previous years. The season promises to be a good one, and the 30 or 40 men going from here look forward to big bags. As yet all of the parties are not complete as some of the men find it difficult to make arrangements to leave their business.

On Monday evening last, instead of holding their weekly meeting as usual, the A. Y. P. A. of St. George's Church spent the time packing up a handsome Christmas box for each of the Church boys now overseas. Each box, which was of tin, contained a pair of home-knit socks, several packages of tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, home-made cakes, and candy, condensed milk, 10 cubes, dates, chocolate bars and chewing gum. These were mailed to-day, and when received by those overseas will no doubt be enjoyed to the fullest extent. An extra large box was mailed to Pte. Joseph Crane, who has been a German prisoner now for eighteen months.

Lieut. John C McCorkindale, a third year art student has been awarded the Military Cross for service in France, according to a message received Wednesday by his uncle Mr. J. H. McCorkindale, of this town Lieut McCorkindale enlisted in February 1915, with the Eaton Battery but was later transferred to the imperial forces and is now a member of the 36th Division Royal Field Artillery. This is the second time Lieut. McCorkindale has distinguished himself in the field, as he won a D. C. M. in July at the beginning of the Somme offensive. He is the third Owen Sound boy to be so distinguished. In his school career Lieut. McCorkindale also was distinguished not only in sports in which he played a prominent part, but in his studies. He was the winner of the McDonald Scholarship at Varsity Major Robert Pollock of D. Co., 147th Grey Bottalion, is a cousin of Lieut Mc Corkindale.

On Monday a grey goose lit in the yard among the geese and ducks belonging to Mr. Reuben Moore who lives on Twentieth street just outside the town limits. No one knows why the bird came down as it is not wounded. When Mr. Moore discovered the stranger he tried to drive it into the barn with the geese but it flew away later coming back among his ducks. A second attempt to get it under shelter was successful and caught it was put in a box and on Wednesday brought in to Christie Bros. & Co's hardware store where it has been on exhibition The goose is a young one and probably got separated from the flock and lost its way, or not being strong enough to hold up under the severe strain of the migratory flight had to rest and took shelter among his domesticated fellows where it was captured.

The destruction by fire last week of the cold storage plant and warehouse of the Dominion Fish Co., at Collingwood will have the result of concentrating the company's Georgian Bay business in Owen Sound and Wiarton. In years past Collingwood was one of the largest fish shipping points on the lakes, until this year when the plant was closed down, owing it is said to the illness of the manager. Last week the plant was wiped out by fire and it is understood that will not be rebuilt. As a matter of fact Collingwood has been on the map to a very large extent as far as the fish business is concerned for some time, owing to the business being mostly directed towards Owen Sound and Wiarton. The Str. Caribou and Manitou bring the bulk of the Northern Shore fish to Owen Sound for shipment, while the Str. Meaford brings a good deal of the local Georgian Bay fish shipments to Wiarton. Another Dominion Fish Co. tug the Alice G. has headquarters at Point au Baril and ships from Depot Harbor. A local fish business will be carried on at Collingwood by Capt W. A. Clark.

A Derby farmer's wife had a sad experience for her on Friday morning last. She offered ten pounds of butter for sale on the market, but before she got rid of it, Mr Chas. Pratt discovered that every print was two ounces short. He confiscated the lot and the woman's husband was asked to appear in the Police Court on Saturday morning He failed to put in an appearance and the butter was handed over to the Children's Shelter. Doubtless the farmers wife was not guilty of any attempt to defraud the purchaser of the commodity, but the case will serve as a warning to other as a warning to others that their scales must be accurate. Had Mr Pratt not been on the watch some purchaser would have paid for over a pound of butter which he did not get, and in these times there is no citizen who wants to do that.

Rheumatism in The Blood

It Can Only Be Cured by Thoroughly Enriching the Blood Supply

Not so long ago rheumatism was looked upon as a pain in the muscles or joints brought on by exposure to dampness or bad weather. Now doctors know that it is rooted in the blood, and while exposure may start the pain, nothing but the renewal of the poisonous acid from the blood will cure the trouble. It is a waste of both time and money to try to cure rheumatism with liniments, poultices or anything that only goes skin deep. Rubbing lotions into the skin may give tempory relief, but it actually helps to circulate the poisonous acid more freely and thus in the end increases the trouble, and perhaps leaves the sufferer permanently crippled. The one cure, the only cure, for rheumatism is to drive the acid which causes the trouble out of the blood. To do this no other remedy can equal Dr. Williams Pink Pills which actually make new blood sweeps out the poisonous acid, loosens the stiffened, aching joints, and bring good health and comfort. Here is the proof. Mr. Joseph Crouse of Ninevah, N. S. says; "For several years I was severely afflicted with rheumatism. The trouble seemed to locate in all the joints in my body and my suffering at times was most intense, and the disease greatly interfered with my activity. I doctored steadily for a long time, but the trouble was obstinate and did not yield in the least to the doctor's treatment. One day a friend told me of some cures of rheumatism by the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills and strongly advised me to try them I did so and to my great surprise eight boxes completely cured me of the trouble, and I was as supple, active and free from pain, as ever I had been in my life. Better still, I have never felt a symptom of the trouble since."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six box for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

Chesley

On Monday evening a public reception was tendered Lieut. Duncan Anderson, an artillerymen who rose from the ranks and is now home convalescing after being severely wounded with shrapnel while serving at the front. The returned hero was welcomed home on behalf of the Tp. of Elderslie in a neat speech by Reeve Cass to which the officer replied giving an outline of the work done by the artillery at the front. His mother and father Mr and Mrs Alex Anderson of Scone were given seats on the platform as were also returned soldiers Knighton and Green members of the Patriotic Association and Mrs Bell and Mrs Dr. Williamson of the local Red Cross Society. Bright speeches giving the sphere of work of the British Red Cross Society and soliciting generous contributions to the worothy object were made by the chairman (Mayor Halliday) Reeve Brown, Dr. Mair, Dr. Bisbo, W. D. Bell Principal banister of the High School, Lance-Corp. Green, Pte. Knighton, and Mrs Williamson. The program which was generally admitted to have been the best ever held in the Town Hall from the standpoint of local speeches, was interpersed with girls' choruses and selections by the Methodist choir.

The fire alarm rang at 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning and the fire brigade soon had a stream of water playing on B.W. Hoefling shoe store which was soon put out but not before the stock and building had been damaged. The cause of the fire is unknown There is $3,200 insurance on both building and stock.

Lieut. S. G. Thompson of the 221st Battalion located at Camp Hughes, Man., was calling on his father councillor Thomson of Elderslie last week. He left for Winnipeg on Saturday, accompanied as far as Toronto by his father and sister Kathleen Lieutenant Thomson is a fine broad-shouldered fellow weighing about 190 lbs.

At a special meeting of Elderslie Council on Saturday a grant of $1500 was made to the British Red Cross.

Charlie Bowman M. P. P. for West Bruce presented Col. Weir with a cheque for $500 before the camp broke up at Carling Heights for extra food and other necessities for the boys of the 160th Batt. when they arrive in England. Well done Charlie! A line in an old Jacobite song goes "For who'll be King but Charlie." The Jacobite Prince was a pretender but our own Charlie is a real Prince.

Southampton

Reports were circulated around town the first of this week that the 160th Bruce Batt., has arrived in England. This would seem to be untrue as letters are daily arriving from our boys at Halifax. When the boys are to cross the ocean will probably remain a dark secret to all expect the heads of the Militia Department until they actually start

Mr. George Dobson and son of Wiarton were here last week assisting to get the tug D McLeod off the shore. The big storm of Friday raised the water some and on Saturday the tug was back in its element, and is now on duty again.

Mr. John Rushton, of North Bruce who was so badly injured by a fall from a mow in his mow a couple of months ago, continues to improve. He is now able to sit up some.

Dr. W. S. Laird and Dr Houston, of Paisley, left Monday for New York, where they will take a three week's course in special study.

Mrs. Thos. Weir, who has been visiting her parents Mr and Mrs Wm Henry, Inverney, the past two months, left on Tuesday for her home in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. She was accompanied by her mother who will spend three months in the West.

Corporal Joe Lomont, of the 242nd Battalion, who was arrested here two works ago for keeping T. F. King's automobile and driving around Hanover, also for converting funds of the battalion to his own use, was tried in Wiarton instead of being taken to Montreal, and was let go on suspended sentence provided he goes overseas at once. He returned to Toronto and has been attached to an infantry battalion.

The collection in aid of the British Red Cross last Thursday (Trafalgar Day) amounted to about $450. It is expected the Council will make a grant and bring the amount up to $500. This is about the same amount as was subscribed last year.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

Editorial

MR. HUGH CLELAND, Meaford, is regarded as the likely Liberal Candidate in North Grey for Federal honors.

THE amounts given to the Red Cross appeal, by the various municipalities in Bruce, have been most praiseworthy. Kincardine gave $3,245,77.

THE Law Society of Upper Canada points with pride to the fact that twenty six members have been killed in action and twenty-five have been wounded

IT is probable that the great majority of Canadians are interested in United States politics so much that instead of wanting to see either Wilson or Hughes elected they would like to see them both defeated.

WHEN Australia is divided on conscription it would probably be defeated beyond all doubt in Canada where we have a French population apparently so little in sympathy with the present war.

THE London Advertiser regrets the fact that the editorials are disappearing from the rural weeklies What's the use of the the Country Scribe bothering his head for "The Globe" and "The Star" have undertaken the work of evangelizing Ontario.

THE statistics for the Guelph jail for the year ending September 30th, 1916, show that there were seventy-five prisoners in the jail during the year. Sixty-seven were male and five female, and of the total twenty-two were married and fifty single, showing the unmarried man to be the greator offender. The average daily cost per day for rations was 11½c.

THE Rev. Canon Tucker, London, thinks that we might have a compulsory system of recruiting which would not include Quebec. We fancy this would meet with opposition of the most determined character. Why should Quebec be exempt? That Province above all others, has insisted upon its rights They have asserted again and again that they compose one-third of the population of Canada and consequently are entitled to one-third of the official positions at Ottawa, and this point has been considered by all the governments. Let them do one-third of the fighting or take a back seat after this in Federal affairs. But Quebec will never have a back seat no matter what government is in power.

NOW that the big dailies are up against a paper bill they want the advertisers to help out, and the great national advertisers are registering a kick, and well they may for the cost of a daily paper is all the way from 3 to 5 cents and is sold for 1 or 2. The price charged to the subscriber scarcely pays for the paper. The rural weekly would have more respect for the big daily if it got down to business.

WOULD this resolution of the Owen Sound Board of Trade take here? Resolved that His Worship the Mayor, Messrs J. Parker, E. Lemon, W. R. Chester and J. J. Douglass be a committee to take up the question of procuring one hundred men or more to sign an agreement to take $100 of stock in any good industrial proposition recommended by a committee to be named whose duty it shall be to investigate each and every proposition offered and to draft the agreements to be submitted.

The Supreme Sacrifice

Last week Mr and Mrs Glover received the sad information by wire that their son Lloyd had been killed in action on the battlefield. Lloyd Glover was a good boy, a son to be proud of. He was born in Wiarton attended school here, and about two years ago went West. He enlisted in Winnipeg with his half brother and had been at the front for some time. He was about 19 years of age and his early death is to be regretted, but the fact that he had those manly qualities that chose death at the present time, if needs be, will be of the greatest comfort to his parents.

Flag not to fly at half Mast

It has been decided in town that the flag will not hereafter fly at half mast during the war. It is the general opinion that the flag must be kept flying at the very top of the mast, and that there must be Spartan bravery. It will then be understood that it is not because we fail to appreciate the supreme sacrifice which some have made for their country, but we do not believe in the principle, and we do not wish to do it for some and not for others.

BIRTHS

THOMAS—At Scotch Corners, Albemarle, Oct 30th to Robert Thomas and wife a daughter.

A short time ago an artist passed a cheque on Noah Geib for $7 that was n. g. His name was Arthur Metcalfe. He left town, where was he? Well last week High Constable Ward came to The Echo office and got out 200 circulars giving a description of the young gentleman, and calling for his arrest. On Tuesday night the Chief of Police had him arrested in Hamilton. If the circulars are printed at The Echo, and if Rob Ward has the job then there is something doing.

Pumpkins, ghosts and witches were in prominence on Tuesday night at Mrs. J. Hunter jr's residence, when she entertained in honour of her niece Miss Martin. About eight tables played euchre, then lunch was served. After lunch in a spooky corner in the hall, two witches told fortunes. This corner of course was very much besieged. Music for the dancing was supplied by both piano and victrola. Mrs. Young, of Shallow Lake and Mrs. W. Cameron, of Hepworth, were guests of the evening. A number of other affairs have been given for Miss Martin, during her visit in town.

Mr. Gordon E. Smith, the popular and energetic G. T. R. agent, has received notice of his promotion to the Toronto office of the Company where he will join the staff of Divisional Freight agent, Mr. L. McDonald. This is a decided and deserved promotion and Mr. Smith's many friends, while they will greatly regret his removal from Hespeler, where he has "made good" will be pleased to see that his ability and energy are being recognized by the men higher up. Mr. Smith leaves for Toronto at the end of the month, or just as soon as his successor here is appointed.—Hespeler Herald.

BY ADELE BLENEAU

Copyright, 1915, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

the protective coloring of their uniforms, are very likely to be overlooked by the searchers.

The men brought in from the front were washed, shaved and given fresh clothing. If a patient has received the iron cross or has been recommended for such distinction the fact is stated in large letters on a tablet attached to his bed.

The Germans have made a careful study of the psychology of the sick room. They endeavor to make their hospital wards cheerful and pleasant, and the great majority of their trained nurses are trim, nice looking girls, whose air of coquetry an austere surgeon seriously informed me is "deemed helpful to the patient."

I was pleased to find in this hospital that the chief bacteriologist was a woman and that the system of surgery was highly conservative. Unbelievable effort was made to save limbs, and their method of treating wounds from firmly embedded bullets was to leave the bullet undisturbed wherever possible.

Of all projectiles, they told me the Russian bullet is the most humane. Slim nosed and speedy, it usually disinfects the wound in passing through, so that gangrene and other infections from Russian rifle fire are almost unknown. I was assured also that the American made shrapnel fired from French guns caused the most lucerating wounds.

The ward in the hospital known as the "prison ward" was a dreary sight indeed. The patients seemed to know they were not wanted and were a burden, their faces were drawn and pale, and all the bustling cheerful atmosphere of the other wards was lacking. Though humanely cared for, they keenly felt the absence of a woman's hand, as all the attendants were men, and men, too, who rarely understood the language or the needs of their unhappy charges.

The saddest memory of those days is the burial of a French officer. He had been my patient, and I was reluctantly given permission to pay my last respects by attending his funeral. The ceremony, although he was an enemy, was simple and dignified. The pine coffin was borne to the grave by six German soldiers under arms, accompanied by a chaplain. On the coffin was placed a wreath with a broad ribbon in the colors of the German flag inscribed with the words "Dem tapferen Krieger" ("To the brave warrior"). It was lowered gently into the grave, a brief service read, the grave filled with earth and a wooden cross placed at the head which gave the name, date and rank of the dead soldier. The wreath was laid on the new made grave. Then the soldiers stood at attention, raised their rifles skyward and fired a last volley. As I was leaving I noticed they were burying a German soldier with exactly the same ceremonies.

One afternoon I was giving massage to one of my patients, a very high German officer, who, except for a slight paralysis, was about well. He had an unusually keen sense of humor, to which nothing was sacred, and, truth to tell, I enjoyed hearing him talk immensely.

I had been with him but a few moments when, putting his fingers to his lips, he whispered in French: "They're letter writing in the next room. If we are quiet I think we can hear. It's very funny." I listened. They were talking about matrimony, discussing it as a pure question of market value. There seemed no shame about it at all. They were reading matrimonial advertisements from a German newspaper. General von T. said to me: "The war has changed the attitude of young girls and older ones, too, who have means and are seeking suitable mates. They have greatly increased their efforts, while marriageable men have become correspondingly shy. The women are getting less particular in their requirements," he chuckled. "A girl with 25,000 marks would hardly have advertised before the war for anything less than an officer of the army or navy; now she will gladly accept what is technically described as a 'better gentleman.'"

At that moment I heard the nurse reading: "I call you who belong to me in the world; you, too, are seeking in marriage sanctuary, to find in your wife, as I in my husband, the best thing in life. Here I am—true, I am forty-two—but presently I shall have a considerable fortune." They evidently did not care for it, the young officer seeking a wife and the nurse, as I heard them both laugh. Then she read another: "I seek you, my friend and my husband. I have a simple and sunny nature and hate the ordinary formalities of life; all that I am and desire will give purpose to your existence. Social and financial position assured."

"It's for mich," the young man laughed.

A moment later she read: "Well built, tall, pleasing in appearance, thirty-two years old, seek suitable companion for life, having in my own right a large fortune; no anonymous communications and no agents." We fancied that one proved interesting to him, as he lowered his voice and seemed to be dictating an answer.

The colonel said: "I suppose all this sort of thing, with your American ideas, shocks you very much; but you know that in our service if an officer desires to marry he must find—love or no love—a girl who can produce the necessary minimum. Because there is a sum fixed by the admiralty and war office regulations, which any girl who desires to marry an officer must possess. She may have more, you understand," laughing, "but she cannot have less." I looked up, struggling to keep out of my eyes the question whether he was married or not. He must have seen it, however, for he said: "Yes, fraulein, I am married and very happily to a charming girl from Cincinnati. If I wasn't," he added mischievously, "I would propose to you, because officers of a certain grade and up. I forgot to say, are permitted to marry whom they like, even if the girl hasn't a pfennig."

CHAPTER XII.

Wisest to Obey.

THE treatment for which I most fervently hoped as a prisoner of war was to be ignored, and fortunately for me that was the treatment I received, at any rate for a time.

A good many of the prisoners had been sent through to Stuttgart, and I wondered rather anxiously why Captain Frazer had not been sent with them, for it seemed hardly possible that his captors had, in keeping him at the front, been influenced by the danger of such a journey to their prisoner. However, I was not left long in doubt, for one night the officer in command sent for me. When I reached his office about midnight I found gathered there three or four other officers, and among them Captain Sindlauf, the Saxon officer who had proved kindly and considerate ever since my first encounter with him the day the Germans had taken possession of our hospital. As I entered the room his eyes met mine with what, in my naturally suspensitive state, seemed to me something of sadness and deprecation in their depths.

However, I had no time to speculate over the meaning of his glance, for the commanding officer at once motioned me to be seated and said:

"Fraulein, I believe you will find it the wisest policy to obey implicitly what I direct you to do. You have been chosen to go through to the English lines and do a very valuable piece of work for us. In fact," he said bluntly, "I wish you to place their big guns."

For a moment or two I was utterly unable to grasp the meaning of what was being said to me. Then the absolute barbarousness of it broke on me, and I answered in a frenzy of indignation:

"How dare you—how dare you suppose that I would do such a thing!"

But the man's manner was utterly unruffled, and he answered calmly:

"I think, fraulein, under the circumstances you will find it wisest to obey my instructions."

I could not answer him, and after a moment, looking at me from under his eyebrows in a manner that struck me, even in those circumstances, as being in some way absurdly melodramatic, he added:

"Remember, fraulein, your lover is our prisoner."

I was absolutely dumfounded. And it slowly dawned on me that it was true. He had made me conscious for the first time of the fact that Captain Frazer was more, far more, to me than merely a gallant, brave officer wounded and under my charge.

I laughed rather hysterically, and the commanding officer went on: "To be explicit, I wish you to return to the enemy's lines, ascertain where their batteries are situated and report to me the strength of their guns in a manner that will be indicated to you. If you do this you will be amply repaid. On the other hand, if you betray us or fail to carry out our instructions to the minutest detail your British officer will be marched out to the courtyard yonder and shot," and he pointed threateningly to the gray time stained court below.

For a moment I could not believe I had understood him correctly, then I sprang forward.

"But you cannot—even you," I cried, "would not dare do such a thing!"

He looked at me with a cold, unfaltering gaze and said: "So it would appear you are not so deep in his confidence as I supposed. He is a spy. But because I want this information I am willing to let you win his release."

"He is an English officer!" I answered, "who has been desperately ill for weeks and who has neither the opportunity nor the desire for such work. How could he be a spy?"

"Doubtless you are sincere in your belief, fraulein, but—the fact remains he is." With this he bade one of the officers present bring Captain Frazer.

I sprang forward and in my anxiety took the man's hand in mine.

"The fortunes of war have made me your prisoner," I said, "but surely you will not torture me. In the French lines I attended your sick and wounded as faithfully as our own, and now I implore you in return, do not have Captain Frazer brought here."

I stood before him, my very soul in my eyes, but the general turned away with hardly a glance. I fell back, beaten and helpless. A moment later two men entered, carrying a stretcher on which Captain Frazer lay, his face drawn and white, but his eyes shining with unfaltering courage.

"There he is, fraulein," the general said. "And I tell you he is a spy. Now I give you your choice; you will do as I direct, or—the result you already know," and he nodded toward Captain Frazer.

"But you cannot," I said. "It is too cruel, too inhuman; you"—

The general cut me short. "I have no time, fraulein, to waste words. I have told you my decision, and you will do as I say or take the consequences. The mission will be made very simple, very easy of accomplishment, and by fulfilling it you will win freedom for yourself and for your lover—pardon me," and the man bowed with mock politeness, "your friend and patient, Captain Frazer. If you refuse he will pay the penalty he deserves."

For a bitter moment I stood torn between conflicting emotion; then my eyes sought those of my poor patient. He spoke to me, but his words, curiously enough, influenced me in a way quite other than he intended. "Accept," he said in French, taking the one chance that they might understand, and his eyes told me the rest. I would be safe, and he—he didn't need to tell me—he knew how to die like a soldier.

With a despairing gesture I turned from him and faced the German general, for I could not bear to meet the eyes of the man whom I had so strangely, suddenly come to know I loved.

"I will do what you say," I answered simply.

Captain Frazer started to speak, but with a voice so full of ghastly anxiety that it almost tore my heart from my body. A moment later the general waved him away.

After he had gone the general smiled in a way for which I could have strangled him with my hands if I had not a far more important and subtle part to play.

"Before I go further," he said, "perhaps it might be well to warn you that in the enemy's line there are many of

Estimating Total Losses In War

Those who believe that the war will be decided by attrition, by the Allies gradually exhausting the manpower of the enemy, and thus forcing first a great retreat and then conceivably a great surrender, must be saddly puzzled by the various estimates as to the speed with which this process is going on: that is to say, at the number of killed, permanently disabled and wounded on each side, and even with regard to the available man-power. This last problem, however, is the easiest. When the war began the Central Powers had in Europe a population of 120,000,000, while the Entente Allies had 500,000,000. What percentage of these populations would be available for fighting? There have been various estimates, the most popular being 10 per cent, but this point is not of importance because the percentage would be about the same in all countries. On this basis Frank Simmonds, the American war expert, calculates that Germany and Austria had originally available about 12,000,000 soldiers either trained or potential. The Allies had 30,000,000.

Four and a Half Million Killed

He calculates that the Allies total casualties have been 10,000,000 or one-third of their total strength, while the total casualties of the Central Powers have been 8,000,000, or two-thirds of their potential strength. Judging from the German lists, one-half the total casualties are permanent losses. Perhaps one-quarter represent soldiers killed in action or later dying from wounds. The other quarter is made up of soldiers captured, and so severely wounded that they are unfit for further service. Following out this line of reasoning, he comes to the rather staggering conclusion that on both sides since the beginning of the war there have been 4,500,000 men killed, or just about the total population of Serbia when the Archduke was assassinated.

Untrustworthy German Lists

Mr Simonds admits that his figures are merely a guess made after an examination of all the material he is able to collect. However, he makes some allowances. For instance, he has no doubt that the German lists minimize the losses of that power and probably exaggerate the loss of the Russians. There will not be much disagreement on this point, but since Mr. Simmonds prepared his article facts have come to light which tend to vitiate his conclusions with regard to the situation on the Western front. For example, while he says that the Germans lost about half a million men at Verdun, their losses being double those of the French because they were on the offensive, the Germans being on the defensive upon the Somme will suffer far less than the British and French. The contrary is asserted by Frederick Palmer, and General Haig has said that the British losses were not only relatively, but absolutely, smaller than those of the Germans. It seems probable that they are not half as heavy.

Germany Cannot Win

As a neutral, Mr. Simonds may be pardoned if he is not inclined to accept official statements from any of the combatants; and while his estimate of Entente losses is higher than those of such British calculators as Hilaire Belloc, he comes to the same conclusion, namely, that in the end Germany cannot escape from the consequences of attrition. She will eventually be defeated for lack of men. This, of course, is in line with what Mr. Simonds has been predicting ever since the Battle of the Marne. He has declared over and over again that in this battle Germany lost her great chance of winning the war. All she can do is to stave off defeat as long as she can trying to sow dissension among the Allies, if possible, and her main object now being to discourage her enemies and make them willing to forego the full price of victory.

Seventeen to three

If there are to be no great smashing blows struck, if attrition is to decide the way Mr Simmonds believes that at the present rate of losses Germany can hold out for two years more. That is to say the Central Powers have still left 3,000,000 men, and, since they require only 5,000,000 to hold their present lines, they have a balance of 3,000,000. Belloc calculates that their have been 7,000,000, which would leave them no balance at all. If they have been 6,000,000 the balance is only a million, which is six month's supply. But Simonds estimate is that, while the Germans have still 3,000,000 men over and above those who are needed at the front, the Entente Allies have 17,000,000 still to draw upon. Any one who believes that three Germans are a match for 17 British, French or Russians is entitled to give the Germans still a chance of winning.

Walkerton

An enthusiastic meeting of ratepayers of Greenock, met at the call of Reeve Phalen at Chepetow on Tuesday afternoon to discuss what action the township Council should take towards contributing to the British Red Cross. Senator J. J. Donelly occupied the chair, and Mr. Jos. Carter acted as secretary, W. H. Cargill M. P., H. M. Lay and John Rowland were speakers. Mr. Rowland said he had never sought a public office in his life but he would like to be Member of Parliament for a few months when the boys come back to have a part in seeing that they got a square deal. A resolution was carried unanimously asking the township Council to vote 1 mill, or about $1800 for the British Red Cross.

The funeral of Wm. Watson took place Monday afternoon from the residence of his daughter, Mrs F. P. Morre, of Teswater. He was one of the pioneers of Bruce County, having been born 83 years ago near Ottawa and coming here early in life. After his marriage he settled on the farm on which Teeswater is now built In addition to farming he conducted a lumber and sawmill for many years. He leaves four son and two daughters.

Mr. H. G. Tucker, barrister, of Owen Sound, will act for the Crown at the Fall Assizes here on Nov. 7th.

Word came to town this week that the 160th Bruce Battalion had sailed from Halifax. It is not permitted to mention the date. The news came through a friend of one of the officers who saw the boys off. He stated that British Cruisers were on hand to act as convoys.

Judge Klein leaves to-day for the Sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich., he being under the weather with stomach trouble and other ailments.

Pte. Victor Bell, a former employee of the Bobbin Factory here, and brother of Mrs. David Williams of town, is reported missing at the front. As the missing are invariably found later to be killed in action or taken prisoner by the foe, the probable fate of our young townsman is most regretable. Prior to enlistinf here with the 34th Battalion, Pte Bell served for a time with the Wireless Guard at the Tub He has been serving at the front for over a year. His father and three brothers have also donned the khaki and are out serving the king.

Messrs W. J. Wilson, of Pinkerton, and John Parker, of Cargill, returned on Monday from theWest, having left Walkerton on the Harvesters' Excursion on Sept 2nd There were eight inches of snow when they left sround Kelfield, Sask., where they were working for Mr. Wm. Arnold, formerly of this district. The crops in that locality were above the average, and were of a specially good quality. Wheat brought $1.71 at the elevator. Mr Arnold has a 630 acre farm, of which about 450 acres were in crop. He also runs a livery barn and sale stable. They are erecting a rural telephone system in his district and he has the contract of drawing the drawing the 10,000 poles required.

The Trafalgar Day canvas in Walkerton on Thursday last for the British Red Cross Fund resulted in $1288.15 being contributed in cash, which with other subscriptions that have been promised will probably run the figures over $1500. In contrast to the $2208.29 raised last year, this is rather disappointing, but as the town just recently raised over $7000 for the combined Patriotic and Red Cross Fund, the strain has probably proved a little hard in some quarters. However a glance at the list, which will shortly be published in this paper, will reveal the fact that the ones who gave the least to the Patriotic fund are for the most part shy on their Trafalgar grant, and vice versa. Some people's names will, horrible to relate, not appear at all, many of them refusing point blank to give whatever to the canse or as one canvasser says, as he advanced the Bulgars retreated. This ordinance shows that the Town Council should in future pay three grants out of the municipal exchequer and thus make all share the heat and burden of the day whether they would or not. Carrick we understand raised $1700 by a farm to farm canvass. Brantis contributing $1500 out of the township funds, and Greenock will head the list with a mill on the dollar or $1800 of a grant.

A Paris paper on October 18 reported that Boelke had been severely wounded by a shell from a French anti-aircraft gun. Since then, however, Boelke's name has been mentioned in the German official statements, and on October 23 he was credited with having brought down his 38th aeroplane.

Russians Launch Offensive.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A new Russian offensive has been opened in Galicia and Volhynia in an effort to lessen the Teuton pressure along the Transylvanian frontier. The Russian report mentions only reconnaissances and exchanges of fire in Volhynia. These it characterizes as successful.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

London Military Critics Optimistic Regarding Roumania.

Field Marshal von Mackensen is Trying a Dangerous Game in Pursuing the Retreating Forces —Russian Tropps Continue to Arrive and the Teutonic Invaders Are Courting Disaster.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Military observers here, despite pessimistic utterances by a portion of the London press, see no cause for alarm over the situation in Dobrudja. The invasion of Roumania from the Dobrudja has been prevented by the blowing up of the Cernavoda Bridge, across which, it is reported, the greater part of the Russian and Roumanian forces had crossed. Field Marshal von Mackensen is trying the dangerous game of pursuing the remainder into the marshes of the Danube delta.

In this region the Roumanians have strong points of support in the large towns of Braila, Galatz and Reni, to the north-west, on the other side of the Danube, whence reinforcements and supplies can be easily transported across the river. It was from Reni, at the bend of the Danube, that the Russians entered the Dobrudja to aid the Roumanians when the latter declared war. They crossed the river on pontoon bridges, which doubtless by this time have been strengthened for the passage of heavy artillery, which seems to be the chief need of the army opposing Field Marshal von Mackensen. Three good railroads reach the cities mentioned—from Czernowitz, Kishineff, and Bucharest—and it is safe to say that over all of them trains full of munitions and troops are now speeding to the Dobrudja corner.

Mackensen is meeting with little resistance. The allied command, it is believed, is willing to fall back steadily toward the Bessarabian line. Their chief concern is to elude envloping moves.

Sofia reports the capture of 500 additional prisoners, including some Russian telegraph operators.

The Russo-Roumanian army in the Dobrudja is retreating towards the pontoon bridges across the Danube from Hirsova northward to Tuitcha and Isakcha, near the mouth of the river, according to Sunday's Bulgarian War Office statement. The Bulgarians have destroyed the bridge at Hirsova and the advanced guard on the eastern wing has reached the region of Babadagh, fifty miles north of Constanza.

Will Make Paper From Wood Chips.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—As the result of studies which have been made at the Forest Products Laboratory on methods of handling wood chips suitable for paper pulp, it is announced that Wisconsin paper companies are now negotiating with the railroads for shipment to their factories of experimental trainloads of chips of Western woods adapted to paper making.

Previous investigations by the Forest Service have demonstrated that good grades of paper can be made from a number of Western woods. The experts now estimate that some of those woods, when cut into chips and dried and baled, can be delivered to the mills in Wisconsin at a very small advance over the cost of chips made from local timber. In Wisconsin alone, it is stated, there is an annual market for over 600,000 cords of pulpwood.

Russia's Resources Ample.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 30.—The Minister of the Interior, H. Protopopoff, has applied to the military authorities, according to the Rech, for permission to draw upon the military stores for food supplies for the populations of Petrograd and Moscow. The Minister points out that in view of the important part played by these capitals in the conduct of the war it is essential that they shall not be allowed to suffer for want of provisions. M. Protopopoff has asked that the commissary inform him what supplies can be spared for the civilians. Both the Minister of Agriculture and the Minister of the Interior have proposed relief measures dealing chiefly with questions of transportation, since the resources of Russia, they declare, are ample for the needs of the army and the people.

Captured Serbian Village.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—In the fighting at the bend of the Cerna River in Macedonia the Serbians and the French have made fresh progress, advancing and taking trenches in places in local encounters, repulsing Bulgaris counter-attacks, taking a number of machine guns and some score of prisoners. The French in the vicinity of the Cerna have captured Gardilovo Village and a system of Bulgarian trenches between Kenali and the Cerna. Gardilovo was captured in a brilliant engagement.

On the British front the Bulgarians made a counter-attack in the region north of Ormanli, on the left bank of the Struma River. This attempt was easily repulsed.

Fire Damages Liner.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—None of the passengers or members of the crew on the French line steamer Chicago, was injured through the fire which broke out on board the liner while bound from Bordeaux for New York, and which caused her to put into the Azores, where the flames in her hold were extinguished, says a telegram received Sunday by the French line from its agent in the Azores. The damage from the fire was slight.

Plant Battlefront With Poplar Trees

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The Meuse Departmental Council is urging that the Government acquire all land along the present battlefront and plant it with poplars. Thus a leafy, shaded way would run from the sea to Switzerland.

Albert Reid, a bright youth of 15 years, shot a wild goose last Friday and presented it to Mrs. George Clemens for her birthday dinner. Others in that neighborhood had been trying to get one, but this young gentleman bagged the first game. The bird weighed over 5 lbs. and Mrs. Clemens, of Oliphant, said it seemed like a Christmas dinner.

The Wiarton High School field day committee do not seem to stand in well with Jupiter Pluvius for it had been announced to come off on the past two Fridays but on each day there was too much rain for sport. As it stands now, with uncertain weather, the field day exercises will likely be pulled off at very short notice some day. Later they were pulled off Tuesday and it rained. Now for fine weather.

How much do you charge for a meal asked a man the other day as he walked into a restaurant. He was advised that the price is now 35 cents. He regarded it too high, then the restaurant keeper told him "I have to pay 35 cents per pound for your butter, and 35 cents per dozen for your eggs, why should I not charge 35 cents for your meal? It is a poor rule that will not work both ways, and the travelling public when they get meals to-day under 50 cents have no reason to complain.

The death occurred Sunday of Anthony Wiggins, aged 51 years. The deceased was a native of Formossa and had been a resident of Wiarton upwards of 30 years, and about 25 years of this time he was hostler at the St. Albans. It will be remembered that a few years ago he got lost in a blinding snow storm on the ice at Oliphant, and it was thought that he had driven off the ice into the lake, but he had rolled himself in the robe, and took a sleep and the next day drove to Red Bay, and from there home. Some time ago he contracted tuberculosis from which he died.

Since Sept. 16 there has been very little booze consumed in this town. If there is a drop being sold no one seems to know anything about it. On Thursday last week the Ladies Patriotic League made their second cleaning up of the the town in gathering old papers, magazines, scrap iron, rubbers and junk generally. The ladies worked with a zest worthy of the highest commendation and sold what they had gathered to the local junk dealer Mr. Goodman for $84.

The Durham Chronicle says: Hon. Mr. Martin, the new premier, is a nephew of Dr. Jamieson. Like other great men, he has risen from the ranks of the teaching profession. He was principal of Harriston high school a few years ago, but went west to Regina where he practised law for some time before entering politics.

Now is the time to equip your stable with Beatties Litter Carriers. Do away with the old wheelbarrow style and lessen labor. B. T. stands for best. J. Armstrong.

There were two police court cases last week under the Ontario Temperance Act. One party acknowledged that he had been the worst of liquor and was fined $10 and costs, another party denied the charge and the witnesses for the prosecution had nothing whatever to substantiate the charge so the case was dismissed.

The Market Prices—It is interesting from the standpoint of curiosity to watch the upward flight of foodstuffs, but when it comes to a matter of paying for them it becomes rather painful. The flight is still towards the skies, it is by no means yet a dead level, and when all eatables will get on the toboggan slide seems a long way off, possibly some uever expect to see them there again. But they will be there some day, in the meantime we have to pay fabulous prices. On Monday the dealers paid for butter 35 cents per pound, eggs 34 cts per doz, potatoes $1.75 per bag, apples $1 per bag, oats 60 cts per bus., barley 75 cents, peas $2.25, wheat $1.75 and wheat will probably go higher, Manitoba No. 1 hard is now selling at $2, chickens 13 cents per pound, geese 14cts, turkeys 18cts ducks 15cts. All live stock is advancing. Hogs sold at $10.50, lambs at 9½ cents and butcher cattle from 6 to 6½ cents. These prices do not suggest that it will be easy to fill the cellar this year, but this is the third year of the war, and we are now beginning to realize what war prices mean.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

(MARIA L. MOORE)

The H I G H Cost of Living? There is no doubt about it being high is there? So, being all agreed on that point; it is a good place to start.

Everyone also agrees that it is a problem; and not only a problem, but a very "vexed" question, growing more acute each day. Also that it is getting harder and harder to make a small wage cover the bare necessities, not even thinking of making ends meet. Everybody in favor of that please signify in the usual way. The yeas have it.

Not long ago I read an article on 'The High Cost of Living, or the Cost of High Living. Which?" The chief argument therein claimed that we lived too luxuriously. We did not live as in the days of our grandparents. To-day we want a four or five course dinner (more, if we could get them,) while in our grandmother's day salads were almost unknown, cakes and preserved fruits were brought out only on feast days, or when the minister came to tea; the plainer fare, bread and milk and porridge is not fashionable now. Some do not have it. We must be fashionable.

The Large Items

The large items of expense in the homes are Food and Clothing—Very often the food bill is large, because of (1) being poorly or improperly cooked; (2) loss through cooking excessive quantities; (3) buying materials of small nutritive value; (4) buying foods out of season, therefore, high priced; the largest factors therein being waste and unintelligent buying. We have been told again and again, that there is more wasted in Canadian homes in one week than would keep a French family for over twice that length of time It has also been said, that if the food of Canada could be equally divided there would be plenty for everyone, and not one hungry person.

Poor Buying

(2) As to poor buying—Many women order over the phone. They will sometimes order a high priced sirloin steak and take whatever the butcher sends, whether it is what they ordered or not. The good buyer sees what she is getting, and insists on getting what is asked for. It really is astonishing how few know the different cuts of meat. Same way with groceries. When a woman orders by phone she is very apt to order things that are really not needed. When the bill comes in, if she looks at it at all, it is to be astonished at the large amount. Waste, is the first, poor buying the second big item of expense, not for food alone, but clothing as well.

That Deputation

A report appeared in one of the Toronto papers a few days ago, that a large deputation went to interview the Government re appointing a commission to investigate the High Cost of Living, (commissions are fashionable just now.) No doubt these men went well armed with facts and figures, to show cause, but on returning reported that the Government had said that the cost of living had only increased 17 3 in the last few years. They seemed to think that the Government had given them a bluff, but with all their facts and figures could not call the bluff. The 17 3 might be all right on paper, perfectly good and well behaved figures; but something appeared to be radically wrong with the working out Now, it is altogether possible that very few of the Government officials know anything about the actual cost of living, all they do is sign the cheques for the home, so when they heard of the deputation, clerks were set to work to compile comparitive statements, in which, more than likely only staple articles were included, and only a small amount allowed for sundries, if they remembered at all that often the small boy wants a shoestring, little sister a copper for candy, there are books and pencils and castor oil, plus the war tax, and many other items, like the old song, A penny for a spool of thread, a copper for a needle.

That's the way the money goes—

Spool of Thread

Thread!!! Will somebody please go down town and buy a spool, 7c, dear me, where is the catalogue? 3c Why the 4c? Please put a big question mark there. I need that 4c. Of course it was not the same make of thread, the merchant will tell us, but who cares about its make, the cheaper thread is just as hard to rip if you make a mistake in your sewing.

The Credit System

THE ECHO speaks of the departmental stores spending so much in advertising, and attributes to that their large selling. The departmental stores buy direct from the manufacturers and sell for cash only. This the smaller stores cannot do, the bane of the smaller merchant is the large credit system. When a customer wearing a handsome coat comes into the store, leaves a large order and asks to have it "charged" he simply turns to the next customer in a faded jacket, and asks a few cents more for a piece of print, and faded jacket helps to carry the storekeeper's burden for sable coat.

Whyis Butter High?

A few days ago I inquired into the cause of the high price of butter and from ten different manufacturers I could get no satisfactory reason. "Feed is dear," said one. Well not dear enough to account for the rise in butter as compared with years ago. Hay is plentiful and cheap, pasture is good, hand values here have not gone up very much, if any. "Wages are high," said another. Yes, if the farmers employ labor, few do. We are told that it is because, as a rule, they refuse to pay good wages that they are compelled to do the work themselves. "Butter is hard to make." In these days of labor-saving devices, not any harder than it ever was. Then, too, we are asked to pay the same price for the packed article as for the pound wrapped print. In the cities packed butter sells for a few cents less. And, perhaps others have also noted, that you do not get it at the price it was when you gave your order, if the price happens to fall below by a cent or two for a short time, which it rarely does, then delivery is carefully not made until the price has soared as high as they think it will go. There are some who make and deliver pound prints at the same price the year round, but they seem to be very few. If one can do it, why not all?

The Staff of Life

Now, let us go a little into the question of Bread. We can do without butter, but cannot get along very well without bread. Flour $5.00 per 98 lbs., generally spoken of as as a hundred weight, but if it comes in paper sacks you do not get the other two pounds The 2 lbs. are carefully taken out to pay for the cotton sacks often so full of holes as to be almost useless, and half a pound of flour is an enormous price for it. But 'tis done and can't be undone. Why the $5.00 per 98 lbs of flour? Why do the speculations in U. S. have an instantaneous effect in the retail store, when the retail man has contracted for his supply at a set price months before. When you give an order, he will, no doubt, tell you he cannot now buy at his selling price. Perhaps not, but if he is a good buyer he has seen to it that he does not have to, he has it stocked, if he has not, he ought to be at something else besides in business. He puts on his margin before he began to retail this supply. Why is he not satisfied, but keeps on jumping the price up and up, on the same stock. By-the-way I have a feeling in my funny bone, that dry goods, boots and shoes and other things have contracted this jumping disease. Oh, it's all new goods coming in that goes up, is it? Well, all right, it is my funny bone that is not working right.

To go back to bread. I have it all figured out somewhere. Yes, here it is. By actual statistics, it took three attempts to spell that, the sta—what you may call 'em—are my own, so infallible, it costs me 6c for a 2 lb. loaf (32 ozs.) counting flour and other ingredients and fuel, but not allowing anything for labor or overhead expenses, the overworked housemother never gets any time for her labor any way. Bakers are now, I believe, charging 8c for a 20 oz. loaf, 12 ozs. less, or 12 4-5c for 31 ozs. of bread. While they have heavy expenses for wages etc., they offset that by the thousands of loaves per day. They contract for their flour, not by the 98 lbs. but buying often the whole output of a mill. The miller, in turn, has contracted for his wheat, perhaps long before the seed is in the ground The manufacturers tell us there is no money in bread at the present price, and are going to raise the price again. Yet Mr. Manufacturer is well paid for his labor, and can show a dividend at the end of the year. Where is this dividend coming from? Another thing. Have you ever noticed that a baker manufacturing bread, I say in London, Ont., can ship it here, pay express charges and sell it for the same price as in London? The poor man is actually out of pocket for the express charges. Dreadful—Somebody ought to pay them for him.

Wages Too Low

Much has been written on this subject and more will follow. There are many contributory things that affect the cost of living, such as, Transportation, Money Values, while a dollar is still one hundred cents, its buying capacity has been reduced less than one half. Transportation, owing to the war, is inadequate. Labor. We are told wages are high, for the ordinary laboring man they are higher than in former years, and no one will say, he does not need it, but for what might be called the better class of employee, wages have not advanced in the last five years. It is this class who are feeling the pressure of the prevailing high prices most. The manufacturers state they pay out an immense wage bill, but compared with output and wages five years ago, and the output of today, the wage bill has not increased by any great percentage. Putting in of women, girls and boys at a small wage to take the place of men, keeps the wage bill down, and I doubt very much, if, when the war is over, the manufacturers will do away with the cheaper labor, in which case we will face another crisis, when the married man supporting a family, has to compete, in larger numbers, with this cheaper labor now employed.

Those who are in a position to know, say that the solution of the problem of Cost of Living, is produce more, buy less, buy intelligently what you need and only what you need, live less luxuriously. We Canadians, have practically been saying, let the other fellow economize, while we get rich quick and live easy. So the whole problem resolves into one word—liev less selfishly.

Suspended Sentence

W. T. Holmes, produce dealer, who was tried in Walkerton this week charged with having forged the Grand Trunk Agent's name at this point to bills of lading, was convicted, according to a telephone message to The Echo to-day, on his own evidence, but as he had made good all his shortages, he was let off on suspended sentence.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Walkerton

At the next session of the County Council, which will be held in Walkerton next month, the question of appointing a High County Constable who will reside at Walkerton, will be discussed and probably decided. According to a recent amendment of the statutes it seems that the chief policeman of the county must reside in the county seat, where the other main legal machinery is located. Constable Robt. Ward, the present occupant of the job in Bruce, resides in Wiarton, and according to the newspaper there would require more than the High Constableship to induce him to put up with life in Walkerton. As it is no doubt a terrible sacrifice to compel one to forsake the restfulness of sleepy Wiarton for the stirring times in the Bruce capital, yet the change is compulsory and the Chief Cop will have his choice of resigning the baton or of buying a ticket for this buzz of excitement. Provided he decides to hand over the bat, several local policemen will be in the field for the job, which is enhanced with a hundred dollar salary and the first grab at many fat fees.

The Culross Council, which last year gave $1000 to the Trafalgar Day Red Cross funds, this year cut the grant in two, and has tendered the cause the paltry sum of $500, which we believe the ratepayers will justly resent as being too parsimonious a gift from such a prosperous Township. We understand that Reeve Kuntz and councillor Macpherson favored a thousand dollar gift, but were outvoted by a trio composed of councillors Armstrong, Case and Donaldson. At a meeting held in Formosa on Monday night the Culross gift came in for some doubtful compliments from the platform, and it is to be hoped that the ratepayers of Culross will see that the disgrace is wiped out, and that a more creditable gift is made by the Council.

We are informed that over one hundred thousand dollars was subscribed through the Walkerton bank for the recent Canadian War Loan. As this was a guaranteed investment, the local capitalists were placing their money on a sure thing and the cutting of coupons will soon be a pleasant diversion here. People who thought that much metal couldn't be raked up in town will be surprised at Walkerton's resources when a Mr. Good thing appears on the horizon.

Mr. Geo. Wright, late leader of the 160th Battalion Band, and who returned last week from Quebec, when the superfluity of unenlisted Frenchmen grated on his loyal, patriotic nerves and caused him to abandon a $4.00 a day job, left on Monday to take over his old position in Stratford as finisher in a furniture factory which he held prior to coming to Walkerton to enlist. His wife and family also left this week to reside in the Classic City.

Mayor F. W. Lippert has been appointed Game and Fish Overseer for this district by the Ontario Government in succession to Mr. J. M. White, whose entire time now has to be given to his duties as County License Inspector. All applications for fish and game licenses must now be made to Mayor Lippert.

Mr N. C. McKay was called to Picton, N. S. on Monday owing to the illness of his father.

Tara

Rev. Mr. Mathieson Allenford, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday evening. He preached for 20 min. and then donated a half hour in farewell. Mr. Mathieson came to this village 6½ years ago, and during his sojourn here made many staunch friends. He confessed that for the first two years he was dissatisfied and tried twice to get another charge, but, failing in this, decided Providence had decreed that he should stay. The long drives were very trying, as he had never been used to them, but before he left he professed to —"know horses." He spoke of the trials which everyone has, but which seemed harder for him, in that he was, figuratively speaking, among strangers, and how the people helped him overcome difficulties. This, he said, drew them closer together and it was very hard to leave those whom he had learned to love. In connection with the "Honour Roll" presented to the church by himself, he said: Take care of it, honor it and those names which appear on it. Do not forget those boys who are fighting for us. Send them packages, anything of use to them; for we do not know what our brave boys go through.

Rev W. S. and Mrs. Daniels were called away this week to attend the funeral at his late residence, Nelson Tp., on Wednesday, of Mrs. Daniels father, Mr. Enoch Gunby, one of the sturdy pioneers of Halton County. Mr. Gunby met his death in an automobile accident on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 29th; with his son, who was severely injured when their auto turned over, owing to a washout in the road. He was 84 years of age

Mr. J. B. Jamieson has sold his house on River St. west, to Mr. Harvey Merriam, who gets possession at once. Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson will leave in a few days for Denver, Colorado, where they will spend the winter.

While ploughing in a field one day last week, Mr. Neil Dow, of Con. 13, Sullivan, made an unexpected find when he came across a mud turtle's nest contain ing over forty eggs. The nest was about ten inches under the soil. The eggs are a curiosity and Mr. Dow has them on view at his home.

The Door To Health

Is Through the Rich Red Blood Dr. Williams Pink Pills Actually Make.

The blood is responsible for the health of the body. If it is good, disease cannot exist. If it is bad, the door is shut against good health, disease is bound to appear in one form or another. One person may be seized with rheumatism or sciatica, another with anaemia, indigestion, heart palpitation, headaches, or backaches unstrung nerves, or any of the many other forms of ailment that comes when the blood is weak and watery. There is just one certain, speedy cure, Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They make new, rich blood, and this good blood strengthens the whole system and brings good health and happiness. Thousands owe their present good health, some, life itself, to the pills. Miss Davina Lalliberti, St. Johnne, Que., says—"Last year I seemed gradually to grow weak and run down. I did not sleep well, had a poor appetite, and grew pale and generally languid. I consulted a doctor who told me I was anaemic, and gave me a tonic. This I took faithfully for some time, but it did not help me, and I appeared to be growing worse, and finally I was hardly able to go around the house and almost wholly incapacited for work. While in this condition a friend advised me to try Dr Williams Pink Pills, and I got several boxes. It was not long after I began their use when I could see an improvement, which just manifested itself in an improved appetite and better rest at night. From this out the improvement was rapid and I was not long in regaining perfect health. I think Dr Williams Pink Pills are a real blessing for all weak girls."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

Chesley

Allan Waterman has joined a Toronto Battery and leaves for that city on Monday to drill. He was rejected in Chesley on account of being under age but be older now and as determined as ever.

Last Saturday, J. C. Johnston, of 5th con. Elderslie, delivered eleven three-year-old steers in town which brought $1,119. Who says there is no money in stock-raising. W. J. Allan was the buyer.

Alex Anderson of Scone, and his son Lieut. Duncan Anderson, left on Tuesday morning for the west. Lieut. Anderson returns to Calgary where he was in business before the war broke out and his father goes for a four month visit with his daughter at Gull Lake, Manitoba; a sister at Lethbridge, his brother Donald and family in Calgary, Hon. Duncan Marshall at Olds, and Donald McEachern in Edmonton.

Mr. Jas. Scott, who passed away in this town on Oct. 16, was born near Jedburgh, Scotland, and came to Scotland with his parents when only four years old. They settled on a farm near Tiderton, London Ty.; in 1830 when the city of London was a mere hamlet. About 26 years ago Mr. Scott moved to Chesley where he had lived until his death. He was married twice but leaves no family. His second wife survives him. Deceased was a man of deep religious convictions and for many years had been an elder in the Associate Presbyterian church and later in the Free Presbyterian. Mr. Scott had been feeble for more than a year and had not been out of his house since February.

Southampton

The stormy weather of the month of October, just past has meant a great deal to the fishing fleet. The most serious loss has been the destruction of nets, added to this the number of days they were unable to get out, and in consequence a great quantity of the fish caught in the nets had been there so long they were spoiled. The severe wind storms also drove the fish away from the regular grounds. The fishermen are hoping for some nice weather to make up for the bad weather in October, and Supt. McDougall is anxiously looking for spawn for the hatchery.

The annual meeting of the Bruce Rural Deanery was held in St. Paul's Church, Southampton, last Tuesday. There was a fair attendance of clergymen and laymen from outside points. Two splendid addresses, one in the evening, were given on Sunday school work by Rev. R. A. Hiltz, general secretary of the Sunday School commission. There was a fair attendance of the public at the services.

Messrs. A. F. Bowman, W. J. Cameron, Stuart Cameron, D. A. Cameron and Wm. Ainley, of Toronto, left last Monday for a two week's deer hunting. They will go to Killaloe by train and after that a drive of some thirty miles. The new camp is located on the outskirts of Algonquin Park. Mr. Ed. Stanfield went along as cook.

Wild ducks are more plentiful than usual this season in this district. Local hunters have had considerable success at Arran Lake.

Just the Thing For Little Ones

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion, relieve colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Herbert Johnston, Maymont, Sask., writes—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past four years and find just the thing for babies and young children." They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OWEN SOUND

In the course of a few weeks it is very probable that an advantageous industrial bylaw will be submitted to the rate payers of Owen Sound for the purpose of consummating a loan of $18000 to the Keenan Woodenware Company to enable them to enlarge their business so include the manufacture or refrigerators. The company have purchased the plant of the Eureka Refrigerator Company of Toronto and purpose moving it to Owen Sound and operating in the connection with their local manufactory.

The Owen Sound correspondent to the Globe has discovered that their is an oil boom on in Flesherton. The "Advent" however, dismisses the startling even thus laconically:—

Several oil prospectors were in this vicinity last week taking options on property with a view to drilling into the bowels of the earth in an endeavor to locate a bead of oil.

Lieut. Harold Young, who recently returned from the front to his home in Hanover, is in town to-day and is staying at the Seldon House. It will be remembered that Lieut. Young was in charge of the unit which left Owen Sound in June; 1915, to reinforce the 76th Battalion at Niagara. He was wounded early in the summer and is home on leave of absence. Lieut. Young was not with the Owen Sound boys in France, having been transferred to another battalion. He is improving rapidly since returning home, and expects to return to the old land about next March.

Seventy-five thousand dollars is the sum set by the Canadian Patriotic Association as the amount required from Grey County for patriotic purposes for the year 1917 and the local committee is busy now arranging plans for raising this sum. There should be no trouble raising the amount as the county council has donated $8000 per month for two years dating from last June.

Nerves Were So Upset Could Not Endure Noise

Neuralgic Headaches and Extreme Nervousness Caused Keenest Suffering—Lasting Cure by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Once the nervous system gets run down everything seems to tend to make it worse. You worry over your condition, are unable to get the required rest and sleep, noises excite and irritate you and the future is most discouraging.

The nervous system does not get the proper nourishment from the food you eat, so you must have something also to lift you out of the run-down condition. You may find that your experience coincides with the writer of this letter and be encouraged to put Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to the test.

You will make no mistake in employing this food cure, for, acting as it does hand in hand with Nature, it is bound to do you good.

Mrs. Jas. Jensen, Gwynne, Alta., writes: "About ten years ago I was troubled with severe attacks of neuralgia and nervousness, and was for several months so bad that I could not get a night's rest. I used several medicines recommended by the druggist. My doctor also prescribed, but nothing he gave me brought any relief. Instead I got worse and worse until I could scarcely do anything or bear the least bit of noise. My nerves were all upset.

"My husband read about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and got me some. Although I had no faith in it, I began its use, and after a few doses began to sleep well and the neuralgia left me entirely. I used six more boxes and have never had any troubles from neuralgia or the nerves since.

"This is to certify that I know Mrs. Jensen and believe this statement to be true and correct. Fred Freeman, J.P."

Indians Are Proving Their Loyalty to British Empire

Have enlisted In Large Numbers All Through Canada and Make Fine Soldiers—High Class Marksmen.

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

Since the outbreak of the war many unknown and hidden qualities possessed by citizens of the empire have been brought to light, but few of these have attracted more attention and admiration than the patriotism exhibited by the Canadian Indians. Scarcely a corps that has been recruited in the rural districts of the Dominion that has not contained some of these redskinned warriors who want to fight for the flag that has stood for freedom and fair play to them.

While exact figures cannot be obtained at present, it is estimated that there are over three thousand Indians wearing khaki today. Official figures, early in June, stated that there had been 1,100 enlistments from Ontario alone and since then it is believed 400 more have joined the colors. From all parts of the Dominion they have come by trail and canoe to fight the battles of the Empire. Only three weeks ago one Indian, who had just learned of the war being in progress, travelled four hundred miles from up in the Hudson's Bay district to Port Arthur to enlist in the Bull Moose battalion in which there are about forty Indians.

Platoons and Companies

While there has not yet been authorization for a separate corps of Indians, many battalions that have gone overseas and many that are in training have had platoons and companies composed solely of Indians and who were officered by Indians. Perhaps the most prominent of these is the 114th Haldimand Rifles in which there are 500 Indians, divided into two companies. These two companies are officered almost entirely by Indians. Capt. Richard Steacy, a full-blooded Mohawk, who counts among his ancestors some of the most prominent of Indian chiefs, who was engaged in real estate and brokerage business in Toronto, is one of the officers of this corps and was greatly instrumental in the raising of it as he gave unsparingly of his time and money towards recruiting.

In the 203rd battalion, of Winnipeg, which passed through here some days ago was one platoon of these dusky warriors. The same thing can be said of practically every battalion that passes through. In the Bruce county battalion, which established a Dominion record for quickness in recruiting up to full strength, there is almost a half company of these Indians. Most of these came from the Cape Croker reserve, a few coming from the Saugeen reserve and other points. All the N. C. O.'s of their platoons are Indians.

Holds Recruiting Record

Cape Croker is believed to hold the recruiting record of any settlement, white or red, in Canada. Out of a total population of 368 men, women and children, on this reserve, there were over sixty recruits. This meant every available fighting man. As a result only the aged and the extremely young are left and their agricultural and fishing interests are sure to suffer. On this reserve prior to the war there was one of the finest brass bands in Ontario, which was composed solely of Indians, and many of its members are now members of the battalion band. To Rev. Father Cadot, the French Roman Catholic priest residing on the reserve, is given the credit of recruiting these men. This battalion left London, Ont., two weeks ago on its way overseas.

Used to a life in the open, keen of sight, agile and active the Indians make the best of soldiers. Owing to their life in the woods they are excellent marksmen and many of them have been detailed for special duty as snipers and have done great service for their corps. On parades before inspecting officers they have always been praised for their soldiery appearance. Several times since the outbreak of war Indians, who have been members of scouting parties, have been mentioned in despatches for praiseworthy conduct. Augustin B[illegible], the youngest one of a party of eighteen who left with the Fifty-second battalion from Port Arthur, was decorated with the military medal for distinguished conduct and bravery under fire.

Worthy of Credit

Too much credit cannot be given the Indians for their coming forward to fight the Empire's battles. It will doubtless lead to a better recognition of them by the white people. Officials of the Indian department are constantly unearthing the most pathetic of tales in connection with the enlistment of Indians. Aged mothers, who have no other support, send their sons to the front with apparent eagerness to do something for the cause of mankind. Civilization is having its effect in moulding the lives of these citizens of the Dominion and at the present many of them are fighting a battle for that civilization. When it is over Canadians must not forget this and great care must be taken of the dependence of all who fall in action, in order that other Indians may profit by the example these are giving them.

Levine's BIG SALE ENDS Nov. 13

Our sale has been one of the biggest and best we have ever put on. The reason is that goods are sky high now in price, but our prices were cut in two. The public know a good thing---they know we are giving genuine bargains, right in season, and they have come to buy. Everyday the sale will continue but Saturday and Monday will be the big closing days of the sale. New goods arriving daily will go on sale these two days, and at prices that cannot be repeated until the war is over. Get in the procession and come with the crowds to our closing days on Saturday and Monday.

Editorial

While we may regret the passing away of Pastor Russel. yet it is to be hoped that so far as some papers are concerned that his sermons have died with him.

THIS is an age when people read a newspaper advertisement quite as carefully as they do its news pages. Why? Because an up-to-date merchant's advertisement carries the most important message in the paper. It is a matter of dollars and cents, and those who would reduce the high cost of living should carefully read the advertisements.

In order to hunt fur bearing animals on your own property, you have to take out a licence and pay $5. If you want to shoot a partridge it will cost you $100 but the trouble is that there will be plenty of partridge shot and there will be no fine. The partridge are pretty well able to take care of themselves at this time, but a fine like this in the budding season would be the thing.

And now it is admitted that within the past two years a dollar has dwindled to sixty seven cents and within the past ten years it has easily shrunk to fifty cents. Those who have been wondering where their money has gone to know now. This 67 cents represents the difference in the cost of living and wages. Food stuffs have increased 49 per cent within the past two years.

High Cost of Living

The Echo intends to give a number of writers an opportunity to deal with this matter, to see if the cause can be ascertained, and a remedy found. That the cost is becoming unbearable is evident, but it is to little purpose bemoaning this fact, we must try to find a way out of this haze. Some one coined the phrase the cost of high living, as if that expressed the whole situation, but unfortunately it does not. The cost of the ordinary necessities of life that go on the table of the day laborer have advanced enormously the past few years, and out of all proportion to wages or salaries. Take such articles as meats, spiced roll, pork, beef, to say nothing of lamb, fowl etc., which are luxuries and we all know the advance within ten years has been about 100 per cent. Then take butter eggs, flour, bread, potatoes, in fact anything that can be named, and it will be seen at a glance that the poor man is up against it. These articles are what people must have or starve unless the vegetarians clearly prove otherwise. Then there are the other necessities of boots and shoes, clothing, fuel, taxes etc, one would be a genius indeed to find a single thing that is getting cheaper. We hear it said, "just wait till the war is over and you will see a change in prices" possibly so, we cannot tell but the war is not over, and all the consumers are anxious to know how they can make the receipts keep even with the expense in the meantime. Anyone who can offer seggestions of practical value will be doing a public service.

A BUILDER OF HEALTH

Nothing can be of greater assistance in building up the system than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for this food-cure forms new, rich blood, and nourishes and restores the feeble, wasted nerve cells. Gradually and naturally the body and mind regain vigor and energy, and you feel again the joy of living which comes only to people in good health.

LIONS HEAD

The new tug Eastnor which Mr John Tackabarry rebuilt this summer made her initial trip last week. She called here with freight and left on Friday for Dyers Bay and Tobermory. On Sunday she returned with a cargo of cattle and sheep for Robt Shaw and after unloading proceeded to Colpoys Bay for a load of grain for Meaford. She is a good strong built boat and when a larger engine is installed which is expected during the winter, will make a splendid freighter.

If a person has work to do now that he can not do alone it may be some time before he will get it done. About 75 young men left with the battalion and now nearly the same number have gone to Toronto to work in munition plants. About the only way to overcome the difficulty will be to have the old fashioned bee (only minus the key) Those who are short of wood for instance might do well to consider the above. It is not a question of shortage of wood but simply a shortage of men to cut it.

Last Friday afternoon the Red Cross Ladies made a canvas of the village and collected almost Fifty dollars. This amount will be used to purchase yarn for soldiers socks and flannelette for hospital requirements The ladies manufacture the goods that the money buys and send to the boys at the front. Coming so soon after the British Red Cross fund the amount collected was considered satisfactory. One feature of the canvas was to establish the fact that some give freely, while others who could give, absolutely refuse

Miss Lizzie Hanna, who has resided in Detroit for the past two years arrived home accompanied by her sister Minnie who spent the summer there.

Get your conveyancing done at Whit Moores.

Mr Fifield and party of St. Catharines motored up to Gillies Lake where they joined with the Kincardine hunters and spent a few days fishing and hunting.

Mr Joseph Tyndall left for Toronto last week to work at munitions. He has decided to give up farming and notified the R. E. Moore estate that he would not rent it from them again next year. The farm is now for sale.

Whit Moore got five more chests of that Special Black Tea There are a lot of people using it and there must be a reason. It is much better than is usually sold at 40 cents at any other time. Those who use it all say that it is good and those who have not tried it are very likely using poorer tea. Try some and see how little dust you will find in a pound.

Mr John Brinkman brought his boy down on Saturday last to see the Doctor. Unfortunately the Dr. had left on a fishing vacation before he arrived.

Messrs Frank Stoip and David Holmes of Miller Lake were in town part of last week.

Quite a number from Lindsay

Re Flag at Half Mast

Wiarton, Ont., Nov. 6th. 1916

EDITOR OF THE ECHO

Sir,—I attended the memorial service in the Baptist Church on Sunday morning, the 5th inst., in respect for the late Lloyd Glover, who fell on the battlefield doing his bit for the Empire, and while listening to the kind and loving expressions of the pastor, I contrasted the sentiments with those expressed in the article which appeared in your paper of last week, written or inspired by "We." Might I ask, who are "We?" Is there a desire on the part of some of our citizens to cater to the pro-German sentiment? If there is nor, why is the town flag not flying at full mast and another flag at half mast, both on the same pole? Surely as a British community we can afford to show some respect and kindness to the bereaved parents and family in the loss of a dear boy, who proved himself a hero, born and reared in the town of Wiarton. I feel sure every British heart in the town went out in kindly feeling to the father and mother. If I am correct in this, why should that body called "We" publish such a harsh, cold statement as that entitled "We," which appeared in your last issue I trust the old flag will be hoisted at full mast to show our devotion to our King and Empire, and may we sing with right good will, "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall"

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space, I am

Very Sincerely Yours,

D. M. Jermyn.

our spies," then his voice became harsh. "Fail us in the smallest particular, and your lover dies like the dog he is." Springing to his feet and leaning toward me until his face almost touched mine, he glared into my eyes and thundered out, "Do you understand?"

"Yes, I understand only too well." I replied. "When do I start?"

"At once!"

"This morning at dawn you will be taken by one of our men to a point where, if you go straight ahead about two miles, you will find a break in the English line." In that way the German officer in command informed me that the time had come for me to make good my promise to play the spy. Continuing, he said: "It will be guarded, of course, by the patrol. When you are challenged you will call out 'Friend.' The sentry will say, 'Advance, friend, and give the countersign'—that you will, of course, not know, but he will see you are a woman, a nurse, and will not shoot. He will undoubtedly send you to the nearest headquarters, and for he added at once: "It is a thing that is done every day, to say nothing of dispatch riders who go through even under fire. Disguised as a pretty peasant it will be easy. They are very lax with the natives. Once safe from the sentry you have nothing to fear, as our patrols on your return will be watching for you. On reaching them you will be challenged. You have only to answer in German and give the countersign."

"And I tell you he is a spy. Now I give you your choice."

Here I interrupted with: "But the countersign is changed every day. It will be three days"—

"The one I give you will be good until the evening of the third day. It is 'Deutschland Uber Alles.'"

"I think it a most hazardous task," I said, "and one in which the chances are a hundred to one I shall fail, however earnestly I try, but I accept. Before I go I want to say that I know Captain Frazer is not a spy, though appearances may be against him, but I know, too, that for less men have been shot. The falsity of the accusation can be proved, but it takes time."

"And time," he broke in, "is what we none of us have just now."

I took up the orange petticoat, went to my room and twenty minutes later was en route. I begged to see Captain Frazer, but permission either to talk to or write him was denied, and I was blindfolded and led to the waiting motor. After we had gone an hour—whether in a straight line or in a circle I was unable to decide—we suddenly halted, and the officer with me, removing the bandage from my eyes, jumped down and said:

"Fraulein, your way is straight ahead to where you see that windmill dimly outlined on the horizon. Goodby and good luck." He held out his hand. As I took it he added, "This is not to my taste, fraulein."

As horrifying as it all was, I was glad to be free. For while never molested, still I had been a prisoner, with always the sense of oppression, the feeling of being watched. With the fresh, sweet smell of the country air, the faint chirp of the birds, I forgot I was hurrying onward, perhaps to death. I said this to myself, but my emotions refused to be aroused. I could not feel a glimmer of fear. I knew all would and must go well. In the general's office I had decided on a course of action. True, the plan, if carried out, might cost my life and more—much more—the life of Ian! (It came to me suddenly I was thinking of him as Ian.) But we were soldiers, and that was a chance we must take. After all, as Colonel —— had once said to me, "Who lives if what we stand for perish from off the earth?"

CHAPTER XIII.

Playing Her Part.

For the first hour there was nothing to be seen but devastated fields yellow from lyddite—then I came to an empty village. It is a strange and uncanny thing to go through a deserted town. There is some influence that seems to haunt the empty places where men once lived, but it broods in redoubled force over places where men have died. If the object of the Germans had been to clear the town of inhabitants they had succeeded, for as I stopped for a moment to survey the place there was not a man, woman or child to be seen anywhere. Somehow I distrusted those empty houses—one never knew what might be hidden behind their silent walls.

I was stumbling along shortly after when I suddenly saw before me gleaming in the first pure rays of sunlight a brilliantly hued shell. It was a German seventy-seven, and the deep rich blue had been scraped off until the brass, shining like dull gold, showed through. I stopped a moment to look down on it and was thinking of the havoc the beautiful thing was capable of when sharp a voice called, "Who goes there?"

I looked up hastily to find two fixed bayonets confronting me and two highlanders frowning behind them. "Friend," I answered.

"Advance and give the countersign." I advanced, and so did they. We met, and I told them I was a military nurse escaped from the Germans.

They regarded me with mixed suspicion and interest, but after a whispered consultation I was given over to a sergeant, who sent me under escort to headquarters. As we marched along they asked me dozens of questions about the strength of the Germans, most of which I was unable to answer. It was breakfast time when I arrived at headquarters, and I had to wait an hour until I could see the commander. When I was at last ushered in I found him a typical English soldier. At the beginning of my story I told him the Germans had assured me there were spies all about him; that I would be watched, and I laughed incredulously.

"I dare say they are right," he answered. "Anyway we shall take no chances. Come out in the garden. There we can at least see who is behind us."

There was a marble seat by a pool in the center of the lovely old fashioned garden, and there we sat while I told him the whole story.

"If they suspect you of playing them false they will shoot both of you, that is certain," said General ——. "If you do not return they might go through with the charge against Frazer." His voice became sad as he spoke of him.

After some minutes spent in deep thought, he went on: "Well, wear your yellow petticoat. Dress like a peasant girl, but—you had better be seen as little as possible," and he looked at me until I blushed ridiculously. "Your face is patrician, my dear, not peasant, and that's rather unfortunate just at this moment. You will place the guns, but only such and where I see fit. You are pledged to return the morning of the third day, are you not?"

"Yes," I answered.

"You will return—your safe conduct through our lines will be arranged—manage to live," and he laughed, "until noon of that day, and I guarantee you and Frazer will be safe.

"And now to business. Down the road a quarter of a mile there is a cottage. You will recognize it by two tall trees in the front yard. An old peasant woman lives there, who would sell her soul for money. Have you any?" he asked sharply.

"Yes," I answered; "before I left the Germans returned 1,000 francs of my money, which they had taken."

"Good! Well, go there, tell her you are released from nursing for a week and that you want to stay here because, well, because your lover is near here. Subeditize her and explain that

Girl Students May Work On Farms

In order to allow school girls time to help on the farm at home and in this way relieve to some extent the pressure of work caused by the enlistment of men for active service, the Ontario Department of Education has decided to extend the regulation under which, last summer, boys worked on the farm without imparing their educational standing. The amended regulations differ in another important point, in that they require principals of the Public and Separate schools to hold examinations before Easter in order to provide a basis for giving the pupil a certificate for entrance into the High or Continuation schools. Last year examinations were held in a great many schools and the regulation has been widened to make conditions uniform.

Briefly, the new regulations permit High School Entrance Boards to exempt from examination and grant certificates to boys and girls preparing in Forms 4 and 5 of the Public and Separate schools for junior graduation diplomas or junior High School entrance certificates.

Under similar conditions the Minister of Education will grant certificates to boys and girls of the Fifth Form, for senior graduation diplomas, senior High School entrance and entrance to the Model schools, or in the High and Continuation schools for entrance to the Model and Normal schools or Faculty of Education.

The main requirement is that the pupil, before securing a certificate in this way must show that he or she has been employed on the farm in Ontario during the Summer.

POWERFUL BLOWS FALL

French Strike German Lines Hard in Somme Region.

Sir Douglas Haig's Forces Also Made Progress and Took a Number of Prisoners in Spite of the Stormy Weather Which Has Held Up British Operations During the Past Week.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The French troops in the Somme region of France and north-east of Verdun have again smashed the German lines hard. North of the Somme between Lesboeufs and Sailly-Saillisel to the east of the latter place, and on the St. Pierre-Vaast wood sector important gains were made in violent fighting which proceeded throughout Sunday, according to the French official communication. The attack on the St. Pierre-Vaast wood, which was made from three sides simultaneously, netted the French three trenches on the northern side and the entire German positions on the southern outskirts of the wood. In the course of these actions the French captured 522 prisoners.

To the north, despite the stormy weather, Sir Douglas Haig's forces attacked at several points along the front, making some progress and taking a few prisoners. In the centre they progressed on a front of over 1,000 yards, securing the high ground in the neighborhood of the Butte de Walencourt.

The powerful blows delivered simultaneously enabled the armies of Generals Foch and Haig to register the largest advance of weeks in their campaign to pocket Bapaume.

Keeping up their offensive in the Verdun region, the French have been enabled to occupy the entire village of Vaux, and also the town of Damloup, which is situated a mile to the east of Fort Vaux.

Sunday's advances were preceded on Saturday by futile German attacks against the strong trench system captured by the French on Wednesday on the edge of St. Pierre-Vaast wood. The British also repulsed a German counter-attack by the garrison of Le Transloy at trenches east of Gueudecourt which have been made the starting point for British attacks on Le Transloy.

Sunday's British statement gives an explanation of the larger number of allied aeroplanes that have been brought down recently; Sunday, for instance, Berlin reports taking nine. The west winds prevailing blow the allied machines far over the German front, and make it hard for them to return if pursued.

French patrols have penetrated far beyond Fort Vaux into the lines hitherto held by the Germans, but were not able to get in touch with the former defenders. It appears probable that the Germans have retired their lines considerably to the rear, their artillery positions being untenable since the French drove them from Douaumont after silencing ninety of their batteries.

Russians and Roumanians.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Sunday was a good day for the defenders of Roumania's northern passes. Almost everywhere the Roumanians had the best of it, either in strong counter-attacks or in stubborn defence of mountain strongholds. Their flanking movement of von Falkenhayn's centre progressed and the Teuton right wing is still in retreat.

Russian troops and guns are helping the Roumanians where the need of help was great. North-west of Campolung the Russian artillery wrought havoc in attacking German columns, driving the attackers back to their trenches. The German column co-operating with this force near Dragoslavele, north-east of Campolung, made no progress.

It seems likely that Russian aid will prevent the fall of Campolung, which was seriously threatened.

Surgeon-General Reinstated.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The appointment of Sir George Perley as Canadian War Minister Overseas has some effect in settling the disturbed atmosphere in Canadian circles in England. The need has been felt that a responsible Minister should be always on the spot. The expectation now seems that the sweeping changes which were announced to follow the report on the administration of the Canadian medical services will be modified. One indication of this is the reinstatement of Surgeon-General Carleton Jones, who last week received instruction to cancel the passage just before he was to embark for Canada.

Chaplain Wilken Not Killed.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Captain Gillies Wilken, the Canadian chaplain who was recently reported killed, is alive. He was taken prisoner by the Germans, and is now a chaplain in the officers' quarters at the prison camp in Westphalia. Rev. Captain Ball, who was severely wounded by shrapnel on the battlefield, has been presented with a living as rector of Billingford, Norfolk. He was inducted Sunday. He will relinquish the chaplaincy of Bromley Convalescent Hospital.

New Export Market.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—The Canadian High Commissioner in London has been asked by the Colonial Office to ascertain whether any Canadian firms wish to export goods direct to the former German colonies in the Pacific now in Australian occupation. Communications forwarded the department will be transmitted to the High Commissioner's office in London.

To Organize Alberta.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Hon. A. C. Rutherford, first premier of Alberta, has been appointed by the Government to be a director of National Service for that province. Mr. Rutherford succeeds Mr. R. B. Bennett, M.P., who is now Director-General of National Service.

INVADERS ARE TRAPPED.

Military Critics Believe von Mackensen is in Difficulties.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Field Marshal von Mackensen has been caught in his own trap in the Dobrudja, according to the opinion of military observers in London. To be sure, he can withdraw his forces to the south without any great loss. But he will find it almost impossible to advance. An invasion of Russia through Bessarabia is out of the question. The whole northern frontier of the Dobrudja is a tangle of marshes, swamps, lakes and islands formed by the delta of the Danube. The strip of land south of the river from the Black Sea to Galatz and Braila, is one of the most desolate regions in the world.

The only reason why the Russians passed into the Dobrudja to aid Roumania was because it affords a very convenient route for the invasion of Bulgaria from the north. Field Marshal von Mackensen now finds himself in this barren region, very far from his base, unable to go ahead. He cannot escape by the Black Sea, which the Russian fleet controls, and must either go back or attempt the perilous crossing of the Danube on the west.

This in times of peace would not be an easy task for any large body of men, on account of the natural obstacles which the river presents. From the bend at Galatz to below Silistria the western bank of the river is skirted by marsh lands where pontoons would be impracticable. Now that the Cernavoda bridge is gone there is no other ordinary means of crossing the Danube except by boats, and these could not penetrate the marshes.

NEXT SURPRISE OF WAR.

General Joffre May Commence Big Drive at Metz.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Military observers here are guessing, now that the initiative in the west has definitely passed to the Allies, what will be the next step. On the Somme front they have two objectives, Cambrai and St. Quentin with their railways, to gain which Bapaume in the north, Peronne in the centre, and Chaulines in the south must be taken first. On the Meuse there is the Prussian salient from Metz which projects westward to the river at St. Mihiel and where they have gained a small footing on the west bank. This salient in the plain of the Woevre offers a tempting invitation to attack. From Les Eparges, 13 miles south-east of Verdun, to Thiaucourt, on the southern side of the salient, is about ten miles. Between Les Eparges and St. Mihiel there is a valley about three miles wide, through which a small brook flows into the Meuse. At one point the French are quite near this brook and cover with their guns almost all the ground up to the slope on which St. Mihiel stands, including the railway to Metz, which brings ammunition and supplies. Not a few critics here think a move in this direction will be the next surprise of the war.

Bandits Looted Western Bank.

CALGARY, Nov. 6.—Holding up at their revolver points a member of the staff who slept on the premises and then gagging and binding him, two masked highwaymen blew the safe of the Merchants Bank of Canada at Okotoks, 30 miles south of Calgary, at 2 a.m. Saturday morning and escaped presumably in a motor car with the cash contents amounting to something in the neighborhood of $7,000. Before committing the robbery, the bandits cut the telephone and telephone wires at each end of the town and it was not until the messenger arrived from Okotoks by motor car that the authorities were notified of the crime.

As far as the Mounted Police were able to ascertain at an early hour, the burglary was very similar to that recently perpetrated at Caron, Sask., in fact the mode of operations seems to have been exactly the same. Superintendent Horrigan, of the Calgary Division of the Royal North-West Mounted Police, sent detectives and officers to Okotoks on an early morning train, while officials of the Calgary branch of the Merchants Bank have also left for the scene.

French Occupy Katerina.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Greek troops and Venizelist revolutionary forces clashed just outside of Katerina, according to a despatch from Athens. The encounter followed a demand by the commander of the Greek detachment that Venizelists evacuate the town. A French battalion arrived at Katerina Sunday to occupy the town. It is believed that the Greek and Venizelist troops will depart immediately, and thus solve the situation arising from which has arisen as a result of the conflict between the Royalists and Venizelists.

War and Peace Odds.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The last fortnight has witnessed an appreciable change in the war and peace odds at Lloyd's.

Two weeks ago 30 guineas per cent. was quoted against the war being over in 12 months. The rate has now risen to 60 guineas per cent.

Lloyd's has now put the chances against the war lasting more than another year at 10 to 6, while a fortnight ago the chances were reckoned at 10 to 3.

Back From the Front.

HALIFAX, Nov. 6.—Lieut.-Col. Monsignor Burke has just arrived by steamship from the front on his way to Ottawa. He returns to stimulate recruiting. Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Nasmith, of Toronto, also came and a couple of hundred wounded men.

Sir Thomas Sees King.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—King George received Sir Thomas Whtite. Previously the Minister met representatives of all Canadian banks here.

AUSTRIANS FALL BACK

Italians Slowly Pushing Their Lines Nearer to Trieste.

Desperate Fighting is Taking Place on the Carso Plateau, and the Teuton Commander Has Been Forced to Call for Reinforcements on Account of Losses Estimated to Be Over 40,000 Men.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Italians are slowly but surely pushing their lines nearer to Trieste. With fine weather favoring their offensive operations, their advance Saturday and Sunday was extended over a wider area, and the drive is being prosecuted with steadily increasing violence and growing losses to the Austro-Hungarians.

The Austrians lost 11,000 men during the first two days of the new Italian offensive, according to wireless reports from Rome. Of these, in round figures, 10,000 were killed, twice that number wounded and 10,062 captured. General Borderitch, of the Austrian command, after having been forced to withdraw three divisions, has asked for reinforcements, according to these despatches.

The Italians Saturday pressed forward in the direction of the Wippach valley, advancing more than a kilometre, taking 553 prisoners. They also have practically invested Castagnovizza, on the Carso.

"Since the offensive on the Italian front began, on August 6," says Sunday's Rome War Office report, "we have taken in all 40,365 prisoners, including 1,003 officers."

Despatches from the front state that the fighting on the Carso plateau is assuming the most desperate character. Desperate fighting marked the Italian capture of Veliki Kribash, which the Austrians stubbornly defended for hours, although their fortifications and trenches had been wrecked. The Austrians when they saw the Italian flag on the crest of the height launched several violent counter-attacks, all of which were repulsed. The largest number of prisoners taken at any one point was made possible. The Austrian losses were heavy. Their dead and wounded choked the trenches.

Mount Pecinka was carried by the bayonet. The Austrians had been sure that the Italians could not be able to climb the steep slopes.

King Victor Emmanuel and the Duke of Aosta were with the troops throughout the day, shouting encouragement every time the infantry charged.

The correspondent at the front for the Idea Nazionale says he saw the King, overjoyed, congratulating several section commanders.

The Rome Tribuna's correspondent at the front wires that at the end of the first day of fighting the Austrians evacuated their entire first line and fell back to the second, which "is destined to fall like the first." The morale of the Italian troops, he declares, is the highest.

An Armament Race.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The war's final phase, inaugurated this week, is in the form of the most dramatic armament race the world has ever seen. Mr. von Stein has announced that Germany, surprised on the Somme by the Entente Allies' superior output, began at once to increase hugely her supplies of guns and shells. "Every particle of the country's energy must be devoted to the production of munitions," said Marshal von Hindenburg, commander-in-chief. "I've come straight from the Somme," said General von Stein. "We must do everything in our power to surpass the enemy's gun and shell output. I'm going to apply myself to this task."

Last March the Allies began their greatest munitions effort and this month they are taking up Germany's workshop challenge, so that the world-war in this coming winter will be fought principally in European munitions plants. Victory next spring will go to the side able to project the largest and deadliest shell screens.

Broken Lock Caused Flood.

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 6.—Many acres of farm and garden property adjacent to the northern boundary of St. Catharines were inundated Sunday evening and considerable damage caused when the steamer J. H. Shrigley, of Sarnia, 400 tons, commanded by Captain Thompson, and laden with coal from Erie, Pa., to Toronto, smashed two footgates of lock No. 7, allowing the contents of the level above, one mile in length and the longest below the Lake Erie level, to pour into the canal level below. All valves in the locks and waste weirs below were opened to relieve the overflow, and the lock tenders at No. 7 threw safety cables on the headgates and saved them. Because of this, and the fact that at this season of the year gardens are not so valuable, the loss against the steamer will not be as great, but will likely reach $12,000.

Success in East Africa.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—An official communication dealing with the situation in East Africa made public by the War Office Sunday night says:

"Advices from East Africa report the overthrow at dawn on October 30 by Brig.-Gen. Northey's troops to the east of Lupembe of a strong enemy force entrenched west of the Ruhudje River, and the capture of 32 prisoners, an undamaged field gun, three machine guns, and a quantity of material. Fighting continues in this area."

Must Serve His Term.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—It was officially announced Sunday that the Imperial Military Tribunal has rejected the appeal of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, from the sentence imposed upon him by the court-martial at Berlin. Dr. Liebknecht was sentenced by a court-martial to four years and one month imprisonment for military treason. He appealed to the Imperial Military Tribunal.

On Monday of last week about $15,000 were paid for stock at this point. This shows how the industry has become developed. A number of years ago nearly all the farmers in the Peninsula depended upon getting out logs in winter, and thus securing ready money. In those days farming was a side line, now farming is the whole thing Lumbering is practically over, and the farmer by turning off a few steers can make more per season than he made by hard work in the bush getting out logs. The best days for the peninsula are in the future for if $15,000 are paid in one week it means a great many dollars in the course of the year. Stock raising will be the big industry here.

The members of Wiarton L. O. L. met in their lodge room Friday evening to honor the memory of Guy Fawkes. The speeches and songs were excellent and the celebration was considered one of the best ever held in the town

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Rules to Reduce High Cost of Living

(By a Clergyman's Wife)

Bella Wilfer, who had been presented by Mr. and Mrs. Boffin with a well filled purse, thus addressed her father. "Now pa, attend to what I am going to say, and promise and vow to be obedient" "I promise and vow my dear" said he, "you ask no questions, you take this purse; you go to the nearest place where they keep everything of the very very best, ready made; you buy and put on the most beautiful suit of clothes, the most beautiful hat and the most beautiful pair of bright boots (patent leather, Pa, mind) that are to be got for money; and you come back to me."

In these days many of us wish that we were characters in "Our Mutual Friend" so that Dickens could wave his magic wand and furnish us with complete outfits. We, most of us, sympathize with R. Wilfer who for twenty-five years had never been fortunate enough to have a new hat, new shoes and new suit all at the same time, if one of the three articles were new, two were old. No wonder that at the end of half an hour he came back so brilliantly transformed that Bella walked around him in ecstatic admiration twenty times.

Then again when we have to buy the necessities of the inner man we once more wish that charming Bella would treat us to the delicious dinner she bought for her Pa. But while we all have our delightful surprises we have no Bella to buy our clothes or our dinners so we must needs exert our own "grey matter" to make a dollar look like five.

Now, Mr. Editor, I can give no wonderful advice upon the subject as I am not enlightened upon any of the findings of commissions, and know nothing of tariffs and the same of politics. Which does not prove that I am not qualified to vote as soon as woman's suffrage comes along. The average man voter so "they say" know no more. However these are a few of my simple rules to reduce the High Cost of Living.

Do not reduce your givings. The Lord loveth a cheerful giver" and the cattle on a thousand hills are His. Your bread always comes back (buttered) if you cast it upon the waters. Give for, and work for the boys at the front and in training, think of them eating bully-beef out of a tin with their fingers, making cocoa over a Tommy's cooker, sleeping in dug-outs, standing in muddy trenches till the flies and lice make life more unbearable than we can imagine, and knowing what they are doing for us, and contrasting our life with theirs, let us spend and be spent.

Avoid Telephone Ordering

It pays you to go down town and see what you are buying. Buy closely, don't get six chops if five will do This does away with those fussy left over dishes which take more time, energy, eggs and biscuit-crumbs than they are worth.

Entertain Your Friends Simply

A cup of tea and a sandwich served with sincere hospitality will do in these hard war times. Do not try to keep "up-sides" with anyone; cut your cost (and make it ever too) according to your cloth. Examine the remnant tables, and buy patterns and enjoy the zest of making something out of remnants and last years wardrobe if you cannot buy new materials.

But the rule we of very moderate incomes have to follow most, these days is "Do Without" It is the only way I know of to reduce the cost of living. We, most of us, enjoy chocolates and ice-cream and many of us have acquired a taste for olives expensive sauces and canned goods, but we heroically shut our eyes to them, gulp twice, and buy oatmeal, suet, soup-bones, turnips and are thankful for the winters potatoes paid for.

These, sir, are the simple ideas of "one of us"

TENDERS WANTED

Tenders will be received up to Dec. 1 at 1916, for the following work on the Oxenden Methodist church, jacking up the present building 5 ft. excavating, building cement foundation 12in. thick. 9 1-2 ft high including base for chimney, building brick chimney for furnace 8 ft. above roof, installing coal or wood furnace in basement decorating the interior walls and ceiling of church Tenders for any part or all of the above work will be considered.

W. B. REEVE, Sec. Trustee Board.

$10,000 Blaze

The Rev. Mr. Pradham was sitting up Sunday evening talking to the Rev. Mr. Shepherd, who was his guest. The lights began to flicker and he knew that it was time to retire but after going up stairs he saw the reflection of a fire in the bathroom, and as quickly as he could get ready he was at the Town Hall ringing the bell. This was at 11.20 P. M., as we have said, the Rev. Mr. Prudham first saw the fire. It was the saw mill of Johnston, Hunter and Crawford that was doomed to distruction for at that time the fire had got well started, and when the brigade got on the scene, which was within 10 minutes, the fire had made such headway that it was impossible to put it out. The dry timber made a great fire, and the sky was the brightest it has been for a long time At the time there was a very strong north east wind blowing and had there not been a light snow fall on the roofs of the buildings it is difficulty to say what would have happened for sparks fell everywhere on Berford street. Just how the fire originated is a mystery. Had some people been in there with the object of stealing and then thrown a match carelessly among the dry shavings or was it deliberly set on fire by some one who wanted to burn down the town? The fire started in the end where the shingles were made, and it would not take it long to get well under way. The whole thing is most regretable. It is a loss to the owners, and a loss to the town. The firm has been a most honorable one has employed a large number of men and every one will regret the losses they have recently suffered.

The Town Should Go Into Wood Business

At the present it looks like wood may advance in price and about the best way to protect the citizens is for the town to buy a bush lot, put men to work, and sell at the lowest possible figure. Two years ago the town did this and made some money after providing some cheap wood for the town institutions. We should go into this work this year upon a far more extensive scale We should employ every available man and put him to work. The council will do well to go into the matter

Cow Sold for $100.50

When a grade cow goes for $100.50 at an auction sale it makes you sit up What are things coming to? How long will it take that cow to pay for herself? The calf will be worth up to $20 next Fall, and the butter all the way from 20 to 35cents per pound, but even then the cow has to go some to be a profitable investment at that price. And that figure was obtained for a cow at the auction sale of I. Lennox last Saturday. All the stock sold well, and went off like hot cakes, but no cows wants to buy horses.

The Week's Doings at Lions Head

Mr. Charles Pedwell spent Sunday in the village at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Tyndall.

Probably the most satisfactory piece of news during the past week to many of us would be the articles which informed us that no longer would Hearst's yellow rags be entitled to enter Canada.

Sunday last was the first time this fall that we found the ground white with snow. Outsiders think this a cold spot, but we read of places that have winter before us. There are worse places than the Peninsula for some things.

Mr. Brown, who formerly worked in the Royal Bank here, came to town last week accompanied by a friend. They were on their way north to spend a few days hunting around McVicar.

Miss Ettie McKay and Miss Ettie McDonald, of Lindsay settlement, spent some time collecting for the British Red Cross. As the Council did not grant anything towards this fund at the the time others were helping, these young ladies felt that they were being slighted in the good work. They collected $59.52 which Mr. McDonald deposited in the bank for them. We regret to report that they met with cold refusals on the part of one or two of the largest land owners in the settlement. For so worthy a cause, a man who absolutelo refuses to assist, must be poorly informed on the good work done, or have a better way in his mind of helping. Not many people now-a-days that want it known that they refused to help a good cause like the British Red Cross.

The Misses Cora and Muriel Fries left for Hamilton last week where they have secured positions.

David Brown, who has lived here for years, passed away last week at his son's residence, which was his old homestead. He has been ailing for years but his end was free from pain. He practically slept the last hours of his life. He was buried in Eastnor cemetery.

Mr. Armstrong, of Toronto, who has been visiting his son, the druggist, left for home last Friday

Mr. Herb Fries is home visiting his parents for a few days.

Mr F. G. Moore and Rev. James spent the greater part of last week at Wingfield Basin hunting. We have yet to report any one who has been successful enough to shoot a deer.

We understand that the council of Lindsay Township donated $200 towards the British Red Cross last Saturday. A township that has sent so many of its sons to the front, should not be missing in the list of contributions to assist the boys. There may be better ways of doing it but in the meantime we have to do the best we can, which is by giving.

Whit Moore handles nothing but what is good Black tea is one thing he makes a specialty of. If he recommends a tea it is because he believes it to be good. For some time he has been praising his special black tea, and the customers say it is better than ordinary tea. It requires a little more steeping because there is less dust in it than in most package teas.

Charles Williams Jr. returned from the west where he spent the past fall, The weather agreed with him as he has gained considerably in weight.

The tug Mystery which carried the freight here during the past season, has been laid up in Owen Sound for the winter. It is not yet sure if she will continue on this run next season.

If you want a Columbia Grafonola call at Whit Moore's. You can get it from him delivered at your home as cheap as the large catalogue houses quote them, and wouldn't you rather get them from one of your own citizens than from some one you don't know, and who wouldn't speak to you if he did know you.

Mrs. Martindale is visiting Mrs. S. C. Cooper at Owen Sound. Jessie and Lydia Cooper accompanied her on the trip over as they had remained here until their parents had prepared the home for them.

Space will not permit us to dwell on a subject brought up in this paper, namely, the High Cost of Living. During these times of very important activities throughout the world it is interesting to hear the ideas of the people when speaking on this subject. Without delving into this subject too deeply, we might note that the ordinary individual who is drawing $2.00 per day is not expected to contribute to any worthy cause, but yet he is capable of buying from 4 to 7 plugs of tobacco weekly, which would make a nice payment on a life insurance policy, a thing which would assist materially in the event of his demise. This is one thing only that enables the working man to keep poor. Any man who is blessed with health can work and save 10c a day at any wage, and that means a large amount in ten years. The solution is simple—"To Save.'

Splendid Concert in Town Hall

The concert given by the Canadian Scotch Borderers of the 241st battalion in the town hall last Friday evening, was one of the very best that has been put on the stage for the past ten years. There are many who will say at once it was the best, perhaps it was. At all events it was of the highest class from start to finish and those who missed it missed a good thing. It is a unique way to recruit, the best that has been devised. It was a concert followed by all odds the best recruiting address heard in the town since the war began. It is just possible that the concert part appealed very strongly to those of Scotch descent, but everyone had a treat. What was put on? There was the regimental pipe band, there were Scotch songs, Scotch dancing, and there was a lot of everything. There was good measure, more than full weight, an encore was responded to most cheerfully. The stage was splendidly set for the occasion, there was a tent, the camp fire and the boys sitting around it ready to get up when their turn came. The concert was ably assisted by local talent The recruiting address of Sergt. Major Knight was a masterpiece. He was the first Canadian in France, he was there on Aug. 10, 1914 having enlisted in Scotland with the Gordon Highlanders, he went through the battles at Mons and at Marne, was a prisoner for three days, escaped and hid in a straw stack for two days, heard the Germans hunting for him, then got out and for $5 got a Belgian to drive him, buried up in a cart, 40 miles until he got to the French lines He was wounded, rendered unconscious, was taken in an unconscious condition to England, and the boat on which he was taken was torpedoed. It was this man, with this experience, whose one desire is to get back, whose heart is in the right place, who made the most convincing and powerful recruiting speech yet delivered in the town hall. It is just possible the concert may be repeated in other parts of the county and if so the local papers can safely boom it. The concert is good, and the boys who give it are better.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardie Winch, of Colpoys Bay, were up here on Sunday and Monday visiting friends.

There was not a very large crowd at John Boyle's sale on Monday, bidding was not very brisk but the cattle and sheep sold very well and brought good prices, but there was no demand for either horses or colts, in fact if one wanted some cash very bad he would be better to have a good spring calf to sell than a horse just now.

Abe Mathausen, of Ferndale was up here on Monday and bought a fine bunch of cattle from Frank Steip.

A man that gets a deer this season has got to do some hunting for it, not just building a fire and sit on a runway until dogs drive one up to him, and Mr. Wilton will be one of the few lucky ones.

WALKERTON

The race for the Surrogate Office here rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Matthew Goetz, has closed by Dr. Clapp of Mildmay landing the plum. The announcement of his appointment will occasion general satisfaction throughout South Bruce, where he has long been a prominent figure both in political and professional life. The office, as before said, is one of the best in the Court House Square, and includes a Surrogate Court Clerkship, Registrar of the High Court, and Clerk of the County Court, the triple position being enhanced with a yearly remuneration of something over $2500. That the doctor will "make good" in his new appointment is the belief and opinion of his many friends.

Private John Lumley, of Walkerton, who was transferred from the 160th (Bruce) Batt. to a special Service Corps, in London, prior to the departure overseas of the Bruceites, is alleged to have jumped the job and deserted from His Majesty's service. Coming to Walkerton over three weeks ago, he is stated to have bundled up his uniform and sent it back by express to Sergt. Major Britton at London, leaving the Sergt. to pay the express charges at that end. As 21 days elapsed last saturday without the Walkertonian putting in an appearance at the camp, Lance Corp. Jas. Hendrickson, of Walkerton, was dispatched from London after the accused. He was out hunting in a bush near Flesherton when the officer, who was apprised of his whereabouts, butted in on the chase and bagged the hunter, himself. He was brought to Walkerton on the late C. P. R. train Tuesday night, and remanded to the jail here until such time as the militia sends up an escort to conduct him to the camp, where he will be obliged to face the serious charge of desertion.

Mr John M. McNamara, a former Walkertonian and eldest son of the late Michael McNamara here, has been appointed Senior Judge of the County of Renfrew, with headquarters at Pembroke, and will shortly move with his wife and family to that town. While studying law, Mr. McNamara was settled to the legal firm of Barrett & Klein, Walkerton, both partners in this firm being later elevated to Judgeships in Bruce. After graduating from Osgoode Hall, Toronto, twenty-eight years ago young McNamara hit the trail for North Bay, and although it had only a few log houses then, decided that it needed a lawyer and hung out the first legal slab that was seen in that country. He remained on the job and saw the burg grow to a city of ten thousand, and after over a quarter of a century forensic fencing in the courts, there he steps up to the bench which is the goal of the legal profession, and where most ambitious lawyers hope some day or other to rest the soles of their feet.

The commanding officers of this military district have apparently become sick and tired of waiting for Ottawa to start something in the recruiting line and are taking the matter into their own hands. At a meeting of commanding officers held in Col. Shannon's office at London on Monday, each of the battalions which are being recruited was allowed recruiting ground in this military division. Bruce County was allotted to the Army Service Corps, A. M. C. and the two batteries, who along with the 222nd Can Scottish Bordorers (Essex) will look for recruits in Bruce. The Scottish Borderers have already sent their pipe band up into Bruce. Recruiting will be carried on, not by public meetings; which, it is felt, have served their usefulness, but by sending out squads of men in uniform.

A Talk on Rheumatism

Telling How to Actually Cure This Common and Painful Malady

This article is for the man or woman who suffers from rheumatism who wants to be cured, not merely relieved—but actually cured. The most the rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing something on the tender, aching joint, is a little relief. No lotion or liniment ever did or can make a cure. The rheumatic poison is rooted in the blood. Therefore rheumatism can only be cured when this poisonous acid is driven out of the blood. Any doctor will tell you this is true. If you want something that will go right to the root of the trouble in the blood take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich blood which drives out the poisonous acid and cures rheumatism to stay cured. The truth of these statements has been proved in thousands of cases throughout Canada, and the following cure is a striking instance. Mr. Henry Smith, St. Jerome, Que. says: "For upward of a year I was a victim of rheumatism in a most painful form. The trouble was located in my legs and for a long time I was so bad that I could not walk. The suffering which I endured can only be imagined by those who have been similary afflicted. Doctors treatments did not help me and then I began trying other remedies, but with no better results. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and although I had begun to lose faith in medicine I finally decided to give the pills a trial. I am very grateful now that I did so, for after taking eight boxes of the pills the trouble completely disappeared. I was free from pain and could walk as well as ever I did in my life. I have since taken the pills occasionally as a precautionary measure, and I cannot speak too highly in their favor."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all the troubles due to weak, watery blood or broken down nerves. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail post-paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

Chesley

When in Hamilton recently we were the guest of Dr. and Mrs. P. P. Park formerly of Chesley. Dr. Park has a large practise in the Ambitious City and has never regretted locating in the east end which is the only part of the city which is growing. His youngest son Hume, who went overseas with the first contingent, and was invalided home, is now living in London, England, where he has a store. The eldest son, Fred, is in trenches somewhere in France and Dr. Boswell is either in Egypt or at Saloniki.

E. A. Tough, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Tough of this town, was on the steamer Stephano which was torpedoed a few weeks ago by the German submarine U 53 between Halifax and New York at six o'clock in the evening. This is how E. A. puts in. "I was just going down to supper at six o'clock when I heard three shots. I came out on deck and saw the submarine about a mile and a half away. The captain gave orders that every person must put on life belts. The life boats were lowered and every body scrambled in as quickly as they knew how. Fortunately the sea was very calm so we had very little difficulty in getting all the 160 passengers off. I do not think it took more than fifteen minutes. We were not allowed to take any of our baggage with us, consequently we lost everything, club bag, clothes, etc. We were in the life boats a few minutes when we were picked up by a U. S. destroyer and landed at New Port, Rhode Island, next morning between 2 and 3 o clock.

Tara

Word was received on Thursday last at Barrie, by Mr Edwin Longmore, that his son, Lieut. John Longman, had been killed in action in France, on October 21st. Lieut. Longman was well and favorably known in Tara having been employed in the Merchants Bank, coming in the fall of 1907 and residing here for a year. He also served in the banks branches at Owen Sound, Meaford and Chesley. In 1912 he left Owen Sound to take a position as accountant with a wholesale firm at Ottawa.

Mr Geo. Battle, who was turned down in the 160th Bruce Battalion, has enlisted again and been accepted with the 63rd Battery at London and leaves next week for that city.

The death of Mrs. James Welsh, whose maiden name was Mary Chalmers took place at her home on Con 4 Arran, on Thursday of last week, from the effects of a paralytic stroke. The late Mrs. Welsh was born in Scotland and came to Canada when fourteen years of age, settling near Keady where she resided with her brother. In 1876 she was married to Mr. James Welsh.

Assistant engineer, R. J. Surtees, of the Hydro Electric Power Commission was in town on Wednesday and met a number of the citizens and explained the reasons for building the stopping down station at Kilsyth. Tara does not have to pay the expense of the station the Commission paying for that work. Mr. Surtees advised that the citizens have their houses wired as soon as possible as he thought the power will be ready for Tara early in the new year.

His Excellency was sworn in by the Hon. Sir Louis Davies, K.M.M.G. # TEUTONS DRIVEN BACK.

Russians and Roumanians Are Now Assuming Big Offensive.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—It was officially announced from Bucharest and Petrograd Sunday that the Russians and the Roumanians have taken the offensive on a wide front in Transylvania, and that they have already won considerable successes in the capture of dominating heights from the enemy.

The offensive was taken by the Roumanians first in the Trotus valley on their north-western front, and in its opening stages they captured Mount Alunis, five miles north of Goloasa, and Mount Preotesele, four and three-quarter miles north of Agas. In the Uzul valley, where they have strengthened their artillery, the big guns destroyed the Uzvolgy factory. Between Slanic and Oituz the Teutons launched eight attacks towards the summit of Cernica, but they were repulsed, and the Roumanians assumed the offensive on the whole front between Vrancea and Slanic and they stormed the Lupcei and the Fatamoarta summits.

The Russians, who have now come up strong to the assistance of Roumania, have gained further successes at a point 55 miles south-east of Dorna Watra, and they have penetrated into Eransylvania. This success was won in the region of Tulghes (Tolgyes) Pass, south of Almasmezo, and it comprised the capture of two commanding heights, one machine gun, four officers, and 205 men. South of Dorna Watra the Teutons continue their attacks on the Russians, but they are not making any success with them. The fighting is severe round the villages of Holle and Tolgyes.

The southward advance of the Russians and the Roumanians continues with success. Von Mackensen has been unable, so far, to make a stand against the Allies, and they have reached the Topal-Inancesme-Karanasuf line, taking 100 prisoners.

Graves, who says that at one time he was a German spy, is accused of trying to obtain $5,000 for a package of letters addressed to Countess von Bernstorff. These letters were smuggled into the United States on October 31st aboard the steamship Oscar II. Graves, according to the officials, represented to Prince von Hatzfeldt that the letters were from a man and were of such an intimate character that they would embarrass Countess von Bernstorff greatly if they fell into the hands of her husband.

FRENCH TAKE VILLAGE

Completed the Capture of Sailisel After Hard Fighting.

British Made Advance, Capturing and Consolidating One Thousand Yards of the Strong Regina Trench—German Position North of Ancre is Now Threatened and Cannot Hold Out for Long.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Two important successes have been won by the Allies on the front of the Somme, where the French completed their capture of Sailisel Village Saturday and the British completed the consolidation of another thousand yards of the strong Regina trench, north-east of Thiepval, captured early on Saturday morning.

The Regina trench fell at a single blow. Sailisel Village required a long drawn out hand-to-hand struggle to master it. The British took 60 prisoners, including four officers, in their successful attack on the Regina trench. The French took 120 unwounded prisoners and seven officers with eight machine guns in their fighting for Sailisel.

Step by step the French had driven the Germans back until they occupied Saturday only some groups of houses in the eastern part of Sailisel Village. These defences were carried Saturday in a grenade attack. As seen from the great number of bodies encumbering the ground in this village, the German losses are heavy.

The capture of the additional thousand yards of the Regina trench by the British further imperils the German positions north of the Ancre by making the salient too sharp for holding with success, and the capture of Sailisel by the French, imperils the remaining German positions in the St. Pierre Vaast Wood. The Germans are reported to be already evacuating this wood in part.

Besides driving the Germans from the eastern portion of Sailisel the French, by bombing attacks, made progress to the north of it. The Germans bombarded this position with great violence.

Allied Aviators Busy.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Numerous aerial raids, including one on the German steel works at Volkingen, Rhenish Prussia, have been carried out by British and French aircraft in the past two days, according to official announcements here and at Paris. The raid on Volkingen was made by seventeen British naval aeroplanes. These dropped 1,000 kilograms (2,220 pounds) of explosives on the German steel works, seriously damaging the buildings. German machines attacked the British craft, fought several actions, and suffered from the encounter, three of them being felled. This raid was culminated at Volkingen, between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning, was followed by another raid by French aeroplanes at night. These dropped the same quantity of explosives as the British machines on the steel works and started a number of fires. The French and the British machines also bombarded railway stations in the rear of the Germans on the Somme front, and the French also drenched with projectiles the German blast furnaces at Romsbach and at Hagendange in the region of Metz as well as hangars and aerodromes. Great damage was done.

Broke Up Peace Meeting.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A conference at Cardiff, Wales, in favor of opening peace negotiations, which had been arranged by the National Council of Civil Liberties, was broken up Saturday. A crowd of patriotic demonstrators broke into the hall and severe fighting resulted, although there were no casualties. The president of the South Wales Miners' Federation was in the chair. Speeches were made by James H. Thomas and Ramsay Macdonald, members of the House of Commons.

The delegates to the conference appeared to be mostly young men of military age. When the demonstrators reached the hall in which the conference was being held they met with stout resistance from within, but eventually the doors were broken down. Fist-fighting followed, in which it is reported that women delegates fought like tigers. Mr. Thomas attempted to rally his supporters but was dragged from the platform and narrowly escaped serious injury. When the demonstrators were in full possession of the hall they waved flags and sang "God Save the King."

New Kingdom Formed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Formation of the new Kingdom of Arabia, with Grand Shereef Hussein Ben Ali as monarch, and Mecca as the capital, was reported to the State Department Saturday in an undated telegram from Mecca, signed by Shereef Abdullah, Minister of Foreign Affairs. The Arabic nation, Abdullah said, would henceforth be an active member of the Society of Nations, and confidently looked forward to recognition by the United States. The new kingdom resulted, he said, from an unanimous meeting of the notables and citizens of the country, who definitely threw off the yoke of the Committee of Union and Progress at Constantinople.

Military Cheques Forged.

KINGSTON, Nov. 13.—A. Nicholson, a young clerk, arrested on a charge of forging military cheques, has been released and Quartermaster-Sergeant Ince of Belleville has been arrested on a similar charge. Three other military men are under surveillance, and more arrests are expected. Ince is a handwriting expert and he was called to examine the forged cheques. As a result of his findings Nicholson was arrested. T. N. Fayné of Ottawa, another handwriting expert, examined the cheques and his investigation resulted in the arrest of Ince. The sum of $500 is involved in the case.

THERE is to be a big citizens meeting in Massey Hall, Toronto Nov 28 to consider the high cost of living. There are other places besides Toronto where steps should be taken in this direction.

HIS Honor Judge Winchester, Toronto, has ruled that the fact of bars being closed in hotels does not alter the value of the land and structures because the buildings may be converted to other uses, and in any case the hotels still doing business retain the same status as before the passing of prohibition.

THERE is a great amount of talk now about preparations for after the war. What we need in Wiarton is to get busy and prepare for the inevitable future Hotels have decreased in value, fires are wiping out other assessable properties, and those who remain will be called upon to pay a tax rate quite too high for comfort. We have taken a Rip Van Winkle sleep, and it is about time to re-organize the Board of Trade. One thing is sure that we have not been enjoying our share of the general prosperity of the country. Whither are we drifting?

SIR SAM HUGHES, who has been Minister of Militia in the Borden Cabinet, has resigned upon the request of the Premier. Whatever may be his faults the Canadian people will remember his prodigous work at the beginning of the war.

SIR SAM HUGHES has intimated that Conscription will come next Spring if we do not secure the required 100,000 soldiers by that time. This is one of the best things that has been said. If Quebec objects who cares? It is time for Quebec to know that it is part of Canada and not Canada part of Quebec.

A Halifax Herald roporter made the following remark of the Bruce 160 when it was in that city: "But say, those Indians were splendid specimens of manhood, as they paraded in full view, on their way to the boat, excited great admiration and every man of them is an expert shot. We get lots of soldiers here, but the fine young men of the 160th which marched through here were splendid."

IT is up to the Council to investigate the cause of the recent fires. There was a fire not long ago in Mr. J. P. Newman's lumber yard, purely incendiary, no investigation. The office of Mr. Joseph Currie got a scorching, purely incendiary. The saw mill of Johnston, Hunter and Crawford is burned down, the fire was purely incendiary or at least there is every reason to suppose that these fires were of incendiary origin. Are we going to investigate, are we going to put a detective to work, or are we going to allow the town to burn up?

Wilson Re-Elected

President Wilson was re-elected. Had his opponent been Roosevelt it isa fair surmise that the Republicans would have swept the countryt Hughes wanted both the pro-German and the pro-ally vote and botween the two stools he fell to the ground. Had he the courage of Roosevelt to raise the great issue of the day he would have gained much and ovidently lost nothing. He was defeated simply because he played the part of a politician, and the part of a politician does not count in the fare of the big issues to day.

The Republic bosses can take their medicine. At the Chicago Convention they forced Hughes upon the people who wanted Roosevelt, and it is the old story, it is one thing to get the Convention and another thing to get elected.

—We are proud to hear that one more of our Wiarton boys have joined the colors in the person of Llewellyn Boyle. He enlisted in Moosejaw and is in training with a battalion there.

BE PATRIOTIC— WEAR RUBBERS

British Government Has Given You Rubber at Low Price, So You Can Wear Rubbers and Overshoes to Protect Your Expensive Shoes.

Before the war a cow cost sixty dollars; now a cow's hide costs as much. This means expensive shoes—the same quality as before with a price fast approaching double that formerly paid.

"What's to be done?" asks the man or woman in moderate circumstances.

"Buy Rubbers and Save your Shoes" is the answer the British Government gives.

The British Government has put the price of rubber down so that you may benefit. Think of this and think of the rise in the price of other staple articles. Then, be patriotic and wear rubbers—rubbers made from British Government rubber—and save your shoe leather from winter's snow and fall rains.

Letter to Mrs. Thompson

Mrs. J. E. Thompson has received the following letter from her nephew Pte. Roy Stoneham, who is in an English hospital recovering from a wound. His brother Alfred was killed in action. The letter has the ring of true Canadian bravery and manhood:

"It was some battle we went through at 12.30 noon on the 26th of September. We went 1,100 yards and took three trenches. It was one of the biggest bombardments we had known on the Somme front. We lost a lot of men, but we sure took some ground. I was buried up once and thrown up in the air about five feet with the machine gun, but was not hurt. I had five bullet holes in my coat, so that was close, but there was just one hit me and that was all I wanted. The bullet went in my left wrist and up the arm to the elbow, and two days after I got it taken out. The night before we went over the top there were six of us stopped in a shell hole out in No Man's Land with a machine gun, and we couldn't hear each other talk with the noise of the bombardment. We thought it was all up with us. The shells popping all around. There are no trenches of any account; they are all blown to pieces. We just use the shell holes for trenches. There are some shell holes ten feet deep and twelve feet across. After I was wounded I was coming back to get out and thought I never could do so. I had to go about two miles, and they were shelling all over the place. I took one poor man on my back who had his leg broken. When we got out from the shelling I couldn't see my arm for blood, but it was fixed up and I was sent to a hospital in France and then to England. It was just hand-to-hand fighting when we got over the 1,100 yards. It was wild, but we got the best of them. After it was over you could see nothing but Germans running back. There were six of us when we started out with the machine and I was the only one left. When the Germans started to run back I got the old machine gun going and I made them step high believe me. It is rather lonesome here, there are just three Canadians in this ward."

That Half Mast Flag

Wiarton, Nov. 11, 1916.

EDITOR OF THE ECHO:

Sir,—In yours of the 8th we see a long letter criticising something that had appeared concerning the flag at half mast, and especially "We," so as I happened to be one of the We, please allow me to reply in your valuable paper.

I contend that the flag should be kept flying at the mast head, and if ever lowered to weave a gold thread in it for every brave boy that falls fighting for King and Country, and for his own liberty and ours, and those who have left Germany to escape Prussian militarism and oppression. But we hear of some of those expressing the wish that all who go to fight our battles may never return. Does Mr. Jermyn wish us to express our sorrow before such as that? This may be an advanced age and require it, but I contend that such display and publishing casualty lists has proved a hindrance to enlisting.

I have before me a verse composed 1056 B. C. that expresses my view of the half mast flag, as follows:

O Antelope of Israel! pierced on thy high place,
How are the mighty fallen,
Tell it not in Gath,
Publish it not in the streets of Askelon,
Lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice,
Lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph.

Now sir, I know of but one place for the flag to be at half mast, and that is over the homes of the slackers and cowards.

Wiarton, Nov 13, 1916.

Mr. Editor.

In reply to Mr. Jermyn in the matter of lowering the flag on the death of our boys at the front, I wish to say that I asked Mr Kastner, who is chairman of property committee, why the flag was not lowered. I understood him to say that owing to previous deaths and others likely to occur, that with the approval of the Mayor, it would not be advisable to harrow the feelings of the bereaved ones by a continual reminder by seeing the flag lowered. Seeing that they had so decided, I suggested that, with Mr Hurlbut's approval, that The Echo be asked to tell the people why the flag was not lowered.

The Racking Pains of Sciatic Rheumatism

Were Well-nigh Unbearable—After Five Years of Suffering Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Medicines.

For downright excruciating pain few ailments can be compared to sciatic rheumatism. Since this condition of the sciatic nerve denotes exhaustion of the nervous system, the logical cure is found in the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to nourish the starved nerves back to health and vigor.

Reports are continually coming in to us regarding the splendid results obtained in the treatment of sciatic rheumatism by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after each meal and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills occasionally as a means of arousing the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels and thereby keeping the system freed of pain causing poisonous impurities.

Mr. W. J. Talbot, Bidenwold, Sask., writes: "It is a great pleasure for me to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food as a cure for Sciatic Rheumatism. The pain I have suffered has been well-nigh unbearable. It would start in the hips and run down the legs to the toes, gradually getting worse. The nerves contract until one is practically useless. My doctor tried many different treatments, but could only afford relief for a time.

"For about five years I was subject to this trouble with severe attacks which would last about two months. The last attack I had was shortened to two weeks by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. This treatment was continued until I was satisfied that the cure was lasting."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. H. E. Wooley, J.P.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six for $2.50. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

The death occurred Tuesday of Mr. John Siemon, who had been a respected resident of this town for 29 years. The funeral will take place from his late residence, Brown Street, Friday afternoon at 2.30 and interment will be made in Bayview Cemetery. A more extended notice of this departed gentleman will be given next week.

A very successful meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Norton on Thursday evening of last week, quite a number being present. The next meeting for the Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Hoover on Dec 14th at 8 p.m. All those interested in the work being done are cordially invited to attend.

you wish to dress like a peasant, to attract less attention. She will be afraid, nervous and so on, but for 10 francs a night she will be persuaded. Some of our men are billeted there, and through them you will receive the necessary instructions. Today you had better keep quiet, get your bearings and learn the directions as well as you can."

He got up to leave, first asking me to wait. In a few moments he returned with a tall bronzed officer, who eyed me narrowly. Just before they reached me, however, they stopped, took out a fieldglass and began carefully scrutinizing the heavens. After a few moments so spent they joined me, the commander saying: "That is one of our liaison officers. A liaison officer is one who takes messages from one line to another. It's an exciting and dangerous job and requires men of courage and ability. I have chosen him, as he goes and comes, and no attention is paid to him; going and coming is his job. Tomorrow morning at ten—that is about the hour they will be watching—go out of your house and follow this officer, keeping as far behind him as you can and still distinguish his movements. He may take a zigzag route, but you go straight on, following the general direction of the canal south. But when he stops, takes out his fieldglasses and scrutinizes the heavens, you go on past him for a distance of, say 200 steps, and then at an angle of forty-five degrees 100 paces, when you will stop and occupy yourself with whatever seems feasible, for that is where you are to locate one battery for 'our friends.' The officer whom you have been following will perhaps disappear, but you had better go on a mile or so farther, as if you were searching for other information. Whatever you do, do not stop anywhere near the big bridge across the canal, for there the French will—but never mind. You had better go now. Further instructions you will receive later."

He held out his hand and said: "Goodby, sister."—the English always call their military nurses sister. "You are as brave as I could wish even a son to be," and the interview was ended.

As I left the garden a motor drove up, and a tall soldierly looking man jumped hurriedly out. I should not have noticed him had he not almost run into me. He bowed and apologized and I was hurrying on when some one called. I looked around. The commander himself motioned me to return. When I reached him he introduced me to the man with whom I had almost collided, saying, "Lord N., this is the nurse I told you of—the one who has been looking after Captain Fraser. I thought you might like to speak to her."

"If they suspect you of playing them false they will shoot both of you."

In a voice tense with emotion Lord N. said: "Captain Fraser is very dear to me. Have you good news, sister?"

"He is much better and, although a prisoner, he has been treated with consideration," I answered.

His expression betrayed so much anxiety that I refrained from telling him of the greatest danger that threatened Captain Fraser. Here several officers came in and I was hastily dismissed.

To find the cottage was not difficult, but to persuade the peasant (an old Frenchwoman who looked so ancient she might have endured from Roman days) to take me in was another thing. She insisted her house was full and was in fact just turning me out when a young officer whom I recognized from headquarters came in. He interceded for me, even offering me his room. This she would not hear to, but consented at last to my sharing her room. Perhaps she felt she could better watch me in this way. She insisted on being paid in advance for each night, but when she saw the thousand franc bill she became at once much more friendly. I thought it was because she felt sure of her money, but I was wrong. "Your Englishman must be rich as well as influential," she said quite as a matter of fact. I didn't dare to say what I should have liked for fear I might be set adrift.

I went to my room, which was a back one, up a flight of worn stone steps. It was small, but beautifully clean. On the bed I noticed, tired as I was, a comforter quilted in the most elaborate design of flowers and leaves and with stitches so small it would have delighted forever the heart of my grandmamma. But I was so fatigued that in spite of the excitement I lay down and slept the heavy sleep of youth and exhaustion. Hours after I was awakened by a boy with big brown intelligent eyes, who had come to say that luncheon was ready. Later I made friends with him. He was Rene, my landlady's grandson, and his father was a sergeant in the French artillery corps stationed near by. He had the communicativeness and the acumen of the gamin the world over.

Rene at once offered to take me—for a consideration—around the country and show me the abandoned trenches, the battlefields and the graves and—he lowered his voice—"where the big guns are." The last offer made my heart jump with joy. The peasants knew this lad; he was one of them. In a way it was a certain protection from inquisitiveness, suspicion.

That afternoon, by way of getting my bearings as well as satisfying my interest in hospitals everywhere, I asked to go to those near by. It was visiting day, and almost every man had a friend sitting beside his bed. Those who had not looked somehow lonely and out of it. As we were slowly passing through one of the wards in which were some German prisoners I noticed just in front of us a French officer. He was leaning a German who was supposed to have news of an aeroplane that he had helped to bring down and in which one of the Frenchman's best friends had been killed. Passing a bed around which a screen had been placed, the officer suddenly stopped and listened intently to a few words that were being spoken in German by the patient. Without waiting to ask, "By your leave," he pulled the screen away and stepped to the side of the bed. The young private so desperately wounded was the officer's brother. They were Alsatians, and one had early in life joined the French colors, and when the war began the other brother had been drafted into the German army. In a second the officer was on his knees caressing the boy as tenderly as he might have a child, while the tears streamed down their faces.

The next morning I remained in my room as long as possible to avoid being seen and discussed by the peasants. Then, dressed in one of the old lady's dresses, I went down. She was a fat, short little thing, and I am tall and slender, but, by careful manipulation, I had managed to show my orange petticoat and somehow to look rather like the peasants. I explained to Rene that my dress was being washed. He laughed a good deal at my altered appearance, but suspected nothing. The grandmother thought she knew my secret, so all was well.

CHAPTER XIV.

Placing the Big Guns.

So we set out on our excursion. Our way followed the general direction of the canal. We had wandered along for half an hour, resting a moment here and there, but always keeping in sight of the liaison officer, when all at once I saw him stop, take out his glasses and train them on a spot in the heavens. I knew it must be a taube. I struggled quickly over the rough ground covered with mounds and uneven with holes made by shells. As the officer had only paused a moment, I had taken the precaution to line up his position with a low bush and a flagpole near by, but on reaching it I found he had marked it by dropping a lighted cigar. I then began counting the steps, as directed, and when I had done all but the last ten Rene, who had been too occupied by the air craft to pay any attention to me, suddenly cried out, "Don't go any nearer!" and, pointing in the exact direction I had been told to take, said, "There they are—the big guns." I was mystified. Had I, after all, done something wrong? I hesitated, and then I put all conjectures aside and did as I had been told.

"There are ten big ones," Rene whispered, "and lots of small ones buried. You know they dig holes and hide those." With unsteady hands I shaded my eyes for ten minutes. Then I saw an aeroplane dart out in pursuit of the taube, but as it took the aeroplane many minutes to ascend the taube sailed off toward its own lines before the aeroplane reached striking distance.

We followed along a mile or two more and saw women washing, almost under fire, piling up the wet clothes in great masses on the edge of a tiny stream. They were pattering and chattering as if such a thing as war did not exist. Then we retraced our steps. The last few minutes we had heard the deep full roar of artillery, and as I reached the cottage gate I heard some one say, "They have got the range at last, but it has taken a month to do it."

My heart stopped within me. I was too faint to go farther. I had blundered, after all—when—how?

It was luncheon time, but I couldn't have swallowed a bite to save my life. I dragged my trembling body up the cold, worn steps to my attic room. Hour after hour I lay there, hearing the cannonading and growing more sick at heart with each dull boom. Finally about dusk I could endure it no longer, and hastily putting on my bonnet and shawl I went downstairs. The road was full of autos and men, who were coming and going continually. I had hardly stepped out when some one bumped into me and whispered in French, but with a peculiar accent, "Be here at 8," and slipped away. I was indignant with myself when I realized that I had not noticed what the person looked like. Recovering myself, I sped in the direction he had gone. There were several men in khaki and one slouching peasant. It was the peasant who had spoken. What did he wish to tell me? It all seemed so queer. Was he in the German secret service? If so, why was he willing to trust me? And then I thought how perfectly absurd I was after all. I was beginning to have "nerves." Of course it was a man from the British headquarters. I said this over and over again, trying to convince myself by repetition. But still I wanted news of the shelling and was looking around helplessly for some one I might ask when the liaison officer of the morning came by, stopped and asked me if I knew which room Colonel P. occupied. Answering in the affirmative, he requested me to show him the way.

"Follow me again tomorrow morning. You did good work today. Take the boy again." All this was said in snatches.

I was just beginning to be reassured by his words when my fears of a few moments ago returned. "If this was the message from headquarters what was the other?" I had no time to ask, for the old lady called me and asked where I was going. I did not answer her, but in desperation hazarded in a whisper: "A spy will meet me in the garden at 8. Have some one there."

"D'accord" and "Thanks," he said aloud.

I then hastily ran down and explained to my landlady that I had been showing the Englishman the colonel's room. She still thought I was French. Looking at me a moment over her glasses, she said: "Don't mind me. Go back up there if you wish." When I realized what she meant I blushingly stammered that the gentleman was not my lover. I was burning with shame and was only able to compose myself by remembering that solely in her evil

OWEN SOUND

Mayor Little wrote the C. P. R. on October 31st inviting them to lay their boats up here for the winter and draw the attention of the officials of the company to the facilities for making repairs and the safety of the harbor. Last night he received a reply from Mr. McDuf, manager of the fleet, thanking him for the invitation and also stating that the repairs required this year would necessitate two of the boats going into drydock, which, of course, they could not do here. The letter concludes with the statement that, "Should circumstances arise we would be pleased to make use of Owen Sound.

The high cost of living is at least going to get a jolt on Monday night. With every commodity going up in price and no prosecutions in reference to combines, it is up to someone to start something locally to at least inquire into the present outrageous prices, and as the laboring man is perhaps more adversely affected than any other, it is only fitting that their representative in the town council should be the one who is bring ing the matter to a head.

In an interview with Coun. Thos. Willoughby, yesterday, he stated that he would bring the matter of the high prices in a number of commodities to the attention of the town council and particularly the high cost of fuel and potatoes.

Owen Sounders will be interested in the success of a well-known ex-resident of this town. Mr. T. A Fleming, of Cleveland, who was successful in being elected as a member of the State Legislature of Ohio at the general elections in the States on Tuesday. Mr. Fleming was on the Democratic ticket and received a majority of fourteen thousand in Cleveland and Cayahoga county. The entire Democratic county and state ticket was elected.

Rumors are current that another munition plant is in prospect in Owen Sound. The promoters connected with the proposed industry include a former citizen who has been closely identified with the management of another plant. It is said that the financial arrangements have been completed and the next move will be to get the recognition of the munitions board which it is altogether probable will be given as the demand for munitions still seems to be strong. The promoters have gone over the local field and the selection of a building and site has been all but closed.

To-day the steamer Keenan left for McGregor Island with booms and supplies for the Keenan Brothers camp there. Messrs. T. J. Thomson and M. Kennedy Sr., went up on the boat on a four day's hunting trip. Other citizens were invited to accept the hospitality of the Keenan Bros., but greatly regretted their inability to accept the invitation. The Keenan Brothers have a valuable timber reserve on the island and expect to make a large cut, if sufficient labor can be secured.

Four local boys, Messrs. George L. King, Will Johnston, Allie Morrar and W. Lscott, were out fishing on Vail's Point on Monday last, and with only two of them trolling landed 18 nice trout in about two and one-half hours. The catch weighed almost 225 pounds.

Sunday morning a telegram was received from Lieut.-Col. McFarland, of the 147th battalion at Amherst addressed to Mayor Little stating that the 147th was out of quarantine and were all well and in good spirits. The dispatch was received with a good deal of satisfaction though it had been pretty well understood that the outbreak of diphtheria was of such an exceedingly mild type it it could be classed as that disease. The battalion will now be in a position to go overseas and it is expected that embarkation will not now be long delayed. During their stay at Amherst the men have made the best of an unexpected delay which has been more or less irksome. Improvised dances and the introduction of the movies helped to relieve the monotony of barracks life, while it was possible for the battalion to take exercise on adjoining grounds. The fact that they were in sight of troop trains moving to the seaboard added to the anxiety to get away.

A ceremony which was not only impressive in itself but gave occasion for deep satisfaction in the hearts of those interested in their church took place on Sunday when St. Thomas Anglican Church, Owen Sound, North, was consecrated by his Lordship the Bishop of Huron. By an ordinance of the Anglican Church, no church building can be consecrated until it is free of debt, and the knowledge that they have relieved this state, is reason for rejoicing in the hearts of the congregation. While their numbers are not large, the membership includes many tireless and willing workers, who have labored long for their church No money has been raised by other means than personal subscription or donations from friends and in the eyes of many the congregation is to be all the more commended for this-

Specific For Bronchitis

The turpentine used in Dr Chases Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is not the ordinary commercial article, which is little used because of the unpleasantness of taste, but is specially extracted from tamarac and spruce gum and so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be at the same time pleasant to use and wonderfully effective in the cure of affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Thanks, old man, for telling me about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It has given me back my old time vigor - and made me strong and well

This is the way people feel about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It arouses the enthusiasm of those who use it because of its remarkable restorative and up-building influence.

It lifts them out of the tired, nervous and helpless condition resulting from exhausted nerves, restores health and vigor and makes life worth living.

Sleeplessness, irritability, nervous headache, indigestion, and all the warning symptoms of nervous collapse disappear when this great food cure is used to nourish the nerve cells back to health.

Nervous Collapse

Mr. Victor Higgs, Windham Hill, Cumberland Co., N.S., writes:

"My case was a peculiar one. It was one of those strange nervous diseases which are so difficult to describe. The doctor said that my nervous system was all run down. I experienced that uncertainty in walking which indicates the approach of paralysis and locomotor ataxia, and I was practically a nervous wreck. I decided to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the great good it has done me.

"I could not work, read or write, or do anything requiring energy or the concentration of mind. Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I could not get an hour's sleep all night. My brain and nerves seemed to be all unsettled. I can now sleep well and believe that my nervous system has been fully built up by this splendid medicine."

Sciatic Rheumatism

Mr. W. J. Talbot, Edenwold, Sask., writes: "It is a great pleasure for me to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a cure for sciatic Rheumatism. The pain I have suffered from would make the strongest man unbearable. It would start in the small of the back and run down the legs to the toes, gradually getting worse. The nerves contract until one is practically useless. My doctor tried many different treatments, but could only afford relief for a time.

"For about five years I was subject to this trouble, and during attacks which would last about two months I was unable to work. The attacks shortened to two weeks by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills used in conjunction with it. This treatment was continued until I was satisfied that the cure was made permanent.

This statement is endorsed by Mr. H. F. Wooley, J.P.

It rests entirely with you as to whether you benefit by these experiences of others. If you could talk with persons who have used this treatment and note their enthusiasm you would not be long in putting it to the test in your own case.

OFFENSIVE IS RESUMED

Serbs Move Forward, Taking Many Guns and Prisoners.

Bulgarians Suffer Severe Losses in Fierce Battle—The Serbians Captured Polog Village and Took the Foe's Strongly Organized Positions on Mountain Range by Storm.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Serbians on the Monastir front resumed the offensive north of the Cerna River on Friday, and in a series of attacks entered the village of Polog, three miles from Skochivir, and captured 600 prisoners. The attacks against the Bulgarian position met with complete success, and the Serbians captured strongly organized positions on the Chuke range by assault and occupied the southern half of the village of Polog.

On Saturday the Serbians inflicted a further defeat on the Bulgarians, capturing the whole of the village of Polog by assault and the whole of Culse hill.

"After the Serbian success of Friday in the Tchako (Chuke) range," says Reuter's Saloniea correspondent, "the Bulgars, reinforced by fresh troops, counter-attacked Friday night and Saturday morning. The Serbians easily stemmed the counter-attacks, completed the capture of Polog and made further progress northward, pursuing the enemy and capturing a thousand fresh prisoners including some Germans, and eight howitzers, several machine guns and a quantity of material.

"Since October 14 a total of 56 guns, including trench mortars, were captured from the Bulgar-Germans."

The French official report of Saturday concerning operations on the Macedonian front reads:

"Eastern army: On the left bank of the Cerna the Serbians, taking the offensive, vigorously in the mountainous region of Chuke, north of Skochivir, attacked Bulgarian forces and drove them back, notwithstanding fierce resistance from strongly fortified positions. Up to now 500 prisoners, including ten officers, ten guns, and ten machine guns, have fallen into the hands of our allies.

"On our left wing a lively artillery duel continues. We repulsed several enemy attempts at different points on our front."

Negroes for France.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 13.—Ten thousand blacks have been recruited for labor service in Europe, and are about ready to depart. Their organization is to be a strictly military one, and they will be subjected to military discipline, although they will not under any circumstances be employed as a fighting force. They have been formed into five battalions of 2,000 men each, and will be under the direct control of officers of the Union of South Africa. They will be housed in closed compounds, which will be provided with everything requisite for their comfort and well-being. Native chaplains will be attached to each battalion. The flat rate of pay for privates will be $15 a month, with higher rates for those of higher rank. While all the commissioned officers are, of course, white, the sergeants, corporals, and lance-corporals are chosen from among the men themselves. Specifically, they will be employed in dock labor at French ports. They will receive one-third of their pay while abroad, the balance to be handed to them on their return to Cape Town.

The War Supplies Trade.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Export of war supplies for the nine months ending September 31 amounted to $997,970,000, or more than 25 per cent. of the country's total export trade for the period, according to figures published here Sunday by the Journal of Commerce. The value of explosives sent to belligerents was more than half a billion dollars, and automobiles, horses, and mules, metal-working machinery, and wire ranked next in that order. According to a table published covering war supplies exports since the movement began in January, 1915, their value for the 21 months was $1,617,845,000, or about 22 per cent. of the country's total exports. More war supplies were sent abroad during the first nine months of this year than throughout 1915.

Duke Visits Canadians.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Taking the earliest opportunity of seeing the Canadian troops in the field, as promised in his farewell addresses in Canada, the Duke of Connaught has spent the past week in France visiting the British front. The Canadians visited by the former Governor-General gave his Royal Highness a cordial greeting. While he was in Paris the Duke was entertained by the British Ambassador, Lord Bertie.

Son Killed at Front.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Mr. J. G. Turriff, M.P., has received word that his only son, Pte. Robert Turriff, has been killed in action. Pte. Turriff was successively reported wounded and missing. A letter which reached Mr. Turriff from a comrade states that the boy—a second year student in Saskatchewan University—fell in action on the 15th of September. He went to the front with the Princess Patricias.

Venizelists to Float Loan.

ATHENS, Nov. 13.—The Provisional Government has decided to float a loan which will be placed among Greeks residing in the United States and other foreign countries. Major Cheroulis and Colonel Kontoratos of Queen Sophie's Own Regiment, have deserted the royal forces to join the Venizelists at Salonica.

Sheppard of Hamilton addressed the congregation here both morning and evening and Mr. Horeb in the afternoon. In view of the evangelistic services soon to begin his remarks were mostly on the subject of evangelism. The morning theme was "Tares among the wheat." Wheat represented the Christian, he said, the christian as an evangelist was described accostically as white, humble, earnest, attentive, telling. The evening theme was "What do ye more than these." ## Letter From Pte. Eddie Hyde

Giesaen, Allemagne,
Oct. 5, 1916

Dear mother and father,—

Just a few lines to let you know how I am keeping myself. Your last letter was dated Aug. 23rd and all your parcels received in very good condition. I wrote a letter to Bob on Sept. 18th, I hope he got it alright

I was very sorry to hear you had a very warm spell there in July and August, but I guess the winter will be setting in by the time you receive this letter, so you will have a change in the temperature The weather over here is very much the same all the year round. That is, it is not too warm nor too cold.

I have not heard for a long time from Will nor have I received the last $10 he sent me in July. You might tell him to make inquiries about it. You see the boat it was on might have gone to the bottom. I wanted the money to get my teeth fixed. I have two to get filled and one crowned. I received the box of cigars donated by Mr. and Mrs. McAulay and I, also my chums, certainly enjoyed them very much. I will drop them a card later on and thank them personally. I also want you to thank Messrs. Kempt, Allan and Hurlbut, and the rest of my friends that have donated things on my behalf. I more than appreciate their kindness. You can put some soap in a tin box and put in the parcel, it will not hurt the other things.

I hear from Tom and Bob regularly and also from Jean once in a while. I received the snaps from Jean, you might send that first snap you got of me enlarged.

Will close with love to all,
Your loving son Ed.

Men Wanted—All classes of labor skilled and unskilled. Steady work, good wages. Apply Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, Limited, Collingwood, Ontario.

So far The Echo has not heard one word about municipal elections in any of the townships in this district Possibly it means that all the councils will be returned by acclamation. With high taxes, and the need of the British Red Cross, a township will be well advised to do away with their annual elections.

Daily Account of Voyage to England

An account of the 160th Bruce Battalions trip across the ocean as kept by Pte. Burton L. Sutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sutter, Pike Bay

We arrived in Halifax about 1 o'clock on Oct. 17th and went on board the steamer Metagama at 3 o'clock p.m. We remained in Halifax until Oct. 18th and about 5 o'clock p.m. we left for Liverpool England. The sea was calm and everyone was fine. There was a cruiser ahead of us, then a troop ship, then our ship and another troop ship behind us.

Just as we were leaving Halifax we met the Muritania coming in with twelve hundred returned soldiers on board.

Oct. 19.

The weather is still calm to-day, but we can't see see land. Well I am warned out for guard to-night. There are a number sick to-night, but I am o. k. yet. Well we mounted guard at eight p.m. It was dark, no lights on deck and all port holes closed so no lights would shine out.

Oct. 20.

Still on the wide wide ocean, but we are certainly having a splendid voyage. Well I haven't seen much to-day as I have been on guard, but some of the boys saw a whale and some sharks. I am not so well to-day. I have a very severe head ache caused by the roll of the boat, I think

Oct. 21st

I have just come up from breakfast. We have breakfast at 6 30, dinner at 11 30 and supper at 4.30 There are four different setting for meals. Well we have to wear our life belts nearly all the time. I saw a sea pigeon this morning, they are about the same size as any other pigeon and part white. The sea is still calm to-day.

Oct. 22nd.

I got up at six this morning and had my breakfast, then went on deck The weather is dull and foggy today, and a number of the boys are sick. There was church at 10.30 on the deck this morning, and after church we were treated to apples. Bruce County gave us 15 barrels of apples to eat going overseas. Then there was church at seven thirty tonight in the dining-room.

Oct. 23rd.

The sea is still calm to-day This is the same boat boat as Edwin Green, from Pike Bay, crossed the ocean on. I had a salt water bath to-day. It was fine. We get up about 4 hours earlier than you people back in Canada, there is about that much difference in the time now.

Oct. 24th,

Well I was awakened this morning by the boat rolling me from one side of my bunk to the other It is certainly rough to-day, the water is going right over the deck. I saw a boat this morning but it was a long distance away. We met a small life-boat to-day, it was getting tossed around pretty lively but there was no one in it, don't know where it came from. There is sure a big sea on now, the waves are going a good sixty feet high, I never saw the likes of it before. We got orders to come down off the deck for fear a big wave might wash us over board, we can't see anything for waves and rain. It is squally to-day too, can't sit up, makes my head ache, so I may as well go to bed.

Oct. 25.

This is Wednesday, and it is still as rough as ever. I didn't get up till nine o'clock. Early this morning the boat ahead of us "The Northland struck out for her self. But the other troop ship is still with us. We are on the largest boat. Well I can't say any longer that I haven't been sick I am sick to-night and good and sick too.

Oct. 26

We were all ordered on deck this morning at five o'clock and had to stay on deck till seven thirty to-night Well we met our escorts from England this afternoon. Then our boats all struck out running at full speed. We can see the light-house lights on the North Coast of Ireland, say they are huge lights. The sea is not quite so rough to night. It has been a pretty good trip although we have missed a few meals. There has certainly been a few sick. It is not the same as a trip on fresh water. The waves on the ocean show up at night like the illuminated figures on my wrist watch when in dark.

Oct. 27.

Well it is certainly rough again to-day. The boat is rolling so much we can hardly walk, we are facing right into the storm. The water is going right over the deck. We met three boats this morning one was in distress, we halted to pick them up but they had been picked up before we saw them the boat was lying right over on her side. There was certainly a wild storm last night and this morning We have to "fall in" in a few minutes to get orders for as we expect to arrive in Liverpool to-night. I expect we will have to take a trip by train to-morrow. Well we are nearing land to-night and we are a happy bunch of boys to think we are so near land again. But we would be a lot happier if we were landing back in dear old Canada. But we all hope and expect to land back safely in Canada again when we have done our "bit" for King and Country. We are busy speaking up to-night.

Oct. 28th

We arrived safely in Liverpool last night and went on shore this morning and took the train for the camp at eight thirty, we arrived at camp at 7.30 p. m. and we are now in our happy home in England. It is raining to-day. We saw three air ships sliding around to-day. This is a new camp grounds, there are 50 thousand soldiers at this camp. Well we have had a splendid trip even though part of it was rough and some of us sick, but I am sure we have all enjoyed it.

Causes of the Higher Cost of Living

Editor Echo

Dear Sir:—

In answer to the evident desire of many to ascertain the causes of the increased cost of living and the somewhat intolerable situation in which it places many people, a situation which is hard to evade, nevertheless some light and reliable information can be given on this complex subject.

In the first place I beg to say that the intelligent cost on a wage basis of $1.50 a day to produce a quart of average milk is about four cents or 35 cts to produce a pound of butter. Ten quarts of milk containing three and a half per cent fat will produce only one pound of butter.

In producing animal products, milk, beef, pork, mutton, eggs, sixty per cent of the food consumed by farm animals is used to maintain animal life, other forty per cent is used to produce milk, flesh etc.

To be as brief as possible it is necessary to place adefinite or true value on one or more staple foods Comparison is necessary to show housekeepers where they are at. The utility value of a quart of milk is four cents. To take this as a standard, skim-milk is worth two and a half cents and butter milk the same. Consumers pay ten cents for milk owing to half a dozen milkmen going over the same route.

Butter has a utility or food value of about 21cts and cheese 13cts, but they cannot be produced for this price.

At the same rate a hindquarter of beef is worth 7 cts a pound, but to produce good beef cattle, at a low wage of $1.50 a day, costs 7 cents a pound live weight.

To compare animal products or foods with cereal foods, bread at the same rate is worth over 7 cents a pound and soda crackers 11 cents.

To be exact as far as common sense and science can reveal, the following table shows the true and comparative values of human foods. One hundred and sixty-five calories are worth one cent.

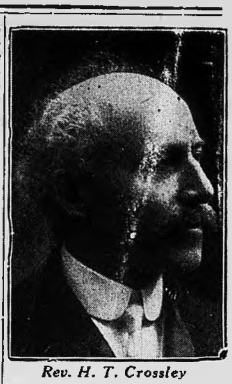
| One pound yields | Calories |
|---|---|
| butter | 3410 |
| whole milk 4% fat | 310 |
| skim milk | 165 |
| butter milk | 160 |
| cheese cheddas | 2075 |
| beef | 1045 |
| ham | 1320 |
| ham smoked | 1635 |
| flour | 1635 |
| corn meal | 1635 |
| oat meal | 1800 |
| rice | 1620 |
| tapioca | 1650 |
| corn starch | 1675 |
| bread | 1200 |
| cake | 1630 |
| soda crackers | 1875 |
| cream crackers | 1925 |
| sugar granulated | 1750 |
| honey | 1420 |
| beans | 1620 |
| peas | 565 |
| potatoes | 295 |
| apples | 190 |
| raisins | 1265 |
| figs | 1280 |

The conclusion that can be arrived at from the foregoing table is that those who are anxious to economize should purchase greater quantities of oatmeal and cornmeal and eat porridge twice a day. Cut out crackers as comparitively they are not worth the money.

The amount of food consumed per day by men at different kinds of labor ranges from 2450 to 5700 calories. Judging by this a lower money value cannot very well be placed on the calorie or nility value of foods, but at the prices which many commodities have sold at during the last two years it is evident that working men should receive a very substantial increase in their wages.

Farmers are making $2.50 or $3. per day raising hogs, wheat is a good price and there is considerable money raising potatoes for those who are fortunate enough to have them. The war is partly responsible for the higher cost of living as we all know a condition which we have to endure, still the customs tariff on shoes, blankets and ready made clothing is much too high, amounting to as much as 30 to 40 per cent on the articles named. Too much of the duties levied on goods are inclined to go into the manufacturers pockets.

The farmers are entitled to good wages and so are other working men It is up to the latter to get their heads to-gether and make an effort to secure a substantial wage. Professional men make $5 00 in a few minutes or rather seconds by merely signing their name to a scrap of paper, etc. The law allows them this simply because they are largely the law makers. It is high time that a higher value be placed on physical work wheb used in conjunction with brains The farmers cannot be blamed for the so called high cost of living. The utility and intrinsic valne of a bushel of wheat is $3.68 and beans $5.40. Beans on the market to-day sell for $5.00 to $6.00. It does not cost $3.68 to produce a bushel of wheat but it is not reasonable to suppose that it can be produced for 75 cents.



One thing that critics can smile at is to read the names of young men who graduate in Political Science every year I venture to say that their tutors have a very hazy idea of true political economy; agricultural philosophy needs to be understood first until this is generally understood, the stuff that colleges professors give out savors of political ignorance. The policies of the past and the present are in no small way responsible for the higher cost of living.

WALKERTON

Mr. J B. Campbell of Chesley, for over a quarter of a century a general merchant of Pinkerton, spent the first of the week in town. His only two sons, Arthur and Hardy, are leaving this week for overseas duty. Arthur, who graduated from the Walkerton High School, has resigned his position in the Bank of Hamilton, and with another Walkertonian, Albert Smith son of Mr. David Smith, a former express agent here, is crossing the briny to go with the Imperial Flying Corps to the front. Hardy Campbell is sailing with the 69th Battery of Toronto and will be the ocean the same time as his brother.

It lookeas if the Greenock Council were getting a bad attack of cold feet over the $1800 grant for Red Cross purposes, which a largely attended meeting of the ratepayers that the Council called at Chepstow on the 24th to get an expression on the matter, unanimously requested them to grant. The resolution passed at the meeting was read at the regular session of the Greenock Council on Monday last, and after a tame, half-hearted discussion, failed to get the honor of even being moved at the Board. If the boys who are fighting at the front to save Greenock farms didn't show any more enthusiasm in holding back the Huns than the Greenock Council exhibited on Monday in keeping up the Red Cross wagon for their wounded comrades, Greenock could prepare shortly for visions of the foe right over their own clover patch. But Greenock ratepayers, who did their duty by ordering at the big mass meeting that the Council give one mill on the dollar, or $1800 of a grant, should now see that the Council get busy and do the like.

The Midway Fire Brigade, who are asking $1000 for services rendered at the recent Formoso Catholic Church fire, are apparently trying to stage something sensational in the fire fighting line. As we understand there were but fifteen members of the brigade turned out to the fire, this, after deducting expenses for team hire, should leave for each man about $6500 which is certainly some cash for one to make after supper and before going to work next morning.

While cranking an auto between two and three o'clock on Thursday morning Mr. Fred Goodwin of the American Ballon staff sustained a fractured wrist through the engine back-firing and springing the crank back forcibly against his arm.

Hard Working Women

Will Find New Strength Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a home; every girl in offices, shops and factories is subjected to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to meet unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition nothing can equal Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves restore the appetite, bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep up their strength and keep away disease by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. N. E. Tomsett, Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"For several years I suffered terribly from nervous debility and was scarcely able to do a thing. During that time I consulted several doctors, and many medicines without getting any help, and I began to think that I would never get better. One day I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and thought I would try them. After taking four boxes I was much better, but I continued using the pills for several months when I was again in the best of health. When I began taking the pills I weighed only 100 pounds. While under their use with my renewed health I now weigh 140 I recommend Dr. williams' Pink Pills to every one whom I know to be ailing."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

He Was Wrong Right

I really believe, Will Atwood, that you married me because I have money, she announced with a fine display of feeling.

"No, you're wrong" returned her husband candidly. I married you because I thought you'd let me have some of it.

Southampton

Our Town Council showed that their hearts in the right place by deciding to send a Christmas box of good things to our town boys on active service. With the relatives of boys sending a box, the Ladies Patriotic Association another, and the Town Council a third the boys should have a real feast, and it is unfortunate that they are all going forward at the same time. However, the contents of the boxes is such that they will keep if the boys cannot finish them all up at the same time. One feature of the Council's gift is the horrible example they set in buying their contribution out of town. Surely the people's money should be spent at home.

The fishermen have suspended operations for this season, and most of the nets are in and things being put in shape for winter. The D. McLeod will be sent to Wiarton to have some overhauling. Altogether the season was a good one, the Logie and the Douglas M. being the most favored.

Rabbit hunting has been the popular sport the past week or so, and quite a number have been brought home. Arthur DeLong shot one Wednesday morning which was held by the bird by a weasel the weasel evidently being on a hunt for fresh meat. He killed both the rabbit and the weasel with the one shot. The season closed on Wednesday and reopens Dec. 23rd, remaining an open season till Jan. 2nd.

My Four Little Ones Used Baby's Own Tablets

Mrs. Albert Nie, St. Bronx, Sask., writes:—"I have been using Baby's Own Tablets for the past seven years and they have done my four little ones a great deal of good." The Tablets always do good—they cannot possibly do harm—being guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely free from injurious drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OWEN SOUND

Mr. Alfred Reeve returned Wednesday night from Gowgandа, New Ontario, where he has been spending some time at the Reeve-Dohie mine and other mining properties in which he is interested Mr. Reeve reports that development work at Gowgandа is progressing rapidly, Rich discoveries have been made there during the past season and there are indications that the field may yet equal the great Cobalt district. Mr. Reeve brought home some exceptionally fine samples which are from his property. He will remain in town only a short time, returning to Toronto, where he is making his headquarters at the present time.

This weeks trip down the Germanic brought six car loads of cattle from Kagawong, Manitoulin Island. They were shipped over the Grand Trunk to Toronto, Western Ontario points and Buffalo. They were a particularly fine lot of cattle and arrived at four o'clock yesterday forendon and were shipped yesterday morning to their destination There have been a considerable stock brought down this fall from the island including shipments of sheep.

The committee appointed to inquire into the high cost of living at least made a start in their efforts to gain a little information concerning the matter. Mr. Willoughby has had letters written to various outside places, including Hamilton, Guelph, Galt, Kitchener, Straford and Belleville. The letter tells of the appointment of the committee in Owen Sound and of its desire to remedy the present uncalled for situation. They ask the other municipalities to endorse the appointment of an inspector by the government to inspect the books of all manufacturers particulary of food stuffs, that are at present protected under the tariff of receiving any bounty from the government and where the profits exceed a reasonable amount that the government through the inspector, will have power to order a reduction in price, and that the chief constable of each town or city be given power to investigate local conditions and to report any cases of excessive profit to the government inspector. The committee will meet on Monday next and it is expected that a number of replies will have been received by that time from some of the municipalities.

Chesley

Archie Crow, the hustling president of Arran-Tara Fall Fair attended nearly all the fairs in this locality this year and exhibited his handsome span of heavy draught horses and landed five first prizes. His team was nicely matched, one of them being dark brown and the other black He had them entered for Guelph Winter Fair in December but sold them to a Mr McKinnon, of Port Arthur, for $550, the price Mr. Crow asked for them. Horses are not bringing fancy prices this fall but there is always a good market for top notchers.

The contributions to the British Red Cross from this town for current year were $1321 40. This includes a subscription of $3 from Geo. Durst which was omitted from last weeks printed list. The expenditure was $15 50 which left a balance of $1305.90 to be forwarded to headquarters. Last year the subscription amounted to $1197.18 and as the expenses were $48.96 the net amount remitted was $1078.22. Thus the increased amount over 1916 sent from Chesley to the British Red Cross was $227.68.

On Tuesday, Nov. 7th, Pte. John Arnold Young passed away in Victoria Hospital, London, and the remains were brought to Chesley and a great many citizens went up to meet the train. The band playing the Dead March in Saul and followed by citizens of Chesley and Eldersle accompanied the hearse to the bridge and the body was taken to the home of John Oswald with whom deceased had been employed for two years out of the five since he came to Canada from Brentwood, Essex County, England.

The Township of Normanby, of which Ayton is the hub, since Neustadt was incorporated, is the highest assessed rural municipality in Grey County. There are more wealthy farmers in Normanby than in any other Township in Grey. This grand old Township has done its bit this year for Patriotic and Red Cross purposes. Last Thursday the Council granted $1000 to the British Red Cross; $400 was paid to young men who enlisted, at the rate of $10 per recruit, and the Red Cross Society sent $1100 worth of material to the head quarters in Toronto. Normanby is doing its duty in this great humanitarian work.

Interesting Letter From Teddy Westfield

Witley, Surrey, England
Oct. 20th, 1916,

The Editor, Wiarton Echo
Wiarton, Ont.

Dear Sir,—

I have many a time thought of giving myself the pleasure of writing you a few lines, especially as there are quite a number of the boys from Wiarton and Owen Sound enrolled in the 4th Pioneer, whose friends would, no doubt, like to hear how that particular Battalion is progressing. Now however I feel it my duty to write, and contradict a story that I hear is being circulated in our home town, to the effect that Bert Blackman, and two other men, deserted on the eve of our sailing for England and have not since been heard of.

I am sorry for the lack of intellect displayed by the person who first started this rumour. Private Bert Blackman, late of the 160th Bruce Batt., in place of deserting, has risen step by step until now he holds the rank of Drum Major in the 4th Pioneer Batt., C. E. F. stationed at the above Camp, has every intention of going to France, and is a credit to his battalion, not only that, he was one of the Pioneers, of the 4th Pioneer's, who, when the call came to form that Battalion for immediate overseas service, transferred from the 7th Field Co. Batt. Engineers, and is partly responsible for the fine class of men, now composing B. Company.

In the initial stages of our bringing this battalion up to strength, we had many homes, having changed our camp no less than seven times, the last being our safe trip across the Pond, of this, I should very much like to write about, but for obvious reasons it would not be policy to do so, suffice to say, that after having travelled to and from Canada a good many times, I had never before felt myself so free from all danger, as on this last trip, which says much for the thoroughness of Britian's convoying her soldier colonials, who are good enough to come to her aid. I should also like to tell you of our splendid long trip of 1500 miles from London, Ont. to St Andrews, New Brunswick, and once again into that picturesque town of Digby, Nova Scotia, however, I am afraid this would encroach, too much, upon the space in your valuable paper, which we Wiarton boys find doubly interesting, now, we are so far from the dear old town.

The authorities are keeping us very busy training here, but expect every moment to be called to France, when this call comes, it is a matter of a few short hours, and over we go, no delay in waiting a few days. All our fellows are naturally anxious to get there, and I expect, quite a lot will be just as eager to come back if it is our luck to be able to do so.

I should like you to publish this letter or part of it, in justice to a man who is doing his duty, which, I am sorry to hear not all the eligible men are doing in our own district.

With best wishes to all Wiarton friends, not forgetting yourself.

Believe me your very sincerely,
Pioneer E. E. Westfield 1075072,
4th Pioneer Batt. C. E. F

death of Mr. John Baxter of Big Bay. He has been working on a tug at Pt. Colbourne and the message received states that he died very suddenly. His body will arrive in Owen Sound to-night. He was about 38 years of age. His mother, wife and young son reside at Big Bay and much sympathy is felt for them.

Mr. William Beaton, one of the pioneers of this district and who for 51 years was clerk of the township of Derby, passed away suddenly on Sunday at noon, while at dinner at the home of son-in-law, Mr. W. J. Smith, 76.9 4th Ave. East. The news came as a shock to the citizens, for Mr. Beaton had been about as usual, and had only a few minutes previous to his death returned from attending the morning service at Division St. Presbyterian church. He had just expressed his intention of going out again in the evening when he was suddenly overcome and expired in a few minutes, before medical assistance arrived. Death was due to heart failure. Mr Beaton was well advanced in years but had enjoyed almost perfect health until the last ten days.

We always lose our patience with the man who can't keep his temper during a political discussion.

Human nature is an interesting study; but it's a mistake to think the finest examples are found in a bar-room.

Editorial

BREAD is 10 cents per loaf on the Manitoulin.

A number of Hanover merchants are adopting the cash system.

THERE will be an effort to raise $13,500,000 during 1917 for the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

THE cement plant at Durham will operate all winter and manufacture cement, potash and lime.

THE Owen Sound Council has appointed a Committee to see if the high prices of food cannot be controlled.

THE Village of Lions Head will apply at the next Session of the Ontario Legislature for incorporation as a distinct municipality.

The ravenous use of ice cream is held as largely responsible for the high price of milk and butter. If we would lower the price of the last two we must cut out this luxury.

NOW that the Council has begun putting crushed stone on the streets it would be well to make a thorough job of Berford Street, and of Frank Street as far as possible.

IF Wiarton can establish a good monthly horse fair it will be a good thing for this town and district. The first one will be on Tuesday, Dec. 12 and we hope that the farmers will endeavor to make it a success.

THE Renfrew Mercury, a responsible and carefully conducted paper says:—"Canadian canners have lately been selling tomatoes to United States dealers at 90 cents per dozen cans and charging for the same goods in Canada $2.25 per dozen cans. This is startling, but is only an example of what the canners of the Dominion are doing in boosting the cost of living."

DRILLING for gas has begun again at Hepworth and this time the scene of operation will be three miles west of the village on the banks of a creek near the farms of Messrs. Hughes and Richards. The operators expect to go down 1500 feet.

THE New England manufacturers claim that before very long a pair of shoes will retail at from $20 to $30; it is also asserted that flour will be $15 per barrel before the next crop is harvested, all of which goes to show that as high as the prices are now they will likely be much higher, and the Canadian people will be called upon to learn lessons in thrift, something that the present generation know nothing about.

Death of Mrs. J. Clark

In the death of Mrs. John Clark, Lake Charles, which occurred Monday there passed away a lady held dear in the highest esteem, one of the earliest settlers, whose husband was probably the most prominent resident in the township because he was reeve and deputy reeve for 16 years, and afterwards was elected as the Federal representative of the riding of North Grey. He never was in Parliament because he died a month after his election. This was 20 years ago last July. The late Mrs. Clark was born in Halton County and came to Keppel about 53 years ago, coming by way of Owen Sound, then by boat to Big Bay. She lived all these years at Lake Charles. Up till last Thursday she had been quite well and very many will be surprised to learn of her death. She is survived by five sons, John and Robert, of Kemble, William, of St. Marys, David, of Amabel, and Norman at home; also by two daughters Mrs. Taylor, Kemble, and Miss Emma at home. The funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon and interment will take place at Big Bay.

WISE MAN— WEAR RUBBERS

Low Rubber Prices Make Possible Saving of Expensive Shoes—Many Will Wear Rubber Footgear Whenever Occasion Permits

The thrifty man or woman—those who are getting the most out of every dollar in these days of high prices—will find gratification in the fact that this year rubber footwear solves the question of how to remain well shod, in spite of high shoe prices. The wise buyer will purchase rubbers and overshoes this year to save the expensive shoes that he or she paid a dollar or so more for this season than last.

While everything else has advanced in price, rubber footwear has remained the same. In fact, rubber footwear would be cheaper this year than ever before were it not for the cost of all chemicals and the fabrics that are used in the manufacture. Even with these advances, rubber is the footwear for this winter and the wise ones will wear rubbers for economy. 23

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

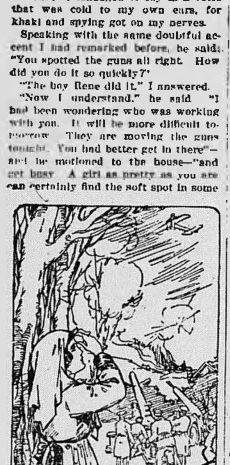
opinion of me lay the possible success of my mission; otherwise she would report my presence to the commanding officer, and he would in self defense be obliged to order me sent through to my own service.



I walked with misgivings. The hours seemed interminable. I felt blue and utterly depressed, and to keep my spirits up I kept telling myself how wonderful it would be to help Ian. But it was useless. The gloom remained. I couldn't shake it off. After what seemed an eternity 8 o'clock sounded. The old woman was dozing before the fire. Rene had gone to bed. I got up and slipped out into the garden. From the shadow a figure rose forward to meet me. I was too astounded for words. The man was wearing khaki.

"Well," I managed to say in a voice that was cold to my own ears, for khaki and spying got on my nerves.

Speaking with the same doubtful accent I had remarked before, he said: "You spotted the guns all right. How did you do it so quickly?"

"The boy Rene did it," I answered.

"Now I understand," he said. "I had been wondering who was working with you. It will be more difficult to-morrow. They are moving the guns tonight. You had better get in there"—and he motioned to the house—"and get busy. A girl as pretty as you are can certainly find the soft spot in some of them. I am going out strolling tonight, and if I find anything"—

"Why, you can signal the tanbe yourself tomorrow," I interrupted.

"No, you had better do that. It's safer, and this is too important to take any chance of making a mess of it. No, what I was saying is this. If I locate them I will pass by about 10 in the morning driving a flock of sheep; follow me. I will drive them behind the big guns and will have as many sheep as there are guns. Get behind the battery and give your signal."

"Sheep," I managed to say, "but you are wearing khaki."

"Yes! A dashed dangerous thing to do, coming to a place swarming with English, but as risky as it is it's the safest."

As he said this my spirits rose. I didn't mind anything now, for after all he wasn't a Tommie! Selling his country and his soul! I couldn't have endured that just then. He was just a German who spoke English only too well.

But what was I to do, even knowing what he was. To gain time I asked, "How will you find the guns?"

"Oh, that's my business," he said, and laughed.

"If you can't manage it will some one else come driving the sheep?" I asked lamely, hoping I might find a confederate.

"Oh, unless I miss my guess, I'll be there," he said dryly. "You had better go in," he added, "or you will be missed."

I looked up at him. I must know what he looked like. His face suggested memories, and I suddenly felt I had seen him somewhere.

"...to are you?" I asked helplessly. "Where have I seen you before?"

"You never saw me before," he answered roughly, "until tonight," and he turned on his heel and disappeared in a moment. I looked after him bewildered, ransacking my brain, for I knew perfectly I had seen him somewhere. In a little it came to me—at the —— hotel, in New York, where we had dined almost every night. He had been a captain of waiters. I had often spoken German with him. Poor fellow, when Germany had called for their reservists, he had come. I was still looking after him when I heard a shot, followed instantly by another. I stood still—petrified. At once there was a great commotion in the house; officers hurried out; electric flashes were everywhere. I did not know whether to run in or stand still. Something decided me. I had better go while there was time. I had only been in the room a second; the old lady was still dozing by the fire, when the young Bentenant who had interceded for me the morning before came hurrying in and said, carefully choosing his words: "Most women know something of nursing. A man has been shot. We are bringing him in here. Will you come and see how badly hurt he is?"

"I'll do my best," I answered, my heart thumping like mad and wondering which man it was, for I never doubted it was one of them. I heard them bring him to the little rear dining room, but try as I would I couldn't find courage and strength to walk there. Everything turned black before my eyes, for I knew whoever it was I was indirectly to blame.

Then I heard a voice. "Come, nurse," and with joy I recognized it was the liaison officer speaking. Summoning all my courage, but still very much shaken, I went in and faced the man to whom I had just been speaking.

"You cursed traitor!" he said. "I might have known you'd do it. I did know it, but I had my orders."

"He fired at me when I called 'Halt!' and then ran," the officer said to me, "and I shot. The only regret I have is that I didn't kill him. Now he will have to have a trial, and he isn't worth it." All this time I had been leaning over him, making a superficial examination.

"I am sorry," I said to the wounded man, and to the others I pleaded that they get a doctor, or better, take him at once to the hospital. They decided the latter was impossible, for fear his confederates would come to know of it. But they did bring a doctor and a nurse. I couldn't have endured his burning eyes.

An hour later the doctor came down and said, "The man wants to see you." I shrank from going, but it was a dying request, and I went.

As I entered he said, after asking that we be left alone, "You know now who I am, don't you?"

"Yes," I replied, "you were the captain at the —— hotel."

"That's right," he answered, "and because I spoke English and French so well and had a brother living near to take me in I was sent here on this duty. Well, it's rotten work, and I've had rotten luck, but"—after a painful pause—"I've done my best for my kaiser and I'm only sorry I can't do more." Then he smiled and said whimsically, "Well, I won't drive the sheep tomorrow after all," and added suddenly, eying me narrowly, "but you didn't expect this when you asked me that question, did you?"

"No, you know I didn't," I answered sadly.

"Never mind, miss," he said; "it's all a part of the job. And now—this is what I want to tell you. Listen." he said with burning eagerness, "when I don't return they will suspect what has happened. You had better find out where the big guns are and play square or it's all over with you. You did it today, but that was a trick of the English. They meant you to do it, but tomorrow either find out and signal or go back to America or they will get you, and I wouldn't like to think of you being stood up against a wall and shot; that's all." As I turned to go he said hesitatingly, "Will you pray for me?" and I knelt and prayed with an aching heart.

A moment later the liaison officer came and led me away. He didn't mention the next day's work, and I was grateful. It would have jarred me too much just then. I had seen much of death and dying, but this was different.

The next morning I awoke early, but lay still. I was tired, my head ached, and I wondered if anything was worth all this. Finally, about 9, I got up, dressed and went downstairs. The old woman was distinctly in a bad humor. The shooting and having her house upset had naturally disturbed her.

She some way connected me with it, I felt certain, although she wasn't sure just how. I tried to be as little trouble as possible and to slip away quietly, but before I left she said sullenly, "Your dress will be ready tonight, and in the morning I think you had better go." I answered that I should be ready and went out.

Rene was waiting for me. Even he seemed downcast. It was gray and cold. I wondered what excuse I could find for waiting around, but it wasn't necessary, as my officer came by just then. His long military coat was buttoned up, and he walked fast—in fact, so fast I could scarcely keep him in sight. This time he went farther back from the canal, and after a mile we came to the top of a little hill. There were guns quite visible to the naked eye which the artillerymen were placing and lowering with great activity. This seemed strange, as their cunning in concealing them up to now had been so perfect that their discovery would have been luck. Even the bushes had with great subtlety been screened. We could even hear the commands. Then my officer stopped and looked about. I didn't see much necessity for signaling, it was all so apparent, but I did so according to instructions. He was joined a few minutes later by two men. They got into a peasant's cart and jolted off. I was uncertain what to do, but I trudged back into the country.

CHAPTER XV.

I Meet Ian's Brother.

WE were now on the battlefield at ——, and graves marked almost every footstep. There were English, French and German. The Germans would recognize theirs by a rusty tin can stuck at one end of the stick that marked the grave, the allies by crude crosses, with sometimes a tiny flag that fluttered like loose bits of ribbon in the chill gray air; often a last letter pinned to a cap or coat. They had been buried where they fell. A haystack was surrounded by graves. A little farther on we came upon a group of men engaged in exhuming the bodies from a vast grave which Rene told me had contained forty-five men. They were searching, he said, for a certain English officer, whom they believed to have been buried there. Rene's chatter ran on. "He must have been a grand person. for his mother has been here twice hunting for his body and has offered thousands of francs to any one who will find where he is buried." We walked on a little farther. The whole thing was too unutterably sad, and I was about to retrace my steps when loud exclamations and excited talking from the gravediggers caused Rene to scamper over to where the men were at work. A moment later he came rushing back, fairly screaming:

"Mademoiselle, don't you want to come and see him? They have found him—they have found Captain ——, the one they were looking for."

"Captain ——?" I said, dully wondering where I had heard that name. Like a flash it came to me, and my heart grew sick at the thought. He was the handsome officer who, with

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

TYPHOID FEVER is a severe disease coming on with headache, rise of temperature, diarrhoea, and abdominal distension. It always occurs as the result of taking into one's stomach food or drink contaminated with the body discharges. These discharges may enter one's mouth in water which has been polluted with sewage containing typhoid germs, with milk or food to which the germs have been carried by flies, by dirty hands, by dirty water, etc., or by direct contact with a person ill of typhoid fever. It is also distributed by "carriers," that is by persons who, though immune to the disease themselves, carry the germs of the disease in their intestines and transmit it to others through the discharges reaching food, etc. "Typhoid Mary," the New York cook who gave the disease to a large number of people before she was locked up, is a typhoid example of a typhoid carrier. People who have typhoid fever may carry the disease for a long time and be a source of danger to others, especially if they have anything to do with the preparation of food.

TYPHOID FEVER

Typhoid fever is rather common about the farms especially if a single case has occurred in a neighborhood where there is any chance of the general water supply, such as a spring, stream, or lake, receiving the intestinal discharges of the sick person. A typical example of this occurred in connection with an outbreak of the disease at Plymouth, Pa., in 1885. Plymouth is a mining town with a population at the time of the outbreak of about 8,000. Its water-supply was obtained from a mountain stream draining an almost uninhabited watershed, and the water for the town was impounded in a series of four impounding reservoirs. In January a man living up stream, who had spent his Christmas holidays in Philadelphia, became ill at his home. The excreta were not disinfected but were thrown either into the frozen creek or upon its snow-covered banks. In March there came a spring thaw and the accumulations of excreta were washed down the stream. Three weeks later there was an acute outbreak of typhoid fever in the little town. In some days as many as 100 cases occurred. One thousand and four cases were reported. There were, it is estimated, altogether 1,500 cases and the deaths numbered 114. The infection was most marked in those who used the town water supply, the epidemic being limited to the users of this water. Those who used well water escaped the disease. This epidemic of typhoid was studied and definitely traced to its source by competent observers, and is a marked example of the necessity of protection of public water supplies.

We are not exempt from such lessons in Ontario. The outbreak of typhoid in Ottawa in 1911 and again in 1913, and that of the town of Sarnia in 1911-12, all of which were proven to have occurred as the result of sewage-polluted water, have been sharp lessons in our own province, lessons unhappily which have not yet convinced the respective civic authorities of the necessity of adequate protection of their water-supplies.

In the majority of cases the well is the chief and usually the only source of water supply. It is in many cases a safe supply, especially if it is a deep or driven well and more particularly if it is well protected against surface drainage. But many farm wells are shallow with the curb made of unjointed timber or stone which allow of easy drainage to the well. The covering is often of loose boards through which surface impurities may easily run. The danger is slight unless the impurities contain, which they may easily do, the excreta of persons carelessly thrown upon the ground. If the excreta comes from a person affected with typhoid the danger is imminent, and there is almost a certainty that users of the water will suffer from the disease. The moral is plain: PROTECT THE WELL!

SUMMER DIARRHOEA

Summer Diarrhoea kills a large number of babies every summer. It is preventable if care is taken with the baby's food. If at all severe call the doctor at once. In any case it is always safe to give a dose of the good old-fashioned castor oil. That is one of the mother remedies to be banked upon. If the diarrhoea is severe cut off all food, especially MILK, which is death to a baby with diarrhoea, but give boiled water in as large amounts as the baby would have of food. In older children give only water and gruel or dry toast. But get a doctor at once.

Letter From Pte. John Lemcke Summerberry, Sask.

S. S. Missanabbie about to dock at Liverpool, Oct. 12th.

Dear sister—I suppose you are all thinking all kinds of things of me because you have not heard from me before, but everything is all right.

We had a fine trip across the bubble, but just beginning to get tiresome now, we have been on board nine days. We are unloading in the morning at six o'clock and taking a train from Liverpool, but nobody seems to know where we are going.

There were three troop ships of us come over together escorted by one battleship, but we got no sight of a German submarine, although they were very careful. We were not allowed to go anywhere on deck without our life belt, and when we entered the Irish sea, the most dangerous place, there were all kinds of torpedo boats and war ships to escort us in.

We got a glimpse of Old Ireland this morning, and what we saw of it certainly looked nice. It all sloped down to the water and was all divided into small fields of a couple of acres each and a bunch of sheep feeding on each of them. If we get a six or eight days pass when we land I am going to go up to Scotland with one of the boys whose home is up there.

I suppose you will be through threshing by this time. It seems a year since I have heard from anybody. I wrote you a card when we were leaving Halifax, but I was not sure if it was posted or not.

Well Ada I will close for this time hoping you are all well as this leaves me fine. Remember me to all, and lots of love to everybody.

Why not our own Body Machine?

We study and admire the machinery invented by man, and too often overlook and neglect that most marvellous machine—the human body.

To understand and take care of the heart, lungs and liver; the arteries and veins, the skin, the teeth, the eyes and all the intricate machinery of the body, is no small task.

But, unlike any other machine, the body replaces its own wear and waste, and, consequently, the most attention required is that which has to do with the organs of digestion and excretion.

So long as proper food is supplied for nourishment and the liver, kidneys and bowels are regular in their work of eliminating poisonous waste matter from the system, the great majority of human ills are avoided.

In this connection Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are appreciated on account of their promptness and efficiency in arousing the action of these filtering and excretory organs, and thereby removing such disorders as liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, kidney disease and backache. With these organs in healthful action there is no such thing as Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and rheumatism.

Finishing Lambs For the Block

On the Dominion Experimental farm some interesting results has been obtained from a number of experiments in lamb feeding conducted during the last few years.

The large percentage of Canadian lambs are marketed in the fall direct from the pastures. All the lambs from the farmer's flock are usually lifted at the same time, which means that the well finished lambs of good weight must help to sell the light, thin lambs, which may be as well bred but, being late lambs or twin lambs, have not done as well as their flock mates. Well finished lambs of uniform weight uniform weight invariable command a higher price than mixed lambs varying in size, weight and finished hence it is always more profitable to hold the lighter lambs and sell only those of uniform weigh and finish. Again, the selling of the most of our Canadian lambs during the fall months practically always causes a slump in the price. Lambs not required for immediate consumption are held in cold storage to the profit of the wholesaler in view of the usual increase in price of from $1 to $3 per hundred pounds between the month of November and April.

When the farmer appreciates these two conditions the lamb trade will be revolutionized and the farmer will finish his work and reap fatt profits for food-stuffs consumed by and labour expended on his sheep. Many farmers with abundance of roughage can well afford to finish from one to three carloads of lambs during the winter months thereby making top market price on the farm produce and a good margin of profit in addition. Realizing the existence of such conditions all over the Dominion, a large amount of investigational work along these lines has been conducted on the Dominion Experimentional Farms throughout Canada. Details of this work may be seen in the annual reports, however, a brief summary of the work to date may be timely.

Profits in Winter Feeding Lambs

In the six years' work conducted on the Experimental Farms system, the profits on the winter finishing of lambs have ranged from 25 cents per head to $2.10 per head over the cost of feed. In other words, the Experimental Farms and Stations have purchased unfinished lambs on the open market or from drovers, and, after charging good prices for marketable farm feeds and cost prices for other roughages, have made from 3 to 33 per cent on the investment in the lambs, labour not included. Even allowing a fair margin for labour, this is as profitable a line of feeding work as can be carried on and shows a return on investment greater than is usual in the finishing of steers or shoats.

The class of lamb to buy depends largely on the lambs available and market requirements. Usually, the well bred lamb showing plenty of constitution and quality and weighing from 60 to 80 pounds is the best stocker lamb to put into winter quarters. Lambs weighing from 80 to 100 lbs. if thin, may be profitably put in the feed lot for a short finish and if good fall pastures are available this may be as profitable a line of work as any. The finished, heavy lamb weighing from 80 to 110 pounds should never be purchased for feeding purposes. The time when greatest profits can be made in purchasing lambs is usually between the months of August and November. However, the condition of the pastures and of the lambs themselves as well as the markets, will regulate the time for purchase. The proper time to sell the lambs is when they are finished whether this be November or April or any intervening month. This applies also to the selling of lambs off grass. Finished lambs will make small gains at a very high cost per pound, which cost will usually be far in excess of the market price at that season. In addition to this, the markets are demanding a well-finished lamb, not overdone, and ranging from 85 to 105 pounds live weight, depending upon the breed and season of the year. This, of course, does not apply to the young lamb trade of the spring and early summer.

High Cost of Living

(Saturday Night)

Those who indulge themselves with the idea that Government can do everything, from regulating the price of gasoline to taking the squeak out of the town pump, are now demanding that the Federal authorities get after the high cost of living, and amputate the same somewhere around the waist line. Very easy to suggest, but very hard to accomplish. Food values, like other values, follow the lines of least resistance, which happen to be upward, for the very good reason that food is scarce. Ottawa reports that eggs, while scarce, and high as we know, are being consumed in Canada in larger quantities this year than last. The western world has half a wheat crop, while the eastern world under present conditions, is eating more wheat than ever, and is, of course, producing less. Millions of dollars worth of meats are being shipped from Canada to England. When Pat Burns or some other packer, gets an order for three or four million dollars worth of hogs for foreign consumption, only one thing can happen, the price advances. And still newspapers, seeking popularity with the "peepul," argue that the Government must do something. But what will it do? Stop Pat Burns from shipping his hogs? Will the Prime Minister start on a tour of the country educating the hens on lines of greater production? Will we appoint Sir Sam Hughes, Keeper in Ordinary of the beef cattle, so that the meat neatly enclosed in tin cans, will not reach the trenches? Will the Minister of Agriculture Burbank our cows so that they will have calves in litters in place of one at a time? Perhaps Sir Tom White will, in his idle moments, if he ever has any, write a monograph on how to grow winter wheat in the winter time. Two crops a year would help some.

The Newspapers Suggest

Some newspapers naively suggest—of course they are Opposition newspapers—that the Government uncork a bottle of hornets by commandeering the western farmers wheat. If any public man suggested such a thing between Winnipeg and the Rockies and got away with his life he would be fortunate, particularly in view of the fact that western wheat growers have been holding, and are still holding, for higher prices, which are very likely to be achieved before the year is out. Fancy putting such a proposal before Hon. Bob Rogers for his sanction! "Forget it, boys; forget it," saith the Hon. Bob.

Cold Storages

When all else fails, these Davids who would slay the H. C. L. giant, set their slings for the cold storage warehouses. By the very nature of its business cold storage cannot be a monopoly. Cold storage machinery can be bought by anybody and operated by any mechanic. There is no deep secret about it. Plants are spread over the country from coast to coast, big and small. Some in the hands of individual owners, others in the hands of large packing corporations, who operate them for their own use. As a matter of fact, cold storage is one of the greatest boons we have. It gives us perishable winter foods, such as oysters in summer, and perishable summer foods in winter. Every city and large town has its cold storage plants, the owners of which are out looking for business. The lowest bidder gets it. There is plenty of competition, so excessive prices cannot be maintained. From the standpoint of economy cold storage plants are among our greatest boons. They allow of the preservation of foods, so that there is practically no waste, and by its means we have the benefit of many foods the year through, which before the advent of cold storage were unknown luxuries, except for a brief period of the year.

The Simple Life

If we must live luxuriously we must pay the price. But we are not prepared to go back to the plain living of a generation ago, when porridge was a habit rather than a diet, when new-laid eggs in a city were about as scarce as hen's teeth, to the time when mother patched and father cobbled, and home-made hair-cuts were not unknown.

If the world went on to a malted-milk-rye-bread diet for a spell, food prices would fall, but so long as we keep on consuming more than is produced must anticipate higher and still higher prices. It is a condition for which this great world war is to blame, and no man or government can alter it one iota.

A telegram was received by Mr. and Mrs Thos. Ruff on Friday last that their son Pte. Percy Ruff had been wounded in the Somme battle on Sept. 29th and that he was admitted to the hospital in England. He is suffering from gun shot wounds in the wrists. Percy was a former employee in The Leader office and enlisted with the 34 Battalion. He went to France in May and saw four months fighting before being wounded. His many friends here hope that his wounds are only slight.

The Ontario Feldspor and Clay Products Co. which were going to turn clay into gold, and supply the world with potash, have disappeared like hot air. It is true, too, that they had some machinery here at the station upon which they paid demurrage for a few weeks, but with all this they could not get the people to bite. The time has passed when people put their money into concerns and allowed other people to run them This company have taken their machine to another point, and we read that they are going to manufacture lime, cement and potash. ## The Town Council

The Chief's report for October was still along the happy lines "no arrests." It certainly is plain that we are the most model town in Ontario and what we have we must hold. The duties of a Chief have become far less exacting than in previous years.

Mr. Joseph Caruso, the Italian fruit vendor who was obliged to put up $50 as a transient trader's license when he came to town, wrote a letter to the council requesting his rebate because he has been under heavy expenses. The Council complied with the request taking the view that he was a resident and had given proof of the same. Coun Plante objected, stating that there is no use of having by-laws if we do not enforce them.

* * *

For a number of years the post office building was exempt from taxes simply because it was not known that it was assessable. However in 1913 it was brought to light that this building is in no special class at all, and must pay taxes. The taxes on 1913, 1914 and 1915 had not been paid and the council took action to collect. The owner wnuted to compromise, and rather than have a High Court suit, and because of many years of exemptions and misunderstandings the Council compromised for these years for 50c on the dollar. The amount due was $120 and $60 was accepted as payment in full until Dec. 1915.

There was considerable discussion about the crushed stone now being put on the street, and a few other matters. Arrangements will be made to have a hill for coasting for boys.

* * *

Dr. Foster and the Rev Mr. Hardy appeared before the Council as a deputation and asked that the flag be kept flying at the masthead on all public buildings during the war. They were quite patriotic in their remarks. The Reeve, who was presiding, said that the reason the flag had not been kept flying was because of the expense, that a flag lasted only three weeks. However regardless of all expense the flag would be raised again in the morning.

Keeping Up With the Jones's

Farmer's Wife Writes About High Cost of Living

The high cost of living is only a joke
The high cost of loving is keeping me broke,

The farmers wives are not dismayed at the high prices, altho' they affect us almost as much as our town sisters. But where the majority of them have been in the habit of buying, pretty much what they pleased, the farmers wife, working for the good of her husband and family, could see the need of stringent economy, that more land could be cleared, or better buildings erected; or perhaps more and better stock purchased. Our town friends feel the price of butter unbearably almost, but my friends you have it in your own hands, to a great extent to get cheaper butter.

Why, producer, get busy: buy a farm, in these parts anywhere from $1300 to $1400 now buy your machinery, $1,000 will buy that. (You may think I exaggerate) but ask any implement agent who understands the business, and he will tell you this is so, few farmers have less Now buy your grain for seed. You must have your cows or you will never have butter.

You can purchase a very average animal for $75.00 but can get a good one for $100. I presume by the time you are fairly started in the business, to say nothing of milking, churning and making the butter up, you will think even 40c per lb little enough.

About a year ago I read in The Farmer's Magazine that there 32000 less cows in Ontario than before the war started, due to the fact that help was so scarce, and a great many farmers and their sons were at the front.

Does this not help to prove that the farmer is not to blame for the high cost of butter and milk. Send your daughters from town to help the farmers wives, and a good many men would do well to hire with the farmers, especially in the older and wealthier parts of Ontario. If the demand is greater than the supply, prices are bound to be high.

The farm is a great place to take the nonsense out of a woman, possibly because we are alone so much our work keeping us from troubling our neighbors to any extent. We think of the stern winter coming and forthwith see well to the ways of our household.

Keeping Up With the Jonses

We seem to gain an independence of character and where so many of our town friends (not all mind you) are exerting every nerve to have things just as nice as some of their neighbors. We have more lasting aims and strive for a competency for our old age, after we have done our best for our families.

The love of display, the love of luxuries, the love of expensive entertaining is keeping dad broke in many a home. We must eat, we must buy judiciously and cut down expenses in other things to live comfortably.

In Germany there is a fine of ten marks, if found peeling potatoes before cooking, a mark being equal to 0ff 25c. I have had visitors, in past years, offer to help peel potatoes; when thro' I mentally calculated I would have more potato if I cooked the peeling, these were town friends who bought all their vegetables, at the same price we had potatoes to sell, the same all thro' the list of apples, carrots and cabbage. I remember reading when first house-keeping, that a girl who didn't want to be bothered using the left overs, and small quantities of provisions, should be shunned, for she never made a good wife. People in New England looked down on any one who was shiftless, and all aimed at being thrifty next to being religious. Never a time when mothers had such an opportunity to instil economy and prudence into their daughters minds. We can cut down our expenses in clothes, even if we cannot do very much to lighten the burden for father with regard to food. Where there are girls, there never were better fashions for making pretty dresses for mothers girl, out of old ones. The pleated skirts, middies and suspender styles all lend themselves to two kinds of material. And girls, dear girls, when you grow up no one will ask if you always had dresses from new material. I am not writing this for mothers who are amply able to dress as they please this only applies to us who are tiding over, waiting for better times.

In France when one of the leaders of fashion before the war, was asked by a fashion reporter this year what the fall styles were to be replied "We French women know not the word; as long as our men are in the trenches, in jeopardy, and our country in gloom and mourning." Our Canadian women would do well to ponder over these things.

Those Scribblers

I pick up my little girl's scribbler one question in arithmetic to the page, a little scribbling leaf after leaf, all through the book. What an opportunity for the teacher to instil neatness, economy and prudence into the children's minds. A child is obliged by some of the teachers to buy, in addition to a drawing-book, a large sheet of artist's paper, price 25c. Why is this? We have had members of our family attend High School for years, at different times, and the common drawing-book was good enough at the High School. Now the farmer's wife's purse is simply big and fat these times, so I do not feel it, and am not speaking for myself in particular, but is it not possible for the teachers to do what they can for some families who are sending four and five to school. Poor dad, his hand is never out of his pocket

Miss Carling, of London, Ont., set a fine example last year, by going out in her garden and working with her own hands raising vegetables as well as flowers. Our English sisters did the same. Now when a person of Miss Carlings wealth takes up gardening, could not our town sisters cut expenses almost in half, by helping to cultivate every available foot of ground.

Some things which we should avoid

Wasting fuel and wasting food by burning, buying when we have something on hand that would answer the purpose just as well, buying things that we can do without, and by so doing we can have a nice little margin to give to some of the many worthy causes of the day.

Some has meat who can't eat,
Some has none and want it,
But we has meat and we can eat,
And so the Lord be thanket.

Death of Robert Huston

In the death of Mr. Robert Huston Wolesley there passed away a most honorable, upright, and unassuming gentleman. He was well and most favorably known in the township of Keppel and in Wiarton, where his death was learned with regret. He had been ill since last June and passed away on Thursday morning.

The deceased was born in Kildare Township, Quebec, in 1846 and consequently was 70 years of age. In 1864 he moved to Kincardine, where he lived four years, then he moved to Keppel, where he lived until his death. In politics he was a Conservative and in Church affiliations he was an Anglican. He is survived by a widow, two sons John and Robert at home, and two daughters Mrs. Bryce Sinclair Wolesley and Mrs. Ralph of Sask. Interment took place Saturday to Bayview cemetery. In the absence of Rev. C. L. Langford the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hardy, Wiarton.

Wiarton 50 years Old

Wiarton was 50 years old Nov. 16, or it was then that the first settlers in the person of the late Mr. Lennox, and the surviving members of his family moved here. They were the first settlers within the corporation. At that time a gentleman named Johnston lived where the Sugar Beet factory now stands, and Mr. Jerry Collins lived quite near him. What afterwards became the town was then a howling wilderness. And in these fifty years what changes The burg can scarcely say with Jacob "few and evil have the years of my life been" One by one the settlers came. They came from different parts of Ontario, they came before the railway, and Mr. B. B. Miller says that the early settlers worked with a patriotism for the advancement of their adopted town, and it grew The railway came, the timber on the Peninsula furnished employment for many men, saw mills started up, the place was incorporated as a village in 1880 and as a town in 1894.

Wants Electric Road on Peninsula

Our Lion's Head Correspondent Would Make That Village The Delivery Point

The City of Meaford made a short trip from Wiarton to here and return on Sunday. The steamers freight up alone amounted to ninety four dollars and some cents and then there was also a cargo to take back. The freight rate from Wiarton on this particular trip varied from 8 to 50 cents per hundred, cutters bearing the latter rate. That is not all yet. On top of that goes storage in Wiarton and the freight held for our boat. Is it not time that the people of this community got together to see what could be done about getting an electric road. The Hydro Electric can be had for the asking. All it needs is some prominent farmer to take hold of it or better yet "The Farmers Club" The amount of money this peninsula loses every year on any branch of stock is enormous simply because we have so much expense not counting shrinkage before we reach the delivery point which at present is Wiarton Let us make it Lions Head

William Gillies, of Tobermory, is moving into Mrs. Bruins house, where he will reside for the winter. He finds it more convenient to attend to his telephone line from here. His through line connection with the Bell Telephone is now in working order this far and is a decided improvement over the past.

Last weeks storm appeared to be worse the farther north you went. Mr. Philip Forbes came down from Johnstons Harbor Saturday and reported it very bad up there. While he and Mr. Lynch were walking along the beach they picked up a bottle containing a note addressed to someone in Cleveland. The note stated that the writer did not expect to see land again and asked that whoever might find the bottle would kindly forward note to address enclosed. Mr. Forbes mailed it Saturday as requested.

Mrs. Gilchrist left for Owen Sound on Saturday after spending ten days here with her father and brother.

Mrs. Chas. Pedwell and babe spent last week at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Tyndall returning to McVicar on Sunday.

Whit Moore continues to sell a large quantity of Special Black Tea. 5 chests came in last week and 5 more are on order. This will last for some time and as long as it does last the price will remain the same although tea is very sure to advance If you are not buying your tea at Whit Mopres you are probably not getting as good. Tea is a specialty at the corner grocery.

Cattle buyers are scouring the country this week and last in search of cattle. Those who have plenty of hay will do well to winter their cattle.

Mrs. C. McArthur moved to the house recently vacated by Mrs. Gibson.

Mr. Jonathan Hill and Mrs. Alice Shaw were united in the Holy Bonds of matrimony last Tuesday in Wiarton. They spent a few days in Toronto on their honey moon returning to the village Friday evening. On their arrival Mrs. Foster entertained them at her home. While an impromtu crowd entertained them outside.

Mrs. George Jenks sr. passed away Sunday evening after a lengthy period of illness. She died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Joseph Bray. Her husband pre-deceased her several years ago and since that time she has not been living on the homestead. Two sons William and Geo. and four daughters Mrs. Lyman Peoey, Mrs. Bray, Mrs. Hill all of this township and Mrs. C. Moore, of Mar, survive her.

Try a can of Artic Dubbin at Whit Moore's. The very thing to preserve leather and the price boots are now it is worth while spending 10 cents on a good article that will extend the life of the leather and help to keep your feet dry.

The Joseph Tyndall farm is now for sale. For particulars apply to R. E. Moore estate.

We are informed that Lindsay Township donated two hundred dollars to the British Red Cross. The people of Lindsay are too patriotic to allow a good cause go by unnoticed.

Mrs. Clark, of Hope Bay passed away on Monday after a long illness She resided in the Hope Bay settlement for a great number of years and before she took sick was a frequent visitor to the village. Her daughter Mrs. George Fries lived on the adjoining lot and her son Harman lives at home. Not many years ago they built a fine large brick house but she was not spared long to enjoy the comforts of it.

Mrs. W. B. Moore received word last Friday evening that her father Mr. Horace Lymburner, of Owen Sound, had been stricken down with paralysis. Dr. Hacking took her to Owen Sound on Saturday and Sunday about 9 o'clock Mr. Lymburner passed away. In the years past Mr. Lymburner made many a trip through here as he had one of the first saw mills on the peninsula. When his family grew up he moved to Owen Sound but continued to operate the mill above Dyers Bay. Later on he disposed of his business to his son Robert who afterwards sold to Mr. Chas. Pedwell The funeral was held in Owen Sound on Tuesday to the vault where the remains will lie until his son Robert arrives home from Prince Albert, after that it is expected that he will be buried at Big Bay where he formerly resided before coming to the peninsula.

Walter A. Krug who enlisted as a private in the 62th Battery was soon made a Corp. oral and recently received a Sergeant's stripes. We hope to see Wat come back a full-fledged Colonel.

Somewhat of an unusual honor has fallen upon one of our worthy citizens in the person of Dr. C. E. Bichu, who has been elected by acclamation to fill the place made vacant by the death of Dr. C. E. Sale, of Goderich, who was killed in action, upon the Board of Governors of the College of Dental Surgeons. This board consists of only seven men and is a coveted position among the Dental fraternity. The College is a self supporting corporation and is practically the only institution of its kind not receiving government aid It is entirely supported by the students' fees and the Dental surgeons throughout the province. We extend to Dr. Bichu our heartiest congratulations.

The Only Way To Cure Rheumatism

Must Be Treated Through the Blood and the Poisonous Acid Driven Out.

The twinges and tortures of rheumatism are not due to cold, damp weather as so many people suppose. Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood. This is a medical truth that every rheumatic sufferer should realize. There is only one way to cure rheumatism—it must be treated through the blood. All the liniments and so-called electrical treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism, and the sufferer who trusts them is not only wasting money, but is allowing the trouble to become more firmly rooted in the system and harder to cure when the proper remedy is tried. Dr. Williams Pink Pills have had remarkable success in curing rheumatism because they right to the roots of the trouble in the blood, driving out the poisonous acid, releasing the stiffened joints, clearing away the torturing pains, and giving the victim renewed health and ease. Mr. Vincent Brow, Havre Boucher, N. S., says: "For two years I was an almost constant sufferer from rheumatism, the trouble being so bad at times that I could scarcely get about. The trouble seemed to bring with it anaemia, and altogether I was in a very bad condition. I used doctor's medicine for almost a year without relief. Then on the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I think I took altogether about a dozen boxes with the result that I am again enjoying perfect health."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OWEN SOUND

Last night's meeting of the special committee to inquire into the high cost of living was attended by the Mayor, and Messrs. Willoughby, Lloyd and Christie and resulted in a resolution being passed offering to assist the government or any other municipality in the province in any way that would tend to decrease the cost to the consumer of the necessities of life. The conversation before the resolution was carried, covered a lot of ground, from canners to flour manufacturers and the attorney general's department. It was admitted by all that there was a combine of canners who are not only boosting prices but are combined to restrain trade in direct contravention of the provincial act governing such matters or that should be governing. Independent canners are selling about 10 per cent below the price charged by the trust. But the trust has a regulation that those will not selling canned goods to any dealer who handles canned goods produced by non-trust firms. This also applies to any manufacturing machinery that will supply the members of the combine not in the trust.

Mr. Alfred Reeves brought into the Times office on Monday some very valuable specimens of silver ore taken from the Gowganda mining district in which he is largely interested. The immense richness of the samples may be judged from the fact that Mr. Reeves estimate was that the silver that could be abstracted from the piece of ore-bearing rock which he showed The Times would pay for the coal of a householder for the winter. They indicated the tremendous richness of the New Ontario mines, the possibilities of which as yet cannot be estimated. He is an experienced miner and prospector and one of the large stockholders in the Dobie-Reeves silver mine which is one of the most prolific producers of silver in the New Ontario section

It will be remembered that it was Mr Reeves who introduced the question of smelting nickel in Canada in the board of trade here The matter was forwarded in the presentation of a resolution before the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and from which resulted the government action which has compelled the International Smelting Company to construct a smelter in Canada, the erection of the buildings for which is now taking place at Port Colborne. Mr. Reeves' only regret is that pressure was not brought to bear upon the company to compel its selection of the site for its plant further away from the American border and thinks that Owen Sound would have been the proper location for the industry.

There will be a spirited fight for the Wardenship of the County next year. There are at present five men prominently mentioned and there will be some difficulty making the choice. Messrs Smith, of Derby, Reeve Nichol, of Glenelg, Reeve Sing, of Meaford, Reeve Miller, of Euphrasia, and Reeve McKenzie, of Artemesia, are the ones prominently mentioned in the corridors of the court-house and there may be more of them yet that have ambitions to fill the chair that Warden Cordingley will vacate after this session of the County Council. Mr. Cordingley, though a comparatively young man has been a credit to the position, and we wish him many years of continued usefulness to the county. His rulings have invariably been fair and his attitude on all public questions has been most praiseworthy.

Contractor Andrew Quinlan returned this week from Griffith's Island where he spent considerable of the summer repairing the wharf at that place It was found on investigation that the dock was in much greater need of repair than was suspected and it was necessary to use a lot of iron as drift plus to hold the crib work together. As the dock was constructed the filling of rock did not extend to the bottom, but was held in place on a flooring of cedar slabs. It was necessary to remove this in order to fill up the crib work and make a permanent job of the repairs. About $600 was expended in the work which is now regarded as substantial as can be made.

MEAFORD

Three Meaford homes have been thrown into the deepest gloom over the sad drowning of Milton Meyers, George Cook and John Scholar, who went out on the treacherous waters of the Georgian Bay in a rowboat about four o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and have not been heard of since. Their upturned boat and a broken oar were found on Monday about 5 miles east of the town by Mr Herbert Hall and three cars have since been found by search parties up to the time of writing. Mr. A. Kennedy, father-in-law of John Scholar, the only married man in the unfortunate party, took his tug and searched the course supposed to have been taken by the boys on their fatal outing. No further clue has been found. The recovery of the bodies is eagerly hoped for since the finding of the frail little craft that bore them to their death. Diligent search and enquiry have availed nothing and the heart-broken families would welcome any clue that would lead to the finding of the boys in flesh or the recovery of their bodies in death.

Hanover

Mr. Geo. Aurell, Neustadt, who was buried on Sunday reached the ripe old age of 91 years, 8 months. He was born July 25th, 1825, in Neuendambach, Erfurt Kingdom of Persia. At the age of 26 he immigrated to America, settling in Waterloo County in 1853. He married Katharina Schilling and moved to Normanby in 1865, where he lived the rest of his life. The union was blessed with 6 children of which 4 are dead.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carson of Anabel Township on Wednesday of last week when their daughter, Miss Eva, became the bride of Mr. Clarence Diebel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Diebel of Bentinck Township. The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock p. m., Rev. J. Leypoldt of Hanover officiating. The young couple were unattended, the father of the bride giving her away. Sixty-five guests were present. The bride was becomingly gowned in silk crepe de chene. Miss Minna Diebel, sister of the groom, played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Diebel are spending their honeymoon with relatives in Palmerston, after which they will take up residence in Allenford.

The prompt action of the Fergus station agent was the only thing that saved a serious accident on the G. T. R. between Alma and Fergus Friday, Nov. 3. The special train with the 153rd Battalion was just pulling out of Fergus when the agent heard from Alma that the regular south bound passenger had left, hooking out he boarded the moving special and stopped it by applying the air brake. A few minutes later the regular thundered in.

Jasper Clifton, an employee of the desk factory of the Knechtel Furniture Co., had the three middle finger of his left hand cut in the rip saw last Friday morning. The ends of two fingers are off. Clifton was recently a member of the 160th Bruce Battalion but received his honorable discharge owing to physical unfitness.

Southampton

Our deer hunters, Messrs Bowman and Cameron arrived home last Friday night; They were up in the neighborhood of Algonquin Park and report the best time they have yet had. There were eight in the party all told, and they got their full complement of deer. Bobbie Stanfield who was cook, shot one out of the cabin window. They drove 26 miles after leaving the railway and got no mail of any kind for the two weeks they were there. They had a Highland piper from Toronto and had a real good time. The hunters were generous after their arrival home and many friends in town are enjoying the real deer meat these days.

Messrs Fred Thomson and Jerry Seibert have returned from Edmonton where they visited and renewed acquaintance with many former residents of the old home town. Real estate business is very much down and some properties may be bought for one-third of their assessed value, but conditions are improving.

Dr. P. J. Scott has enlisted for active service and is now at London Ont., preparing for his departure overseas, which he expects will be before Christmas. This is the Doctor's third attempt, but he was not accepted on the two former occasions He will go as a surgeon, and hold the rank of captain, and his many friends here will hope that he may come safely through his part in the great struggle.

Capt. Jos. Granville and Tom Hagen left Tuesday morning with Brock McAuley's old tug, the J. B. McLeod for Wiarton, where it will be caulked and put in seaworthy condition.

Messrs. Wm. Baker and D. McHaney were over to Meaford after spawn for the fish hatchery here. Sufficient has been secured with what was obtained here to supply the hatchery for this season.

WALKERTON

A former Walkerton High School student, Lieut. Samuel Leslie Young, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Narry Young, of near Cargill, has paid the supreme sacrifice for the flag, and met a hero's death in the terrific battle of the Somme, he falling on the field of honor last week while fighting as a lieutenant in the 46th Battalion of South Saskatchewan. The first intimation that the parents had of the death of their son came in the form of a phone message on Saturday morning from local friends, who had read the sad news in Friday evening's papers, the young lieutenant's name being numbered in the casualty list with the killed in action. A message of condolence from Premier Borden also reached the bereaved couple on Saturday morning.

Capt. "Chap" Kilmer, grandson of Mr. N. Crawford, of Walkerton, and who had his leg amputated near the knee as a result of a shell shattering the limb while he was leading a rescue party at the front, has been awarded the D. S. O. for gallantry in rescue work at the front. "Chap" who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Kilmer, of Toronto, is well-known in Walkerton, where news of his distinguished decoration for heroism will be received with more pleasure than surprise, as he was generally known to be of a most dashing spirit and among the ones likely to land some of the valued jewelry at the front.

We understand that the Colross Council has at last agreed to give a paltry $500 to the British Red Cross, thereby cutting last year's donation in two. We cannot believe that the ratepayers of Colross will be proud of the parsimonious part their Council is taking at the hour of the Empire's great need. Reeve Kuntz was strong for repeating last year's grant, but only one Councillor, would support him.

Mrs. P. C. Scott, of Teeswater, has three sons at the front. Dan went over with the first contingent and was wounded a year ago. Strange to say since he was in the hospital no word has been heard of him, although every effort has been made to trace him. Up to that time he wrote regularly every two weeks. The other two boys, Peter and Stewart, were with the 160th, but at the time of leaving, Stewart was laid up with pleurisy He has now gone over to the Highlanders and is on his way to Windsor. Mrs. Scott lost her husband about the time of the outbreak of war. Sitting at the table he seemed to choke and expired in a few minutes.

A Horse Fair

In another column it will be seen that there will be a horse fair in Wiarton on Tuesday Dec. 12th. It will be the first horse fair, and it is up to the farmers to make it a success. The buyers will come here then proceed to Owen Sound and to Orangeville. It will be of great convenience to the farmers on the Peninsula, as the buyers never like driving very far, but now that there is a fair the horses can be brought to them. The farmers are urged to see that their horses are in good condition. If the first fair is a success it will become an established institution.

Northern Business College

OWEN SOUND, ONT.

A School with a Record of Useful Service

On November 1st, 1881, the Northern Business College was established by the present Principal, C. A. Fleming, at Owen Sound, and its record of 35 years of faithful training of young men and women for business life is unparalled in Canada. Since the opening over 8,000 students have been in attendance and each year the sphere of usefulness is extended. Graduates are occupying responsible positions in the commercial life of every important business centre of Canada and the United States, while men and women in every walk of life have found the instruction received at the Northen Business College an asset and an advantage.

From a school started in a very small way 35 years ago, the Northern Business College grew rapidly until it is recognized as a leader in the Dominion. Each year the courses of study have been revised and every approved modern method of business included. The school is equipped with the latest appliances and systems, with which the student is made familiar. It has always been the policy of the Northern Business College to be abreast of the times; that is to teach the student exactly what he or she would have to do in an up-to-date office.

Principal C. A. Fleming, who personally directs the courses of instruction, is a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants and is known throughout Canada as one of the leading men in the profession. He is author of eight standard business works, used in scores of schools and thousands of offices throughout the Dominion. Every student benefits by his wide business experience. He has been particular in his selection of teachers and has surrounded himself with a staff of experienced specialists, each experienced not only in teaching but in office work. The instruction at the Northern Business College is "the best," and to it is credited the splendid success of the students of the institution for over a third of a century. No other school in Canada has at the head of its Faculty a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, and is assisted by instructors of as wide experience.

The management of the Northern Business College many years ago realized the need of first-class accommodation and proper environment in order to do the best work. The three storey building has been fitted up expressly for school purposes and has one-third of an acre of floor space, eighteen rooms lighted by sixty windows, on a quiet street within two minutes' walk of the Business Section. The steam heating is extra good, and ventilation is secured by electric exhaust fans which keep fresh air constantly in the rooms. With the latest sanitary arrangements, including sanitary oiled floors, the Business College premises are unequalled in Canada. There is plenty of room for proper grading and classification and the accommodation is such that students can do their best work. It is the best building and equipment that enterprise can suggest and capital obtain.

Special War-time Course for Young Women

Young women may "do their bit" by preparing for positions in offices, banks, etc., and thus be in a position to take the place of any young man who is willing to go to the front. Such a training may be obtained at the Northern Business College, Owen Sound, where a special War-Time course of study has been arranged to enable young women to prepare quickly for office work. A thorough training is given every business pursuit, and actual practice in the required duties. Many young women are now in attendance and there seems to be no limit to the opportunities for young women in filling positions in offices at the present time. The school is open the year round and the students may enter any day as the instruction is largely individual.

Preparatory Course

This is a special course of study for those whose early education has been neglected, and includes Reading, Arithmetic (from the simplest principles to advanced work), Spelling and Meaning of words, Composition and Correspondence, Measurements.

Approved by Chartered Accountants

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario recognized the excellence of work of the Northern Business College, and admitted it into affiliation. In other words the thorough courses of instruction of the N. B. C. have the approval of the Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Courses of Study

Editorial

THE wheat crop in the United States is 400,000,000 bushels less than last year.

IF every town in Canada had a market the cost of produce would be less to the consumer.

CHEESE sold recently at 25 1/8 cents per pound, which is the equivalent of butter at 62 cents per pound.

THE Mennonites would rather die than slav, it is probable that the Kaiser wishes that there were more Mennonites in Canada.

WE can talk and legislate about the high cost of living, but a few showers last July would have done more to reduce it than all the talk and legislation combined.

IT looks like the Christmas turkey will retail at 30 cents per pound. Multiply this price by a weight of 12 pound, and the price of this luxury alone will be $3.60. After all is a Christmas turkey necessary at this price?

PUBLIC opinion in Canada is turning strongly in favor of a coalition government until after the war, and there are strong reasons why this should be attempted. British precedent is one, and another one is that the war is not over, and it is a nation that is fighting, not one political party.

THE total wheat crop in Canada this year is 160,000,000 bushels compared with 376,000,000 bushels last year, so it is easy to understand why flour is higher in price. But when there are 270,000,000 bushels of last years crop in the country, and it only takes 50,000,000 bushels for food requirements in Canada there does not seem any good reason why flour should be $11.00 per barrel

THE Echo was informed that certain parties were endeavoring to buy all the wood in the surrounding country in order to make some money. If wood is high this year it is because so many men have enlisted, and if there are others who would take advantage of this situation it will not soon be forgotten. Two weeks ago we said that the town should go into the wood business, put a gang of men in the bush pay them good wages and sell wood to the citizens at cost. This is still our opinion and we hope to see something done in the matter.

FRANCE has decided upon two meatless days in the week. If Canada would do the same, cut out meat one day, cut out butter another day, and act along these lines there would no doubt be cheaper food.

It is Up to the Powers that be

THE time has come when the government of this country must regulate the prices of foodstuffs It is a long time since Germany took this matter in hand, Great Britain has realized that she has to move in this matter, and as Canada is part of the Empire, and as we are in the war to the finish, and the finish is probably a few years distant, the government must come to the relief of the poor immediately. An oppressive condition has become intolerable and acute. If the parents have heard their country's call and given their sons, is it fair that they should be the victims of prices caused in part by those who were not patriotic enough to enlist.

With three or four times the amount of wheat in Canada required for annual consumption there seems no reason in the heavens above, or the earth beneath, or the waters under the earth, why flour should be $11 per barrel. It is up to the government to commander the wheat crop and set a price. It is of no concern to us what wheat is selling at in Chicago, the United States is not at war, but we are. Why should butter be selling at 40cents per pound in the most remote section of Ontario? It pays the farmer good money when he can get 25cts per pound for it. What has brought about this condition? Cannot it be stopped? It is up to the government to investigate, and to come to the relief of the Canadian people. Recruiting must go on, but those oppressive prices should never obtain in an agricultural country. The government has plenty of work ahead. Perhaps this work should be done by a national commission, one thing is sure, it should be done and that right away.

Letter from Pte. Norman Wrigley

To his mother Mrs.C. Spencer

Dear mother—

Just a few lines to-day to let you know I am getting along as well as can be expected, my leg has started to heal a little bit this last week, but I have another operation to go through, that will just make eight times I have been operated on since I was wounded, but I think this will surely be the last one I hope so anyway. Well, mother, I have received a big bunch of letters that have been here all over France, there were three or four from you, and I was very glad to get them although some of them were two months old. I have not got any return mail since I was wounded yet, but I guess there will be some along within the next few days.

Well, mother, dear, you wanted to know in one of your letters if I could'nt get leave for Christmas but I guess I will spend my Christmas in bed this year and even if I were not wounded there would be no use applying for leave to go to Canada. We could not get our seven days leave to England that was coming to us but I hope before another year passes that we will all be home.

Well, mother dear, I guess I will close for to-day, will write again soon, hoping these few lines will reach you in the best of health and trusting to hear from you soon again I remain, your loving son,

Norman

A friend writing home said about Norman Wrigley

I heard about Wrigley getting the D. C. M. and from what some of the boys told me he certainly deserved it. All the Stretcher Bearers except Limself were killed or wounded and he did all their work exposing himself to fire nearly all the time.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

THE ANSWER IS WEAR RUBBERS

Many People Will Don Goloshes Early This Season to Combat the High Cost of Leather Foot-wear

"Buy rubbers," says the shoeman, the dealer who plays fair with his customers.

Leather is up and shoes are up to such an extent that the buying of a pair of shoes is almost on a level with the acquiring of a new suit or coat. Shoes must be worn, but the economical person will don rubbers as soon as the weather gets the least bit "damp under foot"; not only for the protection to the health that the rubbers afford, but to save the costly shoes he or she wears.

There was never a problem in economics that was not solved sooner or later, and rubbers and overshoes seem to be the answer to the augmented price of shoes this winter. 24

The first Red Cross euchre of the seaso was held last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, who had kindly given their home for the cause. Twenty one tables were ably accommodated, and altogether there were over one hundred present. The evening was a splendid success both financially and every one enjoying himself. A novel way to release the girls from expending money on prizes was originated by Miss Ewing. When the game was through instead of presenting prizes to the winners, two boxes of candy were found tied under different chairs, and the one who was playing last on that chair, was the winner. Over twenty-five dollars were taken in, and this is greatly appreciated by the Red Cross workers.

Union Services

The Union services under the auspices of the Methodist and Baptist Churches began on Sunday and large congregations were present both morning and evening to hear the speaker. The service in the morning was in the Baptist Church and in the evening in the Methodist Church.

"The Meaning of the Bible" and "The Overflowing Cup" were the subjects chosen and aptly discoursed on by Mr. Gordon V. Thompson on Sunday. Mr. Thompson really needed no introduction to Wiarton, as his fame as a composer of music forestalled him. Mr. Thompson owns a business in Toronto and speaks to the public not as a preacher, but as one who passes through the hurly-burly of every day life. His topics were well chosen and the clearness and thoroughness with which he discussed them, showed that he knew his subjects. Mr. Thompson is an excellent speaker and on Monday evening in the Methodist Church he again addressed a large audience. He left on Tuesday however, for his home in Toronto, but Mr. Crossley is here still to carry on the work.

FATS GILLETT'S DIRT LYE CLEANS DISINFECTS

The NURSE'S STORY

BY ADELE BLENEAU

Copyright, 1915, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

his mother and sweetheart, had dined next to us our first night in London. His words came vividly back to me: "Some will live, but many will die. Count not the loss."

Rene had grown restive. He wanted to go back near where the guns were being put in position, and to keep him with me a little longer I told him I was expecting to meet a friend. When I had about given up all hope of seeing my officer again the three men who had ridden away in the cart suddenly appeared. A little distance away they stopped. I saw them all scanning the horizon with fieldglasses, but we, Rene and I, saw nothing. It was a signal, I felt sure, and I counted my steps and waited for the taube. Once or twice we heard aeroplaning, but through the clouds saw nothing. I had no difficulty in persuading Rene to stay, as he saw, I assured me, French troops advancing in the distance. Later I found this was true. They were doing it under cover of the fog, but my own eyes were so tired from weeping and sleeplessness I couldn't see them.

That night about midnight I heard a tap at my door, so light as to be almost inaudible, but my ears were supersensitive, and when it came the second time I gently got up and opened the door. A form was outlined in the dim candlelight, and I was beckoned to follow. In the next room Lord N. was waiting for me. He rose at once as I came in and said:

"Sister, I have come to you with a message from headquarters. It has been decided that it will be unwise and perhaps useless for you to return to the German lines. You have given already valuable assistance, and it will not go unrecorded, but to go back would doubtless do little good and perhaps cost the services of a valuable nurse. After last night's happenings undoubtedly you are watched and your every movement known. You have signaled, but the signals have in most instances been 'blinds.' When that is known to the enemy, as it surely will be, you will have to pay"—he paused and looked steadily into my eyes—"an unthinkable penalty."

I could hardly wait until he had finished to ask, "Do you mean that I am to go back to my hospital safely and leave Captain Frazer to be shot?"

"That in all probability will not happen," he answered, but his tone belied his words.

"Your lordship," I answered in a voice that could admit of no further discussion, "I am going back to the German hospital at dawn. I have nothing to fear from the German country, and I shall ask you to give me safe conduct through our lines. Surely you would not refuse me that, for I shall. Any instructions and advice I shall be grateful for." He arose and came to me.

"Sister," he said, with emotion, "I feel I must tell you that Captain Frazer is my brother. The great difference in our ages makes my sentiment toward him rather like that a father feels for a son—a son within whom are centered all the hopes of a family whose traditions go back to the invasion of Scotland by Agricola. Ian will be both my father's and my own heir—eventually—for I shall never marry. So you see what he means to us. Into no personal reason—hopes of a Frazer mortgage on eternity—by way of Ian's descendants—or even to secure his life itself, will prevent me warning you how dangerous is your undertaking."

"I don't feel that I am in any great danger," I replied, quickly recovering from the shock of knowing this man was Ian's brother. "In the first place the Germans can't prove I didn't do my best. The only person who knew the truth is dead. His confederates may suspect, but can't be sure, and I will believe without actual proof they dare shoot me."

"The general feels as you do," he answered. "Your American affiliations stand you in good stead. But the one fact which makes us consent at all to your going is that we are prepared to surround them by noon today. If you can get through and escape suspicion for several hours you will be safe. You may tell them the French 75's are being placed tonight by the big bridge. They will recognize the peculiar bark of that gun and know you are telling the truth. I need not go further. The less you know the easier your task will be, for you are wholly unsuited to such a despicable role," and he took my hand affectionately in his own.

He then questioned me minutely about Captain Frazer's condition and spirits and, looking at me long and steadily, said, "You are the fine"—But he broke off abruptly and handed me a khaki overcoat, puttees, shoes and cap.

"Put these things on over my nurse's uniform when you start. Now, get a few hours' rest and at dawn walk boldly out and down the road. Follow it for three miles—the lines break there—and when you see me showing a map to a sentry by the aid of my electric flash run quickly by and make for the open. A few shots may be fired, but have no fear, they will be for the benefit of any spies who may be around. The German patrols will be watching for you; however, take no chances; leave your coat and cap and approach their lines with your Red Cross uniform in plain sight. Don't wear even your own uniform coat; it is wiser. Once through you will report to the officer in command, and whatever else you do keep cool. A favorite method of theirs is to humiliate and insult a prisoner until they wear his nerves down and then trick him into a damaging admission. Tell your story, which is a simple one, and stick to it, and always keep in mind that a few hours at best and our men will be there. I don't believe they can connect you with the movement before that time, and their trumped up charge against Ian will hardly be considered valid by the officers higher up. After all, it's the hazards of war. God bless you, my brave child, and I feel we shall meet again, that this is not to be a tragedy."

I slipped back into the room. The old woman was awake and had missed me. For a moment I was frightened lest she had heard, but her words, hateful as they were, reassured me. "I have been wondering which of them your man was—now I know." I wondered when before in the world a good woman had been really happy at being accused of having a lover. But my mind was too occupied to dwell long on that subject and I began thinking of Ian's brother—he seemed so kindly, yet so detached, as if life were a river and he was sitting on the bank watching it go by. I vaguely began to recall incidents relating to him, only his name hadn't come way remained in my memory. About 4 I got up, slipped out into the hall and dressed, crept downstairs and out into the blinding snow. As I trudged along I ate my breakfast—a cake of chocolate which I had bought the day before.

For some time I had gone along, seeing no signs of life, and then, moving like ghostly shadows, I came upon a squad of bombardiers. They made a strange picture, recalling traditions of medieval fighters. Around their middle they carried some twenty or thirty bombs, little cylinders fastened on a long stick, around which fell streamers of ribbon. This clothing suggested a mixed breed of Scotchmen and red Indians, who had taken to wearing the Indian headdress as a kilt. I had heard many stories of what their work was like in the trenches. Crouching down among the barbed wire entanglements, with their supporting infantrymen, who carried fixed bayonets, they raised themselves a little from the earth and, seizing one of their rocketlike bombs from their belts, grasped it by the stick and hurled it high above the rampart. It twists and travels uncertainly through the air and finally by the force of equilibrium supplied by the streamers of ribbon plunges straight as a plumb line into the trench.

Not wishing to be observed, I stood motionless, watching them until they had passed quite out of sight.

A little way farther on I was wondering if I might not miss my way in the snow when suddenly from an inn there stepped into the road three khaki figures. One of them fell behind to light a cigarette, and by the flame of the match I saw it was Lord N. He didn't appear to see me, and the three went on talking about the best way to drain a trench without clogging.

It was still dark and snowing heavily, and I would undoubtedly never have found my way but for the starlike glare of the German rockets. I heard, too, the big guns as they boomed out now and then, but even they would have left me quite confused as to directions. I had walked hours before I saw any traces of the German lines.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Man's Life.

REMEMBERING Lord N.'s admonition, I had intended as soon as I felt the sentry was near to throw aside my khaki coat, but the snow was so cold and wet I was chilled to the bone and shivered at the thought of leaving it, so I was still wearing cap, coat and all when I heard the sentry call out. "Who goes there?"

"A friend!" I cried back quickly and advanced and gave the countersign. Evidently I was expected, as he directed me to go a half mile farther down, where I would find some one waiting for me. Passing a little inn, half dead with cold and fatigue, I went in to ask for a hot drink. The landlady was a French peasant, young and pretty. She eyed me curiously, but did not venture to speak. I had to wait, as she was getting breakfast ready for some soldiers. They were fresh from the trenches and were covered with mud from head to heel. I thought idly they looked like football players at the end of the third quarter.

I had just begun drinking my tea when the door opened and a familiar figure, bundled in a great coat, came in the room. In an instant I recognized him; it was Von Schalling. He came straight over to me and said very gently: "Fraulein, I've come for you. I am leaving tonight for home on leave, and I wanted to talk with you, and this seemed a good opportunity. As soon as you are finished we had better be off. They are anxiously awaiting you down there."

I no longer wanted anything, and he tossed a coin across the table, and we went out to the waiting motor.

I dreaded the ride. In fact, I shrank from it in a sort of nameless terror, but again I was to find the big black thing that loomed only named and nothing more. We were hardly started before he began. Speaking English, he said:

"Miss Bleneau, first I want to ask you to forgive the many unthinkable discourtesies I have inflicted upon you. I think over and over how dear and kind you were to me when I was ill in your hospital. I am afraid you can't forgive what happened there, but I want you to know that I am sorry." He paused, evidently awaiting a reply. I murmured that it was all forgotten as far as I was concerned.

"You are an angel," he said, with a catch in his voice, "to say that," and then he began anew. "I came to meet you today because you are in danger, and I want to help you. I know you far too well to believe for one moment that you placed those guns for us fairly. They," he said contemptuously, nodding in the direction of headquarters, "may believe you are a Latin and can love to the obliteration of all else, but I know you, and I told them so in the beginning."

I parted my lips to speak, but he anticipated my question. "Nobody has told me anything. Not one of us has any reason so far to suspect you played anything but fair, but I am as certain of it now as if I had seen your every move. You do love Frazer with all the strength of your soul. I know, but no love, no passion, no personal sentiment, would ever make you sell out your own. How you did it, what happened, I don't know, and," he hastened on, "I don't wish to know; but, whatever happened, we shall know it, and that almost at once."

Without waiting for me to speak he continued, "When the firing begins again, if theirs is not diminished, in fact, not almost annihilated, after our heavy fire day and night, they will know the truth—that their guns and gunners are safe, fresh for an attack, while we have been pounding away at dummies and—I don't know what may happen." After a pause, "Perhaps nothing until they know definitely, have actual proof, and then you will be"— He turned to me as white as death. "I can't bear to think of it. I've seen so much—things too awful to repeat—I shudder."

He paused, it seemed minutes, and then said gently: "Adele, dear, come with me—marry me—I am afraid I am done for as a soldier—we shall go away out of all sight and sound of war, back to your home in Louisiana, anywhere you say. I am sick of it." I had been so stunned at his words; he had said a great deal too much before I had sufficiently collected my wits to speak.

"Don't, please; it's useless and hopeless. I don't love you. Captain von Schalling, and that is the answer to everything."

"Is it Frazer?" he asked bluntly.

"Yes," I scarcely more than whispered. "Will they shoot him as a spy?"

"Perhaps General S. might have done so, but since you have left Prince H. of H. has taken command, and he doesn't 'play the game,' as the English say, that way," he replied with an attempt at a laugh. Then, soberly: "You are in grave danger; he is not. If you had only refused to go on this mad wild mission all would have been well, but that's past now; you did go, you did trick us, and now—what's to be done?"

"I've probably got to pay," I answered.

"Not as my wife," he said. "My father is not only a financial power, which is a very important consideration now, but one of the kaiser's nearest advisers. As my wife you will be safe, honored and, more than that, with God's help, happy. We may have faults, it is true, but no man can truthfully say we are not good husbands." I had tried again and again to stem the torrent of his words, but it was useless. Only by waiting until he had finished could I hope to be heard.

"I am sorry," I said, "sorrier than I can find words to tell you; but my answer is final. But in spite of the pain of it all, I wouldn't exchange what

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

THE EYE.

THE HUMAN EYE is a wonderful instrument, but under the trying conditions of modern life it often fails to meet the demands put upon it, and serious trouble of all sorts results because we do not help out by getting glasses to supply Nature's defects.

Particularly at the time when children begin their school life, the new and difficult uses made of the eye often bring on eye strain and a host of resultant disorders.

The signs of beginning eye strain may vary in different cases. At first only a slight fatigue may be noticed after reading or sewing. The eyes may water easily or the eyeball may become bloodshot or the eyelids red. Some persons whose eyes are overtaxed show it by nervousness and others by drowsiness after the eyes have been used. Headaches of all sorts and even attacks of vertigo may be merely the symptoms of eye trouble.

DO YOU NEED GLASSES

The eye has a remarkable power, called the power of accommodation. When you look from a distant object to one nearby you notice that it takes a few seconds to focus the eye so that you can see it clearly. Little muscles are contracting and changing the shape of the eye to adjust it to the different distances somewhat as you change the focus of a camera according to the nearness of the object to be photographed. If the eye is abnormal in any respect these muscles have to work too hard, and, even though we may by this unconscious effort be able to see clearly, yet the strain is present. In such case we are seeing by a constant effort, while if glasses were provided to correct the defect of vision thy would do this work and save us the strain.

A careful and thorough examination of the eyes should be made by a competent person. Many a miserable hour would be saved if this were done in time.

Because of defective eyesight a child may be dull, fretful, and backward in school, without anyone guessing the reason. An examination of the eyes reveals serious defects; these are corrected by proper glasses and the effect is most marked. The child appears happier, makes good progress in his studies, and takes his rightful place in the school community.

Glasses or no glasses, there are some things that cannot be done with the eyes except at grave peril. Too little light strains the eyes, and so does too much. A direct glare right in the face is quite as bad as a room that is too dim to see properly. For reading, sewing, or other work which requires close and accurate vision the light should be clear and steady and should come from above and behind.

Earache is a common and distressing trouble in young children. It often occurs in connection with winter colds and in the course of measles and scarlet fever; it is due to an infection of the middle ear, the poisonous germs being carried from the throat up the little passage called the Eustachian tube to the middle portion of the ear just inside the ear-drum. In other cases it occurs in children who have adenoids and large tonsils. In cases of earache which are severe and which may easily be neglected because the mother may not know the danger, the ear-drum may burst from the pressure of muco-pus inside it and the child is left with a running ear. This is often difficult to cure. In other cases the infection may spread to the cells or honeycomb of bone in the mastoid bone behind the ear and necessitate an operation. These bad results may frequently be prevented by a timely puncture of the drum, which at once gives relief and soon clears up the case. In an earache of any severity or where the pain lasts over a day or so, always call in a competent physician or an ear specialist, and give your child the best chance possible. In mild cases relief may be given by putting a few drops of warm olive oil in the ear and a hot water bottle outside.

Insomnia

WE can live without food, but not without sleep. Many will recall Dr. Tanner's 40 days without food, but who could live a single week without sleep and retain their reason.

It is during sleep that the nervous system is restored, and the nerve force, consumed by the activities of the day, is replaced.

Sleeplessness is one of the first and one of the most torturing symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

With sleeplessness you find nervous headaches, tired, worn-out feelings, indigestion, lack of energy and strength. You are nervous and irritable, and cannot compose yourself to rest or sleep.

The nerve force in the body is at low ebb, and the feeble, wasted nerve cells must be nourished back to health and strength by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

You must not confuse this food cure with drugs taken to produce sleep, for it works in an entirely different way. It is not a quick relief, but a restorative, upbuilding treatment. As the nerves are revitalized sleep comes naturally with its soothing influence and hastens recovery.

Sleeplessness

Mrs. Edson Brock, Trenholmville, Que., writes :—"I want to state that I have never taken anything to do me so much good as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I am never without it in the house. I was so nervous I could not sleep, but now I sleep soundly at nights and wake up feeling refreshed and ready for the day's work. I used the Nerve Food for months, and found that it just suits my needs, and has built up the system wonderfully. I know it is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that has brought about the great change in my condition, and I am thankful for it."

WALKERTON

The race for the big jobs in the next Walkerton council threatens to be the keenest staged here in years, and citizens who are pining for excitement will likely experience a few thrills before the approaching campaign is over. The battle for the Mayor's seat will be waged between Reeve McNab and ex-Councillor Andy Johnston. As both are popular and of the same size physically, this fight will be worth watching even from a distance. But the greatest fireworks will likely be exploded over the Reeveship, as no less than three or possibly four will have their hats in the ring for this slit. The trio, who have announced themselves as seekers for this honor are Councillors George Lettner, Robt. Russel and John Douglass, and while these three will sure have their names on the ballot, yet it seems likely that the voters will have an even greater variety of talent to choose a reeve from, as His Worship Mayor Lippert is being pressed by the more ardent hydro enthusiasts to stand and finish up his work. A four-cornered fight for the reeveship would be spectacular and would set a new record in municipal elections here. As the Reeve represents the town in the County Council, it is well that Walkerton should have many men with many minds to make a selection from

A dispatch from London on Saturday stated that the appointment of a District Recruiting Officer for Western Ontario was expected within a few days to be followed by a systematic campaign for men in all the eleven Counties of Military District No. 1. It is proposed to have recruiting officers and assisting squads of men in every municipality who will make a thorough canvass of every eligible man in their district and find out definitely whether he is, or is not, ready to offer himself in the Empire's interest. The results of these canvassers will be tabulated and careful note made of all those who absolutely refuse to enlist. It is also hoped that some method can be worked out for accurately determining just how many and what men are absolutely needed in the business in which they are engaged and those who can be spared.

A Moneylogue

Nine Hundred "per"

HEIGH-HO! I give it up—I'm stumped!
It won't work out, that's clear—
No man can keep a family on nine hundred bucks a year!
We've tried to skimp on this and that—
we've called the bitter sweet:
But somehow when I figure up the ends will not quite meet.
If Minnie gets the dress she needs, on rent day—sure as sin!—,
We're short that much; and if we pay—well, where do clothes come in?
We're not extravagant at all: there's no place I can see Where we could cut expenses down and keep on being "we."
It isn't much; our deficit; but, though I try and try
To scheme and plan and manage things I just can't quite get by;
Now, if I had twelve hundred, say, instead of nine, you bet
We'd have enough for everything, without a care or fret!

One Year Later

Heigh-ho! There's no use arguing, or asking "Why?" No Sir!
A man can't live—he simply can't—on just twelve hundred "per."
We watch expenses, goodness knows, just like the fabled rat;
And everything that saves a cent - well we are strong for that;
But grocery bills and ice and coal, and butter, milk and cream.
Make what you're earning fade away like any empty dream.
Of course we've moved now to a flat; and though it does cost more,
We had to have another room—we couldn't live in four!
And yet—and yet, when I get out my bills and books at night
And figure up, I find, alas! that things won't come out right;
There is no item I can trim—but, say! if I just had
An even eighteen hundred "per" I'd change my name to Glad!

Two Years Later

Heigh-ho! I thought 'twould be enough; but now it's hard to see
How eighteen hundred dollars ever looked so big to me!
I wouldn't mind it now and then; but, actually I'm bored
To death with facing every day that specter, "Can't afford."
We try to live within our means; but, there are things you know,
That one can't do without at all! Say, now and then, a show—
The opera, occasionally; the mountains or the shore
When summer comes, and, by the way, we've had to move once more—
An eight-room flat—bought bran new things. I'd like it fine, but say!
On eighteen hundred dollars "per" it's all a'rainy day!
I've tried to figure some way out. can't. But oh, if I
Had twenty-five each year for mine—well, then we would get by.

Three Years Later

Heigh-ho! it's getting worse! Heigh-ho!
Why, twenty-five a year
Is just a trifle nowadays, when everything's so dear
We just can't get along at all without a maid and cook:
We really need a butler, but we haven't time to look;
We need another motor car—the chauffeur tells me so;
We need a trip abroad this year and really ought to go.
Now, when you cut things down like this to bare necessities,
How can you cut them any more? Come answer if you please!
But if I had five thousand - ah! there'd be some class to that—
Life Peace and Plenty on the bags and certainly at bat!
Who's knocking? What? A con con constable! For me, you say?
Well, come on in—sure! Take it out—it's no good anyway!

AGRICULTURE AND WAR.

It is the Basis of All Military Success, Says Burrell.

An interesting address was made a few days ago at the Ontario Winter Fair at Guelph by Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture for Canada.

Mr. Burrell alluded to the agitation of some years ago for the establishment of a National Fat Stock Show, but, as he pointed out, the country was too large to permit the successful carrying out of such a scheme. As a result, therefore, the bonus of $100,000 set aside by the Dominion Government for the furthering of better live stock through the medium of the show ring, was divided up amongst the twenty leading fairs, Guelph's share being about $5,000. The granting of such a large sum of money met with considerable criticism. When one considers the stimulus given to agriculture in general, and to live stock in particular, by the holding of such exhibitions, and when it is realized that upon agriculture depends the whole fabric of the country, the donation of $100,000 is a small one, the speaker pointed out.

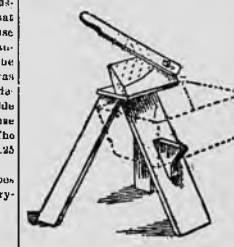
Another item of great interest to the farmers of this country was made clear by Mr. Burrell. Two thousand two hundred and fifty pure-bred male animals, composed of stallions, bulls, boars, and rams, have been distributed through the country by the Dominion Government. The stock was sent into the poorer and more newly settled districts of eastern and western Canada. The results of this policy, which is to continue, should be widely felt.

"The outlook for the live stock industry was never brighter," said Mr. Burrell, who also advised farmers to invest all their spare money in more and better stock. The marketing problem had been causing some little difficulty in the past, but the Government is now looking into the situation. "What kind of stuff we should export and how it should be shipped," said he, "will be investigated, and the facts as soon as known shall be made public. We are collecting data and statistics, and in this work the Provincial Governments are co-operating splendidly."

Mr. Burrell dealt with the different classes of live stock and their possibilities. The sheep men were coming to the front, he said, but expansion in that line was necessary. "We are assisting by helping in the proper grading and classification of wool."

Nearly 500,000 pounds of wool was graded last year by men employed by the Government.

Poultry also had been getting more attention. Educational work was being carried on in these lines. Egg circles were being formed, with no interference on the commercial side by the Government.



At present our foreign markets are unsettled. For the first time our production has nearly equalled consumption. "However," Mr. Burrell concluded, "a country which oversubscribed the first loan in its history by twice the amount needed, whose granaries are overflowing despite the drain of the young manhood from the country, a country which is prosperous in time of war, will always be able to stand on its own feet."

Thankful Mothers

Thousands of thankful mothers throughout Canada—many of them your own neighbors—speak with the greatest praise of that splendid medicine, Baby's Own Tablets. Many mothers would have no other medicine for their little ones. Among those is Mrs. Albert Nie, St. Brieux, Sask., who says: "I have been using Bab's Own Tablets for the past seven years and they have done my four children a world of good. I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Homemade Corn Sheller.

Where only a little corn is to be shelled a homemade cornsheller can be made very easily, a few scraps of wood and a handful of spikes being put together as shown here, says the Farming Business. A block of wood having a sloping notch cut from one end is mounted on three legs. A lever is attached to the block by means of a bolt that allows the lever to work easily, and both the lever and cutaway portion of the block are studded with spikes driven in so that their heads protrude about half an inch. The ear of corn to be shelled is placed in the notched part and the lever pressed down, two or three strokes taking off all the corn. A box below the notch and attached to the leg catches all the corn as it is shelled. The ear is held in one hand and the lever operated with the other, the ear being turned to bring each side into contact with the spikes.

How to Make a Tump.

A tump makes a fair substitute for a cellar in emergencies when cellar room is wanting to care for products subject to injury by freezing. Potatoes, root crops, and even apples may be kept in good condition all winter if properly tumped.

Care should be taken to choose a place for the tump where the ground is dry and well drained. A tump made in the shape of a round mound is better than one made with a ridge, since it is easier to protect a given quantity of potatoes or the like from frost by a circular mound than by an oblong one. Dig a pit to a level below the local frost line, cover the bottom of the pit with dry straw, pile the vegetables or fruit to be tumped upon this straw, pack straw over the top of the pile, then bank up all around with a deep covering of earth. The surface of the tump should be closely packed, so as to shed as much water as possible. It is a good plan still further to protect it from rain and snow by a roof of some sort, if only an old tarpaulin or piece of oilcloth.

Rack Saves Lifting.

This drawing shows a convenient rack for hauling silage corn or cut corn of any kind, green or cured. It is made by hanging two bed pieces under the axle of the wagon and outlining a platform on these pieces. The frame is hung by a long kingbolt in front and stirrups over the bolster behind. The great advantage of such a wagon that commends it at once to any one who ever has handled cut corn is that it is low down, which means easy loading and unloading.

The supestion by The Echo recently that the town should go into the wood business this year, has well been received and has many supporters. If a lot can be secured, and if men can be obtained the highest wages should be paid, and the wood should be sold at cost. It is certain that after paying the highest wages, wood can be sold cheuper than the present indications, many municipalities are trying to reduse the high cost of living and this is a thing we can do.

The meeting was well attended and a great many plans are being made for the bazaar and dance to be held on the 12 of December. The interest of the people of the town is being shown, in material ways, lately several donations have already been handed in for the bazaar and as all this is helping the Red Cross this work is greatly appreciated.

The market prices—Every commodity is firm in price although there are no marked advances since last week. Flour is now retailing at $11 per barrel, the highest price probably ever known in Ontario. With the great shortage in the wheat crop in Canada and the United States there are some who maintain that it will go to $25.00 per barrel. There is nothing ridiculous about the prices now, it is the absurd we expect Wheat is bringing $1.65 per bushel in town, and those who have it to sell are fortunate. Butter is quoted at 39c per pound, eggs at 40c per doz., oats at 70c per bushel, barley at $1.00, peas $2.30 These are record prices in grain. Potatoes are quoted at $1.85 chickens 13c per pound, geese 14c, turkeys 25c and ducks 14c, hides 19c. Hogs sold Monday at $10.25, lambs at 9c and cattle at 6c. There is no fixed price for wood, it is being sold is going from $2.75 to $3.00 per cord, but as soon as the snow comes the price will probably drop.

Letter From Lance Corp. Wm McKenzie

London, Nov. 14, 1916.

Mr. T. H. McKenzie,
Oliphant, Ontario.

Dear brother and all the rest.

I thought I would write to you for a change as I thought Mother maybe wouldn't let you see my letters. Ha! Ha!

I am certainly getting to be an awful traveller. Here I am at London. Will start at the first and give you a kind of detailed account of my rounds.

We left camp yesterday at 2 p. m., attended the funeral of that poor fellow who was killed, marched from the cemetery to Liphook station, left there at 5.45 for here. The train travelled slowly so did not get here until 8, only about 45 miles, then the fun started. You have heard of London fogs but you could not imagine how bad they are without seeing them, and the streets are not lighted very much either. Well, a bunch of us got aboard a bus and the driver got along all right for a while. You may not believe it but he got lost right on the streets, he drove right up on the sidewalk and turned across the street and drove right up on the other side. After we drove along for about one hour and a half we decided to get out and walk so we all crawled out and found a policeman who said he would take us up, so we lined up the contents of three loads, about 75, and had a little route march, we got here at 10, and everyone hungry. They had no supper for us but said they would give us a lunch and as they were short of help on account of it being so late, they got the two Golden boys and Candy Young and I to help them. We went in, and there were three girls hard at work, so we pulled off our coats and got at it too. We made tea, coffee and cocoa and had real good bread and butter. We brought in about one hundred that had gathered round by this time, and filled them up, after which, we cleared off the tables and had a big jug of cocoa and a lunch

We have real good quarters, dandy beds, and get a good breakfast all for 1s 4d.

Went to bed at 12 and didn't waken until 7.

This morning a Y. M. C. A. fellow came to take us around and see the sights so away we went. We took an underground railway and went to Westminster Abbey. Talk about your historic places, this is the place you see statues of all the past kings and vaults of people between the ages of 3 days and 152 years.

We went from there to the Parliament buildings, through which you can seldom go, and was showed through them by John Burns, who has been a member for over 22 years, and he gave us a good description of everything. He showed us where they held their sessions and where each one sat; the writing rooms, where the members do their writing; and most particularly where all the kings and queens have for centuries been crowned. This is the place to see oak carvings. That was all before dinner. After dinner we beat it for the Royal stables Went by Buckingham Palace but did not call. First we went to the harness room, and there is certainly some harness. It is what they use on coronation occasions and some great events, A single sett weighs 140 lbs., and a bridle 14 lbs. Next were the carriages. There are a number of swell ones, but the one they use on the occasions of coronation and openings of Parliament it is impossible to describe It is a mass of gilt and figure heads. The wheels are 6 feet 2 inches high, and it is 22 ft. long, and with pole it is 111 feet, and weighs about 4 ton. It is drawn by 4 span of horses. We went from there to the British Museum. It is another great place. You see all the old swords, guns, boats, helmets, and all such stuff. There is also real torpedoes full size and all sorts of shells and mines. There are machine guns, field guns and several other kind that were captured from the Germans. From there we went to supper and then went to a show for a while came out and came home in a taxi about 8.30 may not this to morrow so may write more.

It is a dandy night not the least bit foggy, just heard last night was the worst for 60 years. Nov. 15 was out sight seeing again and seen some more fine sights left here in morning and went out to Hampton Court and say talk about swell places gardens, grounds, there is hundreds of acres they have one flock of deer I think has about 100 in it some grist about big enough for Cicely a pet. We saw all this in the morning and in the afternoon we went inside and seen the tapestry and paintings there is about twelve large rooms with walls about 20 ft. high covered with paintings from two ft. square to the full size of a wall it is the Royal art gallery so you can imagine how much they would be worth some are about 200 and 300 years old. And they have the old beds of Kings Centuries ago. What you would like to see as well as anything is the Carvings and all the oak and doors and casings and some of the rooms are all oak. There was an old Grandfather clock there that would run 400 days, just wind once a year, pretty handy, eh. We came back from there (you know I was about ten miles) about 4.30 or 5 and had supper down town. Then went to play called the High Jinks and it was some play, we went early and got rush seats for 2s 6d but some of the boxes were going at 4 and £5 you would have died laughing, there were about 40 girls and 13 men, got home about 12.30. Nov. 16 must mail this to-day to catch the boat am going to the war works and the 200 to-day. Expect to get some mail when I get back to camp will say bye bye lots of love to all.

The Municipal Outlook

The day for municipal nominations is not far off and yet neither in Wiarton nor the surrounding district is there any great stir for a change in the local administration. So far as Wiartou is concerned there is no one in sight who apparently wants to butt in, and there are very few on the old board who want to remain. The Council for 1917 will be called upon to manage affairs in the most critical period in the history of the town, and if ever the town needed wise heads and sane counsel it will be next year. In Amabel it is rumored that Coun. J. K. Davidson may oppose Reeve Craig, but it may only be a rumor. The outlook in Keppel is for acclamation. In Albemarle there is general complaining about the high taxes but no one is apparently bold responsible, at all events there are no definite signs of an election yet. What will be done in the Northern townships is likewise uncertain. What The Echo said a few weeks ago is still true. A war time election appears altogether unnecessary. It costs municipalities from $50 to $100 to hold an election, and the results may be a very slight change at the Council board. Would it not be better to give this amount to the Red Cross funds and cut out the elections this year?

Next of Kin League Formed

"Resolved that we form ourselves into a next of kin league for Wiarton and the surrounding district."

This resolution was passed most unanimously at a very largely attended meeting in the Council Chamber, Tuesday evening. The attendance was gratifying and indeed a surprise. The next of kin were there from Cape Cocker, Oliphant and other points, and if the boys could have seen the interest taken in their behalf it would make them happier. It was a good place to be, among those parents who had given their sons, or those wives who had given their husbands, sacrifice of that kind will make most of people think that there is something grand in life, but it would have been a most uncomfortable place for a slacker for those there, men and women, had no use for that tribe who are tainted with the yellow streak. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee who will draft "articles of creed" and this will be followed by permanent organization.

Reasons for Organizing

Mr. James Symon was appointed Chairman of the meeting Tuesday evening and Mr T. C Allan was elected secretary. It was explained to the meetsng that there were many things the association could do as to assist in recruiting, protect the home interests of those who have enlisted secure for every returned soldier employment, and assist in bringing about the payment of pensions. There will be many ways that "the boys" can be assisted. For instance it was claimed that many are not getting their letters in England, should there be anything wrong a society can easily adjust matters, but the Postmaster satisfactorily explained the mail situation. The con-jestion is enormous. Expression to splendid sentiments was made by Father Cadot who said "Everyone who has gone loves us so much that he is ready to die for us". Mr. B.B Miller "We read that these wounded soldiers ask the doctors to cure them so that they can get back into the trenches again. A nation of these men cannot be conquered." J. E. Johnston "I am only too glad to do all that I can for the boys who have volunteered to do their bit" M. Mc Kenzie "I am willing to do all I can" Mr. J. Norton "I would sooner have my boy go there than the Germans come here. Mr. James Symon "If this association does nothing else it will show the boys that we are thinking about them and planning for them". Mr. L. H. Mouck "I am with you to put the Germans out of business" Mr J Johns "My son was five months in the trenches and is on his way back" Mr J. A. Glover was proud of his son who had made the supreme sacrifice, and Mrs Glover said she had always told him to be brave. Chief Jones, Cape Croker "I will do all I can to help the boys overseas" T. C. Allan "Remember the boys who have no friends and send them presents." Sheriff Jermyn took a leading part in the meeting, and is heart and soul in the work. At the close of the meeting those present put themselves on record in favor of conscription and that right away. There will be another meeting in the Council Chamber on next Monday evening.

Splendid Sentiments

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

Southampton

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Henry of Mission, B. C. were visitors for a couple of days the first of this week with the former's sister, Mrs. O. DeLong.

Lieut. John P. Teahan of Windsor, a native Southampton boy who was reported missing in France on Oct. 9th is now reported a prisoner in Germany.

The local lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows sent three of their members who have enlisted for active of service six pillows for a Christmas box. The members so remembered were Lieut. H. Park, Sergt. Alex. Kennedy and Sergt. Jack Gray.

Mr A. C. Powell returned home from Galt Saturday, where he was working in the Goldie-McCullough plant. He leaves to day for Cochrane to take a position.

WALKERTON

Mr. Henry Young of Cargill received a further telegram from Ottawa on Friday confirming earlier word that his son, Lieut Leslie Young had fallen in battle. The wire stated that he was killed instantly on November 11th. Since the first news arrived several letters from "Les." have been received by his parents and by Mrs. E. J. Skelton of Walkerton. He stated that owing to his Capt. being wounded he had the responsibility on the 3rd inst. of those 150 men. Fortunately he was able to bring them out again safe on that occasion. One of the men of his Company writing home states that his men thought so much of their gallant young officer that they would "go through Hell for him."

County Constable E. Briggs went to Port Elgin on Saturday and arrested a young soldier, named George Welch who is charged with deserting his battalion at London shortly before it left for Overseas Welch was lodged in the County Goal, awaiting the arrival of an officer to take him back to London.

The committee appointed by the Bruce County Council to sell the $42,000 debentures, being the balance of the $99,000 pat iotic issue for this year, opened the tenders at the County buildings here on Friday last. Fifteen tenders were received, all of which were above par, but one. The highest bid, which was accepted, was $42,416.00 by Munhollan Bird & Graham, brokers of Toronto. The debentures bear 5½ per cent interest, and, as the offer was considerably above par, shows the strong standing that Bruce County has in the financial world.

Warden A. E. McNab having decided last week to drop out of municipal life for a time, after a most able and splendid public career, he will not contest the mayoralty at the next election, and it looks at present as if Mr. Andy Johnston would get the honor by acclamation. Three, or posibly four, will be in the field for reeve.

Two representatives from a firm in Toronto who have received a large contract for making shells for the army came to Walkerton with Mr. A. G. Hampson on Saturday and spent the day looking over the latter's foundry here, as well as the Saddlery Hardware Works, with a view to judging their suitability for the making of munitions. They were favorably impressed, we are understand, with the prospects here and should be able to give their firm a rosy report, at least on the big Saddlery plant in Walkerton, which many think should have been turned in to a munitions works long ago.

Mrs. Forbes Clark, who has been a resident of Walkerton for the past fourteen years, is leaving shortly with several members of her family to reside in Toronto, where her son, George, conducts a job printing business, and where Mr. Ross Clark and Miss Rubena Clark will take positions. The removal of this family from town is much regretted as they were highly esteemed here.

It is reported here that Spence Nesbitt Reeve of Brant, will likely be elected by acclamation. He is an aspirant for the wardenship. In the event of a municipal election D. Willoughby will be a candidate for the deputy reeveship and Walter Findlay and Mano Monto for the council.

Wiser Now.

"Why did you ask Alice to sing?"

"I'd never heard her before."

Tara

Arran Council at its last meeting decided to take a vote of the ratepayers at the ensuing election as to the abolition of Statute Labor. This is a move in the right direction. The old system has served its day and should be superseded by modern methods of highway improvement.

The marriage took place at Toronto on on Wednesday of last week, of Mr Frank S. Smair, of Sudbury to Miss Mary A. Croome, daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. C. Croome, of Invermay. After a short honeymoon spent with friends in Toronto and other Ontario points the groom will go to his home in Englandport N. S. for three or four months and the bride will reside with her parents at Invermay. Mr and Mrs Smair will take up residence in Sudbury about March next where they have numerous friends. The brides many Tara friends wish them a long and journey on the matrimonial sea.

Rev. F. H. Langford, of Toronto, attended the Wiarton District Meeting at Allenford on Tuesday and gave two helpful addresses on Teacher Training and Boy's Work. Rev. W. S. Daniels spoke on "Christian Education" Delegates were present from most of the churches and Sunday Schools on the district and found this meeting most helpful. Supper was served in the basement of the church by the Ladies' Aid.

OWEN SOUND

There is no occasion for any panic over the fact that diphtheria is on the list of infectious diseases in Owen Sound and a couple of cases have been reported. This is the report of Dr. A. B. Rutherford, acting medical health officer. He said that two cases had occurred at Dufferin School, the infection from which they resulted has not been definately located. A thorough examination of the children in the schools resulted in locating a few cases of carriers that is children who were found to have infection in the throat and nose, and who might probably spread the disease without being affected themselves were discovered and these have been isolated.

The customs returns at this port for the month of November show a still larger increase over last year and prospects are that 1916 will exceed the record of any previous year in the local office and is in keeping with the tremendous advance being made throughout the Dominion. The receipts for the month of November 1916 were $9482.58 and for the corresponding month in 1925, $6272.07

Letter from Pte. Herbert Baldwin

Bramshott Camp, Hants
C Coy, 160th Batt C. E. F.
Army Post Office
London, England.
Nov. 9th.

Dear Father

I just received your letter to-day the one you sent to Halifax, it was sent on to me here. I sent you an account of our trip to Halifax but none across the seas for I was too sick to care what it was like. We are at Bramshott camp now and I was transferred into the transports, We have eleven horses and I am in charge of the stables and have to look after all the feed and all the tools, and see that the stables are kept clean and that the driver feed and tend their horses right I don't know how long we will be here, but when we go to the front we have to take the stuff as close ly to trenches as we can and some of them get hit but it is an easy job. I saw some boys here that I knew down home, Bob and Alex Deacon enlisted in thd N. West, and a Wiarton Pte, from the front who got run over with a motor-truck and Milton Lowe and his brother, the ministers sons who lived at Ozenden. They belong to the 135th Batt. and are going to the front soon but Milton is pretty well used up with rheumatism they were out on a sham fight all night and it rained hard, which was too much for Miltons strength. I get to a meeting pretty often. The Soldier's association has a good hut and good meetings every night. The Salvation Army too hold meeting here. We got paid to-day, and half the Batt, are going on six days leave and we will go next week I am going to Sheffield this time to see a cousin, but next leave I will go to London and perhaps find the street you lived on and the Church you attended while you lived in London. We had a good concert last night the 80th batt. band gave the concert in the Association hut. They are reported to be the best band in Canada, they certainly can play well. They are doing some heavy fighting at the front now for there's a lot of wounded soldiers coming back every day and they are sending reinforcements all the time. Are they raising any more recruits in Canada now. Tell me all the news and let me know if my letters go all right.

I am siill your loving son
Herbert.

The comments on the H. C. of L. are interesting reading but not one of them has said much about the direct cause, or who gets the consumers money. The producer says he does not, and the merchant says he does not and yet there is a very great difference between the price of production and the price the consumer pays.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Editorial

THE township of Normanby has given $1000 to the British Red Cross.

A by-law on the Hydro-Electric power will be submitted to the Walkerton ratepayers.

THERE have been men enough from these parts gone to Toronto to work in munition plants to operate one here. But the trouble is onecould not be got here.

"GIVE us his name" may sound like business but the trouble is that hundreds have known his name for more than two years, and he has listened to appeals and been approached a score of times, nothing but compulsion is of any use in such cases.

IT is just possible that the movement for a coalition government in Canada will get a back set by the failure of the same form of government in Great Britain. We would have far more diverse elements brought together than at Westminster.

THE North Bay Council has asked the Federal government to regulate the prices of food by seizing all stocks of wheat, and all food in cold storage, all factories, flour, and cereal mills, sugar refineries canning and packing houses together with their contents, and also that coal mines be commandeered and operated by a commission. There is room for some thought here, one thing is something will soon have to be done

A Few Observations

QUITE a few articles upon "The High Cost of Living and how to Reduce It" have appeared in THE ECHO lately, and more will follow. Perhaps a few comments might not be out of place. Farm produce is high, but the farmers are not to blame for this condition. If butter goes to 50c a pound they will take it cheerfully, if it drops to 20c a pound they will have to take it, they do not set the market values. They say, and say correctly, if their produce is not high they do not know how they could manage when everything they buy is so expensive. The consumer can control the market price. By boycotting eggs in New York the price soon dropped. Let the people of Ontario determine that they will not eat butter nor eggs at the present prices, and they will soon drop. But the trouble is, the people of Ontario will not do anything of the kind. They are well off, and feel that they can afford them at the present prices, and as they have not had many lessons on self denial, they continue to buy regardless of the price. Most all of the writers have emphasized "doing without," but we have an self indulgent generation, accustomed to luxuries, and we are afraid that they will not do without until they have to.

There is a disposition to pounce upon the middleman. This individual is as necessary to society as the producer, and he gets precious little for his trouble. Upon a pound of butter he gets 4 cents, but for these 4 cents he has to deliver, enter it upon his books, and probably loose a few pounds in poor accounts. The middleman need not be envied nor cast into outer darkness

Buying out of town, when it is not necessary will not improve matters If everyone did that there would be no town at all.

We doubt if town women, as a rule, are a bit more wasteful than their sisters in the country. We do not think that any of them waste now, because they cannot afford to. But we have all been in the country, many of us were born and brought up there. We know that a pound of butter might be consumed at a meal, butter is not measured by the pound, it is taken from the crock by the lump, and enough might be used in one or two meals to do a town family nearly a week. While the town family have from 6 to 10 bags of potatoes put down for the winter the country family has a whole cellar full, while the town family buys its meat by the pound, the farmer kills a steer, and a hog or two, for his own use and chickens etc. whenever he needs them. This is all true, as those who have been brought up on the farm know. The average country family live to-day in a far more comfortable manner than the average town family.

But we must not lose sight of the main point, namely, how to reduce the High Cost of Living, and we have had a lot of excellent advice. 'Do without," "Make over" etc., etc. Let us, however, be fair and just, it is for the producer to bear in mind that if he gets more for his produce that he must expect to pay more for what he buys. The dealers cannot control the price of what they have to sell. Dry Goods, boots and shoes flour and feed, in fact everything has advanced, and we have to recognize that if we are entitled to more for what we sell the other man is entitled to something more where we go to buy.

However, these are only observations, we want the discussion to go on.

LIONS HEAD

Have Whit Moore do your conveyancing.

Read Saul Klengons advertisment in The Echo this week. Saul beleives in advertising and is giving some great bargains.

The Tug Eastnor came in on Saturday with a large load of freight from Wiarton and Owen Sound, after unloading here she proceeded to Dyers Bay and brought down about 40 cords of wood for Mr. Bells chopping mill. She will probably continue to run so long as there is enough work to do.

William Gillies installed a telephone in Whit Moocres store, The proximity of the telephone office delayed the installation to this late date but as the service is growing so rapidly it is almost necessary to have the connection, Mr. Gillies is contemplating giving his patrons a metallic circuit. This would be a decided improvement over the present system.

Mr. John Rouse returned from New Ontario last Friday. He reports the weather up there much different from what we have been experiencing lately. The rivers were frozen so hard that teaming was being done on them and the waters in in the swamps frozen so hard that there was none to be had Quite a difference in such a short distance.

Messrs Munn and Forbes, Roeves of St. Edmunds and Lindsay left Monday morning for Walkerton to attend County Council.

Mr. George Garrow who left here recently to work at munitions returned on Saturday. He was not favorably impressed with the conditions in the factory when he was working.

Mr. Joseph Heath returned from the munition factory Saturday night to spend Sunday with his family. He had to come back to attend a case in Owen Sound which was the result of his auto accident there last summer.

A message came here on Sunday to Mrs. Waugh stating that her son Adrian who is fighting in France was severely wounded. We trust that the next word may be more acceptable.

Wm. Perry moved into the house next the printing office last week. The swamp has no attraction for him this winter.

A full assortment of mens sanitary wool fleece shirts in all sizes at 50 cents each at Whit Moores, the drawers are all sold and we cannot buy them at above prices.

Oranges are likely to be cheap next spring as there is an immense crop. It is nice to know of one article that the cold storage men cannot shove up. All we need is some way of getting them hear direct without so many freight tarriffs, that Hydro Electric road would help some, how would it be to have a meeting and get some one here to explain the cost and benifits of the came all we need is some one to make a start.

Herb Strong and his family moved to Owen Sound last week.

Freight on tea from India and Ceylon has advanced ¼ cent per pound, tea lead has advanced a trifle as well, therefore package teas must advance enough to pay extra cost and that extra freight so last week they jumped 5 cents per pound.

LEATHER LIMITED: RUBBER SUPPLY STEADY

Comparison of Supply Makes Answer to Footwear Problem Simple for Economical Persons. Wear Rubbers and Overshoes

There is a limit to the shoe leather that a cow can provide, but the world's production of rubber to-day almost level as far as the requirements of the rubber-using part of the world is concerned, and that is the average person's answer to, at least, one part of the high-cost-of-living problem.

The thrifty man or woman will wear rubber this winter. Rubbers and overshoes will be worn for two reasons—first, because they are a means of protecting the health, and, second, because rubbers solve the question of wear and tear on the leather, whose cost has increased because the cow can provide only so much.

A cow hide costs almost as much now as a whole cow did before the war. Rubber costs just half as much as it did before the war. The British Government gave us cheap rubber—why not be patriotic, and at the same time economical, and wear rubbers? 25

Considerable discussion has taken place lately about abolishing statute Labor. The condition of the roads this fall has no doubt had a lot to do with the dissatisfaction of our present system. The only mistake is that weshouldhave done so long ago. If a man has 20 days road-work to do he would pay it in his taxes next December and if he had time to spare to work on the roads he could hire his team to the road Commissioner and earn twenty dollars during the summer and have the use of the mon ey until fall The Council might also see if they could have the have the automobile licenses refunded to the Towuship to keep the roads. We get very little without asking.

The High School Commencement

Each season yields to us its fruits and the fruit of the fall is the High School Commencement. This entertainment has come to be an annual event, and is indulged in by nearly everyone. Mr Owen A. Smiley, who has visited Wiarton filling the capacity of entertainer, before, renewed the delight of the audience with his elocution. He entertained four times and responded to the hearty encores readily. He gave humorous selections, educational selections, and perhaps his star, if one can compare was a patriotic selection composed by himself, and accompanied by Mrs. S. E Foster, on the piano. Mr. Smiley thanked Mrs. Foster for her most sympathetic accompaniement.

The programme opened with selection, "Simple Confession," by the High School Orchestra. The assembled school sang "Be British" after which Rev. J. E. Thompson, as president of the School Literary Society, gave the chairman's address Three drills were given, a wand and a tennis drill by the girls and a club drill by the boys. The success with which they met showed the perfect training that they had. The Glee Club gave the selection "The Boats," after which the presentation certificates and diplomas followed. The honor graduate, Mr. Wilfred Lennox, who won not only his Entrance to Faculty but the Chancellors Scholarship given by the Queen's University value $200, was among those not present to receive their certificates. Mr. Merril Pradham gave the valedictory address, in which he mentioned "The Progress of the school." The Literary Society "Enlistment from the school," and "The Need of a Gymnasium." His address which occupied about ten minutes, had been well thought out and was well rendered.

The programme closed with the High School Song. The concert was both financially and as an entertainment, a decined success.

Union Evangelistic Services

The services conducted by the Rev. Mr. Crossley, under the auspices of the Methodist and Baptist Churches, have entered upon their second week, and have been well attended. The interest has increased every day. On Sunday morning the service was held in the Methodist Church, In that church, in the afternoon the Rev. Mr. Crossley spoke to men only upon the subject of personal purity, and in the evening he spoke of Conversion in the Baptist Church telling the story of the conversion of the late Sir John A. McDonald. Mr. Crossley has been many years in evangelistic work and has had an eventful experience from which he can draw quite freely to illustrate any point he is making. His methods of working are quiet his whole bearing dignified and gentlemanly, and it is evident that his heart is in the work he is doing here He will give a talk on physical culture Friday afternoon in the Methodist Church which will be well worth going to hear. The meetings will be continued next week.

Letter From the Front

Miss Josie Forbes
R. R. No 4
Wiarton
Ont.

Dear Friend Josie:—

I suppose you will be surprised to hear from me, but I wrote to you a long time ago, and have not heard from you since, so this is just a wee note to find out if you are still living.

We are once more at rest camp, and billeted with the cows and chickens, oh this is the life, roosters to call you in the morning instead of the bang of guns, one can certainly realize the beauty of life, when he comes out of the trenches and then gets billited on a farm.

We are not sure, when the time will come when we will have to go up again but I think it will be soon as we will have been here for six days thats a pretty good rest.

But I wouldn't care if we had one hundred days rest as it is certainly awful at the front. Our Batt. has been in five days at a time and believe me it was long enough and wouldn't mind if they would call the war off to-morrow.

What do you think I am a year old to-day I mean as far as soldiering is concerned last year this time I took up the pen and signed the book but little did I think I would get the opportunity to do my bit for God King and Country, but I guess there are lots of people doing much more than their bits although not out here, but I am glad I can wear a uniform and able to stand the strains that some men are afraid to try.

We have witnessed some interesting sights but I will not tell you about them now as you might lose your sleep but when we meet again I will tell you all, but can say we saw two air fights and it wasn't far above our heads, oh it was a grand sight to see these human butterflies swerve about, but it was too close as the bullets were flying in all directions around us. We paid a visit to the catacombes in the village here yesterday they are most interesting you go down a long stairway and enter a large tunnel off these passage ways they are big rooms dug out of solid chalk, but the most interesting thing of the visit we saw names and dates dated away back to 1700, 1741, 1712, but the oldest one was at the farthest end and dated 1532 with the name carved deep in the solid chalk wall.

But I bet you can't pick roses in Canada in November the 8th, I guess it was the last rose of summer as I got some also raspberries so what do you think of that, we are having funny weather over here. I had a letter from Eva yesterday,

Well, sister dear, this is all the news for now hoping this letter on its arrival will find mother and father and you all in the best of health and happiness. Best regards from Loving Pte Stanley Harper.

BY ADELE BLENEAU

you have told me for much, very much. All my life I shall remember that you are fine and brave and—the man I like to think of you as being.' We were before the steps of the hospital.

"Then—in spite of the danger—everything—this is the end?' he asked sadly.

Holding out my hand, I said gently, "Goodby," and he looked into my eyes with an expression that hurt me.

Handing me a card, he said: "If you ever need me this will find me. I am going before they question me. Goodby, little girl. God bless you." His voice broke, and he turned, ran down the steps, jumped in the car and was gone. I looked at the card. It read, "Prince Hugo von Schulling, Captain —— Dragoons, Berlin."

As I climbed the steps, breathless, my anxiety as to Ian and my thought of Von Schulling were interrupted by an orderly calling out to me. "Fraulein, you are wanted at once by his excellency." I followed him. I had no time to get nervous or to think of what to say. Consequently I was calm when I entered. The commander I knew was no longer there, and in his place sat an erect dignified man with gray deep set eyes and square chin. He would have been handsome had his face been a little less heavy. All his sternness I felt was a mask.

"Is this the girl?" he said to an officer beside him.

"Yes, your excellency."

"What is your name, and what was your mission?" he said.

Telling him my name in full, I added, "To place the big guns of the English—"

"Have you succeeded?" he asked.

"Have I?" I questioned in turn. "I thought so."

To the officer beside him he said, "Has she?"

"Yes, your excellency, but"—

"Good," he said, interrupting. "What were you to receive in exchange for your—your work, fraulein?" and without stopping for an answer went on, "The stake must have been a rich one to tempt a girl like you," and he looked me over slowly from head to toe and then back again. I was still wearing men's shoes. He smiled as they caught his eye. "Yes, a very high price. What was it?" abruptly.

"A man's life." I answered, looking at him squarely.

"Who is the man and what is he?"

"He is Captain Frazer of the Indian army, son of Lord L., and he is my patient."

"Your patient?" and he smiled. "You were a very devoted nurse, I should say," with emphasis. "A life," he repeated. "Was his life in danger?"

"He had been accused of being a spy, and I was told that unless I brought back the location of the battery by tonight he would be shot."

"What had he done?" he asked, turning to the officer near him. Before the officer could reply to the question the telephone on his desk rang violently, and his excellency took or, rather, snatched the receiver from the hand of the man near him and began speaking. After a few monosyllables he paused in the midst of his conversation and said: "Fraulein, you are free. Go to your duties for the present."

Nobody stopped me or molested me, and I literally ran to Ian's room. He was standing at the window, and, even laboring under the great excitement that I was, I noticed he was wearing his uniform. I nearly reached his side before he realized my presence, so profoundly lost was he in his thoughts. When he turned and saw me for one brief moment the hard lines around his mouth softened, and over his face there came a fleeting expression of happiness mixed with almost bewilderment, and I heard him murmur, "Adele!" At that moment there came a sound as if a dozen guns boomed in unison, followed by another and another in quick succession. The whole building trembled.

His voice shaking with emotion, he said: "All day and night they have been going. The din has been hell itself let loose. At first our guns replied, and then, as the enemy's fire grew heavier and more persistent, ours grew fainter and fainter, until now our batteries do not speak at all. Through it all I have sat here and watched their cursed zeppelins come in, circle around, signal and then sail away. At first it never occurred to me—I couldn't have formulated such a thought—that you, you of all beings in the world, were giving the range. Even when I overheard an officer tell another that some one had given it, I wouldn't—couldn't—believe it was you! But as I lay there, tortured like a man on the rack, with my soul torn out of my body, I began to realize that the only reason our Tommies out there were not returning the fire was because these devils must have been given the range or they must have literally annihilated us. Reason is no wonder. I could see it all—the trenches pounded to pulp and those who were not dead or dying falling back before the deadly fire. Who had given it? For certainly somebody had done it thoroughly. Even then my reeling brain fought back the hideous suspicion that haunted me. And now—you're here. By the devil's own luck you were able to escape safely. No, it wasn't luck. It was because you traded on the decency in some man who believed in you—your childlike, wistful expression, your frank, innocent beauty! God! That's easy enough—men are like children, fools! I, the biggest fool of them all, for I adored you—in the whitest shrine of my soul I enthroned you. But, thank God, that has passed! I know you for what you are, and I hate you! Your soft, warm arms, your beautiful eyes—my God! How I loathe the night I was carried to that hospital! I would rather have died out there 10,000 times than to live and love you—and be loved by you. I don't want your kind of love. That is the sort low women have given since time began—a selfish longing for the pleasures that possession gives. You know I adored you, worshiped you, and that if I lived you would be my wife. You wanted that, and to gratify your tawdry passion you bought my life with those of my comrades—my men, perhaps even my own brother! Great God! I am going mad! Leave me before I strangle you! My one prayer is that I shall never see you again!"

I Had Been on the Point of Flying to Him and Screaming the Truth.

A dozen times I had been on the point of flying to him and screaming out the truth, but I was held back—not because I feared we might be overheard. That thought never once came to me. Had I been saner I would have known that it was for that very purpose I had been allowed to go to Ian's room. But at that time no thought of any such material thing came to me. I was so absolutely stunned, crushed, that I had no words with which to defend myself. Only one idea came and persisted: Ian had thought me capable of this heinous thing, while even Von Schulling had known better. I staggered from the room and fainted.

* * * * * * *

It was an hour later when the order had been given for the evacuation of the hospital, and I was desperately needed that I came back to consciousness and found a little German nurse bending over me. Afterward I learned that Ian's speech and my failure to defend myself probably saved, if not our lives, certainly for the time being, our liberties, for it never occurred to the listeners that I would have accepted his denunciations unless I had been guilty.

So much had happened, so much that was supremely vital in my life, that it was only when I heard the beginning of the last fierce onslaught that I remembered Lord N. had assured me there would be an attack in force that morning. Galvanized into life by this recollection, I struggled to my feet with some half conscious idea of finding Ian. I had staggered only a few steps when the commander of the hospital called to me that all the patients had been sent away in ambulances, motors and carts except half a dozen to whom an order for evacuation would be their death warrant. To attend these men he was leaving myself and another nurse, a German sister. As he turned to go I cried out:

"And, Captain Fraser, what have you done with him?"

"Oh," he answered, with a sneer, "His highness Prince E. says you have paid for his liberty, and that if he escapes the carnage of today he is free as far as he was concerned." He looked steadily at me for a moment and then said hastily: "We have a proverb in Germany, 'When thieves fall out honest men get their dues.'" He pronounced the word honest with biting sarcasm. "A spy who was desperately wounded in getting through the lines reported that you gave false information as to the guns, but several of the flying men maintain that you had not, because they had glimpses through the snowstorm, of the guns being placed. My personal opinion is that the spy was right and that the men were subsidized by that fool, Von Schulling, who after he met you degenerated into a sentimental weakling."

"And the prince," I asked, trembling, "what did he say to this?"

"Oh, he thought that as nobody could actually prove anything his order should stand."

To my great relief, he turned on his heel and disappeared down the stairs. A moment later and his motor flashed out of sight.

The attack was becoming furious, the bullets fell on the tile roofs like hail and again and again the old chateau trembled when a shell dropped near it. The ceaseless din terrified me. I experienced physical fear for the first time in my life. I longed to fly to Ian, not to comfort him, but to be comforted, but that was impossible. He did not want me. He hated me. He had said it, and besides the thought that he ever could have so misjudged me hurt too deeply.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Final Charge.

THE little German nurse, who had remained with me, came to say that the men were needing us, they were getting into a panic. I tottered down to the big ward, trying to nerve myself to be of some help, some comfort to the men. I am afraid the effort would have been a futile one had I not found the bishop there, dressed in his robes, his figure erect, his bright, black eyes flashing. He was at once a comfort and an inspiration. Passing from one man to another, German or French, Protestant or Catholic, he had a ringing word of cheer or a gentle phrase of comfort for all. His own courage was superb. From time to time he went to the window and looked out through the glasses to see how the battle was going. Suddenly he exclaimed:

"The bayonet charge has begun! My children, the danger for us is passed!" Saint though he was, he was still human. I ran toward him and asked beseechingly:

"Father, are we winning?"

"Look!" he said in a voice rendered calm by effort, and he pushed me to the window. I adjusted the binoculars, and there came before my eyes a picture that for all time is graven on my heart. It was the last terrible attack. The Germans had placed numberless machine guns behind hundreds of barbed wire entanglements. As our men advanced, sweeping all before them with a rush, the Germans fell back and allowed them to come on with hardly a shot until they were barely a hundred yards away. Then came the rattle of machine guns and the crack of rifles.

"My God, it's madness!" I heard the bishop moan. Above the din the command of an English officer was borne to us on the breeze, one word—"Charge!" The men responded with demon-like fierceness. I covered my face with my hands and prayed, but I was drawn again by an irresistible fascination. On our men came, but for every one that advanced two fell out. With machine guns firing 750 volleys a minute how could anything live? The line wavered, but only for a moment. Once again I heard that terrible command—"Charge!" And the men with quick precision made for the gaps in the barbed wire, where by some miracle some highlanders had lived for five minutes, cutting it. The snow had ceased, and the sun came out, picking up the bayonet tips until they gleamed like burnished silver.

Then came the last supreme effort—shots at close range, a desperate rush and finally cold steel at close quarters. I had always heard the Germans could not stand against the bayonet charge. Would it prove true today? Under the deadly fire of the machine guns the English line seemed once again to waver, but only for an instant; then, seemingly out of nowhere, came a rush of black faced, white turbaned Sikhs. How they yelled! And how they charged! Nothing but death could stop them. They were so close that through the glasses we could see their eyes flashing and their teeth glistening. As if in a dream I remember hearing the bishop saying: "It is the —— Sikhs. They are avenging their captain." Involuntarily my eyes turned to the room Ian had occupied. I was dumfounded at what I saw. He was on the balcony, his head bare, his hands folded. As he stood, tall and straight, his face white as chiseled marble, he seemed detached somehow, as one watching the fearful scene from a great height. A sudden clash of sounds recalled me. The men were very close now. I could hear their voices. It was contagious, inspiring. I, too, was a barbarian and longed to join them. We could even hear the men shouting, "That's one for Mons!" and as an officer fell I clearly heard his last command, "Come on, you highlanders!" But high above all else was the terrible yell of the Indians. They

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

HEART DISEASE.

IN RECENT YEARS the number of cases and deaths from disorders of the heart have markedly increased. In Ontario the ratio of deaths has steadily risen during the last decade, and as a cause of death organic heart disease now heads the list. A certain amount of the increase may be set down to better diagnosis and more accurate statistics, but these facts will hardly account for the remarkable increase during recent years.

ORGANIC HEART DISEASE

What can be done about it? In the first place means must be taken to establish not an early diagnosis but an earlier diagnosis. Every man or woman who has reached the age of 40 years should be examined by a physician; and the physician must not, as is sometimes done, slur over the examination and hastily conclude that the symptoms are those of dyspepsia.

* * * *

RECOGNITION OF HEART TROUBLE

What symptoms and signs are the most important in the testing diagnosis of heart disease? Among the most important are weariness, lassitude, and decreased ambition. If these are complained of it should lead the physician to make a most careful examination. Then there may be a tendency towards breathlessness in hurrying to a street-car, or in going up hill or upstairs, or there may be a sense of tightness or pain in the chest which disappears following a few minutes' rest. There may or may not be palpitation. Sometimes there is a slight dullness about the boot tops or the feet are somewhat swollen, and there may be occasional spots or bright lights before the eyes with transient giddiness. Physical examination may disclose some valvular trouble, or there may be a slight change in the character of the first sound with a slight increase in cardiac dullness or some irregularity in the pulse. The condition of the arteries and pulse must be carefully noted, and the urine should, as in every first examination by the physician, be carefully analyzed. If careful examination denotes some cardiac affection, its early recognition will pave the way for such treatment as will delay or prevent further progress. The prompt and ready detection of heart disease is just as important as the early recognition of tuberculosis. By detecting it in the early stage it is usually possible, by proper diet, exercise, and regulation of work, to add years or decades of useful activity to one's life.

CONNAUGHT LABORATORY

Twelve miles up Dufferin street from the City of Toronto, on the banks of the circuitous Don River is a pretty stretch of broken land, comprising some fifty acres, is the site of the Connaught Laboratories which are destined to be a bright spot in the future public health history of this fair Province. As soon as the buildings, now in course of construction, are completed all the various serums in use at the present time in the prevention of disease will be manufactured here. The rolling pastures will accommodate the horses necessary for the blood serum used in the preparation of diphtheria and tetanus antitoxins and of anti-meningitis serum. Here, too, will be prepared smallpox vaccine and Pasteur preventive treatment of rabies. The land and buildings necessary for this purpose are a gift from Colonel Albert Gooderham to the Provincial University, which makes and supplies these products for the Provincial Board of Health, and which are in turn supplied by the Board free of cost to the people of the Province. No better work is being done for the public anywhere in the civilized world, and the Board is much gratified by the numerous letters and words of appreciation of this enterprise which come from the medical profession and the people of Ontario. The generous gift of Colonel Gooderham, it is hoped, will be but the beginning of a series of similar gifts to public health work in Ontario, which can only be successfully carried out by money, which after all judiciously used is the chief factor in the prevention of disease.

4.—Fleas. J.S.G., Hamilton.

Q.—Do fleas carry disease of any kind? If so, how may they be got rid of?

A.—Fleas carry a disease known as bubonic plague from rats, squirrels and other small animals. This disease is unknown in Canada.

Fleas may be destroyed by dusting fresh Pyrethrum powder into the seams of the clothing or by dusting the powder over the body. The floors of rooms should be washed with a solution of 5 per cent. cresol and 20 per cent. soft soap in water.

High Blood Pressure

When your case becomes complicated and medicines fail, the doctor makes a test of the blood pressure, fearing that there may be something wrong with the condition of the kidneys and the action of the heart.

He realizes that when the kidneys fail to filter the poisons from the blood that there will be a hardening of the arteries, and when the pressure of blood comes on they will snap like so much deteriorated rubber-tubing—the result is a clot of blood on the brain, hemorrhage in the heart, or wherever the weak point may be.

But why allow this condition to be reached when you can so readily regulate the action of the liver and kidneys by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Troubles of this nature have their beginning when, from over-eating or lack of exercise, the liver goes wrong, and throws an undue burden on the kidneys. Headaches, billousness, constipation and indigestion give due warning, and by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills there need be no further trouble.

The liver is awakened to action, the bowels regulated, and the kidneys strengthened in their all-important work by purifying the blood and thereby preventing pain and serious disease. This is the greatest of family medicines, because of the host of ills that are relieved and prevented by keeping the liver, kidneys and bowels healthy and active.

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

From the Tribune, Sawtelle, California, we learn of the death of Mr. James McKim, a former resident of Wiarton. The deceased, who came from near Meaford, was in business here in company with the late David Dinsmore. They kept a store on the hill. He was a member of the very first village council. He was a most popular gentleman, and his wife was engaged in all forms of charitable work. It would appear that he was a native of Ireland, but had seen a good deal of life in the United States as he was in the civil war. It was no doubt due to this and because his wife was from New York State, he drifted back. He was 85 years of age.

The market prices—The Echo was shown Saturday night the market prices in Toronto this week for butter, eggs, etc. and it may be interesting to the farmers to know that while the dealer here is paying them 40c for their butter, if he were to ship it to the produce dealers in Toronto he would have to pay freight to that city and take 38c when it got there. Wiarton therefore, appears at the present time a pretty good market, and our reports weekly are worth dollars and dollars to the farmers who read them. This week eggs are quoted at 42c per dozen, butter at 40c per pound, potatoes $1.85 per bag, apples $1 per bag, hogs $10.35 per cwt.,lambs 9½c cattle 6 1-4c, hides 18c per pound, oats 70c per bushel, barley $1.00, peas $2.30 wheat $1 65. There will be a run on fowl for two weeks and the prices will be firm. On Monday the following prices were paid. Chickens live, 13 cents. per pound dressed 16c: ducks 11c live, dressed 15c; geese 11c live, dressed 15c; Turkeys 22c live, dressed 25c. There is no market price for wood and very little is being offered.

Will See It Through

Capt. (Dr.) Albert Fisher was in town last week visiting his brother. It is about a year since he went to England, where he has served the Empire in hospital work, and at present his location is Shorncliffe. He got a leave of absence for a few weeks to visit Canada. In speaking of the war he says that Great Britain is determined to see it through, and that the general opinion in England is that it will last yet at least two years and may last five. He left Monday for Halifax on his way back and he expects to remain until the war is over.

LIONS HEAD

Mr. Isaac Pyke and family moved here again after living in British Columbia for the last number of years. Mr, Pyke intends timbering on his limits this winter.

The Tug Eastnor came in on Sunday with a load of freight for local merchants and others doing business in the community.

Mr. S. C. Cooper who now resides in Owen Sound spent the greater part of last week here on business.

Dr. Foster of Wiarton made his regular monthly visit to the village this week, coming up on Sunday afternoon.

The question was asked recently "Are all those who are doing business in the Townships paying a business tax?"

When steeping Whit Moores Black Tea give it a little extra time and you will get better results.

The time is drawing close to Nomination Day again. There are councillors in the present council who have views that should be worth hearing if they were expressed to the ratepayers as freely as at the Council Board Probably the ratepayers would like to know why any councillor should expect to use the road grader to fix private property without charge and then have the township pay for the repairs. When a scraper is required for township work it has to be paid for although it does not cost one twentieth part of the grader.

Complaints have been heard lately about people driving on the gravel walk at the side of the road. To begin with the roads are not so bad that it should be necessary and those who are transgressing do not realize that it took years to get those walks levelled down for the children to have reasonably dry place to walk on. In the north end of the village Mr. Butchart lives and for years has been able to come down unattended although he lacks his sight A little thoughtlessness must surely occur or people would not cut that walk up. If the roads do not suit suggest some way of improving them then by all means keep off the sidewalks.

Fresh figs for Xmas at Whit Moores.

Mr. Saul Putman of Tara was here Monday on business.

Mr. Andrew Munn passed through here last week on his way home from County Council. He was the guest of Mr. Forbes Friday night.

Mens heavy short coats from 3.50 upwards at Whit Moores. The clothes have advanced but the prices remain the same as last year.

The Medal recently awarded Private W. J. S. Laidlaw better known as "Scottie" was left by his father at Whit Moores store where Scottie worked for over three years. The Medal is a reward for "Bravery in the field" and is a Souvenir to be cherished. His many friends will have an opportunity to see it while it remains in the store Since receiving it he has been promoted to Corporal.

Private Dan McArthur came home for a visit of short duration.

Mr. Bolton, Land Surveyor from Listowell has been here the past week looking over Judges Creek and its many tributaries. He gives it as his opinion that it will cost several Thousand Dollars to put the Creek in proper condition to carry off the water that it should. Whoever undertakes to complete this work should see that it is done and done right this time. Make the allowance enough that it will not require road money to help clear it out We need all the road money on the roads.

Mrs. Robt. Shaw returned from Owen Sound Hospital where she had taken treatment for nasal trouble.

There will be a meeting of the Curlers in Bruin Bros. store Friday evening inst. at 7 30. Any one desiring to join the Club is invited to attend.

The Red Cross Ladies sent four bundles of comforts to the boys of the Lions Head platoon in England containing thirty five scarves and forty seven pairs of socks. The postage on these parcels amounted to nearly five dollars. When the boys get to France the cost of sending parcels will be considerably less as 7 pounds can then be sent for 32 cents whereas the rate to England is 12 cents per lb.

5 Roses flour at Whit Moores in half and quarter bags. Royal Household in 98 lb bags.

Quite a number of Lindsay rate payers are talking of abolishing Statute Labor. It should be a good move for that Township A stone crusher would also be a paying investment on the East road where gravel is so scarce and stone so plentiful.

Try a lunch tin of McLauchlans sodas at Whit Moores. The tin is splendid for baking bread or sending parcels overseas.

Card Players and Dancers Catch It

"Those that are the lightest in the head are generally the lightest in the heels" "A lady upon being asked what she thought of cards as a game replied that it is an easy way to entertain stupid people."

The above were not stray shots at all, but are an idea of the manner in which the Rev. Mr. Crossley, Evangelist, handled this subject Monday evening. For more than a hour this distinguished Evangelist gave his opinion of these two popular amusements Those may have been present who could not agree with him, but there were none who could not understand him.

He ridiculed the idea that dancing is a recreation, it is rather a mental and physical dissipation. He told of a mother, who had seven daughters who attended the dances because she had to look after the getting of her daughters married, but, said he, the man who wants a good wife does not go to the ball room for her, he goes to the Epworth League or Baptist Union.

Some people claim that their consience does not condemn them for dancing, but conscience is not a safe guide.

Perhaps his most severe criticisms upon the dance were due to the fact that the arms go around waists, a liberty which would not be tolerated upon any other occasion. While he regarded those who dance and play cards as "light in the upper storey" yet there is nothing wrong in the dance and cards themselves, but those who dance injure their usefulness and make their religious profession ridiculous. What the Lord wants is a whole hearted devotion.

Physical Culture System Laid Down by Rev. H. T. Crossley

Out of respect to the Rev. H. T. Crossley, and because they wanted information about 400 went to the Baptist church last Friday afternoon. Mr. Crossley is an enthusiast in physical culture. He believes that his system will cure headaches, take away rheumatism, ward off appendicitis, and, in fact, cure a great many ills to which the flesh is heir. It may be remarked that Mr. Crossley is 66 years of age and is still very vigorous.

No one need pay $20.00 to other physical culture experts for their system, as Mr. Crossley assured his audience that the system he gives for nothing, not only includes the advertised systems, but also other invaluable pointers and exercises. We herewith publish an abstract of the lecture, which our readers may cut out, memorize and practice with profit.

Seven Pointers

1.—Two systems: (a) Resistance as in stretching, making one muscle resist the other; (b) Propulsion, as in punching bag.

2. Breathe deeply and naturally when taking the exercises. Tendency is to hold breath.

3. Exercise before a looking glass when convenient.

4. Take five minutes or more before retiring and on rising, with little clothing on. Have air in room pure

5. Ever act on the motto; elevate the chest.

6. Cultivate the habit of taking the exercises, and continue them daily all your life.

7. By these exercises you will avoid rheumatism, constipation, dyspepsia, pneumonia, stiffness, corpulency, superfluous fat, deformity, appendicitis, and other ills, and facilitate health, happiness, hopefulness, chest expansion, a proper poise, agility, gracefulness, longevity and perpetual youth.

Seven Exercises for Arms

1. Horizontal—Fingers to shoulders and then extend arms, return and repeat, using both systems.

2. Perpendicular—Hands near shoulders, palms up, rise on toes and lift as hands are elevated, relax, return and repeat.

3. Across breast—Pull.

4. Obliquely—One arm at a time, rise on toes, shove, repeat.

5. Windmill—Swing the arms in a circle both backward and forward, slowly and rapidly.

6. Backward and forward, touching backs of hands as arms are thrown back!

Quartette—Shut hands, shoot them up and return, out and return, down and return, forward and return.

Seven Exercises for Body

1. Expand chest as you take a full breath. Fill lower part of lungs first.

2. Shoulders up and down, angular and circular.

3. Liver Squeeze—Bend sideways at waist, right and left, hands akimbo, arms by sides, and again arms outstretched sideways, alternating.

4. (a)—Bend backward and forward, hands akimbo, (b) and again arms extended as going backward, and touching floor as bend forward; (c) and then again hand car motion—shove.

5. Circular—(a) Feet firm, swing upper part of body in a circle, alternating right and left; (b) and then standing erect, swing upper part of body right and left with arms extended,

6. On all fours—Stand on toes and palms, lower body and then raise and repeat.

7. Across the bed—Lie on back, feet to floor, make legs taut, raise them till perpendicular, return, relax and repeat.

Seven Exercises for Legs

1! Rise on toes and heels, alternately, repeat.

2 Flip heels to hip, one leg at a time, alternately, repeat.

3. Hips to heels—Squat and rise, repeat.

4. Sideways, out left and right, point the toes, alternating the legs.

5. Backward, lift leg or kick backward, alternating legs.

6. Step one foot forward and bring knee of other leg near the floor and then rise, alternate legs.

7. Kick forward, causing vibration of the leg muscle, and again kick high, and again raise the knee high, alternating the legs.

Seven Exercises for Neck

1. Bend head backward and forward, repeat.

2. Turn head right and left, repeat.

3. Circular right, swing head in swivel movement, repeat.

4. Circular left, repeat.

5. Turn head right and throw back and then left and throw back, repeat.

6. Hand on side of head, shove and resist, alternate.

7. Osteopathy—Both palms on back of head, pull and resist, pull chin to chest and then press head far back.

Seven Exercises for Hands and Wrists

1. Fingers—Piano movement nimble,
2. Fingers—Pressure,
3. Bend at wrist, up and down, pressure.
4. Circular right, pressure.
5. Circular left; pressure!
6. Flip up and down vigorously.
7. Relax movement—Let hands fall on gravity and relax the whole body at the same time.

Seven Extra Exercises

1. Stretch before rising. Always do this.
2 Punching bag motion.
3. Rowing motion.
4. Running.
5. Skipping motion.
6 Shoulder stone motion.
7. For Ankle—While seated swing feet in circular motion, alternating right and left.

Seven Breathing Exercises

1. Take a full breath and exhale slowly, repeat
2. Take full breath and exhale quickly.
3. Take four deep breaths a minute diaphragmatically and rythmatically.
4. Take thus two deep breaths a minute.
5. Inhale a full breath and expel by blowing the breath through the teeth or through compressed lips. Take four breaths thus a minute.
6. Inhale and exhale thus twice a minute.
7. When walking inhale a full breath while taking three steps and exhale as you take three steps; and again inhale and exhale as you take four steps, then five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten steps.

Seven important Suggestions

1. Submerge eyes in clear, cold water every morning, open them, roll them around, rub towards nose and repeat. This is very beneficial.
2. Take cold hand bath vigorously from tip to toe, after morning exercises and a warm bath once a week on Saturday night.
3. Sleep with window open. Never omit this. Keep house well ventilated.
4. Breathe deeply, diaphragmatically and rhythmatically all the time.
5. Sip a glass of cold water ere retiring and on rising. Take hot water after meals. Don't drink during meals. Avoid pleeing.
6. Motto for constant practice, walking, standing, sitting and sleeping elevate the chest.
7. "Trust in the Lord and do good."

Fraternally,
H. T. CROSSLEY.

Chesley

On Wednesday last week Matthew Johnston of this town received a telegram stating that his son Thomas had be wounded by a gunshott in his knee. On Tuesday another telegram came from the General Hospital, at Etretat in France, that Tom was seriously ill. Needless to say the father, sisters and brothers are anxiously hoping their beloved one in far away France may be restored to health and strength

The Ladies of Geneva Church are to be congratulated on the excellent supper served on St. Andrew's Night. The menu was appetizing and the service was especially good. The numbering system which was on the principle of first come, first served, working out especially well. The proceeds were $190 which is about $60 ahead of last year.

On the 29th of Nov. Edward Hocey of the 12th con Sull received a telegram to the effect that his son was ill in Bramshott Camp Hospital. On Monday the sad news came that Sidney had succumbed to pneumonia. We remember how keenly his father and sister felt the parting the day Sidney Hocey left Chesley station for London before entraining for overseas. There were many tender partings that day but none more so than that between father and sister with the loved one who has made the supreme sacifice. The picture of this brave soldier boy will appear in our next issue. Sidney Hocey was a noble young man and when at home on the old farm on 10th con. Eld. had joined Dobbinton Methodist Church and yesterday at 2.30 p. m. his former Pastor, Rev. H. G. Bandy, of Dobbington conducted a funeral service at the home of his father. This makes the second casualty in the 160th Battalion since proceeding overseas.

Hanover

A Hanover boy born and bred, Harry McGeagh, has given his life at the front for the cause of human liberty and the war is brought home to every one of us. Thousands and thousands fall before the bullet and shell and we know there must be sorrow and mourning in thousands upon thousands of homes; but we feel the tragedy of it all when one is taken whom we have seen and known. But it is not all grief. There is pride and glory in the thought that one of our own men fought and died in the battle for right and human liberty.

Another of the grand old men of this vicinity has gone to his long home in the person of Mr. Robert B. Francis of the Sound Line, Brant, death occurring on Friday last. He was in his 80th year. Death was due to a paralytic stroke, but he had been ailing more or less for several years years. He took the paralytic stroke on Monday, Nov. 27th, as he was climbing up a ladder to the roof of the wood house. He did not rally and passed peacefully away as above stated

On Saturday evening, a large number of the employees of the Hanover Cement Co., gathered at the house of Mr Arthur Clark, who has recently severed his connection as superintendent with the Company. After the reading of an address, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark were presented with two handsome parlor rockers. Mr. Clark though taken by surpise, replied in suitable terms and thanked the donors. A pleasant evening was then spent in song and story until a late hour, when the party departed with many wishes for Mr. Clark's success in his new field of endeavor.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

THE LAST CALL 1916

Sale Begins Saturday, Dec. 16 and Ends Dec. 23

The bugle sounds-the last call for great bargains in 1916. We have put on a number of great sales this season, but this will break all past records, eclipse all other sales, and establish a record for itself. This sale which we now put on will last only from Saturday Dec. 16 to the 23rd-One week only. Its not an easy task to put on a sale this year because goods are high and advancing everyday; some lines cannot be got at any price, but we have our buyer, Mr. Levine, who lives in Toronto, and he is always on the look out for bargains. He has bought and shipped to us goods which we now place on sale at prices that will astonish the public. Remember, do not miss this chance as we can only promise that the goods will last one week, and those who come first will get the best choice.

The place to buy meat is the place to get good inspected meat, the kind that comes from the abbatoir, where the Doctors passed it pure food. Not the place where they hang out cheap prices, let it be ever so cheap it may be dear in the long run. A. B. ## Editorial

THE residents of Hanover think that the local merchants are over charging them for goods. They better go somewhere else and see if they can do any better.

EGGS sold Saturday in Toronto at 90 cents per doz. and butter 47-50 cents per pound. In view of prices like these the $3 per day hotel rate has some justification.

HOGS are this week bringing $11. per cwt. and have been lower still boiled ham is 50 cents per pound It looks like the packing houses have a pretty fair profit.

IN this issue the merchants make their bow to the purchasing public. They are stocked with seasonable goods ready for the Christmas trade. What the public need they can get right here, and remember Christmas comes but once a year, and when it comes it brings good cheer.

LAST week there were two strong letters in the Tara Leader against the Special Service Company, London, into which the medically unfit for the Bruce battalion were put. It is claimed that they are lackeys for every Tom, Dick and Hurry. It certainly would be better if they got their discharge.

Give Indians a Vote

The Kent County Council has passed a resolution, calling upon the Dominion Government to extend the franchise to the Indians. The Kent County Council has not acted a bit too soon. If the Government does not grant the franchise to them, after the loyalty they have shown in enlisting it would be the most glaring form of injustice. We need not go beyond Bruce County to find reasons enough to urge the government to this step. The Indian reserves of Cape Croker and Saugeen showed as much British blood and patriotism to the square inch as any other part in the county. If the Indians are ready to die for Canada, why should they not have the privilige of the ballot. There may have been good reasons for denying them this privilege years ago. It may have been true that they were not indifferent to "fire water" and an "envelope" but there is no red "eye" now in Ontario, and there are white men who will take an envelope quicker than the Indians. The municipal councils of Bruce County cannot do better than to petition the government in this respect. It is the most effective way we can show our appreciation of their loyalty. The franchise might well be refused to some of the white men who would not enlist, but the Indians should have their patriotism recognized immediately.

The Hepworth branch of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hughes Wed. Dec. 6

The meeting which was attended by sixteen ladies was of great interest and enthusiasm. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, letters from the township Clerk containing a cheque of $30. to be used for Red Cross purposes and one containing the government grants were read ways and means were then discused as to how this could be spent to the best advantage. It was decided to continue knitting and sending socks direct to the boys from home, yarn was distributed and it was resolved to purchase more yarn, also resolved that when Hostess serve lunch at regular meetings a fee of 10 cents be charged and sum go to Red Cross A very interesting paper was read by Miss P. Robinson, entitled "The Value of reading." It contained some excelent thoughts and advice in choosing literature for the home, A Xmas song "hosanna" was sung by Misses F. Hughes and L. Eldrich. The demonstration of Xmas gifts brought up the question in some minds, "should we continue the custom of giving gifts in war time!" This is a serious question and one which is well worth considering but the whole spirit of Xmas protests against the thought of giving up the customs.

MOTHER FINDS WHERE DOLLAR GOES FURTHEST

Rubbers and Overshoes Save the Shoes the Tots Wear From the Wear They Would Get in the Severe Weather of Winter

The thrifty housewife has been kept jumping these last two or three years to make the dollar her hard-working husband gives her go as far as it did. Prices have risen here and there, but she can still find solace in the fact that, even with the rise in the price of the fabrics and chemicals used in manufacturing, the rubbers which she buys to keep the youngsters' feet dry are still costing her about the same.

She must thank the British Government for this, for it is through Great Britain's control of the rubber market and the forcing down of the price of crude rubber from three dollars to 67 cents a pound that she can do it. But, leaving all sentiment aside, the fact remains that rubber to-day provides the solution for the mother in the question of the foot togs for the tots this winter.

The dollar will not buy the shoes it did formerly, but it will buy the rubbers, and, after all, winter weather is rubber weather and rubbers save the shoes. 26

Are The Four Fruits Used In Making "Fruit-a-tives

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the only medicine in the world that is made from the juices of fresh ripe fruits. Thus it is manifestly unfair to say, "I won't take Fruit-a-tives because I have tried other remedies and they did me no good". On the other hand, the fact that "Fruit-a-tives" is entirely different from any other preparation in the world, is just why you should give it a fair trial, in any trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. "Fruit-a-tives", is composed of the active principle of fruit and the greatest nerve tonic ever discovered. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. # The NURSE'S STORY

By ADELE BLENEAU

Copyright, 1915, By Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Surely, you don't hate me."

were no longer fighting for the mad joy of battle; they were going to the rescue of their captain.

The Germans were outnumbered, beaten, and they knew it, and by dozens threw down their rifles and held up their hands. The officers tried vainly to rally their scattered troops. Captain Shulhaut rode recklessly here and there. By some strange fate he had escaped. I saw him rein up his horse and heard him call to his men "Surrender," while he himself sat calmly, revolver in hand, awaiting death.

"They may be Huns," said the bishop sadly, "but no man can say they are not brave."

An orderly came hurriedly up and asked the bishop to go downstairs. He was wanted. I turned back to my charges. A German youth called to me for brandy. He had become hysterical. I was giving it when I heard the tread of heavy steps coming up the stairs and voices calling my name. I paused to listen, amazed and rather frightened. The next moment the bishop reappeared and behind him a handful of "Tommies."

"Come, my child," he called to me, "the men want to speak to you."

Lost in wonder, I mechanically went toward them. They were outside the ward in a long corridor. I had hardly reached the door before I heard again the shout, "Sister Adele!" I looked up at the bishop questioningly, but he only smiled, patted my hand, and said to the men, "This is Sister Adele." Two of them caught me up and started down the stairs. I probably would have fainted had not the bishop kept repeating: "They are only big children. Humor them, humor them!"

They carried me out on the terrace of the chateau, and at a signal gave "Three cheers for Sister Adele." I was astounded. Then they told me it was something about the guns. I was embarrassed, confused, humiliated, for I had really done nothing, as it turned out. When at last they left me and I pulled myself together I saw Ian leaning against a pillar gazing at me. His face was drawn and haggard. I don't remember how I got to him, but in a second I was there. I was no longer angry or even hurt. Self was completely forgotten. I was only frightened at what I saw in his face.

"Ian." I cried, "are you ill?" He did not answer, but looked at me with the most hopeless expression I had ever seen. "Surely, now that you know I didn't—you—you don't hate me?" Drawing me hastily into a little office near where we were standing, he said passionately:

"Hate you, dearest! The only hate in my heart is for myself. I have known you were innocent ever since I finished that vile tirade and you looked up at me—it was just a moment, but it was enough. I knew the truth. I rushed after you, but when halfway across the room the door closed, and I heard the key turned. Whoever had been listening had locked me in. I called to you. I pounded on the door. I rang frantically, but it was all useless. When the attack began I feared some awful thing might happen and I should never be able to tell you to beg your forgiveness. I was beside myself in desperation. I broke through the window and got out on the little balcony in the mad hope of attracting the attention of some one who might find you. I was still there when the final charge began."

"Weren't they glorious, superb, your Indians!"—

"They are as brave as the bravest," he replied. "I love every brown face of them. But, oh, Adele, I was too heartsick at that moment to care very much one way or the other. Will you ever be able to forget, dearest, the things I said? Can a lifetime of devotion atone?"

He paused, waiting for an answer. I tried hard to think of the right thing to say, but it was hopeless. Looking up into his eyes, all the veils were lifted from my own, and for an instant I felt my very soul was bared to him.

In spite of his long illness, he had strength enough left to crush me in his arms. I felt his heart beating furiously against my own, which sounded in my ears like distant cannonading. He kissed me again and again, while I clung to him as though I feared the next moment was to separate us forever.

The next day we went to Paris, and, although the train was an hour late, Ian's father and mother were waiting for us. I was still wearing my Red Cross uniform, which, of course, was old and worn, and I rather dreaded meeting them.

We were the last to pass through the station gate, but they had been watching us for several seconds. Ian kissed his mother, who said quite calmly, but with a little catch in her voice, "It's so good to see you again, my boy." The father and son shook hands, and neither spoke, but their handclasp lasted many seconds. And then Lady L. stooped and kissed me. The father looked at me searchingly, but kindly. Then, holding both my hands, said, "Well, for at least once in my life I am not disappointed."

I was so happy that I longed to kiss this dear woman who had given my Ian life, but I was afraid. Englishwomen, I had always heard, were so cold. But, yielding to an impulse, I timidly kissed her on the cheek. In a moment her arms were about me.

At lunch we discussed our immediate plans. Ian wished to be married at once, and Lord L. in a very matter of fact way said, with men being killed off like flies, he thought the sooner we were married the better.

And so it was settled. We were married in Paris, crossed the channel and quietly slipped through London—home.

The days that followed were perfect, the weather was lovely, green trees, coming spring and happiness making Ian quite well again.

Several weeks later after I had finally decided to give up nursing Ian expressed a desire to visit Meirut hospital in Boulogne, where several of his Indians were ill, and we had passed through the big wards and stopped in one of the smaller ones to speak to a wounded Sikh when the nurse lifted the basket arrangement used to cover wounded limbs and exposed a terribly shattered leg. I had seen a hundred worse cases, but in an instant I felt myself going, everything swam before me, and then all was black. The nurse instantly put a piece of cotton soaked with alcohol to my nostrils, and Ian carried me out into the air. I was myself again in a few minutes, and after making our adieus we set out in a closed cab for our hotel. Ian was silent for a time; then he said very tenderly:

"Don't you think, dear, you had better see a doctor before we leave Boulogne?"

I felt the color come to my cheeks, but I turned my face to him and we looked into each other's eyes solemnly a moment, and then out of sheer joy of it all we laughed like two children. He caught me in his arms and kissed me until I lay stilled and quiet against his heart. Outside the rain dripped and splashed against the windows of the stuffy old cab. But then, it seems to me, it is always raining in Boulogne.

THE END.

This Christmas

Let us Give Moderately to Each Other and Generously to the Soldiers' Families

Nineteen hundred and sixteen years ago came the very first Christmas, and for all these centuries there has recurred the Great Anniversary with its message of good will to men.

And so we give gifts.

Men and women of Ontario! We who stand for good will among men and nations; we whose men fight that there may at last be real peace on earth—let us make this a Christmas worthy of the day it commemorates—let us lay aside a generous proportion of our Christmas money for the families of those who are fighting the good fight.

Give to the Canadian Patriotic Fund

the fund that guards the soldiers' families from want.

Great as the result will be among the families of our soldiers, greater yet may the blessing be among us, the givers. Christmas will have a more vital meaning for us than perhaps ever before, and as for the children, who can measure the impression they will receive and keep of that Christmas Day when they shared their Christmas with the loved ones of the men who saved their country!

Let each Canadian boy and girl get a lesson from this historic Christmas which will go with them all through life.

Good men and women of Ontario! Can the need of our soldiers' families cry in vain for the relief which this Fund alone makes possible? Can we—can we, in the face of it all, again give lavishly among ourselves? Shall we not this year, with hearts full of the spirit of Christmas, lay aside a generous proportion of our Christmas money for the cause which so urgently needs it?

"Somewhere in France" he is fighting the good fight.

Somewhere in Ontario all that he holds dear is depending upon our decision.

Truly "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Ontario will be asked in January to assure the Canadian Patriotic Fund that it can depend on having six million dollars in 1917 for the families of Ontario's soldiers.

Four million of these dollars must be secured from individual subscriptions. If there is no Branch of the Fund in your town or county send your subscription direct to the Head Office, Canadian Patriotic Fund, Victoria street, Ottawa.

Presentation and Address

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. J. Cordick by a number of Miss Cora Butchart's friends who presented her with a gift of a valuable jewel case as a remembrance as she is soon to leave for Toronto. The address was read by Miss Alice McVannel as the gift was presented.

Dear Cora—

Please accept this little gift as a token of our good will, from the girls present. We wish you joy in your new home and may dame fortune on you ever smile and not her daughter mis-fortune.

HUGE DEMAND FOR LEATHER

The Government's demand for leather is enormous. There is a greater shortage of leather than the Government anticipated. Between September 30 and November 15 they will require a further 9,000,000 feet of upper leather for the Cossack. Also they require 7,000,000 feet for ankle boots for the British army, these boots to be delivered between October 1 and December 30. Sole leather is equally a serious proposition. The Russian Government have given the English Government an order and are prepared to take up to 40,000,000 feet of upper leather for shipment between now and the middle of November. These figures are far away the biggest, and fairly put anything that has ever been heard of before in the shade for such a short delivery period. This means that there may practically be no civilian leather available in a very short time, it being the Government's intention to put a toothcomb through the market and take everything they can use, whether it is suitable or unsuitable.—Tit-Bits

Nervous Headache

Pain is a blessing in disguise.

It is Nature's danger signal to warn you that there is something wrong in the system.

While headache may result from a variety of causes, it most frequently denotes a starved condition of the nerves.

The brain is the headquarters or "central" of the nervous system. Here nerve force is consumed at an enormous rate. If there is any lack of rich, red blood from which to form new nervous energy the brain is first to feel it and the head aches.

Headaches may be stopped by powerful drugs, but that is like breaking the semaphore which warns the engineer of danger.

The only wise way is to increase the amount of rich, red blood in the human body by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thereby feed the starved nerves back to health and vigor.

Not only will the headaches disappear, but you will sleep well, feel well and gradually regain strength and confidence. The Nerve Food will sharpen the appetite, improve digestion and build up the whole system.

In this way the headache will prove a blessing. It has warned you of approaching nervous collapse while yet there is a foundation on which to build good health.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations disappoint.

WALKERTON

George Welch who was arrested by Constable Briggs at Port Elgin last week and brought to the Walkerton jail on a charge of desertion, was taken to London yesterday for trial. Welch, who signed up with the 34th Battalion, is stated to have overstayed his final home leave, with the result that his battalion went overseas without him. He was pardoned by the authorities on condition that he would enlist with the 160th (Bruce) Battalion and although he claims to have been willing to do so, yet for some reason or other he never got on the Bruce force. As the Government is willing to grant amnesty to all deserters who will enlist it would seem that if the prisoner is guilty of the offence he should be able to secure an easy acquittal by again agreeing to sign up.

Mr. James T. Crawford has sold his 100 acre farm about five miles north of Walkerton and upon which he has been residing for the past forty years, to Mr Andrew Lang of Brant for $4200, and will probably move with his family to Walkerton about February 1st. Mr. Crawford served for a time on the Brant Council and is one of the most prominent men in the township.

License Inspector White, accompanied by Lawyer Klein, motored on Friday to Port Elgin, where they had two Bruce township farmers, Neil McGillivary and Malcolm McArthur, up before Magistrate Chapman and Crowe of Port Elgin on the charge of being intoxicated in a public place, they being alleged to have been under the influence of booze at an auction sale held in Saugeen township on Nov. 16th. The pair were adjudged guilty of the offence, and as a probable warning to others, were handed a good stiff fine of one hundred and costs each for breaking the booze law.

The admission of an old man from Bruce Township to the House of Refuge this week, brings to notice a rather pathetic case. Two unmarried brothers and a sister lived happily together on the old homestead until they were too old to work. They then sold the farm for about five thousand dollars. At first the three of them could almost, but not quite make ends meet on the interest. That was twenty years ago. As the cost of living kept increasing, and all three continued year after year on "borrowed time," their money became altogether insufficient. One of the brothers volunteered to go to the House of Refuge in order that the other two might live more comfortably. Later on the sister died. On Friday last the remaining brother also presented himself at the House of Refuge. He is ninety-three years of age. His brother is ninety-six. Both are intelligent, well-informed men. Neither had any bad or wasteful habits. The gradually diminishing value of a dollar together with their extreme longevity are outstanding reasons why these two old brothers are where they are to-day.

OWEN SOUND

Alexander Johnston, a resident of Keppel township for 56 years, passed away on Friday last at the late residence on the South Diagonal after an illness of several years, the last week of which they kept him confined to his bed. He was a son of the late Mr. Sam Johnston and came to Keppel township when only six years of age and has resided there ever since. Mr Johnston married Miss Fanny Ormsby who survives with five children to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. Of the four sons of the deceased, Earnest lives at Reston, Man., William is living at Blind River, Leonard is a resident of Canadian Soo and George is on the homestead. Mrs. B. H. Hall of Forget, Sask. is a daughter. The deceased was a Presbyterian in religion. The funeral was held on Sunday last and was very largely attended. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Jones of the Methodist Church in Owen Sound North. William Johnston of Blind River was present at the funeral of his father.

Pte. Edgar Caton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Caton of Brantford, and formerly of Owen Sound, was a visitor at his uncle's, Mr. Geo. Leslie, over the week-end. Pte. Caton enlisted in the West and was only a comparatively short time in the trenches when he was wounded. He had been in several small engagements, going through them without a scratch only to get it later while in billets miles back from the firing line. He was one of five to be sitting in a tent when a shell burst just outside, two of the occupants were killed outright and Pte Caton received a piece of shrapnel in the left arm at the elbow. He spent a long time in the hospital and though the arm was saved, the elbow joint is solid with the arm bent at the elbow at about an angle of 90 degrees. Pte. Caton returned to Canada a couple of weeks ago and after visiting his parents in Brantford came to Owen Sound for a brief stay before reporting to the Military Convalescent Hospital for further treatment.

It is likely that the congregations of Leith Annan and Daywood who have heard Rev. Mr. Telford, of Scotland, preach for the last two Sundays, will extend to him a call. Mr. Telford preached on Sunday night in Knox Church and was heard with a great deal of favor.

County Council

The December session of the County Council of the County of Bruce was held at Walkerton opening on the 24th inst.

All members were present.

There was, as usual, little new business offering at the session, this being the clean up session of the year and the Finance Committee was left busy auditing and passing accounts.

The Committee appointed to sell the debentures issued to raise money for Patriotic purposes, $42000 00 reported that the debentures had been sold for over $400.00 above par. The credit of the County of Bruce is evidently high. A large number of Committees appointed in January and June Sessions to look after Bridges, etc., reported the completion of the work.

Several delegations address the council in connection with different parts of Patriotic work, and council passed resolutions requesting that at all recruiting meetings some one should advance the claims of the navy for recruits. They also encouraged the formation of "The Associated Kin of Canadian Expeditionary Forces" believing that if the relatives of those now at the front were united they would have a great influence in stimulating recruiting and would also be able to assist largely in providing employment for returned soldiers.

The report of the Inspector of Houses of Refuge on the Bruce House was read. The Inspector found the House very efficiently managed and everything in good order, but recommends that the heating system be improved and that a trained nurse be employed to assist the matron.

The County of Stormont is petitioning the Government to compel every auto to carry "dimmers" on the headlights and that all vehicles carry some light. The council endorsed the petition.

Wm. J. Henry, of Kincardine, was appointed High School Trustee for unexpired part of term of J. H. Cooke, deceased, and at the request of the Reeve of Wiarton it was recommended that the Chief Constable of Wiarton be appointed County Constable.

The chief item of business was the Good Roads Syste. The discussion on this took up considerable time and brought out much valuable information for the members. It was pointed out that many thought that it was a very expensive System but it really was not and in the end would be a much cheaper and better way than the present, that it is much easier to keep a good articles in repair than a poor one. To the objection that the Government borrowed the money they gave towards it, Reeve Ross neatly replied that that was one of his objections to the present system. The Government had already borrowed the money for Good Roads, the County of Bruce was paying its share but the Counties who went in on the Good Roads movement were getting all the money and Bruce got none. The system of dealing with towns and villages, and with those townships who may not get as much work done as others and are therefore compensated by grants, was explained. After a thorough discussion many who before had been rather opposed to it, thought the System might be all right, but it was decided to leave it over until the January session for further consideration.

Col. A. E. Belcher, of Toronto, a former member of Council, wrote offering an oil painting of himself to hang in the Council Chamber. An offer gladly accepted.

A strong resolution was passed urging the Government to take some action whereby the slacker would be compelled to come forward and do his bit, instead of holding back at the expense of the willing and taking advantage of the increased chances of making money.

Warden McNab entertained the members at the Young Ladies' Tea Rooms, and the members took advantage of the occasion to present the Warden with a gold headed cane in token of their appreciation of his services.

P. A. MALCOLMSON, Clerk.

Presentation to Miss Rathwell

On Monday evening of last week the choir and members of A.Y.P.A. of Trinity Church met in the school room and presented Miss A. M. Rathwell with a brass jardiniere before her departure from among them. Miss E. Hall read the following address while Miss C. Miller presented the gift.

Dear Miss Rathwell—

We the members of the choir of Trinity Church and the members of A.Y.P.A. regret sincerely your departure and it is our earnest desire to express to you before bidding you farewell, our deep regard for you as a valuable member of both organizations. # Letters From Our Soldier Boys

Letter From Pte George White

Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. White Mar to his brother Russel White.

Bramshott Camp, 25, 11, 1916,

Dear Brother

Just a line at present as I have not much news We have not received any letters from Canada yet.

We are all well except for a few severe colds and everyone has a little touch of it. They say there are several fellows in hospital with pneumonia already. The damp weather is the cause and change of climate.

Well we have buried one of the lads already. He was a Tiverton boy. They had him on parade and a motor bus ran into them. It seems something went wrong with the horn of the car and the driver whistled and tried to shut the motor down but it skided and ran over him. He was given a military funeral just before we went on our 6 day pass. We all went up to London except Jack Given and Charlie Stobie, Charlie being sick when we left

We had a fine time while there. We got badly scattered at London though some of us getting on one and others on another. I landed at one club Jim Given at another and Bill and Weir and Blake and Watson at another. Jim and I met and each moved to a different club. I saw or met brother Will once in the 6 days and that was at the Zoo I think we had a better time and saw more than some who had to go back 2 days before the expiration of their pass on account of being broke. It (London) is some place although a very wicked place women and girls drinking in the bars or pubs as they are called along with the men. We saw the guard mounted before the Palace Buckingham where the King resides. Also the horse guards at Whitehall in their grand uniform.

We also seen through the Parliament Buildings, Westminster Abbey, the National Gallery, St. Pauls Cathedral, the United Service Museum in which are kept a great many war trophies, uniforms swords muskets etc and the models of ships of war. gun carriages, cannons trench motors etc used from the time of William 1 until the present day. The London Tower in which the two Princes were murdered and in which Sir Walter Raleigh spent 7 years and wrote the history of the world The Kings jewels are also kept in this tower. The various crowns and swords and sceptres worn only at the coronation they are certainly magnificent There are also a great many war trophies kept here and innumerable kinds of rifles, spears, swords, masks and shields worn by soldiers in the past centuries.

Madame Tassauids is also a very interesting place. In this building is kept models or effigys of all the kings, queens and famous men of centuries past. These images are so l fe like that unless upon going into the place you were aware of the fact that they were only images, made of wax, you would be inclined to speak to some of them, in fact I heard of some of the lads going up to images, of the police or constable, and asking him the way through, and being startled at not receiving an answer, which gives you an idea of how real these images are There is also the chamber of horrors showing all criminals as they stood for trial in the witness box or in prison. I think this is the most interesting place I was in. There are images or rather effigies of men still living here such as Lloyd George and Asquith etc We also saw St. James Palace in all Royal functions etc take place, Trafalgar Square on which is erected Nelson's monument also monuments of Havelock, Gordan, William IV also Florence Nightingales monument There are monuments and statues to great men and women erected all through the city. The Tower of London covers about 17 acres including a small garden. This is where they have the bridge which lifts to let the ships by. Well I must close now. They are putting us through pretty stiff these days and men of other battalions that came overseas the same time as us are going to France on Monday I beleive. Therefore we are likely to be in France sooner than we expected. We get physical drill twice each morning as well as squad drill, manual of arms, musketry and bayonet fighting and musketry in afternoons.

Heard Fred Tuffnell had been wounded at the front. We are supposed to get a free pass at Xmas and I think I will go to Scotland on it. Sgt. Edmund Green 119 Batt leaves for France Monday Jimmie Sinclair from Wiarton, who went with the first contingent, is in England now on pass from the trenches. Well I think I have told all. Hoping this will find you all well I remain

Your loving Brother George.

Letter From Pte. John Hilditch

Somewhere on the Atlantic.

Oct. 19th 1916.

Mrs. Jno. Hilditch

Dear Mother

I thought I would write you a few lines to-day even if we cannot post it until we reach England. This is our first day out from Halifax. We left yesterday evening, we went on board ship the night before last, we got into Halifax that day at noon and in the afternoon we marched down to the ship. It is certainly a big one, it is the steamer M , I don't think we will be allowed to send any names, we were all assigned to our cabins Willie and I have one to ourselves, with just two berths in it one for each. Well it rained all day and Halifax struck me as being the dirtiest place I ever was in, but on the boat everything was in good shape and clean. Our berths are inspected every morning by the skipper, there is certainly discipline on board these boats, and we are very comfortable. The food is very good too. We have our regular drill hours here mostly physical drill and lectures Well yesterday morning our steamer left the wharf and moved farther down the harbour, and anchored there, The harbour was full of ships of all kinds, steamers, schooners, motor boats, ferry boats, fishing boats, row boats, and boats of all shapes and sizes, all day small boats and launches clustered around the side of the boat, selling all kinds of fruit, chocolate bars etc. The people on deck lowered baskets down containing money and those in the boats took the money and put fruit in the basket and pulled it up. Yesterday Jim Davis, who is quite a comical lad, was standing in the dining room looking out of a port-hole, when someone pulled a basket of grapes up past him from the deck above, Jim cooly reached out and pulled it in and he and the other lads had the grapes for dinner.

About 4.30 p m the steamer began pulling up her anchor and began slowly moving out of the harbour, there are three transports and a man-of-war in the fleet. On our way out of the harbour we passed a large steamer, a sister ship of the Lusitania, coming in with a load of returned soldiers. You ought to have heard the soldiers on the two ships cheer each other. They had "done their bit", and we were going to do ours. Then we passed close to a man-of war, there were hundreds of blue jackets clustered on her decks; we gave them three cheers and a tiger and they returned it, then one of them yelled out "Are we downhearted" and everyone on both ships roared out "No" then he yelled again "Shall we win" and everybody roared out "Yes", then after that as we were passing by them their band struck up "Rule Brittania' then after that as we were passing close to them they played "O Canada." It sounded so sweet coming across the waters, when we all knew that in a few hours we were to bid good-bye to Canada for many long weary months. It is not very often the "bunch" is quiet, but as we passed out of the harbour and night was coming on, as the men all clustered on deck everyone seemed to be thinking of the same thing although very little was said. By and by it got so dark we could see nothing but the lights on the buoys of the harbour. Smoking on deck is strictly prohibited once it becomes dark, there is only one light on the ship a small light near the stern of each vessel to guard against collision

Nothing but Water

with the other boats. When we woke up this morning there was nothing in sight but water, all we have seen to day was a small sailing vessel and we kept clear of her. Say they have certainly have some system in the navy, the warships are quite a sight, they are just like the pictures one sees of them, they are painted a dull grey color and you can hardly distinguish them any distance away. Well it is amusing to hear some of the fellows talk, one fellow said he did not want his throat gargled with salt water yet awhile Will Carson was explaining to-day how a fellow would feel when seasick, he said the first few minutes you are afraid your going to die and the next few minutes you are afraid you are not. Well it is starting to blow a little, the boat is rolling and dipping some, it is funny to be going up a stairway and the whole thing will tilt over to one side, then the floor comes up to meet you We are sleeping against the side of the vessel and you can feel the vibration from the water striking the sides. Well this is Friday morning it is blowing "great guns" from the south if it keeps on until night it will blow the expression off a fellows face, the spray is flying over the forward part of the boat This is Friday night after supper, we expect to be about nine days on the trip, over, our boat usually makes it in six days but the boat ahead of us is very slow and we have to go slow too. Teddy Bruce was pretty sick to-day he cried nearly all forenoon, I guess he wishes he was back in Canada among his native haunts again. Well they take every precaution we wear our life belts all the time; the only time we are allowed to take them of f is when we go to bed and even then they are lying across our berth already if anything happens. Well the fellows are beginning to feel the effects of the blow, here and there you can see a fellow busy "putting up the bird" I felt pretty tough till

WHAT WILL YOUR ANSWER BE?

I WONDER WHERE HE IS NOW!

He is "Somewhere in France," fighting for YOU. Are we doing our full duty towards his dependents?

Letter From Rob Simmie to James A. Brown, Barrie

From the Barrie Examiner we copy the following letter written by Rob Simmie to the father of a soldier, who was wounded

Have just returned to my battalion from hospital and the battalion has had your son marked missing. I am very sorry to have to tell you that he was badly wounded, but there is a chance that he would live. It nearly broke my heart to have to leave him to the care of the Germans, but there was nothing else could be done. You will be glad to know that he has been recommended for the Victoria Cross. Will try and tell you a little about our fight with the Huns. We had no trouble taking the German trenches, but they got reinforced by Marines, and the Grenadiers had an experience that they will always remember, and they should be proud of the stand that they made. I had lost both my Sergeants and "Brownie" (as we called your son) found himself in charge of the Grenadiers. He did the part nobly and the men would do anything for him. The Huns tried four iimes to drive this bombing post from the right flank of the battalion, but there was a true British soldier in charge and he and his comrades left the trench full of dead Germans. Finally, we had no grenades left and retired to put a block in the communication trench so that the Huns would have to come up on the top of the ground and then our machine guns could hold them. It was getting back to this trench that Brownie got a bullet through the abdomen on the left side. We immediately dressed his wound and left him as comfortable as possible. We could do nothing except to let him lie quietly until he could be taken out carefully on a stretcher. We had a terrible lot of casualities, and we had no grenades and very little ammunition left, and the whole battalion was forced back to the starting point These trenches have been retaken, but if your son lives he will be some place in Germany. If you got word from him will be grateful to you if you let me know. He was more like a brother to me than a soldier friend and I would gladly have taken his place. There were forty eight pickmen from the battalion in our platoon and just five came through without wounds. You will think that we had a terrible lot of casualties, but if you could see the hundreds of dead Germans you would say that we made Germany pay dearly for our lives.

My home is at Wiarton, Ont., and some day I hope to meet the friends of a true soldier like your son has always proved himself. He was admired and respected by every officer in this battalion and they highly appreciate his work in the fight for the German trenches.

A new story begins with this issue of The Echo the serial rights of which cost us a good many dollars. It is written by one of the best authors of the present day and we advise everyone to begin with the first chapter.

Grey and Bruce Counties

CLIPPED FROM OUR LOCAL EXCHANGES

OWEN SOUND

Mr. James McComb, a former resident of Massie, but living now on Seventh St. E., was seized with a stroke of paralysis on Sunday morning last at the First Methodist church. Miss Nora Kilbourne who has just returned from nursing the wounded in France, rendered first aid and the sufferer was later moved to his home where he resides with his daughter Miss Laura McComb. His wife died from the effects of several strokes about fourteen months ago. Mr. McComb is now doing as well as can be expected.

WALKERTON

General Session of the Court is being held this week before Judge Greig. Two jury cases and one nonjury case are up for trial.

Ernest Ashcroft and Edwin Bennett of Albemarle are suing Joseph Sanderson and Cecil Day of Huron county for $425 loss on a bunch of cattle which they bought in July when the market was high and refused to take in October claiming that the animals were not up to the mark. The plaintiffs then sold the cattle by public auction and are seeking to recover from the defendants the amount lost. David Robertson, K. C. appeared for the plaintiffs H. L. Murphy K. C. M.P. of Listowel for the defendant.

Currie vs. Griffith is a non-jury case in which a Wiarton man claims $300 damage from the owner of an adjoining property whom he claims has been improperly allowing water to flow from his store premises over his premises. He also seeks an injunction to restrain defendant from allowing the water to run. J. C. Moore of Wiarton for plaintiff, Wright & Telford of Owen Sound for defendant.

Mr. Robert Steele, an old pioneer of Brant Township, died at his home east of Walkerton on Wednesday morning last, after a long illness of uraemic poisoning, aged about 70 years. The deceased who was well-known and highly esteemed throughout the township, came to Brant about fifty-five years ago, and settled on a farm on the Durham road, where he continued to reside until his death. He was married to Miss Agnes Hyslop of Brant, who survives him with a grown up family of four sons, John and Thomas of Brant, James of Bellepiaine, Sask., and Robert of Teeberne, Man. The remains will be interred in the Walkerton cemetery on Friday.

Mr George Schell, a farmer who resided at Turners station near Port Elgin, was brought to the Walkerton Hospital on Wednesday of last week in a critical condition with cancer of the stomach. He was operated on Friday by Dr. Lucy of Guelph, but passed away a few hours later. The deceased who was in his 55th year, leaves a wife and family of four sons and two daughter, two of his sons being now at the front. The remains were forwarded on Saturday to his home and interment took place at Port Elgin on Monday.

The Soldiers Aid Tea Room were opened on Wednesday night with a banquet tendered by Warden McNab to the members of the County Council, Town Council, and officials. The young ladies had everything nicely arranged and served a very fine supper. Major Lippert made a capable toastmaster and introduced a number of toasts. After praising the good qualities of the general Warden, and his fine record at the County Council, and at the Walkerton Town Council, the County members capped the climax by presenting Warden McNab with a handsome gold headed cane accompanied by all good wishes for success and further happiness.

Hanover

Mr. Andrew Hundt of the 14th con. Carrick, was badly injured last Thursday week while bringing a gang plow in from the field on a stone-boat. The team ran away and upset the load. Mr. Hundt was knocked senseless by a blow from the plow and when he was picked up, it was found that his left shoulder had been dislocated his forhead cut and his left thigh badly scraped, besides receiving a bad shaking up. Mr. Hundt is doing as well as can be expected.

Large audiences greeted Dr. Kilpatrick last Sunday at St. Andrew's church on the occasion of the anniversary services there. His searching expositions, rich in thought and beautiful in expression will not soon be forgotten by those privileged to hear him. The helpful and inspiring music by the choir under its talented leader. Miss Louise Luesing was highly appreciated by all. No services will be held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday on account of the Hampden anniversary.

Mr. James T. Crawford has sold his 100 acre farm about five miles north of Walkerton and upon which he has been residing for the past forty years, to Mr. Andrew Lane of Brant for $4200, and will probably move with his family to Walkerton about February 1st. Mr. Crawford served for a time on the Brant Council and is one of the most prominent men in the township.

Young Ladies Red Cross Society Scores a Great Success--$350 Realized

A thoroughly enticing scene it was, and all who beheld it agreed that the transformation was wonderful, for out of our sober hall, a bright and attractive room was made by the Red Cross workers; many were the exclamations of delight at the booths as they were viewed, one seemingly more attractive than the other. For weeks before before the event, windows were emblazoned with the signs advertising the bazaar. Mr. Baines as mayor opened the bazaar at precisely three o'clock.

Probably the most attractive of the booths was the tea room, which was held on the platform, it was under the supervision of Mrs. F. Jackson a mass of bunting and flags, little tables here and there with pretty boquets for their centres made a very pleasant scene intermingled with the clatter of the tea cups and chatter of the ladies.

The fancy work booth was loaded with dainty articles both useful and ornamental. This booth under Miss Hazel Parke with several other young ladies carried on a very successful afternoon, throughout the decorations of this booth were hung several very pretty paintings which were donated to the Society by some of the ladies of the town.

"Candy" this word always suggests to one who possesses a "sweet" tooth the chance to get some of the good homemade kind. Thus this booth although well supplied with candy was one of the first to sell out. The booth was under the supervision of Mrs. S. J. Cameron.

Over to the left of the hall was the homemade baking booth, and this was a scene of activity all the afternoon. It was overseen by Mrs. J. Hunter and proved a thorough success.

As there were booths for the elders so were there attractions for the kiddies, for a booth entirely devoted to dolls was displayed beautifully dressed dolls of all sizes and prices were to be had. Miss E. Fielding had charge of this booth.

In the left hand corner was an imatation camp fire which appealed very strongly to all. Under a bower of evergreens were cup readers and fortune tellers dressed to represent the old gypsy styles. They were kept very busy by the tea-drinkers and many were the fates told by the cups.

"The woman with the hundred pockets" was exceptionally well patronized by the children and many were the laughs over what was drawn from the pocket.

At five o,clock everything was sold and the hall was made ready for the evening's entertainment, a box social formed part of the evening's amusement and Mr. Beacock, as auctioneer made the boxes sell rapidly. The orchestra was in attendance and a fine dance was held.

In connection with the bazaar tickets were sold for "Bob sleighs" and a very pretty crotched yoke which were donated Master Jack McVannell was the winner of the sleighs and Mrs. E. Westfield of the yoke.

Altogether the afternoon and evening was absolutely a success over $350 were realized and as it will be spent to such excellent advantage the Red Cross Girls are very pleased to have been shown so much sympathy in their work.

WHY DOES THE CANADIAN PATRIOTIC FUND REQUIRE SO MUCH MONEY?

This question is often asked, by persons and by municipal councils, when the matter of liberal giving to the Fund is brought before them.

They are entitled to the most complete answer, for the Fund is the people's. They created it, and it is they who must maintain it.

Now for the reasons. There are 149,230 of them.

The Fund asks for so much money because Canada has given her men so lavishly to the Great Cause. Between 300,000 and 400,000 have volunteered. If their families need help, this Fund provides it. In October 53,693 families did need it. These families comprised 149,230 persons, nearly all either mothers, wives or children. Is it any wonder that so Great a Need requires so Great a Fund?

HOW GREAT IS THE NEED OF MONEY?

|---|---|
| The sum expended in October, 1916, was | $891,814.00 |
| The average payment to each family was | 16.29 |
| The average payment to each person was | 5.73 |
| The cost of administration was | 15,464.00 |

(In above averages, sums paid for broken periods not included.)

Pay special attention to the figures concerning cost of administration—including expense of campaigns for raising money. It is the ambition of the managers of the Fund to keep the cost of raising and disbursing it below that of any voluntary fund ever created in Canada. Their aim is to hand to the soldiers' families as nearly as possible one hundred cents for every dollar subscribed. They succeed in handing 99½ cents. The sum received in October as interest on moneys in banks was about $11,500. Take this from the cost of administration. The remainder is $4,000. And that, therefore, is all that had to be deducted from sums paid in.

That is to say, of every $100 paid by generous givers, $99.46 reached the families.

Is not that economy which should give confidence to every subscriber?

Does the magnitude of the Fund, as well as its importance, begin to impress you, Mr. Citizen-who-is-being-asked-to-subscribe-$100, or you, Gentlemen of the Municipal Council, who are being urged to vote $100,000 for 1917? Does the REQUEST look as large as it did now that you know something more of the NEED?

|---|---|
| Since the war began the people of Canada have subscribed to this Fund | $16,495,000 |
| For 1917 they will be asked to give—and will give | 12,500,000 |
| Of this sum Ontario is being asked to guarantee—and will guarantee—at least | 6,000,000 |

This is one million more than in 1916, but every dollar will be required for Ontario's families. Not much chance for individuals or counties to economize by cutting down their contributions, is there? On the contrary, the giving must be on a scale more generous than ever. And why not? If we can't FIGHT, isn't it a Privilege rather than an Obligation to PAY?

ONE WORD MORE:

No man should ignore his personal responsibility towards the families of those who are fighting for him, simply because his Municipal Council is taxing him slightly for the same object. He owes these people far more. Perhaps he is too poor to pay more. If not, it is up to him to give a generous cheque to his local Patriotic Fund Committee, or mail it to

Harry Featherston Writes Home

Atlantic Ocean Nov, 14 1916

Mrs. E. Featherston,
Shallow Lake,
Ont.

Dear Mother

We got to Halifax at nine o'clock last night, and went about three minutes walk to a big building, went up a stairs and from there up a gangway onto the Olympic at about sixty feet above the waters edge. The boat is 862 ft. long and the upper deck is about 75 ft. above the water line. If you can imagine a boat about as long as from the gate to the bottom of Moores hill you will have something like it. We have the run of most of the boat but there isn't much waste space in our quarters. The bunks are steel frames, two decks. Each man has a place two by six feet and we have a mattress of some kind, every thing is clean to start with the worst is the lack of ventilation. We got life belts as soon as we pulled out at a quarter to four this afternoon and have to wear them all the time except when in bed. There are sixbattalions and a signaling Corp aboard, there are about 200 men in the crew.

20th

We are are lying in the Mersey River a short distance from Liverpool docks. We got to the mouth of the river at about nine o'clock last night and had to wait for the tide to cross the sandbar, and came in this morning and what they we are waiting for now no one seems to know. It was so foggy we could not see the banks till nearly noon. I got off pretty safely as far as sea sickness was concerned never missing a meal although I missed one shortly after. That was Saturday night and it was rather rough 'the only rough weather we had. Sunday noon we were so near the north coast of Ireland we could see fields and buildings, it looked nice and green, and made the Irishman jabber like a lot of Dagoes. I might say that I didn't see anything of the green ocean one reads about until we got near this side. It was very dark, another thing it doesn't run in waves but seems to swell up anywhere.

Shoreham Sea, Sussex Co.
Nov. 21st

Well we are located at last, we left the boat at a quarter to seven this morning at Liverpool and got here at four and we made good time too. It was nearly dark by the time we knew where we were at so I don't know just what kind of place it is but it is stiff clay and very slippery It was a fine day and we had a fine trip, England is certainly a pretty place. We came through the north of London but it was smoky and we could not see very well but like all the rest of the towns the houses or dwellings are one continuous building two storeys high and just a narrow alley between but what we saw were clean and the buildings are nearly all brick with slate roofs of course there are high tenements and seperate houses but the most seem to be like the first. You would laugh to see the trains here the cars are all small and divided into four compartments each seating eight or ten people and a door on each side and the engines are small but powerful and fast and they are coupled some way there is very little jar starting or stopping and the road is very smooth altogether travelling is very comfortable in this country. You would laugh to see them ploughing with three or four horses one ahead of the other and two men but some plough with a team the same as us. The fields are all green and the people are taking up their turnips They have a good many sheep here, we went so fast a person could only get a glimpse of anything so I can't tell you much about it but the general opinion is that the country is like one big park. I have got up at half past three for two mornings now and I had about six hours sleep the last two nights put to-gether that and the fact that a returned soldier is relating his experiences at the same table. I feel too confused to to write, but everything is all right and I'll write again in a few days. We are in buildings about thirty five by twenty with thirty men in each Well I think I'll quit.

Your loving son
Harry.

Letter From Howard Spears

Bramshott Nov. 22nd 1916

Mr. Chas. Loney.

Dear Friend

I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know how I am getting along over here. Well I am fine and dandy, hoping this will find you and all the rest of the folks at home well. I intended writing you before this, but didn't get at it so I'm at it to-night, as we don't have anything else to do at nights. Well I have done the first days work today, I have had to do since we left London Ont, so that is not so bad and that was working in tronches for a start, but I guess we will get it pretty stiff now working till Christmas. Say, I must tell about the trip I had since I came over here, we got a pass for six days to go to London, but I got eight days for I was over to Scotland and believe me I saw some things over there I will not forget for awhile, for I was in Glasgow and Dundee two pretty nice places If Wiarton were doing as much business it would sure be booming There are some factories that take from three to four thousand hands, not men but women and girls are running them, some old ladies pretty nearly sixty years of age in them and even to girls running the street cars, you can go all over the city there for a penny, this is sure some place over here, Remember me to Wilbert and all the rest, I will write them later. Write soon or sooner and let me know how things are around Wiarton.

Pte. Howard Spears.

Editorial

THE chief aspirants for the wardenship of Bruce County for 1917 are Dennis Izzard, Port Elgin and James Douglas, Hopworth.

WHEN it has been decided to tear up from 1000 to 1500 miles of Canadian rails, and send them to France, it is a sure reminder that a life or death struggle for the Empire is going on.

THE Guelph ladies have decided to not go more than 48 cents per doz, for eggs and 48 cents per pound for butter. Guelph is the home of the McDonald Institute, and that institution declares that bread at 16 cents per loaf is cheaper than potatoes at the present price. They recommend rice and bread as much cheaper than potatoes.

SO far it looks as if there will not be a war time election in any of the municipalities in this district on New Years day. There should not be unless conditions loudly call for a change, and those in authority will not step down and out Anyone governed by ambition to butt in at this particular period should put up the election expenses. It looks like acclamation in every direction, so mote it be.

The Postmaster has been supplied with cards, which every man between 16 and 65 must fill in, and send to the National Service Board. The card calls for all available information so that the board can estimate the man power of Canada. The questions about age, good eyesight, use of arms and legs, are asked, and it is further asked if he would be willing to change his work, for other work, during the war at the present pay. The Echo hopes that these cards will be quickly signed, and a loyal response given from this town.

Christmas Day over Forty Years Ago

It was on the farm, for that is the place most of us came from; the great majority in the business or professional life of any town had the hayseed in their hair when they were young. They know by experience its daily routine long before the days of rural telephone, and the rural mail delivery. They were not the days of high prices, it was the home-spun age, and time was not as essential a factor as to day, neighbours had time to visit each other, the men could sit on the line fence and talk to each other until the horn blew for dinner. But Christmas day on the farm was then a big event, to the children of that generation. Those were the days they believed in Santa, and that belief had a source of joy. In the early morning when they took down their socks they found things that made them immensely happy. What were they? A few apples candy an orange, some raisins, a pocket knife etc. Was that all? Yes, and it made them happy. Would these simple and inexpensive gifts make the children of the present day joyful. We rather think that it is doubtful. What the children to-day get, compared with what their mothers and fathers got, has far more evidence of wealth, but it does not make them a bit happier.

Then there came the dinner, for years ago the old English custom of a home gathering, and the best dinner of the year, was observed in this country. There were few turkeys then but there was the goose, and we thought there was nothing better The good mother, who made all happy, was up before daylight and had the plum pudding in the boiler. There were few of the courses of to-day but all were satisfied. In the afternoon the boys and young men went to a shooting match, and with the old muzzle loader they made many a bull's eye. How inexpensive were the Christmas events of those days? But Christmas of 1916 will have far less show and expense than any other Christmas day of the past decade, and the reason is plain, Canada has thrown in her lot with Britain in the Great war which may yet mean the last man and the last dollar, and while mothers have sons in England, or in the trenches, they have no heart for any display here. However, Monday will be Christmas day, and a spirit of joy must not be absent from our lives. It should be a day of gladness when each can wish the other "A Merry Christmas."

LIONS HEAD

Bower Laidlaw arrived home from Saskatoon Saturday night. He will spend his Christmas holidays with his parents in the village, returning to his business after New Years.

Capt. Leslie Martindale came down from Cabot's Head lighthouse on Sunday returning on Monday. He brought down a load of wood for the winter which he had loaded on his launch for some time waiting for favorable weather to make the run.

Dr. Roy Hacking made a professional call to Stokes Bay on Sunday. He motored over through the snow and made the trip in a much shorter time than a horse and rig would make it.

The Tug Eastmor left here Friday last for Wiarton where she will be laid up for the winter.

When you want good tea at a reasonable price try Whit Moore's special black at 40c.

Capt. Clark Sensabaugh, the old reliable rink man, is again in charge of the ice. Last week he commenced operations and expects to have a curling match billed for Christmas Day. He will probably have skating in full swing next week.

The curlers held a meeting last Friday and swelled their membership list by the addition of the druggist, chopping mill manager, telephone manager and bank teller. Some others are likely to join, The game is beneficial as well as interesting.

The township council have left it with the ratepayers to say if they want the roadwork done away with. At the next election a vote will be taken and if the majority of the voters decide to abolish statute labor, we will then have to get busy and get as much of the government money as is being granted for assistance to roads, as possible In the event of roadwork being abolished, it would be well to have a man appointed to make a study of the grading. As it now is, the grader is used by different men on separate beats, and at out the time the man in charge is through with his work, he is beginning to see how he might have made a better job. No matter what we go at we are not as good the first time as we are after experience, unless it is crying. That seems to have been about all we have been doing this fall when we were going over the roads. With a competent man in charge of the roads it is not necessary that the work should all be done just when the farmers should be at their roots. Any farmer who has spare time can work on the roads and get the wages paid, which will probably be high this year. If he is busy it does not pay him to leave his crop to do roadwork. The government pays part of the salary of the man in charge of the roads if statute labor is abolished.

Mrs. Kelly, who resides in the west, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Muir She expects to remain here part of the winter.

Mr. John Crawford, of Wiarton, accompanied by Capt. Rumley, made a trip up north this week to look over some timber.

Goods are advancing every day and plenty of people are not buying them until they jump. Whit Moore has quite a number of men's heavy short coats which were bought before the advance. Not one of them have been changed in price and many of them are now marked at less than they can be bought to-day. It pays to be on the lookout for values like this. Don't wait until they are gone.

Mrs. Martindale returned from Owen Sound Monday evening after spending over a month at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Cooper, O. S.

Ed Davis returned from Toronto where he went to work a short time ago. Ed thinks there are worse places than home

Mr. Pepell was in town last week and placed orders for two Delco Light plants to be installed after New Years. As the hydro is unable to supply new customers, Messrs. F. G. and W. B. Moore decided to install these plants in their respective stores. The Delco Electric Light and Power Plant is a wonderful boon to small villages and farms. Farmers and others interested will be privileged to examine them when they are installed. Whit Moore has taken the agency and will be pleased to explain the many advantages gained by Delco light in small places.

On this week Mr. F. J. Pell received a settlement with the Insurance Companies for his loss last August. Some companies are prompt, but these can scarcely be two of them.

West Clavering Presentation

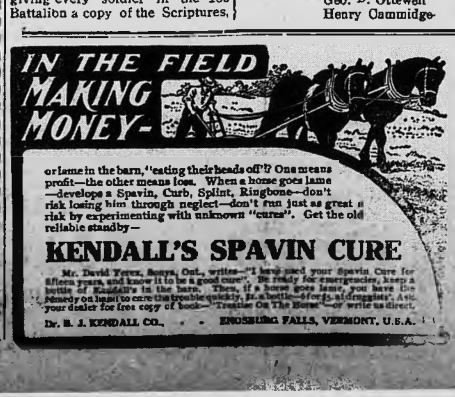
About ninety people of the community assembled at the home of Mr. Jas. McCrabb to do honor to Miss Lizzie Wilson, bride-elect.

The evening was spent in games, music and songs, after which luncheon was served.

The address was read by Miss Sarah Guest while the Misses Christina Watts and Ethel McCrabb presented the gifts.

To Miss Lizzie Wilson :—

We, the members and friends of Ottowell's church, having heard of your intended change and removal from our midst, feel that we would be very ungenerous to allow the ties of friendship which have so intimately banded us together, both in social and church life, to be severed without showing in some tangible form our appreciation of your valuable services as organist.



We will miss your cheery disposition and your willing undertaking and ready acceptance of the many and oft-times arduous duties which have devolved on you.

We assure you, you will be missed and the position you have so nobly and faithfully filled from which you have just resigned will be by no means easily filled.

We ask you to accept these chairs and cut glass water set not for their intrinsic value but we hope and trust that they will often remind you of our happy relationships together, and from what is apparently to take place, we wish you and your partner long life and prosperity, and may the Great Giver of every good and perfect gift, so shield and defend you in this life that in the life which is to come we may meet without interruptions, without partings in the Great Kingdom of God.

Yours on behalf of the community

The PRINCE of GRAUSTARK

BY GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

PROLOGUE.

After a lapse of a very few years, lo, here is a story about a Prince of Graustark who is none other than the son of Princess Yetive, the heroine of "Graustark." He is a full grown man, very much full grown, and very much of a man. Moreover, there is a beautiful girl in the offing, whose relation to Beverly of Graustark is that of daughter to mother; also there is a very shrewd, forceful, powerful American multimillionaire with a brilliant and lovely daughter. Now, given these ingredients, so to speak, and the reader may trust McCutcheon to mix them up to give them just the right flavor, to cook them to just the right turn and to serve a story piping hot, which will give as many million hours of thorough enjoyment as "Graustark" and "Beverly of Graustark" did in their time.

CHAPTER I.

Matrimony Is Discussed.

"My dear," said Mr. Blithers, with decision, "you can't tell me."

"I know I can't," said his wife, quite as positively. She knew when she could tell him a thing and when she couldn't.

It was quite impossible to impart information to Mr. Blithers when he had the tips of two resolute fingers embedded in his ears. Mrs. Blithers had lived with her husband, more or less, for twenty-five years, and she knew him like a book. He was a forceful person who would have his own way, even though he had to put his fingers in his ears to get it. Moreover, when he called her "my dear" instead of the customary Lou it was a sign of supreme obstinacy on his part and could not by any stretch of the imagination be regarded as an indication of placid affection. He always said "my dear" at the top of his voice and with a great deal of irascibility.

Mr. William W. Blithers was a self made man who had begun his career by shouting lustily at a team of mules in a railway construction camp. Other drivers had tried to improve on his vocabulary, but even the mules were able to appreciate the futility of such an attempt, and later on, when he came to own two or three railroads, to say nothing of a few mines and a steam yacht, his ability to drive men was even more noteworthy than his power over the jackasses had been.

Mr. and Mrs. Blithers had been discussing royalty. Up to the previous week they had restricted themselves to the nobility, but as an event of unexampled importance had transpired in the interim they now felt that it would be the rankest stupidity to consider any one short of a prince royal in picking out a suitable husband—or, more properly speaking, consort—for their only daughter, Maud Applegate Blithers, aged twenty.

Mrs. Blithers long ago had consigned her husband to the ordinary human being of the male persuasion was worthy of their daughter's hand and had set her heart on having nothing meaner than a duke on the family roll. Blithers alluded to it for awhile as the parrot—with the choice lying between Eric and and Italy.

But now, just as they were on the point of accepting in lieu of a duke an exceptionally promising count, the most event conspired to complete [illegible] set all of their plans—or notions, so to speak. It was nothing less than the arrival in America of an eligible prince of the royal blood, a ruling prince at that. As a matter of fact, he had already arrived in America, but upon the vast estate adjoining that's own in the Catskills.

Peculiarly promising to their hopes was the indisputable fact that the prince's mother had married an American, thereby establishing a precedent behind which no constitutional obstacle could thrive, and had lived very happily with the gentleman in spite of the critics.

It appears that the prince after leisurely crossing the continent on his way around the world had come to the Truxton Kings for a long promised and much desired visit, the duration of which depended to some extent on his own inclinations and not a little on the outcome of the war talk that affected two great European nations—Russia and Austria. Mr. Blithers was in a position to know that the little principality over which the young man reigned was bound to be drawn into the cataclysm not as a belligerent or an ally, but in the matter of a loan that inconveniently expired within the year and which would hardly be renewed by Russia with the prospect of vast expenditures of war threatening her treasury. The loan undoubtedly would be called, and Graustark was not in a position to pay out of her own slender resources, two years of famine having fallen upon the people at a time when prosperity was most to be desired.

It was the private opinion of Mr Blithers that the young prince and the trusted agents who accompanied him on his journey were in the United States solely for the purpose of arranging a loan through sources that could only be reached by personal appeal.

But all this is beside the question. The young Prince of Graustark was enjoying American hospitality, and no matter what he owed to Russia, American owed to him its most punctilious consideration.

The main point is that the prince was now rusticating within what you might call a stone's throw of the capacious and hardly country residence of Mr Blithers; moreover, he was an uncommonly attractive chap, with a laugh that was so charged with heartiness that it didn't seem possible that he could have a drop of royal blood in his vigorous young body. And the perfect ly ridiculous part of the whole situation was that Mr. and Mrs. King lived in a modest, vine covered little house that could have been lost in the servants' quarters at Blitherwood. Especially aggravating, too, was the Kings attitude. They were really nobodies, so to speak, and yet they blithely called their royal guest "Bobby" and allowed him to fetch and carry for their women folk quite as if he were an ordinary whippersnapper up from the city to spend the week end.

The remark with which Mr. Blithers introduces this chapter was in response to an oft repeated declaration made by his wife. Mrs. Blithers merely had stated—but over and over again—that money couldn't buy everything in the world, referring directly to social eminence and indirectly to their secret ambition to capture a prince of the royal blood for their daughter Maud. She had prefaced this opinion, however, with the exceedingly irritating admission that Mr. Blithers was not in his right mind when he proposed to entertain the prince to spend a few weeks at Blitherwood, provided the young man could cut short his visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. King, who, he had asseverated, were in no position to entertain royalty as royalty was in the habit of being entertained.

"You say you don't want Count What's-His-Name."

Long experience had taught Mr Blithers to read the lip and eye language with some degree of certainty, so by watching his wife's indignant face closely he was able to tell when she was succumbing to reason. He was a lordly, domineering person who [illegible] for every one within range of [illegible] and it was only when his [illegible] rabbit sarcastic that he closed his ears and hounded his opinions into her very teeth, so to say, joyfully overwhelming her with facts which it were futile for her to attempt to deny. He was aware quite as much so as if he had heard the words that she was now saying:

"Well, there is absolutely no use arguing with you, Will. Have it your way if it pleases you."

Eying her with some uneasiness, he cautiously inserted his thumbs in the armholes of his brocaded waistcoat and proclaimed:

"As I said before, Lou, there isn't a foreign nobleman, from the emperor down, who is above grabbing a few million dollars. They're all hard up."

"We were speaking of Prince Robin," remarked his wife, with a slight shudder. Mrs. Blithers came of better stock than her husband. His gaucheries frequently set her teeth on edge. She was born in Providence and sometimes mentioned the occurrence when particularly desirous of squelching him, not unkindly perhaps, but by way of making him realize that their daughter had good blood in her veins. Mr. Blithers had heard in a roundabout way that he first saw the light of day in Jersey City, although after he became famous Newark claimed him. He did not bother about the matter.

"Well, he's like all the rest of them," said he after a moment of indecision. Something told him that he really ought to refrain from talking about the cost of things, even in the bosom of his family. He had heard that only vulgarians speak of their possessions. "Now, there's no reason in the world why we shouldn't consider his offer. He"—

"Offer?" she cried, aghast. "He has made no offer, Will. He doesn't even know that Maud is in existence. How can you say such a thing?"

"I was merely looking ahead, that's all. My motto is 'Look ahead.' You know it as well as I do. Where would I be today if I hadn't looked ahead and seen what was going to happen before the other fellow had his eyes open? Will you tell me that? Where, I say? What's more, where would I be now if I hadn't looked ahead and seen what a marriage with the daughter of Judge Morton would mean to me in the long run?" He felt that he had uttered a very pretty and convincing compliment. "I never made a bad bargain in my life, Lou, and it wasn't guesswork when I married you. You, my dear old girl, you were the solid foundation on which I"—

"I know," she said wearily. "You've said it a thousand times—'the foundation on which I built my temple of posterity'—yes, I know, Will. But I am still unalterably opposed to making ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of Mr and Mrs. King."

"Ridiculous? I don't understand you?"

"Well, you will after you think it over," she said quietly, and he scowled in positive perplexity.

"Don't you think he'd be a good match for Maud?" he asked, after many minutes. He felt that he had thought it over.

"Are you thinking of kidnaping him, Will?" she demanded.

"Certainly not! But all you've got to do is to say that he's the man for Maud and I'll—I'll do the rest. That's the kind of a man I am, Lou. You say you don't want Count What's-His-Name—that is, you don't want him as much as you did—and I'll do say that it would be the grandest thing in the world if Maud could be the Princess of Grosstick"—

"Graustark, Will."

"That's what I said. Well, if you want her to be the Princess of THAT I'll see that she is, provided this fellow is a gentleman and worthy of her. The only prince I ever knew was a rascal, and I'm going to be careful about this one. You remember that, mensly"—

"There is no question about Prince Robin," said she sharply.

"I suppose the only question is, How much will he want?"

"You mean—settlement?"

"Sure."

"Have you no romance in your soul, William Blithers?"

"I never believed in fairy stories," said he grimly. "And, what's more, I don't take any stock in cheap novels in which American heroes go about marrying into royal families and all that sort of rot. It isn't done, Lou. If you want to marry into a royal family you've got to put up the coin."

"Prince Robin's mother, the poor Princess Yetive, married an American for love, let me remind you."

"Umph! Where is this Grosstock, anyway."

"Somewhere east of the setting sun,' she quoted. "You must learn how to pronounce it."

"I never was good at foreign languages. By the way, where is Maud this afternoon?"

"Motoring."

He waited for additional information.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

SEVEN YEARS TORTURE

Nothing Helped Him Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

ALBERT VARNER

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915.

For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives", and to everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-tives", and you will get well".

ALBERT VARNER.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

It was not for her [illegible] to be dominated somewhat forcibly:

"Who with?"

"Young Seoville."

He scowled. "He's a loafer, Lou. No good in the world. I don't like the way you let"—

"He is of a very good family, my dear."

"Is he—er—in love with her?"

"Certainly. Why not? Isn't every one she meets in love with her?"

"I—I suppose so," he admitted sheepishly. His face brightened. "And there's no reason why this prince shouldn't fall heels over head, is there? Well, there you are! That will make a difference in the settlement. Believe me, a difference of a couple of millions at least if"—

She arose abruptly. "You are positively disgusting, Will. Can't you think of anything but"—

"Say, ain't that Maudie coming up the drive now? Sure it is! By gracious, did you ever see anything to beat her? She's got 'em all beat a mile when it comes to looks and style and— Oh, by the way," lowering his voice to a hoarse, confidential whisper, "I wouldn't say anything to her about the marriage just yet if I were you. I want to look him over first."

Prince Robin of Graustark was as good looking a chap as one would see in a week's journey. Little would one suspect him of being the descendant of a long and distinguished line of princes save for the unmistakable though indefinable something in his eye that exacted rather than invited the homage of his fellow man. His laugh was a free and merry one, his spirits as effervescent as wine, his manner blithe and boyish, yet beneath all this fair and guileless exposition of carelessness lay the sober integrity of caste.

His mother, the beautiful, gracious and lamented Princess Yetive, set all royal circles by the ears when she married the American, Lorry, back in the nineties. A special act of the ministry had legalized this union, and the son of the American was not deprived of his right to succeed to the throne which his forbears had occupied for centuries. From his mother he had inherited the right of kings, from his father the spirit of freedom; from his mother the power of majesty, from his father the power to see beyond that majesty. When little more than a babe in arms he was orphaned, and the affairs of state fell upon the shoulders of three loyal and devoted men who served as regents until he became of age.

He was seven when the great revolt headed by Count Marianx came so near to overthrowing the government, and he behaved like the prince that he was. It was during those perilous times that he came to know the gallant Truxton King, in whose home he was now a happy guest. But before Truxton King he knew the lovely girl who became the wife of that devoted adventurer and who, to him, was always to be "Aunt Loraine."

As a very small boy he had paid two visits to the home land of his father, but after the death of his parents his valuable little person was guarded so jealously by his subjects that not once had he set foot beyond the borders of Graustark, except on two widely separated occasions of great pomp and ceremony at the courts of Vienna and St. Petersburg, and a secret journey to London when he was seventeen. (It appears that he was determined to see a great football match.) On each of these occasions he was attended by watchful members of the cabinet and certain military units in the new far from insignificant standing army. As a matter of fact, he witnessed the football match from the ordinary stands, surrounded by thousands of unsuspecting Britons, but carefully wedged in between two generals of his own army and flanked by a minister of police, a minister of the treasury and a minister of war, all of whom were excessively bored by the contest and more or less appalled by his unusual enthusiasm. He had insisted on going to the match incog. to enjoy it for all it was worth to the real spectators—those who sit or stand where the compression is not unlike that applied to a box of sardines.

The regency expired when he was twenty years of age, and he became ruler in fact of himself as well as of the half million subjects who had waited patiently for the great day that was to see him crowned and glorified. He was their prince, and they loved him well.

Mr. Blithers was very close to the truth when he said (to himself, if you remember) that the financial situation in the far off principality was not all that could be desired. It is true that Graustark was in Russia's debt to the extent of some 20,000,000 garros—about $30,000,000, in other words—and that the day of reckoning was very near at hand. The loan was for a period of twelve years and had been arranged contrary to the advice of John Tullis, an American financier, who long had been interested in the welfare of the principality through friendship for the lamented prince consort, Lorry. He had been farsighted enough to realize that Russia would prove a hard creditor, even though she may have been sincere in her protestations of friendship for the modest borrower.

A stubborn element in the cabinet overcame his opposition, however, and the debt was contracted, taxation increased by popular vote and a period of governmental thriftiness inaugurated. Railroads, highways, bridges and aqueducts were built, owned and controlled by the state, and the city of Edelweiss rebuilt after the devastation created during the revolt of Count Marianx and his minions. There seemed to be some prospect of vindication for the ministry, and Tullis, who lived in Edelweiss, was fair minded enough to admit that their action appeared to have been for the best. The people had prospered, and taxes were paid in full and without complaint. The reserve fund grew steadily and surely, and there was every prospect that when the huge debt came due it would be paid in cash. But on the very crest of their prosperity came adversity. For two years the crops failed, and a pestilence swept through the herds. There was not so much as a penny left over for the so called sinking fund.

CHAPTER II.

Mr. Blithers Goes Visiting.

A YEAR of grace remained. The minister of finance had long since recovered from the delusion that it would be easy to borrow from either England or France to pay the Russians, there being small prospect of a renewal by the czar, even for a short period at a higher rate of interest. The great nations or Europe made it plain to the little principality that they would not put a

The Three Functions of the Liver

1. It manufactures the bile essential in the process of digestion.
2. The starch and sugars derived from the food are stored in the liver and sent to the tissues as needed.
3. It detects and destroys poisons.

Dire Results of Overeating

From the standpoint of health man's cardinal sin is overeating.

The digestive system can look after a certain amount of food, but when continually crowded the food mass is delayed in the alimentary canal and what is not digested ferments.

In other words, this food spoils or rots, and poisonous bacteria are given off.

It is the duty of the liver to destroy these poisons. It usually succeeds, but after a time it tires, increases in size from overwork, and finally fails.

What Failure of the Liver Means

The poisons then hurry through the liver and into other organs or tissues.

Then you have torpid liver, indigestion, headaches, bad breath, bilious spells and irregular action of the bowels.

This condition is described as auto-intoxication, or self-poisoning by food.

Cirrhosis of the liver follows. Complications set in. Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy are natural developments.

But these conditions do not come on you suddenly. You have months or years of warning.

How to Get the Liver Right

The thing to do is to keep the liver active and the bowels regular by use of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and you will then run no risk of such serious developments.

This medicine acts directly and specifically on the liver. By promptly awakening the sluggish action of this all-important organ a good flow of bile is ensured. This is poured into the intestines, where it acts as Nature's cathartic in keeping the bowels regular.

Prevent Host of Ills

Such a multitude of ills arise from sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are considered a household necessity wherever their merits are known.

By all means regulate your diet to your needs.

Then remember that when your liver does its work and threatens to upset the whole digestive system Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will afford quick relief and prevent all serious complications.

One pill a dose. 25 cents a box.

Refused A Charter

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board met in Council Chamber Friday, heard the petition of the Albemarle Telephone Co. who wanted a charter to operate in that township and make connections with Wiarton, and refused to grant this request upon the grounds that Mr. Gillies was the pioneer on the peninsula, that it had been up hill work for a long time, and that the population on the peninsula was not large enough to warrant two systems—Mr. Gillies informs The Echo that he is going to erect a line line along the West shore of Albemarle and already has the promise of fifteen subscribers.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Wm J. Cooey, who departed this life on 26 of December nineteen-twelve.

Four years have passed our hearts still sore.
As time goes on, we miss her more.
Her chearful voice, her loving face,
No one can take our mother's place
Her memory is as dearto-day
As at the hour, she passed away.
When days are dark and friends are few.
Oh! mother, how we long for you.

She Did Not Buy.

Mrs. Jenkins had a passion for the old and curious. One day when rummaging about in a bric-a-brac shop she noticed a quaint figure, the head and shoulders of which appeared above the counter,

"What is that Japanese idol over there worth?" she asked.

The sale-man replied in a subdued tone "About half a million. That is the proprietor."

Mr. H. F. Loney was at a sale of pure bred Holsteins in Woodstock last week and purchased four cows at a cost of $890. This is going some, and it speaks well of this enterprising dairyman. While his milk has always been first class his Wiarton patrons will hope that these pure breds will give nothing but cream. They cost enough for that.

The evangelistic services conducted by the Rev. Mr Crossley ended on Sunday night. There were three very large meetings on Sunday, the one in the evening in the Methodist Church being particularly well attended. Both of the churches, the Methodist and the Baptist, which had united, are much pleased with the results. There was a large number of conversions reported. The Rev. Mr. Crossley will begin another campaign in Tara at the first of the year.

The Market Prices—The most noticeable change this week is in the wheat market. Wheat was quoted at $1.50 per bushel Monday. The buyers said, however, that this will not last long, that it is due to the peace talk, and as the Allies will not come to terms with the Germans wheat will soon be up again. Perhaps so, but flour is now selling at $4.95. Butter is getting easier and selling at 38 cents per pound, eggs are quoted at 45 cents per doz, not half so high as in Toronto, where they are selling at $1.00 per doz, apples are selling this week at $1.00 per bag, potatoes at $1.85 per bag, hogs at $11. 25 per cwt, oats 70c pea bus. barley 1.00, peas 2.30, hides 20c per pound.

Town Council

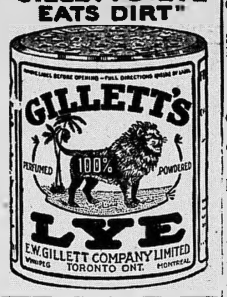
The last regular meeting of the Town Council of 1916 was held Monday evening. Arrangements have already been made for the annual elections. Nominations will take place on Friday, and on New Years day, if a poll is to be held, the electors will decide who shall govern this burg for another twelve months. It has become difficult to obtain councillors, in fact, the best thought of the present day favors government by commission, a system that would give us continuity and a business administration.



THE ECHO does not know who will sit around the council board next year, but one thing is sure that the work of the council of 1917 will be the most important for years, families are leaving town because there is no work for them, and if this exodus is to be arrested, it is up to the council of 1917 to take the initiative. There are a number of men who have passed through the Mayor's chair who might be induced to act as councillors. There is no need of an election.

There was very little before the board Monday evening. The Canada Furniture Manufacturers Co. have paid another $1500 on their mortgage, which shows that the town made a good investment when it assisted that institution. The Medical Health Officer made his report in which he stated that there had been an epidemic of measles in the town during the year, and also of scarlet fever. The greatest precautions had been taken against the spread of the latter, and he hoped to see it soon disappear. The collector was allowed until the second week in January to return his roll. There is a dispute between Mr. J. Crandon and the town about the amount of stone he put on the streets last fall. The council wants him to reduce his bill by 10 yards which amounts to $9. but Mr Crandon can see no reason why he should do so, particularly when he has already thrown off 5 yards.

Letter From Pte. John Hilditch

to-day at noon, I am feeling alright now. This Monday evening we are past mid ocean now We had service on board yesterday morning led by Milton Aiken and Capt. Foster. The captain preached, his text was "God so Loved the World etc" say he certainly can speak, then there was a song service last night in the dining hall, Milton Aikens sang a couple of solos, he is a good singer then Lieutenant Cameron sang a solo. Well we expect to be met by some torpedo boats to-morrow, probably a torpedo boat for each transport. We will soon be nearing what is called the "danger zone" but they say we are really safer there than here as we are better protected having a better escort. They claim there is very little danger as the coast is so well patrolled by British war ships. We get the latest war news to-day over the wireless. Well things are nearly the same each day on board. Lieut Johns, from Wiarton, a returned soldier gave us a lecture on what we were to expect when we reached England I guess we need not be alarmed in the least if we behave ourselves we will get on alright, I asked him if he thought our letters would be censored when we got to England he said he thought not, so I guess I will tell you the name of the boat we are on, it is the C. P. R. liner Metagama she is about 650 ft. long, the Northland and the Cameronian are the two transports with us. We are looking forward to seeing some of the boys in England. Tell Jennyns we will try and hunt up Charlie Grafton if he is still there.

I guess I had better draw my letter to a close or it will be too big for an envelope I will write again just as soon as we land so you will get both letters together so good bye.

Lovingly Jack.

The first epistle of John.

Candidates Appeal Unto Caesar

The Dove of Peace in Amable, Lindsay and St. Edmunds, but the ballot must decide the issues in Keppel, Wiarton, Albemarle and Eastnor.

Last Friday was nomiuntion day and so far as THE Echo can learn the following are the results :

In St. Edmunds and Lindsay the old councils were re-elected.

In Eastnor the council was re-elected, but there is a three-cornered fight for the reeveship, in which Reeve Scott and Messrs. Nathan Loudon and Frank Moore are taking part.

In Albemarle the contest for the reeveship will lie between Reeve Whicher and ex-Reeve Robt. Given, and there is a big line up for the council. There are only four seats and there are seven candidates for them. These are John McIver, Charles Craig, William Weir, Douglas Couch, M. McGarrvie, Affix Hardtman and John Lemcke.

In Keppel all the members of the old council are standing for re-election as well as Charles Anson Burfoot, who lives near Shallow Lake.

In Amabel Reeve Craig and the council were re-elected.

In Wiarton there will be an election. The lack of interest taken in the nomination proceedings on Friday, beggard everything ever seen in the town hall. If the fire had happened the day before instead of the day after, the result would have been different. There was only a handful of people present. The policy of drift to which we all are parties, is responsible for it. The result of the nominations finds in the field, for reeve—G. Kastner and W. Ashcroft; for councillors—Messrs. S. Pope, F. Blante, James Flett, James Paterson, T. J. Moore, W. Irwin and D. J. Byers. Mr. J. J. Tyson was elected Mayor by acclamation. Mr. A. W. Baines, mayor, and four other councillors retired.

In connection with other municipal matters there is a feeling that the system of electing councillors can be improved upon. In Keppel there is a local trouble in one ward, where a ward election should decide the whole matter, but the whole township is thrown into it. Why should councillors not be elected for a period of two years, so that a better business administration could be secured?

DEATH OF PTE. R. McDONALD

The sad word was received last week that Private Robert McDonald had died at Bramshott, England, and that his death was due to an accident. It appears that in a practice he was shot in the leg, gangrene set in, an operation followed, but the brave soldier succumbed. Private McDonald was a son of the late Robert McDonald and wife Kepplel, and a brother of Mrs. Rutherford [illegible]. He was about 31 yrs of age, a member of the Presbyterian Church, and of the Orange Lodge, Chatsworth. He was a most exemplary young gentleman and his death will be regretted by a large number of friends.

Send that distant friend The Echo.

TOWNSHIP OF ALBEMARLE

To the Free and Independent Electors of Albemarle

Ladies and Gentlemen—

I hereby offer my services as councillor for the year 1917. As I am a heavy ratepayer I am not satisfied with present conditions, and the the management of the municipal council, especially in the way that the work is done on the roads. I would propose to draw the gravel on sleighs during the winter. Now that the timber is nearly all done, there is plenty of spare time for this work. Taking into consideration the location of Albemarle more assistance should be secured from the County Council, the Provincial Government and the Dominion Government. Soliciting your votes and influence I hope to have the honor of a seat at the Albemarle council for 1917. Thanking you in anticipation, and wishing you all the compliments of the season.

I am, yours sincerely
John McIvor

To the Electors of the Town of Wiarton

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

I am again a candidate as councillor for the town for 1917 During the past two years, I have done my utmost for the welfare of the municipality, and if honored again with your vote and influence will continue to serve you to the best of my ability.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season.

I am, yours faithfully
S. W. Pope

Township of Eastnor

To the Electors of the Township

Ladies and Gentlemen—

I am again soliciting your vote and influence for the office of reeve of this municipality, an office which I have filled a number of years. Since I became your reeve I feel that I can claim credit for settling a number of vexed questions connected with our drainage system, and the council of 1917 will be called upon to forward and complete a lot of work of this kind. The office of reeve demands that a man thoroughly acquainted with the situation shall fill it. The present is no time for a change. I, therefore, hope you will honor me with your support again, and if elected will serve you faithfully.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year

I am, your obedient servant
D. Scott

$75,000 Go Up in Smoke

The Table Factory a Complete Loss. Peter Alderson Burned to Death. Others Escape From the Windows.

When the fire alarm was given Saturday, just before noon, the alarm was not treated seriously. Most of the people thought that there was a small fire at the Table Factory that would soon be put out, but before long it was seen that the building was doomed, and the town learned that Peter Alderson had been burned to death. It is a very hard blow to the town and it has come when we are not prepared to receive it.

The story of the tragedy is easily told. Messrs. P. Alderson and Correll were working in the basement when they saw a fire which evidently started from a hot box. They immediately turned the tap, and got a small hose at work, but the smoke was suffocating, and they had to run for their lives. To reach the door they had to pass through the engine room. Mr. Correll managed to get to the door and that was about all, his face was somewhat burned. And right here there is confusion. Both probably left for the door at the same time, but it is supposed that Mr. Alderson went back for his tools, and was overpowered with suffocation. Others claim that the passage to the door which Correll took was too narrow for two and that he went around a table to reach the door in another way and fell before he got there. At all events Sunday morning his skeleton was only twelve feet from the door and his head pointing that way. The fire ran its course. The pressure was poor, although there was all kinds of pressure at the pump house. There are those who think that it might have been saved with good pressure in the early stages, there are others who think that all the water in the Georgian Bay would not have put it out. A thorough inquiry into the whole matter would serve a useful purpose. Nothing remains of the buildings but the walls, and they are not of much value. The whole thing, save what can be sold to the junk dealer, is a total loss, and a conservative estimate places the loss at $75,000. The fire spread so rapidly that those on the second storey were obliged to escape through the windows, jump on the roofs of other buildings and then by ladders get to the ground. The Table Factory was built by the Siemon Bros., and sold to the Canada Furniture Manufacturers Co., Ltd., when the merger was formed. It was granted a loan by the town to the extent of $15000. It was a most excellent institution, well managed by Mr. C. Hill, and those who are now thrown out of work, had all that they could do there, with plenty of overtime. It is generally supposed that the loss is fully covered by insurance.

Will the company rebuild? This is a vital question to the town. The employees have their homes in this town, and if the company can be persuaded to rebuild, it will be a great thing for them as well as for the town Every effort to induce them to rebuild must be made. However, whatever may be the decision of the company, Wiarton must go ahead. We cannot deny the fact that we have been drifting for some time. If we are to retain our place upon the map, the matter depends upon ourselves If the money invested in western lands a few years ago, had been invested here in industrial enterprises it would have been a good thing for the town at this particular crisis. There are a great many in the town not dead broke yet, and those in authority for 1917 will have to do the thinking and planning of how the energy left can be best utilized. The situation is a call to those of means in the town to invest, and for all others a strong pull and a pull altogether.

We have talked plainly because it is time to state facts in the face. The year of 1917 will be the most critical in the history of the town. There is this, however, to remember, that the amount of money paid at this point for stock each week is becoming a very large sum, and will stimulate business.

While the destruciion of the property is most regrettable, the fact that a life was lost is extremely sad. However, there is but one opinion, that is, if there was one person in Wiarton more than another, ready to meet the Great Judge, that man was Peter Alderson. His life was an open book His character was unimpeachable, his bearing was meek and his example worthy of imitation by everyone, no matter what may be their position in life. His aged parents and the members of the family, have the sympathy of the whole town. The funeral services held in the Methodist Church Tuesday were attended by all who could get there and the Rev. Mr Prudham paid a high tribute to the character of the deceased.

LIONS HEAD

The council has been elected by acclamation but the reeve has to contest his seat. If the people consider that the business of the township has been attended to in an energetic manner he may again be elected. Two capable men are running against him, Mr Landon, who purchases hay and grain from the farmers, and Mr. F. G. Moore, who buys nearly everything the farmer has to offer for sale. It will be remembered that last year, in auditing the books, Mr. Moore discovered a mistake whereby the collector unknowingly stood to benefit several hundred dollars. Whoever is elected this year should be capable of seeing that mistakes like this should not exist in future.

One thing noticeable at the nomination was that all were united on good roads. The only difference of opinion was the method that would be best. Some advocated stone crushers, others grading, but nearly all wanted the road work abolished.

One man at the nomination remarked that things were going so smoothly it was like a Methodist love feast. Our own opinion is, that he did not do justice to the meeting.

Christmas day this year was not disturbed with any rumors of peace or any other outside news. The papers did not come on Saturday night's stage and the result was that when Friday's paper was read there was nothing left to read until Monday night. Saturday, Sunday and Monday is a long time to go without news of any description but it is over now and we trust it will not occur again.

Try Whit Moore's for sweater coats.

Mr. W. B. Moore was notified last week by the Government that he had been appointed issuer of marriage license. Since Mr. Cooper left the position had been vacant, and no one here was authorized to fill out licenses. It will now be more convenient.

Capt. Leslie Martindale sailed into the harbor Christmas afternoon after completing his season at Cabot't Head lighthouse.

Miss Wilson is visiting her sister Mrs. Armstrong during the holiday season.

Dr. Roy Hacking made the trip to Stokes Bay and Miller Lake on Sunday in his car. He had no difficulty in making the trip although there was a severe blizzard raging before he reached home in the evening.

The boys had their first hockey in the rink on Christmas Day.

When you buy paokage tea you pay for the lead and the advertising- When you buy bulk tea from Whit Moore you pay for nothing but the tea and you are the judge as to the quality. There are a lot of people think it good Have you tried it? If not, do so, and be convinced.

WALKERTON

The action brought by two farmers Ernest Ashcroft of Albemarle and Edwin Bennet of Turnberry against two drovers, Jos. Sanderson and Cecil Day o. Wiarton for $423 damage and cost for breach of contract in the purchase of 45 head of cattle, and which was argued before Judge Craig and Jury at the County Court here last week resulted in the plaintiffs getting a verdict of $403 and cost. The drovers after contracting to buy the cattle from the plaintiffs, afterwards refused to take them, and were held liable the court for the loss the farmers sustained by the later drop in price, as well as expenses incurred re-selling them again. Robertson & McNab for plaintiffs: Mr. Murphy, M. P. of Listowel for defendants.

The action brought by Joseph Doyle of near Chepstow for $500 damages against his neighbor, Jos. Diebold, for swearing out a search warrant and searching Doyle's premises for a bag of clover seed that had been stolen, was amicably settled out of court last week by Diebold agreeing to publicly apologize through the press for the searching ordinance. In return for this, Doyle agrees to withdraw the action he instituted in Walkerton against Diebold for malicious prosecution.

The Bruce County Children's Aid Society, who are about to purchase a site and build a Shelter in Walkerton for neglected children, are applying to the Ontario Legislature for authority to covenant and take over from the executors the $8000 bequest which the late Wm. Moore left for the Children's Aid Society here. According to the terms of the bequest, his widow, Mrs. Isabella McKillop, is to receive $250.00 per annum during the remainder of her life. We understand that the County Council have agreed to contribute the $250. to Mrs. McKillop provided the Society can land the $8000 bequest.

Mrs. (Judge) Klein left on Saturday for Battle Creek Sanitarium, and will return this week with the Judge, who is slightly improving.

OWEN SOUND

Do the farmers of this district receive for their hogs the full price to which they are entitled under the prevailing market. This is a question which a number have been asking for some time past, and the matter has been drawn to the attention of The Sun several times. This newspaper does not pretend to have any special knowledge on the hog question but from figures shown The Sun on Saturday by Mr. H. J. McLennan, of Sydenham it is evident that there is some ground for complaint. The Sun was told that he brought a load of hogs to town last week and received $11.25 per cwt., and on the same day the Toronto price was $13.00. He was not satisfied and on returning home telephoned Markdale and Meaford, and found that in the former place $11.70 had been paid that day, while in the latter the price was from $11.50 to $11.75. Mr McLennan said "I am a firm believer in the buy-at-home policy and in purchasing give the Owen sound business men the preference whenever possible but I do not want to sacrifice my products even to our home men" Mr McLennan alleged that competition did not exist among the local buyers, who he claimed, all represented one man who in turn bought for one house. He claims that the price here is invariably lower in Owen Sound than elsewhere, although the expense of shipping is practically no greater. The question is one that should be fully explained by the local buyers. If a wrong impression exists it should be cleared up without delay as it would do much to injure the local market.

Chesley

If the utilities by-law carries there will be another nomination and election for commissioners. One will be elected for one year and one for two. One commissioner retires every year. The mayor by virtue of his office is the third commissioner.

Ezra Pfohl, who had been manager of H. Ankenmann's farm for several years has gone farming on his own account. He has purchased lot 21, con. 3, Elderslie from Blair Fortune for $4000. This is a splendid property. Evidently Mr. and Mrs. Pfohl don't want to get away from their old neighbors on the 2nd. Mr. and Mrs. Fortune will move to Chesley.

Capt. Dr. Minifie of the City of London, who has been with the fighting forces at the front appealed on behalf of the distressed Belgians in Wesley Church last Sunday morning and in Geneva Church at night. He also gave a delightful illustrated lecture in the school-room of Geneva church on Monday and showed and explained some interesting relics from the front. There has been a generous response to the appeals of Capt. Minifie for support for the Belgians who have been driven from their homes and over $500 for this noble work of relieving distress was contributed by citizens of Chesley and farmers who attended Sunday services. Capt. Minifie is a Presbyterian clergyman and Dr. Shearer of that church in a signed statement approves of his raising funds in Canada for such a humane object.

Patriotic Gillies Hill, at the request of Mr. Howell, who was soliciting donations for the suffering Belgians outside the German line on Sunday afternoon last raised in a few moments $45. Knox church, Paisley, also gave a very hearty response for the same when at the morning service a collection of $400 was donated.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

One of the oldest of subjects, but one that must be considered by successful poultry raisers, is the care of chickens. Without thoroughness in this there will be nothing but disappointment and failure.

Notwithstanding all the writing and talking, it is a rare thing to find a poultry house or a flock of chickens that is free from vermin. This fact explains most of the failures in poultry management. Taken in connection with filthy and drafty houses and the liberty given to fowls to run about in wet weather, the whole business becomes one of wasted effort. There are just enough well managed and profitable poultry plants to prove that the industry is a good one when it receives proper attention.

There are a great many different kinds of lice that attack the fowls, but we can consider them all under three classes, as they attack in the three different ways. These three classes are body lice, head lice, and mites. The body lice are on all parts of the fowls' bodies, but more especially in the soft, fluffy feathers. They usually remain on the fowl, and they increase very rapidly.

It has been estimated that within eight weeks one of the lice will have 125,000 descendants. You will see from this how much easier it is for one to destroy these pests before they get well started in the spring.

Body lice are not bloodsuckers, but live on the roots of the feathers and scales of the skin, causing irritation.

In getting rid of them nothing equals a good insect powder. Hold the fowl by the legs, head down, and dust the powder into the feathers near the roots, rubbing it well into the feathers and skin with the hand. In all seasons give chickens a chance to dust themselves. This will aid in destroying lice.

Head lice are true bloodsuckers. With their long bills they puncture the skin and the blood vessels underneath. They are a constant drain on the health and strength of the adult fowls, fastening themselves on their heads and sucking the blood from a position over the brain.

As the chicks are hatched these lice leave the old hen and fasten on the chicks. If you pick up a droopy chick and examine its head you are almost sure to find these lice fast by their bills, busily sucking the blood. To destroy these rub some sweet oil or lard well into the feathers and skin on the heads of the chicks and of the older fowls also.

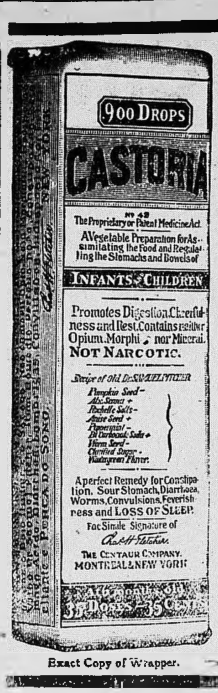
Mites are even worse than these lice. They hide during the day in the cracks and crevices of the henhouses, especially about the roosts, and attack the fowls at night after they have gone to roost.

To destroy them a liquid is much better than a powder. Paint the roosts and spray the dropping boards and walls with a preparation of crude carbolic acid and kerosene mixed, half and half.

There is another parasite belonging to this family, called the depluming mite. It usually appears in the spring and summer and attacks the roots of the feathers, causing them to break off and leave a bare spot.

The mite is quickly passed from fowl to fowl and soon spreads through the entire flock. You will not see anything suspicious on the bare spots, but if you will pull out some of the feathers and examine the roots you will see these mites. They have the appearance of fine dust.

Spray the houses as for the other mites and rub carborated vaseline into the roots of the feathers. It is also a good treatment to dip the fowls in a tea made from tobacco leaves.



There is another parasite that causes the disease called scaly leg by boring under the skin of the feet and legs of the fowls. They cause a powdery secretion, which enlarges the feet and legs of the fowl, giving them a rough, ugly appearance. Dip the feet and legs in kerosene, rubbing with the hand and allowing it to soak well in.

sending it home, I got a small piece of cloth of a Jake hundreds of years old and am sending it home for a souvenier it is from the tower of London It is almost impossible to get a souvenier here but I managed to get that and Jack got a small piece of silk tapestry off Wellingtons funeral carriage and we are sending them home. We are sending a picture of the tower of London, where you see it marked with a cross is where Jack and Herb were sitting with their feet over the edge 365 feet above the ground. We passed by the Buckingham Palace but we did not call as it was rather early for visitors. We visited the Royal Stables and were shown horses and carriages and the Kings favorite charger and the charger of the Princess Mary. We went to Beauchamp tower and saw some of the cells and inscriptions that prisoners had carved there hundreds of years ago, some of it we could read, part of it was scripture I saw the cell that Walter Raleigh was kept in, also the Royal Chapel of St. John. I crossed the London bridge it is not as nice as the tower bridge, the London bridge was built nearly a thousand years ago. Oh there are some sights worth a year of a persons life but when the war is over England wont keep us much longer than we can help, Capo Croker would look pretty good to me right now. How are you all at home? I have not seen Jack and Herb since noon. Love to all at home and always pray for us, and I guess nothing very bad will happen.

Yours Lovinly.

Doing Our Bit

All of us cannot fight. All of us—men, women and children—can do something towards winning the war. Are we seeking that "something," or are we evading it? Are we looking for the "bit" we should do, or trying to forget it?

Take the Canadian Patriotic Fund. It has been created to care for the families of our soldiers in those cases—and those only—where need exists. Experience has shown that this means in two families out of three. Up to December 1, 1916, the people of Canada have given $16,500,000 to the Fund.

That is generous giving, isn't it? But the country is still at war; our armies are still growing; the soldiers' families are still in need; the Fund still must be maintained. And what do we find: in every part of the country men crying that they have given enough to the Fund—that Government should now take the burden.

Given enough! When the Canadian lad in the trenches is dead-tired, ready to drop in his tracks, does he chuck his job, declare he has given enough, and call on Government to get another man? Given enough! Is there a man in Canada has given enough if women and children are in need while he, the stay-at-home, has a dollar to spare?

No! This Fund, above all funds, has a claim on every citizen who is not himself a pauper. The fact that Government has not assumed responsibility for it is the fact that makes every man responsible for it—even if he thinks the Fund should be maintained by Government moneys.

Are YOU helping to insure this home against need?

GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT CONTROL, BECAUSE—

1. Government would have to treat all alike. The Fund helps only those in need. If Government paid the families of each soldier the average sum paid by the Fund the extra burden on the country would be between eight and nine million dollars yearly.

2. By paying the average sum those families in districts where cost of living is low would receive more than they need; those in high-cost areas would be paid too little.

3. Costs of administration would be enormously increased. This work is now done, for the most part, by willing workers without cost. Of every hundred dollars subscribed, Ninety-nine Dollars and Forty-six Cents go to the families! Never was a voluntary fund so economically administered.

4. The work would suffer. There would be no more of the friendly, almost paternal, relation now existing between the administrators of the Fund and the families. Government works automatically. The Fund's visitors are friends in need, therefore friends indeed.

5. Taxation would be unequal, for some counties and some provinces are already taxing their people for this Fund. Are they to be taxed again by the Federal authority?

6. The richer classes would be relieved of work they are cheerfully doing. They are now bearing, and bearing because they have the financial power and the patriotic willingness, the larger share of the burden. Why take from them this task, and give it to all, rich and poor?

7. The Fund blesses him that gives. It is a vehicle for public spirit—a channel for patriotic endeavor. The work of administering it has uncovered unknown reservoirs of unselfishness and sacrifice. Men and women have thrown themselves into this work because they found in it the "bit" for which they looked—their contribution to winning the war. Why stay their hand and stifle their enthusiasm?

8. Last, but not least: Government control means raising the money by selling Government bonds. Government bonds mean future taxation. And that means that the returning soldiers will pay, through long years, a large share of the cost of caring for their families—a cost we, the stay-at-homes, pledged ourselves to bear.

MEN AND WOMEN OF ONTARIO:

Bend your backs once again to this burden. If you live in the rural districts see to it that your county councils make grants worthy of the counties and of the cause. If in the towns, start campaigns for individual subscriptions. And personally, taxed or not taxed, give as you can afford, give as your conscience tells you is your duty, your war-time part, in this day of national sacrifice.

The Fund requires $12,500,000 for 1917. Of this Ontario is asked to raise $6,000,000, being the estimated requirements of Ontario's families. If there is no local Fund to which you can subscribe, send your gift direct to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, Victoria Street, Ottawa.

SAVE STABLE MANURE.

Home Produced Fertilizers Are Economical and Valuable to Farmer

The farmer who can look to a prosperous and happy future is the one who knows and practices the art of saving and using stable manure, says H. H. Shepard in the Farm Progress. To some it may seem a trivial matter, yet it is a fact that not one farmer in ten knows how to save large quantities of manure economically; few use it judiciously.

We may talk about crop failures, low prices, hard times, and all that, but the man who saves and uses large quantities of the home produced fertilizers is the man with the fewest complaints and the fattest pocketbook. He seldom experiences crop failures, for his crops are grown in soil that contains moisture and sufficient plant foods for good crop production. He gives back to the soil, and the soil gives back to him; he feeds the soil, and the soil feeds him and his family. There is nothing wonderful about it, simply common sense applied to agriculture.

All know in a general way the value of stable manure in maintaining and increasing soil fertility. The trouble is few of us put our knowledge into practice for saving as much manure as our fields need. We need stimulating along this line. The big secrets of having large quantities of rich manure on the farm are in keeping as much live stock as the land will well carry, in liberal stall feeding and in bedding the housed animals heavily, especially during the wet and cold months.

Pin your faith to domestic animals and keep just as many of them as you possibly can—horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, and poultry. All of these animals are highly profitable now, and the more you keep of them the richer your land will become. The manure they will make will be like money in the bank to the soil, representing a large share of the profit in them. More animals on the farm means more productive capacity of the soil for larger crops to feed more animals.

Then heavy bedding of the housed animals is the next important step. Straw, dry corn stover, refuse hay and similar waste matter are good animal bedding material. It pays handsomely to plan ahead to grow crops that will furnish abundance of bedding for the animals. Wheat and other small grain crops are profitable every year because the straw itself is valuable, even though the grain is not heavy. Every live stock farmer should grow some small grain in order to have plenty of straw to use in stalls and stables.

The time to begin to plan for saving stable manure is in late fall, when animals must be taken from pasture to shelter. Everything that will make the animals comfortable and absorb liquids should be used under the animals' feet. The reason for liberal bedding is to absorb all possible of the stall liquids, thus saving the rich liquids and at the same time making confinement both more sanitary and comfortable for the animals. Pile the bedding in heavily during cold and wet weather to keep the stables dry and clean and to transform waste materials into rich plant foods for the fields.

The solid and liquid droppings of the animals are fertilizers of the best kind for general use, yet the liquids are usually allowed to waste in stables for want of sufficient bedding or absorbing matter. Also, the rough bedding matter itself makes a better fertilizer after it has been used and softened under the animals. Mixed with the other manure, it becomes partially decomposed and is in a more available form for immediate use in growing crops.

To derive the greatest benefit from stable manure it should be taken from the stables and scattered on the land as fast as it is made. Especially is this true on hilly and sloping farms where the soil is inclined to wash in wet weather. All bare land should be covered during the idle months, and there is nothing better than trashy manure for this purpose. The trashier the manure the more ground can be covered and the more solid materials saved and soil enriched.

Put the posts in now for that fence you are going to build this fall, then stretch the wire when the frost makes the post more rigid.

Letter From Roy Matthews

Dec. 2nd, 1916

Dear Mother—

Received your parcel to-day, and was very pleased to get it. By the way, I forgot to say that of course I don't expect you to send me any parcels when I ask you to send money. Prices are very high over here, lots of things are far higher than in Canada. Eggs, for instance, are sixpence each. So if a fellow happens to be away from camp for a meal, it costs something. Most of the people here raise their prices when they see a Canadian coming, not so much here as in Folkestone. It was a positive scandal there. People in London are very much different from those in the country. Everybody was good to me when I was there, as they are to all Canadians. Of course those Canadians who go there looking for evil people are sure to find them. I was alone when I went there first, none of my friends happening to get leave at the same time, but the very first day I ran into some boys from the Bruce Battalion and soon got in touch with Earl Johns. A party of us attended service in Westminster Abbey one morning. The music was simply divine. I was more interested in that than in the old tombs. There's a chap buried there who was 152 years old. He lived through the reigns of ten Kings. A lot of the fine statuary is covered with sand bags as a protection against bombs. We also, of course, went to the tower and saw the crown jewels. One diamond is about the size of a tea-cup. The salt cellar used at King George's coronation banquet is a solid gold affair made in the shape of a castle. Everything there has a history but when you are hustled through by a guide, there's little time to investigate anything thoroughly.

The Famous Old Bailey

One day I was passing by Blackfriars Bridge and stopped to ask a question of a policeman. He was a friendly sort of chap and we got talking about the history of his district. It developed that we were not far from the site of Fleet St, Prison, where Pickwick was supposed to have been confined, you know. We had such an interesting talk that I gave up the idea of going where I had intended and accepted an invitation to tea at the police canteen, on the way we passed by the Old Bailey. Of course the famous Old Bailey is in a new modern building now but it still has the traditions of its venerable predecessor. My policeman friend promised me that he would take me into a session of the court if I ever visited London again.

How The People Travel

I was commissioned by a Vancouver friend of mine to visit his parents in London, so I set sail one afternoon on the upper deck of a motor bus and travelled for about an hour through city streets until I reached Plumstead, which is just past Woolwich. The old people had had the pleasure of seeing two zepps brought down in flames. They were very nice to me. On the way out there, I noticed a long street market, a series of open stalls along the curb with everything imaginable for sale on them. What struck me as most peculiar was to see women buying one or two potatoes at a time and putting them in little hand bags. It's hard to realize poverty like that. Still, London is by no means the dreadful place it's pictured. It isn't the real London though. After I had risked my life three times getting across a corner, a chap said to me "London is frightfully dead now" It must have been lively in peace times. I don't think there could be a finer transportation system than the underground railways. You can get to almost any part of the city from any other part in a very few minutes. They are certainly an advantage in a fog. We had a fog one night. It was a real one too There wasn't a bus, cab or tram moving in the city. I got lost about three times in merely crossing Piccadilly Circus. Everybody crowded into the "Tubes." We haven't anything at all to do with "sapping." We are called Sappers because we belong to the Engineers. Their work consists partly of that gentle pastime and they have been called sappers for a long time. The Signal Company is divided into seperate sections viz., operators, despatch riders, cable detachments, airline men, telephone men etc. We operators are operators and nothing else. We don't even do flag signalling here although we got it in Ottawa. Calling us sappers is on the same principle as making us wear Bandoliers and spurs. We are sup osed to be a mounted unit and have to wear the dress whether we ever ride a horse or not. "Sapping" really is driving a trench toward the enemy's lines at the same time keeping under cover in the trench. That nowadays is only a small part of an Engineers work, but Sappers is the name and there you are.

Well, mother, there is much more to tell you but of course I mustn't say much about the camp. Conditions are fairly good only they are stingy with passes and it gets monotonous. I have been passed out ready for France for some time now but they don't send me and I wish to goodness they would. Give Dell and Bert my congratulations and best wishes for Dell's speedy recovery. Love and Merry Xmas to all.

Yours as ever
Roy

To the Electors of Albemarle

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

I am again a candidate for the office of Reeve of the municipality, an office which I think I filled to your satisfaction a number of years. I would not be a candidate again, if so many had not urged me to enter the contest, in the interest of the township. Our situation is becoming worse each year. Our taxes have become almost unbearable, and at the same time our debt is getting greater. It is high time for a change and if you honor me with your vote, I will serve you to the best of my ability.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season.

I am, yours faithfully

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

THE TEETH AND PURE FOOD.

WE DEMAND pure food. We insist that our factories for the preparation of food shall work under clean conditions. We have factory inspectors to see that food is properly prepared We have health inspectors whose zeal ensure us clean milk, meat, bread, and butter. But what's the use if in the process of mastication the good food has to run the gauntlet of a foul mouth full of dirty, unsanitary, poison-laden teeth? How can a sound stomach remain sound if it has to do the work of inefficient teeth? Or if it has to undo the damage sustained in its mastication by pus-laden teeth? How does the pure food label profit us if every crunch of the jaws grinds the food under a daily pressure of 5,000 lbs. and introduces bacteria that turn a welcome guest into a centre of infection?

Human life is a constant struggle with germ life. When the good germs are overcome by the bad ones there is trouble for the chap in whose body the warfare is carried on. The condition of the mouth is often the determining facts between health and illness. Decayed teeth are due to the chemical action which destroys the enamel and pits the limey structure of the tooth. Bacteria grow in the cavity. Food accumulates and decomposes and soon the mouth becomes more unsanitary than any food which enters it.

Oral hygiene means clean teeth and a clean mouth. It means intelligent use of the tooth-brush. It means healthy gums. In infancy mother's milk is the best aid to sound teeth and a healthy mouth. Later whole cereals, pure milk, fresh vegetables, and fruit are essential for normal growth and perfect tooth structure.

In later life selected foods will do more to keep the mouth and teeth in good condition. Food acids are the best cleansing agents. Grape juice, orange juice, lemon juice, vinegars, and apples bathe the teeth with acids that clean and protect them. An apple eaten in the evening will mechanically and chemically clean the teeth and protect them from bacterial ravages in the night when most damage is done.

What profiteth the man that he gain the whole world yet lose his health? Behold the spectacle of the business man who pursues wealth at such a rapid pace that he must forsooth bolt his food, race from morning to night to attain the rank of a millionaire, and then find that he cannot eat a square meal because of the pangs of dyspepsia!

What is more mournful than the results of intemperance either in the use of drink or food? Naturalists tell us that long ago the prehistoric waters were infested with a species of enormous shark which finally became extinct by reason of the workings of its voracious appetite. Thus Nature eliminates the overfed.

The desire for food and a full diet is universal and is the great stimulus of man and animals alike. When man becomes greedy and takes more ease, food, and drink than his share, Nature discards him.

In the race for power and place, for ease and relief from hunger, man is apt to forget that unless he is careful of his body he will soon be made to suffer for the infraction of Nature's inexorable physical law. With the loss in body tone comes an equal loss in mental activity, and the brain, which for a time was able to operate despite the complaints of an overfed, under-exercised, self-poisoned body, stops working.

The mortality rate for persons over 45 years of age is increasing. How many sons of fathers of our acquaintance who have lived to be 70, 80, and 90 years of age, drop out at 45, 55, or 60? Lack of health-giving exercise, too much strong food, late dinners, lack of sleep, over stimulation of alcohol, the high pressure of the race for gold and position, with physical neglect, bring premature decay. The goal is reached, wealth is amassed, honor, position, and power are gained—and the man is on the downward grade. The brilliant mind becomes clouded. The steady hand is no longer accurate, the eye is dimmed, and the final break-up cannot be long delayed. All of this was entirely preventable.

Other things being equal, the man who leads the well balanced life, who lasts the longest, whose work to the end is uniformly the best, is he who neither over-works or over-plays, neither over-eats nor over-drinks, who has eight hours' sleep out of the twenty-four, who eats simple food in moderation, who offsets mental work with physical recreation, and who is as honest with his own body as with his own business. When success comes to such a man he can enjoy in peace of mind and contentment of body the fruits of his labors.

I wish to thank my manyfriends for their kind patronage during 1916 and hope that 1917 may be a prosperous period for them. I desire to wish them all a Happy New Year.

FAKED VENTRILOQUISM.

The Deception Made Possible by the Loud Speaking Telephone.

A great deal of ventriloquism is not ventriloquism at all. In fact, the modern wonder in this line of pleasant and deceptive art needs to have none of the old time ventriloquists' ability at all. He may—and often does—stand on the opposite side of the stage from his manikin and puff a cigar quite contentedly, to the amusement of the audience. The dummy answers with a ready line of repartee, delivered in stentorian tones. Nor is that all, for he turns and twists his head, waves his arms, kicks up his feet and otherwise acts in a very lifelike manner.

The secret of the dummy's voice is the loud speaking telephone and of his actions various electro magnets. As may be guessed, both are operated by some one off the stage. In order to produce all the desired effects the dummy figure is fitted inside with a loud speaking telephone receiver, with the horn or large mouthpiece pointing toward the audience. The receiver is connected with a special transmitter in an anteroom some distance away. An ordinary operator's breast transmitter is also concealed in the body of the dummy, so that whatever is said by the ventriloquist on the stage is transmitted to the operator in the anteroom, enabling him to speak for the dummy at the proper time.—Argonaut.

Anti-Air Craft Shells.

Special shells have to be used in anti-air craft guns, for the ordinary shell fired into the air cannot be seen in its flight, and the gunner would have no idea whether he went near his target or not. So "tracer" shells are used in anti-air craft guns.

This shell leaves a trail of smoke by day and fire by night, so that its flight can clearly be seen, and the gunner is able to observe how far off his target he is.

The "tracer" has in its base an inflammable composition which is fired as the shell leaves the gun. The actual base of the shell has in it a number of holes, through which the smoke streams as the shell makes its way through the air. At night a firework attachment to the base of the shell takes the place of the smoke composition.

The shell itself is a high explosive shrapnel—that is to say, it is a shell with a thick steel high explosive head and a thin steel body filled with bullets. When it bursts the flying fragments of thick steel from the head smash up the aeroplane or Zeppelin, while the flying bullets kill or wound the aviators.—Pearson's.

A Primitive Hunting Weapon.

The bolas is a missile weapon used by hunters and Indians in South America to entangle the feet of animals and thus throw them to the ground. This primitive weapon consists of two or more balls of stone or metal, usually covered with leather and connected to the ends of cords or thongs. The hunter holds one of the balls in his right hand, whirls the other around his head and, when the proper momentum has been obtained, sends them whirling like chain shot through the air. When the thong comes in contact with the legs of an animal it is tightly wound about them, a fall results, and escape is impossible.

A Financier.

"Look here, Jimpson," said Brockiebank, "I'm terribly mortified about not having paid back that dollar I borrowed of you last June, but honestly, old man"—

"Oh, that's all right, Brock," said Jimpson. "Don't speak of it."

"Oh, but I must speak of it, old man," said Brockiebank. "I can't treat a friend that way, you know, and I—I want to pay you, and I will, Jimpsure thing. If you'll lend me $2 I'll pay off that dollar right now, and we can start fresh again."

A Swimming Grindstone.

Some of the fishermen on the river Tyne, in England, are not only ignorant, but stupid. On one occasion two of these fishermen were caught by a heavy freshet and driven out of the river to sea. As the story goes, one of the men saw in the dusk a hoop floating by. The hoop was full of foam.

"We are saved!" exclaimed the man. "Here's a grindstone swimming!"

MOTHER FINDS WHERE DOLLAR GOES FURTHEST

Rubbers and Overshoes Save the Shoes the Tots Wear From the Wear They Would Get in the Severe Weather of Winter

The thrifty housewife has been kept jumping these last two or three years to make the dollar her hard-working husband gives her go as far as it did. Prices have risen here and there, but she can still find solace in the fact that, even with the rise in the price of the fabrics and chemicals used in manufacturing, the rubbers which she buys to keep the youngsters' feet dry are still coming her about the same.

She must thank the British Government for this, for it is through Great Britain's control of the rubber market and the forcing down of the price of crude rubber from three dollars to 67 cents a pound that she can do it. But, leaving all sentiment aside, the fact remains that rubber to-day provides the solution for the mother in the question of the foot togs for the tots this winter.

The dollar will not buy the shoes it did formerly, but it will buy the rubbers, and, after all, winter weather is rubber weather and rubbers save the shoes. 26

WIARTON, ONTARIO

The PRINCE of GRAUSTARK

BY

finger in Russia's pie at this stage of the game. Russia was ready to go to war with her great neighbor, Austria. Diplomacy—caution, if you will—made it imperative that other nations should sit tight and look to their own knitting, so to say. Not one could afford to be charged with befriending even in a roundabout way either of the angry grumblers.

It was only too well known in diplomatic circles that Russia coveted the railroads of Graustark as a means of throwing troops into a remote and almost impregnable portion of Austria. If the debt were paid promptly it would be impossible, according to international law, for the great White Bear to take over these roads and at least a portion of the western border of the principality. Obviously, Austria would be benefited by the prompt lifting of the debt, but her own relations with Russia were so strained that an offer to come to the rescue of Graustark would be taken at once as an open affront and vigorously resented. Her hands were tied.

The northern and western parts of Graustark were rich with productive mines. The government had built railroads throughout these sections so that the yield of coal and copper might be given an outlet to the world at large. In making the loan Russia had demanded these prosperous sections as security for the vast sum advanced, and Graustark in an evil hour had succumbed, little suspecting the trick that Dame Nature was to play in the end.

"I'll marry the one I happen to want or I'll not marry at all."

Private banking institutions in Europe refused to make loans under the rather exasperating circumstances, preferring to take no chances. Money was not cheap in these bitter days, neither in Europe nor America. Caution was the watchword. A vast European war was not improbable, despite the sincere efforts on the part of the various nations to keep out of the controversy.

Nor was Mr. Blithers far from right in his shrewd surmise that Prince Robin and his agents were not without hope in coming to America at this particular time. Graustark had laid by barely half the amount required to lift the debt to Russia. It was not, beyond the bounds of reason to expect her prince to secure the remaining 15,000,000 through private sources in New York city.

Six weeks prior to his arrival in New York the young prince landed in San Francisco. He had come by way of the orient, accompanied by the chief of staff of the Graustark army, Count Gyanez, hereditary watchdog to the royal family, and a young lieutenant of the guard, Boske Dank. Two men were they who would have given a thousand lives in the service of their prince. No less loyal was the body servant who looked after the personal wants of the eager young traveler, an Englishman of the name of Hobbs. A very poor valet was he, but an exceptionally capable person when it came to the checking of luggage and the driving of railway timetables. He had been a guide for a tourist agency. It was quite impossible to miss a train that Hobbs suspected of being the right one.

Prince Robin came unheralded and traversed the breadth of the continent without attracting more than the attention that is bestowed upon good looking young men. Like his mother, nearly a quarter of a century before, he traveled incognito. But where she had used the somewhat emphatic name of Guggenslocker he was known to the hotel registers as "Mr. R. Schmidt and servant."

There was romance in the eager young soul of Prince Robin. He revelled in the love story of his parents.

The beautiful Princess Yetive first saw Grenfell Lorry in an express train going eastward from Denver. Their wonderful romance was born, so to speak, in a Pullman compartment car, and it thrived so splendidly that it almost upset a dynasty, for never—in all of nine centuries—had a ruler of Graustark stooped to marriage with a commoner.

And so when the farsighted ministry and house of nobles in Graustark set about to select a wife for their young ruler they made overtures to the Prince of Dawsbergen, whose domain adjoined Graustark on the south. The Crown Princess of Dawsbergen, then but fifteen, was the unanimous choice of the amiable matchmakers in secret conclave. This was when Robin was seventeen and just over being fatuously in love with his middle aged instructress in French.

The Prince of Dawsbergen dispatched an embassy of noblemen to assure his neighbor that the match would be highly acceptable to him and that in proper season the betrothal might be announced. But alack! both courts overlooked the fact that there was independent American blood in the two young people. Neither the Prince of Graustark nor the Crown Princess of Dawsbergen—whose mother was a Miss Beverly Calhoun of Virginia—was disposed to listen to the voice of expediency; in fact, at a safe distance of three or four hundred miles the youngsters figuratively turned up their noses at each other and frankly confessed that they hated each other and wouldn't be bullied into getting married, no matter what anybody said, or something of the sort.

"S'pose I'm going to say I'll marry a girl I've never seen?" demanded seventeen-year-old Robin, full of wrath. "Not I, my lords. I'm going to look about a bit, if you don't mind. The world is full of girls. I'll marry the one I happen to want or I'll not marry at all."

"But, highness," they protested, "you must listen to reason. There must be a successor to the throne of Graustark. You would not have the name die with you. The young princess is"—

"Is fifteen, you say," he interrupted loftily. "Come around in ten years and we'll talk it over again. But I'm not going to pledge myself to marry a child in short frocks, name or no name. Is she pretty?"

The lords did not know. They had not seen the young lady.

"If she is pretty you'd be sure to know it, my lords, so we'll assume she isn't. I saw her when she was three years old, and she certainly was a fright when she cried, and, my lords, she cried all the time. No, I'll not marry her. Be good enough to say to the Prince of Dawsbergen that I'm very much obliged to him, but it's quite out of the question."

And the fifteen-year-old crown princess, 400 miles away, coolly informed her doting parents that she was tired of being a princess anyway and very much preferred marrying some one who lived in a cottage. In fact, she stamped her little foot and said she'd jump into the river before she'd marry the Prince of Graustark.

But he's a very handsome, adorable boy," began her mother.

"And half American, just as you are, my child," put in her father encouraging.

"Nothing could be more suitable than"—

"I don't intend to marry anybody until I'm thirty at least, so that ends it, daddy—I mean your poor old highness."

"Naturally we do not expect you to be married before you are out of short frocks, my dear," said Prince Dantan stiffly. "But a betrothal is quite another thing. It is customary to arrange these marriages years before"—

"Is Prince Robin in love with me?"

"I—ahem—that's a very silly question. He hasn't seen you since you were a baby. But he will be in love with you, never fear."

"He may be in love with some one else, for all we know, so where do I come in?"

"Come in?" gasped her father.

"She's part American, dear," explained the mother with her prettiest smile.

"Besides," said the crown princess, with finality, "I'm not even going to be engaged to a man I've never seen. And if you insist, I'll run away as sure as anything."

And so the matter rested. Five years have passed since the initial overtures were made by the two courts, and although several ely attempts were made to bring the young people to a proper understanding of their case they aroused nothing more than scornful laughter on the part of the principals.

And no one saw the portentous shadow cast by the slim daughter of William W. Blithers, for the simple reason that neither Graustark nor Dawsbergen knew that it existed. They lived in serene ignorance of the fact that God, while he was about it, put Maud Applegate Blithers into the world on precisely the same day that the crown princess of Dawsbergen first saw the light of day.

On the twenty-second anniversary of his birth Prince Robin fared forth in quest of love and romance, not without hope of adventure, for he was a valorous chap with the heritage of warriors in his veins. Said he to himself in dreamy contemplation of the long journey ahead of him: "I will traverse the great highways that my mother trod, and I will look for the Golden Girl sitting by the wayside. She must be there, and though it is a wide world, I am young and my eyes are sharp. I will find her sitting at the roadside eager for me to come, not housed in a gloomy castle surrounded by the spooks of a hundred ancestors. They who live in castles wed to hate, and they who wed at the roadside live to love. Fortune attend me! If love lies at the roadside waiting do not let me pass it by. All the princesses are not inside the castles. Some sit outside the gates and laugh with glee, for love is their companion. So away I go, la, la! looking for the princes with the happy heart and the smiling lips! It is a wide world, but my eyes are sharp. I shall find my princess."

But, alas, for his fine young dream, he found no golden girl at the roadside nor anything that suggested romance. There were happy hearts and smiling lips, and all for him, it would appear, but he passed them by, for his eyes were sharp and his wits awake. And so at last he came to Gotham, his heart as free as the air he breathed, confessing that his quest had been in vain. History failed to repeat itself. His mother's romance would stand alone and shine without a flicker to the end of time. There could be no counterpart.

"Well, I had the fun of looking," he philosophized (to himself, for no man knew of his secret project) and grinned with a sort of amused tolerance for the sentimental side of his nature. "I'm a silly ass to have even dreamed of finding her as I passed along, and if I had found her what the deuce could I have done about it anyway? This isn't the day for medieval lady snatching. I dare say I'm just as well off for not having found her. I still have the zest for hunting farther, and there's a lot in that." Then aloud. "Hobbs, are we on time?"

"We are, sir," said Hobbs without even glancing at his watch. The train was passing One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. "To the minute, sir. We will be there in ten minutes if nothing happens. Mr. King will be at the station to meet you, sir. Any orders, sir?"

"Yes; pinch me, Hobbs."

"Pinch your highness!" in amazement. "My word, sir, wot"—

"I just want to be sure that the dream is over, Hobbs. Never mind. You needn't pinch me. I'm awake," and to prove it he stretched his fine young body in the ecstasy of realization.

That night he slept soundly in the Catskills.

Toward the end of his first week at Red Roof, the summer home of the Truxton Kings, the prince might have been found on the broad lawn late one afternoon playing tennis with his hostess, the lovely and vivacious "Aunt Loraine." To him Mrs. King would always be "Aunt Loraine," even as he would never be anything but Bobby to her.

She was several years under forty and as light and active as a young girl. Her smooth cheek glowed with the happiness and thrill of the sport, and he was hard put to hold his own against her, even though she insisted that he play his level best.

Truxton King, stalwart and lazy, lounged on the turf, umpiring the game, attended by two pretty young girls, a lieutenant in flannels and the ceremonious Count Quinnox, iron gray and gaunt faced battleman with the saber scars on his cheek and the bullet wound in his side.

"Good work, Raimie!" shouted the umpire as his wife safely placed the ball far out of her opponent's reach.

"Hi!" shouted Robin, turning on him with a scowl. "You're not supposed to cheer anybody, d'you understand? You're only an umpire."

"Outburst of excitement, kid," apologized the umpire complacently.

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

THE ONLY MEDICINE THAT HELPED HER

"Fruit-a-tives" Again Proves Its Extraordinary Powers

ROCHON, QUE., March 2nd, 1915.

"I have received the most wonderful benefit from taking "Fruit-a-tives". I suffered for years from Rheumatism and change of life, and I took every remedy obtainable without results. I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and it was the only medicine that really did me good. Now I am entirely well—the Rheumatism has disappeared, and the terrible pains in my body are all gone. I hope that others, who suffer from such distressing diseases, will try "Fruit-a-tives". MADAME ISALE ROCHON.

"Couldn't help it. Forty thirty. Get busy."

"He called him 'kid,'" whispered one of the young girls to the other.

"Well, I heard the prince call Mr. King 'Truck' a little while ago," whispered the other.

"Isn't he good looking?" sighed the first one.

They were sisters, very young, and lived in the cottage across the road with their widowed mother. Their existence was quite unknown to Mr. and Mrs. Blithers, although the amiable Maud was rather nice to them. She had once picked them up in her automobile when she encountered them walking to the station. After that she called them by their Christian names and generously asked them to call her Maud. It might appear from this that Maud suffered somewhat from loneliness in the great house on the hill. The Welton girls had known Robin a scant three-quarters of an hour and were deeply in love with him. Fannie was eighteen and Nellie but little more than sixteen. He was their first prince.

"Whee-ee!" shrilled Mrs. King, going madly after a return that her opponent had lobbed over the net. She missed.

"Deuce," said her husband laconically. A servant was crossing the lawn with a tray of iced drinks. As he neared the recumbent group he paused irresolutely and allowed his gaze to shift toward the road below. Then he came on, and as he drew alongside the interested umpire he leaned over and spoke in a low tone of voice.

"What?" demanded King, squinting.

"Just come in the gate, sir," said the footman.

King shot a glance over his shoulder and then sat up in astonishment.

"Good Lord! Blithers! What the deuce can he be doing here? I say, Loraine! Hi!"

"Vantage in," cried his pretty wife, tossing a stray lock from her eyes.

Mr. King's astonishment was genuine. It might better have been pronounced bewilderment. Mr. Blithers was paying his first visit to Red Roof. Up to this minute it is doubtful if he gave that proceeding as much as a passing of interest in passing. He had come to King occasionally at the station, but that was all.

The situation was exceedingly [illegible] be construed upon the [illegible] might have been pardonable for suspecting him to be a most intimate friend of the family and given to persistently dropping in at any and all hours of the day.

CHAPTER III.

Protecting the Blood.

THE game was promptly interrupted. It would not be far wrong to say that Mrs. King's pretty mouth was open not entirely as an aid to breathing. She couldn't believe her eyes as she slowly abandoned her court and came forward to meet their advancing visitor.

"Take my racket, dear," she said to one of the Feltons. It happened to be Fannie, and the poor child almost fainted with joy.

The prince remained in the far court, idly twirling his racket.

"Afternoon, King," said Mr. Blithers, doffing his panama—to fan a heated brow. "Been watching the game from the road for a spell. Out for a stroll. Couldn't resist running in for a minute. You play a beautiful game, Mrs. King. How do you do? Pretty hot work, though, isn't it?"

He was shaking hands with King and smiling genially upon the trim, panting figure of the prince's adversary.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Blithers," said King, still staring. "You—you know my wife?"

Mr. Blithers ignored what might have been regarded as an introduction and blandly announced that tennis wasn't a game for fat people, patting his somewhat aggressive extension in mock deleftulness as he spoke.

"You should see my daughter's play," he went on. "Got a medal at Lakewood last spring. I'll fix up a match soon. Mrs. King, between you and Maud. Ought to be worth going miles to see, eh, King?"

"Oh, I am afraid, Mr. Blithers, that I am not in your daughter's class," said Loraine King, much too innocently.

"We've got a pretty fair tennis court up at Blithertwood," said Mr. Blithers calmly. "I have a professional instructor up every week to play with Maud. She can trim most of the amateurs, so"—

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Blithers," mumbled King. "Permit me to introduce Count Quinnox and Lieutenant Dank." Both foreigners had arisen and were standing very erect and soldierly a few yards away. "You know Miss Felton, of course."

"Delighted to meet you, count," said Mr. Blithers, advancing with outstretched hand. He shook the hand of the lieutenant with a shade less energy. He affected a most degage manner, squinting carelessly at the prince.

"That young chap plays a nice game. Who is he?"

The two Graustarkians stiffened perceptibly and waited for King to make the revelation to his visitor.

"That's Prince Robin of"— he began, but Mr. Blithers cut him short with a genial wave of the hand.

"Of course," he exclaimed, as if annoyed by his own stupidity. "I did hear that you were entertaining a prince. Slipped my mind, however. Well, well, we're coming up in the world, eh, having a real nobob among us."

"Won't you sit down, Mr. Blithers?" said Mrs. King. "Or would you prefer a more comfortable chair on the porch? We"—

"No, thanks, I'll stay here if you don't mind," said he hastily and dragged up the camp chair that Lieutenant Dank had been occupying.

"Fetch another chair, Lucas," said King to the servant. "And another glass of lemonade for Miss Felton."

The "Live a Little Longer" Idea

IN Rochester, N.Y., there has been formed an association the object of which is to promote the "Live a Little Longer" idea. It aims to encourage men and women to give attention to their health, and by preventive methods to avoid serious disease and add years of happiness to their lives.

This idea is suited to people of all ages, but seems particularly applicable to persons of advancing years who feel their vitality on the wane. It is truly wonderful what is accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food under these circumstances.

By forming new, rich blood, and nourishing the starved, wasted nerve cells, it instils new life and vigor into the vital organs and enables them to perform their natural functions.

This means new strength and comfort, freedom from pain and disease, and longer life. This letter gives you some idea what old people may expect from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Sophia Baker, Tancook Island, Lunenburg Co., N.S., writes:—"I have been reading about people who have been cured by Dr. Chase's medicines, and as I have obtained great benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I want to tell you my experience. I am an old woman of 80 years. My sleep was very poor, I could not eat anything, and my nerves were in a bad state. Hearing about the Nerve Food, I decided to use it, and must say that the five boxes I took helped me wonderfully. I never expect to be like I was at 50, but this treatment has helped me to sleep well, improved the appetite and built up the nerves. Anyone who wishes can write to me for full particulars.

Letters From Our Soldier Boys

Harvey Greig Writes Postmaster Allan

Bramshott Camp, Dec. 2nd, 1916

Mr. T. C. Allan,
Wiarton, Ont.

Dear friend,—I suppose you will be getting word from some of the boys as to how we are getting along. I have been busy so far, and have not had a chance to write you. The boys were all glad to hear from you I took your letter and read it to them, and Bill Stowe told me to send you his best regards.

Well, in regard to our work here, It is not very much harder than in Canada, but it is more to the point, that is getting ready for the trenches. It isn't all the show like we had over there, everything is done to get a man fit for the trenches the quickest way possible.

The N. C. O.'s are nearly all away on courses, and the men are taking up musketry. They have a long day of it, but it isn't hard. They work from 8.30 to 12.15, and from 1.30 to 4.30, by that time it is nearly dark. At the present time I am taking up bombing. There was a funny thing happened this morning. We were all standing around, and one of the fellows was footing with a bomb and pulled out the pin that starts it going. Well, it started to smoke and we took to our heels. After we got away far enough, we stopped and waited, but it didn't go off, if it had I don't know what might have happened.

We expect to send a draft to the front about the 15th, some of them from Wiarton, I don't know exactly yet, there are seven thousand going from this division.

I will close now, as I have to get to work. Tell all my old friends I am still alive, and don't forget to drop a line.

Your sincere friend,
Harvey Greig.

Letter From Pte. Wm. Hilditch

London
Nov. 15th 1916

Dear folks at home

We arrived in mighty London Monday night in a desperate fog. We got a bus at the station to take us to the Maple Leaf club, but our driver got lost in the fog so we left him and got another bus, there was a lady conductor but she knew her business and got us to our destination alright. The Maple Leaf is the largest Soldiers Club in the world and there are four in the city of London alone. We got our bed and breakfast for one shilling and four pence (thirty two cents), the food is good and the cots are the finest we have had since we left Canada. Everything is clean, the linen is put on the beds fresh every morning, the waitresses all work free mostly wealthy people. Say I must not forget to tell you about a military funeral we had before we left camp, the first casualty in the Bruce Battalion a young soldier from Tiverton called Wesley Haug, was run over by a motor truck and killed instantly he was buried Monday afternoon before we left. After dinner all formed mass formation on the parade ground and we led off in column route of fours till we got to the Morgue where the body was. The coffin was placed on the gun carriage and drawn by four coal black horses the firing party composed of men from his own section, who marched with arms reversed, then came the brass band with drums muffled playing the "The Dead March" and after that came corpse with the coffin draped with the "Union Jack" we had to march two miles to the cemetery, it was a typical old English churchyard, many of the stones moss covered and so dim with age that we could hardly read the inscription on them, the firing party fired three volleys over the open grave the burial service was read and then the bugle sounded the the "Last Post" it was one of the most peaceful scenes I think I ever saw, the sun was just going down. Yesterday morning Herb, Chris, Jack and I went out to the Zoo and we saw all the birds, reptiles and animals that we ever heard of and a great many more too, some of the animals were Kangaroo, Lions, Tiger, indian bison camels, promedaries llama, pumas, all sorts of bears, monkeys, elephants, zebra, hippotamus, rhinoceros, giraffes, ourang outang, apes and lots of others that I can't remember. We saw ostriches and all other birds and all sorts of reptiles, boa-constictors, alligators and lots of others. From there we took a taxi to Madame Lunauds and saw the wax works they were grand, all the prominent statesmen, soldiers, musicians, divines, Kings and Queens were shown in wax, they were so real that one could almost see them breathe. We saw John Wesley, Martin Luther, Knox, Calvin, Oliver Cromwell and all the old Kings. We also saw Wellingtons funeral carriage, and all the instruments of torture that were used years ago, down in the chamber of horrors we saw the guillotine with a wax figure in position to be decapitated, also an executioner's axe that beheaded two thousand people in the French revolution. We saw King John signing Magna Charta and all the things like that to describe them it would take a book. This morning we went to St. Pauls Cathedral and say for beauty that beats anything I ever saw. I did not think anything could be so beautiful we were there for service and heard the choir chant, the walls are all covered with statues and inscriptions, memorians and the like. We went down to the burial vault and saw the tombs of Nelson, Wellington, Roberts and many others we also saw Wellingtons funeral car, it certainly is a massive affair. Then we went to Newgate Court and Guild hall and then to the Tower of London. The first place we went to was the Bloody Tower, and saw the cells that were used for the higher class, and we were into the room in which the two little Princes were killed and saw where their bodies were were taken and the door by which the assasins entered. We went from there to see the Crown Jewels and I can't describe what they were like, but they were beautiful beyond a word King George's state crown is just one mass of Jewels diamonds and precious stones and Queen Mary's is almost as good. All the service that was used at the Coronation is there everything pure gold and there was one sword there that was just loaded with Jewels. Then we went to the armour tower and saw all the old weapons of warfare, crossbows the first guns that were used pikes, bills spears and everything you could think of, there was armour there dating from about 1500, there was a cannon there dating from about 1400 and from China, Spain, Italy Russia and other places. I can't remember half the things I saw and couldn't begin to describe them, I got a book of the tower and am

What We Saw

FLYING BULLETS.

At High Velocities Army Rifle Missiles Make Queer Sounds.

There is not one sound picture, but this fires a flying bullet, and this is audible only when the bullet travels at high speed, at the rate of 1,500 feet per second or more.

Missiles from all army rifles of modern times, which vary in velocity from 2,000 to 3,000 feet per second, create a vacuum immediately behind the bullet. The result is a sharp crash as the bullet passes, caused by the air closing rapidly in behind the bullet base.

At considerable range two distinct reports are audible to the person by whom the bullet is passing. At 700 yards the sound may be described phonetically as "pack-punk." The first sound comes about three-quarters of a second ahead of the latter in the case of the United States army rifle, the new Springfield. The velocity of this rifle is 2,700 feet per second at the muzzle.

The first sound is that of the bullet passing through the air. It is like nothing so much as a long and very violently cracked blacksnake whip. The second sound comes about three-quarters of a second later. It is dead, heavy and is more like a thud than the "crack" of a rifle.

The difference in the time of the two sounds is because the bullet travels much faster than sound. Noise progresses at the rate of about a thousand feet per second.—Outing.

Why the Genius Is Born.

It is a strange and perhaps sad fact that most men and women endowed with the finest sense and apprehension for good literature have no gift or talent for effective expression in letters, and it is as strangely and equally true that many of those who love music most cannot play any instrument or sing even the simplest song. The world is crowded with people who have the acutest eye for form, color, motion and linear grace who cannot either draw or paint.

And it is that he may serve all of these superior—and yet unfavored—people that the writer, the musician or the painter is born and equipped. At his best even a genius is only the involuntary mouthpiece, interpreter, illustrutor of his time.

Consolation.

First Criminal Lawyer—Facts are stubborn things. Second Criminal Lawyer (cheerfully)—Oh, yes! If they were not our fees would be smaller

Down and Up.

Hewgag—He's a low down crook. Bildad—Who's a low down crook? Hewgag—The man higher up.
